Batiste offered a rebuttal to the motion's opposition explaining "the Faculty Senate" was not just in opposition to the Provost plan, they wanted input into the new plan the Provost is working on but did not want input from the students."

She felt approval of the motion would bring the Faculty Senate and Faculty of the Colleges of Arts and Sciences' attention that, "We think they are racist and that we deplore their actions."

Former SGA co-President Paul M. Cronin said, "The faculty have alienated the students by giving little support about the issue of raising tuitions."

Cronin charged that the "CAS has never liked professional schools such as Nursing and Business Administration."

Cronin suggested the members want to "make UMass an ivory tower" and that the Faculty Senators do not approve of the actions of the Provost because "now it hurts them in their pocketbook."

The motion was passed after further debate.

A second motion was presented for the support of the Graduate Student Employees Union (GSEU).

Senators passed the motion that spelled out the demands of the GSEU as primarily being that of no cuts in the total number of graduate assistants, no tuition hikes and that assistants be guaranteed only 20 hours of work per week.

Undergraduate Student Senate Speaker Brian De Lima reflected on the senate after adjournment of the last senate meeting of the semester.

"The Student Senate has provided students with services and strived to represent their interests. I believe that the senators did a job well done."

De Lima urged students to "continue to seek a student union so that we have a real input into the decision making on campus."

Senator Jay Millender added "The Senate had been downhill, uphill and then back downhill."

Pinky Batiste, student senate co-president, reports to the other senators last night on the Faculty Senate's disapproval of student input. (Staff photo by Dale Griswold)

Finance VP to be named

By JAMES DALTON
Collegian Staff

Chancellor Randolf W. Bromery said last night the "search is over" and he has decided on a new Vice Chancellor for Administration and Finance. The name will be announced sometime next week, pending the candidate's acceptance and the Board of Trustee's approval.

Bromery, whose office assumed the vice chancellorship's duties since Thomas Campion vacated the post three years ago, received the final recommendations from a selection committee early this semester. He has been personally meeting with the recommended applicants.

One of the principle reasons the selection of a new vice chancellor took so long, according to Bromery, was "the top people were beyond our salary range." He added there is "no way we can pay salaries comparable to other institutions." The post's salary is "$4,000 to $5,000 less" than that of other universities.

Areas under the jurisdiction of the vice chancellor for administration and finance include Campus Operations, Financial Services, Personnal and Employe Services, and Auxiliary and Administrative Services.

Concerning the status of vice chancellor for student affairs, Bromery said he received names from the Student Government Association this past week for a selection committee and expected "to get something done over the summer."

He predicted it would be the "end of the fall semester before we get someone named" and even later until the candidate could assume the duties of the post.

Robert C. Woodbury would be considered for the position permanently, Bromery stated it was "up to him" and "I would certainly welcome him to submit his name for the post."

He added he was very pleased with Woodbury's performance to date and he thought most students were also pleased with acting vice chancellor.

Bail being raised for nuke protesters

By JOE MAGLITTA
Collegian Staff

Western Massachusetts anti-nuclear organizers last night began plans to send supplies and raise bail money for protesters jailed at the Seabrook demonstration last week.

In addition, two loose coalitions of anti-nuke organizers announced tentative plans for a weekend vigil in front of Gov. Meldrim H. Thomson's mansion, a demonstration in the State capital, Concord, and a rally at the state campground in Concord.

A group of about 40 people, many of them arrested at Seabrook, met last night in Skinner Hall to organize transportation and establish lines of communication with protesters still being held in New Hampshire armories and jails.

Group spokesperson Joan Arbetter said last night in addition to providing relief for jailed protesters, equal efforts would be made to aid "affinity groups" outside of jail.

These groups, established before the April 30 - May 1 protest, act as lines of communication between jailed protesters and the "outside," Arbetter said.

Arbetter said as many as 200 people are still camped out at a site in New Hampshire, ready to provide support.

In order to provide funds to free the undetermined number of protestors still in jail, Arbetter said three approaches were decided upon.

Outright donations will be solicited by the group to post bails as high as $500, she said. "Quick-loans" from concerned citizens to the arrested, to be repaid upon release, will also be offered. The third alternative is to use regular bank loans, Arbetter said.

Mark Majeski, representing a smaller, un-named anti-nuke group, said last night a week-end long vigil is being planned in front of Gov. Thomson's mansion this weekend.

Majeski said he checked the legality of the vigil with a number of lawyers. He said lawyers told him the vigil would be legal if the protesters stayed on the sidewalk in front of the mansion.

Collective nixes funds

By BOB CAPOZZI
Collegian Staff

The Commuter Collective voted yesterday not to allocate funds for a "Children's Program of Interpretive Events" at Toward Tomorrow Fair 1977.

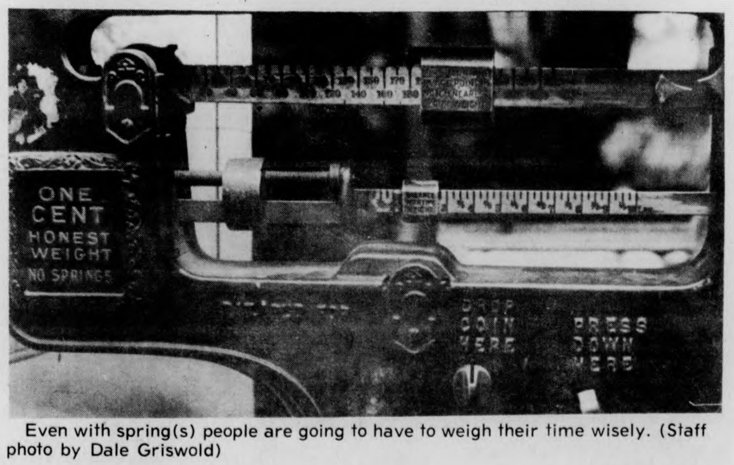
During the one hour meeting the collective also elected Sue Gray and Gail Jarvi co-spokespeople.

According to Jarvie, the "Children's" proposal was turned down because "the budget request of $740 for personnel was too high."

"We are not in position to pay each person $370 for two days work," Jarvi added.

A proposal of $200 for workshop of the Employed-Unemployed Council was unanimously carried.

The group also voted a "freeze" in funding of any new events for the remainder of the 1977 school year and decided to meet after school ends to discuss '77-'78 funding plans.



Even with spring(s) people are going to have to weigh their time wisely. (Staff photo by Dale Griswold)

Amherst budget at $5.7M

By ARNOLD WARSHAW
Collegian Staff

The Amherst town operating budget for fiscal year 1978 as proposed by the Finance Committee and the Town Manager, was passed intact at last night's Amherst Town Meeting.

The operating budget will be $5,693,739 and with the addition of the Amherst public and regional school systems, the total town operating budget will be $11,740,085.

This is a 6.3 per cent increase over last year's budget.

The new budget will increase the present tax rate of $42.00 per $1000 of assessed property value to $44.50.

The budget did not pass without some objections however. Selectman William C. Atkins proposed two amendments last night to cut the size of the budget.

Atkins proposed an amendment to delete $10,000 from the planning department. He also asked that $50,000 be cut from the recommended $350,918 highway maintenance budget.

The meeting voted down his amendments by passing the department budgets in full as they had been recommended.

Along with Atkins' attempt to cut the size of the highway maintenance budget, there was another amendment to cut the size of budgets within the public works department.

Town Meeting member Peter D'Errico of Precinct Two, proposed an amendment to cut $10,000 from the snow and ice removal budget and $25,000 from the street and traffic light budget. This amendment was also defeated.

Town meeting members also voted last night to endorse legislation being proposed by the Mass. State Board of Education which asks for increased state money for local education and less dependence on the property tax for education financing.

[illegible] also voted that money from the Pioneer [illegible] Transit Authority will be used for a trans[illegible] for the handicapped and elderly.

Gerald Evans, three time and current US National Sparring Champion, who holds a third degree black belt instructed members of the UMass Karate Club on artistic self-defense techniques. (Staff photo by Marilyn Mankowsky)

Black belt holder Gerald Evans — 'Karate is an art'

By MARY ELLEN LOWNEY
Collegian Staff

Gerald Evans talks about his career in a quiet but authoritative manner that demands immediate attention and respect. He calls himself "basically very shy." He could kill you with one quick blow.

He holds a third degree black belt from the Japanese Karate Association. In addition he is the current United States National Spring Champion and has won the title three times.

Evans visited the UMass Karate Club last night to show the 14 members various self defense techniques.

"Karate is an art," he said, "and does not necessarily have to be learned as a means of defense. It means something different to everyone who participates."

For Evans, it is a way of life. He began studying karate ten years ago at age 28 to improve his physical condition and build self-confidence. "Besides that," he added, I had this paunch." Today he stands a sturdy 5'11", weighs 165 lbs., and looks no more than 30.

Three years after his first karate lesson, he earned his black belt and began teaching at the Philadelphia branch of the U.S. Karate Association, where he remains. He teaches eight or nine classes a week with pupils from ages seven to 56. You can't be too old to learn karate, he said, but teaching children under seven is a waste of effort — "kids don't have a long enough span of attention."

Shoto-Kan, a Japanese style of self defense, is his specialty. Shoto, he explained, is the Japanese pen name for Gichen Funakoshi, its founder. Kan means 'house' — thus, 'Funakoshi's house.' In his own words, the technique is "a unique style — both strong and solft."

Though the effects of a single blow can be devastating in karate, during practice actual contact is minimal. In competition points are subtracted whenever contact is made. The object is to land your blow within one inch of the opponent.

As for using karate for self defense, the martial champion said "you can get a license to carry around a gun if that's what you're after. More so than anything else, karate should be viewed as a philosophy." There are many ways to use it, he said, not necessarily physical but by remaining calm in the face of danger.

Meditation is an integral part of karate. According to Evans, there are two kinds of meditation used in his teaching method — active and passive. "Before exercises begin, passive meditation takes place, when students sit still. When moving across the floor, that itself is a form of meditation."

Watching him in action, his movements are graceful, quick and accurate. "Karate," he said, "is like ballet — the more you practice, the more proficient you become."

Before ending my interview with Evans, I couldn't resist the temptation to ask the obvious question, "Did you ever have to use your knowledge to save yourself?"

"Once, after one year of training, I was abused by a man of about 6'2", weighing maybe 260 lbs. Let's just say that I somehow managed to escape."

'Executioner' a tragedy

By MICHAEL SIMONS
Collegian Staff

It was written about Michael Melton in a publicity piece he loves television. This is painfully obvious, as his latest production contains more loose ends than a hastily cancelled soap opera.

The Executioners Tragedy, a two act play, had its world premier last night in the Curtain Theatre of the Fire Arts Center.

The play gives something and it takes something. What it takes are: elements of Cole Porter's "Kiss me Kate", a play within a play, and changes it to a play within a play, within a play and from Brecht the use of almost more characters than the audience can remember. It gives the audience confusion.

The "plot" begins in 1640 England where Bilkington, played by Rick Martin, tries to convince the local critics, his new play, "The Executioner's Tragedy" is really a supressed Shakespearian manuscript.

Gears abruptly switch and the audience is informed of a general strike by executioners seeking high wages for the killing of witches. The Pope worried this will allow the Lutherans whom he equates with witches, to destroy the church. He sends Duplicitus, a Dominican monk to spy on the executioners meeting in Stuttgart.

Duplicitus, portrayed by Barbara Cook, in her best performance to date, has her own motives for going to the meeting. After killing the real Italian executioner played by Gary Kaplan (who's fine performance in Italian evoked audience laughter) with a pickled poison human hand, she assumes his clothing and identity.

Before she finally reveals her plans to make the breech between the Lutherins and the church wider, several violent deaths occur, including the serving of a dead baby pie to the child's father. The audience is left to its own devices in sorting out one plot line from another.

The lighting consisting of light splotches placed throughout the stage added to the uneasy feeling of being lost.

"Executioner's Tragedy" continues until May 11th.

BRANDYWINE
AT AMHERST
MOVING OFF CAMPUS???
- STARTING AT $240 GAS UTILITIES INCLUDED
- RENTAL OFFICE OPEN WEEKDAYS 9-5 WEEKENDS 10-5
- ON UMASS BUS RT. EVERY 10 MIN.

50 MEADOW ST.
N. AMHERST
549-0600

SUPER SALE!
100% COTTON AND COTTONBLEND T-SHIRTS KNITS, STRIPES SOLIDS, A FEW PRINTS REG. $3.98, 54"+60" WIDE NOW $1.99!
100% COTTON INDIAN GAUZE - 20% OFF!
FLORAL PRINTS-COTTON BLEND - 99¢ YD!
All BATIKS 100% COTTON REG. $2.59 TO $3.39 YD 20% OFF
ALL GINGAM - 1/2 PRICE!
PLUS SELECTION OF COTTON PRINTS AT VERY SPECIAL PRICES! natural textiles
228 triangle st., amherst
549-3853
hours: 10-6, mon.-sat.
fridays 'til 9

Rugged
Comfortable
Goodlooking
TRAIL
SHORTS
EMS carries the finest shorts from Woolrich, Sportif, & Chouinard/Patagonia. Choose from a wide selection of men's and women's styles, priced from $12.50 to $22.00.
EASTERN MOUNTAIN SPORTS
Rte. 9,
Amherst/Hadley town line
253-9504
Mon.-Fri. 9:30-9
Sat. 9:30- 5:30

PREPARE NOW FOR JOBS IN WHICH BUSINESS SKILLS ARE NECESSARY. SPRING AND SUMMER PROGRAMS NOW BEING PLANNED AT Skills
Typing, Shorthand and General Transcription Programs
Specialized Programs in Medical and Legal Transcription
Additional Services: Résumé Planning and typing
Secretarial services for typing term papers, manuscripts and dissertations.
SKILLS, 24 So. Prospect Street, Amherst
Telephone: 253-9500
Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Department of Education

LAST DAY!!!
FOR PLACING
A DISPLAY OR CLASSIFIED
ADVERTISEMENT IS MONDAY, MAY 9
at 3:45p.m.
[The last Daily Collegian for Spring Semester 1977 will be published Wednesday, May 11th. The Daily Collegian resumes publishing on Thursday, September 1st.]

Gov. says $200,000 spent on nuke protesters

CONCORD, N.H. [AP] — New Hampshire already has spent $200,000 as a result of the Seabrook anti-nuclear energy demonstration, a spokesman for Gov. Meldrim Thomson said yesterday.

The spokesman, Roland Jenkins, added that Thomson met with top state officials to discuss ways to pay the Seabrook bill but that "no conclusive suggestions" had come from the session.

Arrested members of the Clamshell Alliance gather inside the Concord National Guard Armory to discuss future legal action.

Atty. Gen. David Souter said Wednesday he did not know when the hundreds of demonstrators, incarcerated since the weekend, would be released from several National Guard armories.

It is costing the state $50,000 a day to house and feed the demonstrators.

Thomson and the Executive Council met Wednesday in emergency session to appropriate $10,000 from the state's emergency fund for health and hygiene supplies for the Seabrook 1414.

Health and Welfare Commissioner Robert Whalen told the council the $10,000 was needed for two weeks' supplies for the prisoners' basic health needs.

Authorities said 1,414 demonstrators from 26 states were arrested during the weekend sit-in at the site of the Seabrook nuclear power plant.

Jenkins said only a few posted bail and that as of Wednesday afternoon about 1,385 remained in four armories, supervised by 900 National Guardsmen.

Whalen said the demonstrators were examined by a health team and that there was an infestation of body lice among 250 prisoners at the Somersworth armory. He said, "There is an outbreak of crabs at the Somersworth armory. It is a serious thing and we are going to have to control it."

Executive Councilor Raymond Burton, R-Bath, asked Souter how long the prisoners would be held.

Souter replied: "I can't give an answer. That depends on what the courts are going to do. I have made no final state recommendation."

Earlier in Exeter, a petition to release the demonstrators on personal recognizance bail was denied by the Rockingham County Superior Court.

Four Seasons
Package Store
Discount Liquers
RUSSELL ST. HADLEY
at the Mt. Farms MALL

Schlitz
$5.35
Case
12 oz. cans

Henri Marchant
Lambrusca
Red or White
$1.59
Fifth

Schenley
VODKA
$3.99
Quart

Lucky Lager
BEER
12 oz. cans
$4.99
Case

Thursday 5/5/77 to Wednesday 5/11/77.
We reserve the right to limit quantities.

Committee approves new food stamp program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Agriculture Committee yesterday approved a $5.7 billion food stamp program that surpasses. President Carter's spending ceiling but includes his plan for the needy to obtain food stamps without paying cash.

Carter has threatened to veto any stamp legislation exceeding his proposed $5.6 billion ceiling. The package tops that figure by about $122 million, but Assistant Agriculture Secretary Carol Foreman said she did not know if the bill would be vetoed.

"It depends on the entire bill," she said. "We'll have to wait and see."

The stamp bill was approved along with the rest of a single omnibus farm-food measure which includes farm support legislation.

The farm support section exceeds administration spending proposals by about $1.9 billion.

Before adopting the omnibus bill, the Senate committee rejected on a 9-9 tie vote an effort by Sen. James Allen, D-Ala., to trim about $90 million from the food stamp section by eliminating higher benefits for families with high housing and heating costs.

Carter proposed the stamp plan, which serves more than 17 million needy people, as a first step toward eventual elimination of the program. The President wants to convert stamp benefits into cash as part of a forthcoming general welfare reform program.

The chief change under the food stamp bill is a provision no longer requiring recipients to purchase stamps in order to get free "bonus" stamps.

New filibuster record set

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Democratic state Sen. Bill Meier set a new world filibuster record yesterday, talking non-stop for 43 hours to stall a bill closing government files on workers' on-the-job injuries.

Meier, bleary-eyed and slouching slightly, drew a standing ovation when he broke the old record of 42 hours and 33 minutes and again when he finally sat down at 10:20 a.m.

The Senate in 40 minutes passed 23-7 the bill Meier had talked against since 3:20 a.m. Monday.

Meier said he never expected to change senators' minds but hoped he had raised enough static over the bill to make representatives reject it.

"I hope it at least doesn't go through the House with the same meteorite speed that it went through the Senate," he said. "It was about as greased as any bill I have ever seen.

"I did what I wanted to accomplish — I slowed that bill down for three days."

Meier, 36, held a news conference after the vote and told reporters, "I feel fine. I'm tired and I'm stiff and my voice is gone. I'm going to go home and take a hot bath."

Vision
Showcase
(formerly House of Vision)
Kent Whalen - Licensed Optician
We are Specialists in:
- Fashion Eyewear
- Contact Lenses
- Emergency Replacements
- Free Adjustments Anytime
- We Clean & Polish contact lenses on the premises.

We also carry fashion styles by Diane Von Furstenberg & Oscar Dela Renta
Mt. Farms Mall, Hadley 584-8324

Nixon denies any criminal offenses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard Nixon admitted yesterday he lied, made "mistakes of the heart" and "let down the country" in Watergate, but said he committed no crimes and concluded, defiantly: "If they want me to get down on the floor and grovel, no. Never."

Ending his self-imposed exile in an emotional interview with David Frost, Nixon disclosed he almost resigned in April, 1973 — 17 months before he actually left office — because he felt "responsible" for the scandal.

Nixon said Watergate will be his lifelong burden, but he denied all the major charges against him in the scandal. He said he did not obstruct justice by participating in the Watergate coverup, did not authorize hush money to the burglars, never contemplated clemency for the conspirators and was guilty of 'no impeachable or criminal offense.

Tersely, he said: "If they want me to get down and grovel on the floor, no. Never. Ah, because I don't believe I should."

While not yielding on the major charges, Nixon admits he did not tell the truth about the scandal, was too protective of his closest aides and failed to call a halt to some of the coverup activities once he learned of them.

"I brought myself down," he admits. "I let down the country, I let down our system of government. I have made so many bad judgments. The worst ones, mistakes of the heart, rather than the head."

Nixon also confides that his resignation decision shattered him emotionally. He recalls that, at a farewell meeting with congressional allies on the night of his resignation speech, "I sort of cracked up; started to cry" for the first time since the death of Dwight Eisenhower.

For one hour Nixon and Frost engage in a give and take — while the words are sharp, there is no shouting. The final half hour is more relaxed and Nixon makes two long emotional soliloquies. There his eyes are averted, his head tilted slightly and he speaks slowly with frequent long pauses.

At one point, pressed by Frost to acknowledge that criminal actions may be involved, Nixon threw his head back, and the corners of his mouth turned downward.

"Technically I did not commit a crime, an impeachable offense. As far as the handling of this matter is concerned: it was so botched up. I made so many bad judgments. The worst ones, mistakes of the heart, rather than the head.

Nixon said part of his undoing was that he was too soft-hearted and delayed firing his favorite aides, H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman.

News in Brief

US to allow Vietnam's UN entry

PARIS [AP] — Two years after the fall of Saigon, the United States agreed yesterday to drop its opposition to Vietnam's entry into the United Nations.

At the same time, the Vietnamese pressed the Americans to contribute to repairing war damage and end the American trade embargo of Vietnam.

In Washington, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., hailed the development as a first step toward normalizing relations between the two governments.

Carter rejects sugar quotas

WASHINGTON [UPI] — President Carter rejected a call for import quotas on sugar yesterday and ordered the agriculture secretary to begin direct income support payments to sugar farmers when prices fall below 13.5 cents a pound.

Carter issued a statement saying the call for quotes, backed by the International Trade Commission, "would not be in the overall national economic interest," including that of both consumers and producers.

Tornados rip Missouri

PLEASANT HILL, Mo. [UPI] — Tornadoes skipped across western Missouri yesterday touching the ground in several populous areas near Kansas City and causing damage to scores of houses and mobile homes.

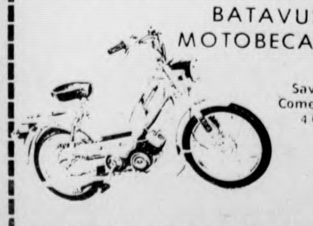
The Missouri Highway Patrol, which sent 29 troopers into the Pleasant Hill area, reported three to four fatalities. An undetermined number were injured.

Zaire arrests Western journalists

KINSHASA, Zaire [UPI] — Seven West European journalists, accused of having secret contacts with rebels who invaded Shaba province, are to be displayed in Kinshasa before diplomats and reporters within 48 hours, Zaire radio said yesterday.

The radio quoted a military security spokesman from the province as saying, "Normally, these people should have been treated as mercenaries and shot immediately. It is a miracle they are still alive."

Pioneer Valley
moped
introduces the next great step in the evolution of the wheel.
BATAVUS &
MOTOBECANE MOPEDS....
Up to 150 MPG
Save $10.00 with this cupon
Come in for a great experience
4 Conz St. Northampton
[behind City Hall]
586-1054



The Generals Place
Army-Navy Store

SLEEPING BAGS	from	$16.95
BACKPACKS	from	$17.95
AIR MATTRESSES	from	$2.49
TANK TOPS	from	$1.98
COLORED T-SHIRTS	from	$2.19
SWISS ARMY KNIVES	from	$7.50
HIKING SHORTS	from	$9.95

35 E. Pleasant St., Amherst 549-6166
(Next to Minuteman Cleaners)

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
COSTA DE SOL
2.25 REG 2.95
~~Liebfraumilch 10 per cent $1.79 23 oz.~~
Liebfraumilch 10 per cent vol. $1.49 23 oz.
ICE COLD KEG BEER $20.00 and up
Unlimited Quantities on all Sales Items No Extra for Delivery
Amherst's closest liquor store to UMass Campus
In Amherst Ctr., Across from the Village Green 253-5441

APPLICATIONS NOW AVAILABLE FOR SALARIED POSITION
Within Student Government Association
as
STUDENT ATTORNEY GENERAL

The Student Attorney General is responsible for:

Coordinating the staff of student advocates within the Student Judiciary.

Acting as liaison between Student Senate and Student Judiciary.

Applicants should be responsible, available, dedicated, and familiar with the SGA Constitution.

Applications are available at the Student Senate office, 420 Student Union, and must be returned by Friday, May 6, at 12:00 noon. No late applications will be accepted.

For more information, call Pinky Batiste, 545-2129

WOMEN AND THIRD WORLD STUDENTS ARE URGED TO APPLY
Student Government Association

Counselor Position Available
$2.75 hr. 12 hours/wk.
walk-in/appointment counseling
Job Descriptions and applications availabe in Lesbian Union (C.C) and People's Gay Alliance Office (443 S.U.)
The P.G.A. is an Affirmative Action Employer.

Carter defends his energy bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter told members of Congress yesterday his energy package may be the most important legislation they will consider "in our lifetime" and again volunteered to take the heat for its unpopular aspects.

Carter spoke to members of the House's new committee on energy, in a rare, informal session at the White House.

Committee members had invited him to push for his proposal on Capitol Hill, but Carter asked them to the White House instead. It is unusual for a president to address a congressional committee either in Congress or at the White House.

Carter said he has found "almost unanimous approbation" among European nations for his energy proposals, but acknowledged parts of the plan are unpopular at home.

"I am perfectly willing for you to put on my shoulders as much of the blame as you wish," he said.

Carter said his plan is "the most important message matter Congress will receive in many years, perhaps in our lifetime."

One of the most controversial points in the energy package is Carter's proposal to hike gasoline taxes a nickel a year if consumption keeps going up.

While many members of Congress are predicting defeat for the tax plan, Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., a member of the energy committee, told a reporter Wednesday he thinks Congress will approve it.

"I think we can get the gas tax increase through," he said. When the energy committee returned to session on Capitol Hill, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance testified on the "profound" international aspects of the energy crisis.

...while his welfare plan is hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter's 12 goals for welfare reform were formally presented to Congress yesterday and promptly drew stinging criticism of the program's lack of specifics.

Ways and Means subcommittee chairman James Corman, D-Calif., expressing his view of Congress' chore in building on Carter's general welfare reform goals, said, "We kind of thought this administration was going to hand us the ball at midfield instead of on our own two yard line."

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., presenting the program to the subcommittee, said Carter understands the problems with the welfare system but doesn't know all the answers to reforming it.

Carter on Monday announced 12 goals for welfare reforms aimed at guaranteeing jobs for people who can work and assistance for those who cannot.

"I don't think anybody could disagree with what you've presented," Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., told Califano. "But there is no program. It's clear to me that the problems of the poor are not a clear priority of this administration, that it has other priorities."

Earlier, representatives of the National Association of Counties at a Capitol Hill briefing said they could find little to argue with in Carter's goals but said his 1981 timetable for reform was too long to wait and criticized his "lack of commitment ... to fiscal relief" for states and counties.

Califano told the subcommittee the administration wants to provide a versatile jobs and job training program for poor persons and to consolidate at least three current sources of welfare aid into a single cash grant with variations only for geographic differences in the cost of living.

"Specifics beyond that are not in my head or in the President's head at this time," Califano testified.

Corman said he was concerned Carter's goal of welfare reform without additional costs would require the robbing of one group of poor persons to benefit another.

"The desirability and political feasibility of taking benefits from present recipients in order to provide jobs and cash assistance to new groups of people should be carefully assessed by the administration as it works on welfare legislation," Corman cautioned.

S. Koreans ambushed

SEOUL, South Korea [AP] — One or more North Koreans ambushed a South Korean foot patrol, killing one man, wounding another and shattering nine months of quiet along the demilitarized zone, the United Nations Command said yesterday.

The American-led U.N. Command asked the Military Armistice Commission to investigate the shooting, but there was no immediate word whether North Korea would agree.

The command, which includes both Americans and South Koreans, said one or more North Koreans had hidden near the southern fence on the 2½-mile-wide demilitarized zone Tuesday and opened fire on the patrol.

Spent cartridges for Russian-made AK47 automatic rifles were found near the site, which is about 60 miles north of Seoul and some six miles northwest of Chorwon, the command said.

North Korea's official Radio Pyongyang rejected the charges in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo. The radio said no North Korean soldiers crossed the demilitarized zone or sh[illegible] at South Koreans.

The radio said South Korean authorities and the U.N. Command fabricated the incident to have an excuse for the continued presence of U.S. troops in South Korea.

The South Korean fatality was the first reported along the demilitarized zone since Aug. 18, when two American officers were killed by a group of club - and - ax - wielding North Koreans at Panmunjom.

The incident, which occurred after the Americans tried to direct the trimming of a tree in the village, raised tensions along the 151-mile border that divides the two Koreas.

North and South Korean and U.S. forces were placed on full combat alert after the two Americans were killed. But the crisis eased when the armistice commission met and agreed to divide the village to prevent further clashes.

Anita loves 'em, but,,,

CHARLOTTE, N.C. [UPI] — Anita Bryant says she loves homosexuals but is strongly against a proposed Dade County, Fla., ordinance protecting their employment rights.

"They would have to hire known, flaunting homosexuals in public schools," she said Tuesday during the taping of an interview. "I fear for America, and I fear for our children. I don't want America to be judged as God judged Sodom and Gomorrah."

"I can say with all the depth in my heart that I love the homosexuals," she said.

"Even if you do not believe in Holy Scripture, you know homosexuality is against nature," she said. "If this were not so, then God would have made Adam and Bruce."

NEW!
Cracker Jack ICE CREAM BAR
AT WORCESTER MUNCHYS

Sip into something
COMFORT®ABLE:

Comfort® & Cola
Comfort® & 7UP
Comfort® & Tonic
Comfort® & Milk
Comfort® & Bitter Lemon
Comfort® & Orange Juice COMFORT®
Try this sextet of combos. Because Southern Comfort is so delicious just by itself, it makes terrific drinks in combo with juices, sodas, etc.
There's nothing so delicious as Southern Comfort® on-the-rocks!
Send for a Free Recipe Guide: SOUTHERN COMFORT CORP. 100 PROOF LIQUEUR ST. LOUIS, MO 63132
©1976 SOUTHERN COMFORT CORPORATION

Slip into something Comfort®able... order a SOUTHERN COMFORT® T-SHIRT
A real 100-proof bargain ... only $2.50 each.
A conversation piece! Wear this authentic reproduction of the famous Southern Comfort label, in black and gold on a quality T-shirt by one of America's leading makers. Machine washable, color-fast. Great for guys or gals; order now!

Use this handy Order Blank ... be the first in your crowd to own one!
Order Blank
$2.50 each shirt includes postage

SIZE	Quantity	$ Total
Medium
Large
X Large
Enclose Check or Money Order for		$

Allow 4 to 6 weeks for delivery
Raye Ltd.
P.O. Box 21508
St. Louis, Mo. 63132
Name
Address
City State
Zip (Please print clearly)
Offer void in Georgia, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Utah, New Hampshire and Canada

SENIORS!!
SENIORS
THIS IS YOUR CHANCE TO KEEP UP ON UMASS NEWS AND JOKES!! This is your chance to ripoff the COLLEGIAN for 33 from the regular subscription price.
By ordering now, you can take advantage of this once a year opportunity given to seniors only. The collegian will only cost you $6 for a semester subscription and $10 for the entire year!!

FILL OUT ORDER FORM BELOW!!

( ) YES* I really want the COLLEGIAN, but I can never complete the crossword puzzle.
( ) Yes, I really want the collegian, but I CAN do the puzzle.
( ) Yes, I would like to read the COLLEGIAN, but only because I get off on the Aluminum Ghost and the Slogs!!!

Name.................................
address.................................
City.................. State.............
Zipcode............
( ) $6 bucks for one semester
( ) $10 bucks for one year (I'm a real sport!)

Return this form to the COLLEGIAN office
Rm 113 Campus Center, UMass Amherst, Ma 01002

Wider sales taxes urged

BOSTON (AP) — The legislature's Taxation Committee has recommended a massive sales tax increase — by broadening the base rather than changing the rate — to provide an additional $323 million aid for cities and towns.

The sales tax increase would come from wiping out scores of exemptions. The tax would apply to newspapers and magazines, to admissions, to personal services such as hair cuts and to all clothing.

Chances for ultimate passage, because of anti-tax promises from Gov. Michael S. Dukakis and legislative leaders, appear remote. However, the measure gives mayors and selectmen an opportunity to lobby for specific extra aid.

The controversial meals tax would be reduced 60 per cent in the process, a $58 million break for taxpayers, and a small change in the person income tax would cost the state $15 million in revenue.

The meals tax was raised to 8 per cent nearly two years ago, and the $1 exemption was wiped out, a double increase that drew more public protest than any other feature of the two 1975 tax increases.

AROUND NEW ENGLAND

Governors endorse Carter plan

PRINCETON [AP] — A coalition of six Northeast governors endorsed President Carter's energy program Wednesday and asked support for a federally chartered corporation to assure fair distribution of the nation's fuel resources in their energy dependent region.

"We are particularly pleased with the President's desire to reduce our nation's dependence upon imported energy supplies," the governors said in a position statement.

House rejects 'Independent' label

BOSTON [UPI] — The Massachusetts House Wednesday initially approved a bill prohibiting candidates unaffiliated with a political party from being labeled "Independent" on nominating papers and ballots.

Under the bill, approved 119-99, unaffiliated candidates would carry the designation "no party" beside their name.

Opponents of the measure charged the words "no party" carried a negative connotation and would make it difficult for Independents to get elected.

Millionaire faces arson charges

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. [AP] — Ohio millionaire Charles D. Moeller, who was acquitted of federal charges in the biggest arson case ever investigated by the FBI, will face state charges in the same case.

Moeller, president of a conglomerate based in Spencerville, Ohio, company treasurer Lowell Powell, and Michael Festa of Hudson, Ohio, will be charged with two arson counts each in connection with the May 1975 firebombing of a $12 million factory of Sponge Rubber Products Co. in Shelton.

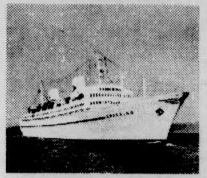
DOW JONES AVERAGE
30 Industrials
Closed at 940.72
May 4 1977

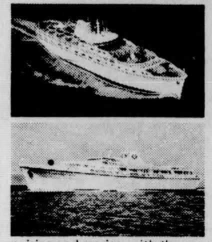
UP
6.53

N.Y.S.E.
Volume Profile

UP	UNCHANGED	DOWN
920	485	497

ISSUES TRADED: 1902
INDEX: 54.49 up 0.28
VOLUME: 26,921,100 SHARES
S.&P. COMPOSITE 99.98 up 0.53





Elegant cruise ship or luxurious car ferry...
...Karageorgis does it with style

No other cruise line offers more ancient sites, more modern excitement and unsurpassed luxury — and Karageorgis does it with style—aboard the superb 23,000 ton Navarino, formerly the Gripsholm. Experience the ancient splendor of Greece—Olympia, Mycenae, Epidaurus, Delos, Delphi, Mt. Athos—plus four of the world's most exotic cities: Athens, Dubrovnik, Istanbul and Venice. Aboard the beautifully refurbished Navarino. From Venice alternate Saturdays or Piraeus alternate Tuesdays. 14 ports in 14 days, and Karageorgis does it with style.

Relax aboard the 16,000 ton Mediterranean Sea or Mediterranean Sky. The convenient, luxurious way to take a car to Greece. Sailing from Ancona, the nearest port to the center of Europe year round. Sailing to Patras—the ideal gateway to Greece in 34 hours direct, or 35 hours via Corfu.

Four convenient sailings per week through the Summer. Two a week in Winter. From either end. Luxury cruise liner standards of accomodations, cuisine and service, with the convenience of your car on board. And there's a bonus 30% reduction for students.

KARAGEORGIS LINES
See an expert — your travel agent — or for more information contact: Karageorgis Lines, 1350 Avenue of the Americas New York, N.Y. 10019 Telephone: (212) 582-3007
All vessels are of Greek Registry.

Fred Houck Jeweler

FIRST TIME!
Month of May Sale

IN TIME FOR MOTHER'S DAY & GRADUATION

Selected Watches
Jewelry and Silver
Plated Holloware

Come In and See

65 N. Pleasant St
Amherst, Mass.
253-7615

the ARK
835 BEACON STREET · BOSTON, MASS. 02215 — 247-9548

MON. Drink & Drown
9-11 p.m.
Domestic bottled beer & draft .50¢
All drinks .50¢ (top shelf excluded)

TUES. College Night

WED. Oldies BUT Goodies
9-11 pm Collins · Sours .75¢

THUR. Sadie Hawkins
Girls ask Guys to dance with COLLEGE NIGHT PRICES

FRI. & SAT. Disco Dancing with NEW LIGHT SHOW

The Great Pretenders

Thursday
May 5

at the Hatch $1.00 cover

LAST APPEARANCE THIS SEMESTER

jan van tol

Confessions of a cynical columnist

For all their apparent cold rationality and lack of feelings, many Dutchies have rather sickeningly sentimental streaks. And so I hope that after the steady mix of mockery, cynicism, and maybe a touch of arrogance that have made up my columns, I'll be forgiven for ending this week on a somewhat more serious (schmaltzy?) note in hopes of tying this experience together after a fashion and perhaps also of assuaging my conscience a bit with a few words for those whom I have particularly offended these two semesters.

Even after all these months, I'm still occasionally a little amazed at being permitted to rant and rave on about my own peculiar passions and prejudices on these pages. And frankly, there is a tendency, given such an opportunity, to mistake one's own opinions for actual Truth. Not surprisingly, this leads to errors, not the least of which is arrogance.

I've been accused of being boorish and insensitive on some issues. And with reason. Particularly with satire, there is danger that while striving for a certain degree of acidity, one may be blinded to the possibility of inflicting gratuitous pain on innocent bystanders. I refer especially to last column's "Dear Bobo-San" letter. While I unequivocally intended no racial slur against Japanese people, that portion of the essay was unworthy, and I very much regret having used it.

On the other hand, there are certain things that I do not apologize for. For example, Mr. Robert Forrant kindly pointed out to me that those participating in support groups of various sorts are not "simpering wimps". He is right. That was probably a misprint. What I meant to say was "whimpering simps". I stand corrected ...

One of my pet peeves has been the excessive oversensitivity on campus, particularly on such issues as racism and sexism. My quarrel is not with those who are really concerned with such problems. Rather it is with those who becloud serious issues with rhetoric and lies, with those folks who debase the real meaning and horror of such words as oppression, inhumaneness, and genocide. The people who classify every little imagined wrong under such headings are simply intellectual whores. Sadly enough, this is not merely tedious; it is damaging in that people habituated to cries of persecution tend to ignore the real thing when it happens. Just as an example of the overuse, nay bastardization, of certain terms, last Monday's Notices section contained an ad reading "Free Baby Gerbils". My first reaction was "Wow, I didn't know the little beasties were being oppressed". Seriously.

On the other hand, some of those who have too readily agreed with me when I've mocked such things as Women's Week, the SOP, "progressive groups", etc., too easily slough off real wrongs. Predictably those who are well off under the status quo often are unable or unwilling to consider problems falling outside their own experience. I have as much contempt for those who unthinkingly sneer at Nummo News or the Revolutionary Student Brigade as I do for those rabblerousers who unceasingly shrill that "the People united will never be defeated".

Indeed, despite my vociferous disagreement with the goals of many "progressive" groups of people, with some exceptions I certainly don't mean to impugn their motives. For example, I can only honor the fervent efforts of a Charlotte Allen or a Barbara Stack to correct what they perceive to be injustices against women. Or while SW Assembly tends to wallow in self-righteousness, its anti-racism-sexism projects are certainly better intended than Albert Sparks' specious attempt to pose as a champion of the First Amendment. (You just don't make it as a martyr, Albert!) And even though the Student Organizing Project isn't quite in touch with Reality, at least it honestly believes it's working in students' interests. Such sincerity is okay in my book.

Another longstanding gripe I have concerns the stultifying solemnity which cloaks discussion of serious issues on this campus. It seems as if every "progressive" cause takes on the aspect of a religious crusade here. Is it this uncalled for sanctification of causes that makes even the slightest irreverence heresy? If there are those readers who doubt things are that bad, just try passing on the latest Gethers-Brown joke. Or suggest that there is more than just one side to the South Africa question. C'mon folks, we're still too young for everything to be a life or death question ...

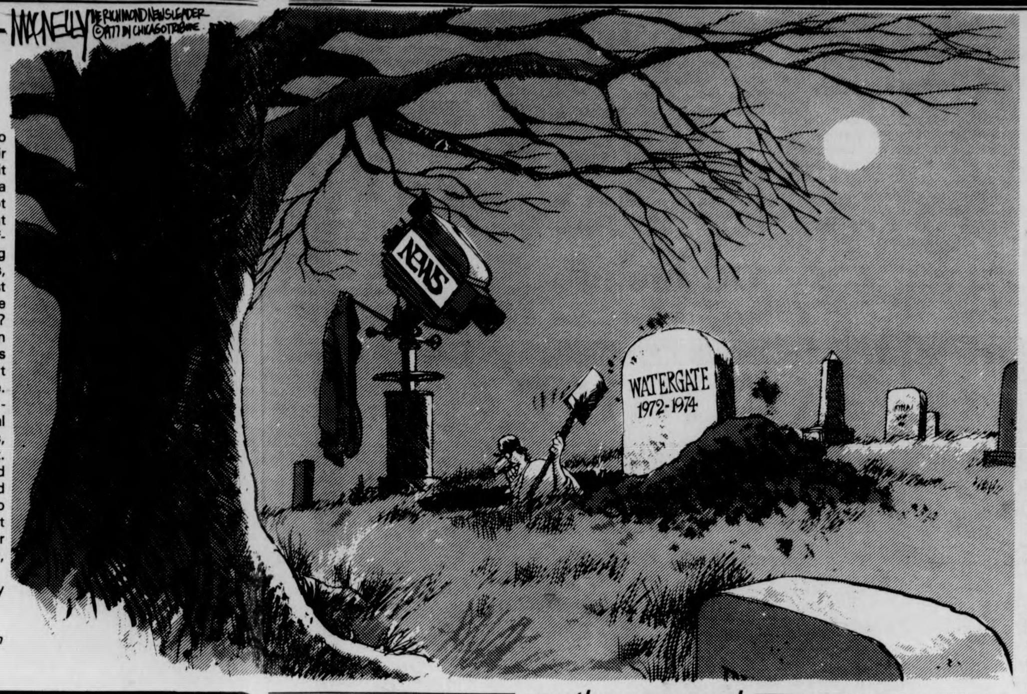
I've often been asked why I persist in using the "we" form. Well, it was sort of an unsuccessful goad, an effort to get people to ask in annoyance "who is this arrogant SOB who feels he's good enough to use the royal 'we'?" It was in reaction to the inferiority complex that infests this place. For some reason, students around here are typified by the reaction "I'm only from UMass". True, after years of watching slugs calling themselves students slouching dull-eyed in the classroom or impudently reading a newspaper while a professor is trying to lecture or drinking themselves into a stupor day after day, I'm tempted to agree that the mark of inferiority is not misplaced.

But there are many others who simply are convinced of their inadequacy because they hear it repeated too often that UMass is a zoo or a joke. Folks, that's just not true. This place is still an excellent institution. Ultimately for you self-doubters it comes down to ignoring unfair stereotypes and comments, and making of this place the best you can. What more can be required for a sense of self-worth?

And lastly a regret for a column that never happened. I've always wanted to do a radical tract, but somehow there was never time. I've long thought that conservatives can write flaming radical rhetoric as well as any other folks, and I would have liked to prove it. So I leave a standing offer. Should my friends Joel Weissmann and Chuck Pooler of the RSB decide to run for SGA President again next year, I'd be delighted to write their campaign literature!! Why not, right? It's all in good fun ...

All right. Enough of the earnesty shtick. Dismissed.

Jan van Tol is a Collegian Columnist (ret.)

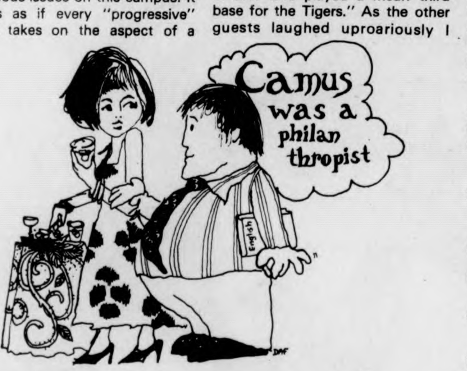


commentary

Social intercourse

By STEVEN DUBIN

It all began at a distinguished cocktail party. I thought I could discuss any topic for at least two "Martinis." The conversation rolled around to, "You are familiar with Albert Camus, aren't you?" "Sure," I answered authoritatively, "He had a lifetime batting average of 2.87 and played a mean third base for the Tigers." As the other guests laughed uproariously I slowly sank into the punch bowl.



Action had to be taken! A liberal arts education was needed to avoid further "Tom McCann" mouth. So what if this educational emphasis leads to unemployment. At least I could philosophize about it.

A liberal arts degree entitles one to write stern letters to your congressman about "the blatant discrimination of bearded, bow-legged Lapvian monks," and other important issues. A general education also gives you the right to wear torn tee-shirts, a floppy hat, and walk barefoot through mud puddles.

Some courses that helped me in the quest for a heightened sense of bullshit are the following:

English — a language similar to "American," but much more formal

Comparative Literature — which is better, "paperback or hardcover"

Astronomoney — the history of space money

Human Development — "hands on" sex education at a late age

Anthro — insects learn to play quarterback for local football teams

Labor "Relations" — a pornographic study of how workers get screwed by management rhetoric — simply a multiple choice exam you are made to elaborate into essays

Music — learn to appreciate classics "whether ya like it or not"

Art — pertains to some guy who used to sing with Paul Simon

Dance — hop around a few hours a week

Economics — a bunch of theories based on a Beach Boys song, "Wouldn't It Be Nice"

School of Ed. — an analysis of TV's favorite talking horse

Phys. Ed. — what happens when you drop "TV's favorite talking horse" into water

Leisure Studies and Recreation — entails carrying a book around all day without reading it (advanced courses on napping and spectatorship)

These classes should round out your knowledge. And next time some fool at a party asks you, "What is life?" I can assure you before you're finished expounding, he will excuse himself to go to the bathroom.

Steven Dubin is a Collegian Commentator.

martha newcomb

Degree or not degree

Hands folded, standing as erect as a person with lousy posture possibly can, the speaker — "The End is at Hand, or Why I Came to College, by Martha Newcomb".

"But you're so close to graduating, why don't you want to stay just a little more and get your degree?" This is the third time I've quit college, so I'm used to that question and have come to expect it. Oh, I've thought about staying and getting a degree; but then I thought of The Things One Can Do With An English Degree:

1) Stand on a corner and conjugate verbs.

2) Teach high school English until you can hardly bear the name Dickens.

3) Be a waitress then write about it for Readers Digest.

4) Correct your child's grammer.

5) Be the life of the party and make Milton jokes with a lampshade on your head.

6) Pretend you completely understand Joyce's Ulysses.

and 7) Recognize dangling modifiers in the New Yorker.

"Well if you don't want a degree, why did you come here in the first place?" Having no specific vocation in mind, I came here to Learn What to Learn. I have learned a little about enough things to last me through at least ten years of expansion on those things.

Who says college doesn't prepare one for life? Most of you are preregistering for next year. I feel like I'm preregistering for life. Filling out job applications is just like trying to get into a film course. Trying to get a decent apartment is just like trying to get into the best dorms on campus.

The only negative realization that has hit me during my stay at this institution for higher learning has been that any idiot with the money and the time can get jobs of degrees and teach college. Teaching is one of the most honorable and difficult of professions. It is so disheartening to go to a class that sounds exciting and find a pompous idiot that can hardly wait to impress you with their vast knowledge on that and only that subject.

This is, of course, not usually true; I've taken many excellent courses at UMass. Aside from the good courses and the good professors, I think that the thing that I will miss most is living in the dorm. Late night group giggles, creative pranks, sunrise and sunset vigils, the cacophanous marching band and the variety of people plunked into a living arrangement. The dorm has given me material for loads of short stories.

Since this is my last column, I've been wondering whether to go out as a lion or a lamb. Speaking of Lamb — Charles Lamb (1775-1834) An English essayist, humorist and critic. Knowing that alone should be enough for me to get at least a Bachelor's Degree in English.

If you run out of Milton jokes, just give me a call. Oh yes, my goal is the New Yorker by 1980.

Martha Newcomb is a Collegian Columnist, Essayist, Humorist, and Critic.

commentary

Economic freedom

By DREW CRANE

"From each according to his ability, to each according to his need." This banner of collectivism has enslaved three fourths of the worlds population and slaughtered countless millions. In essence, it is the force of a gun pointed at the mind of every rational individual; every producer and creator who has carried the world on his shoulders, like Atlas, for centuries. It is expressed in the morality of altruism — concern for the welfare of others above self — which is totally incompatible with rational self-interest.

Altruist — collectivist doctrines have engulfed most of the world and have been cancerously distorting our country and its economic system since colonization. But despite global decay, America has become a beacon of hope for mankind. The multitude of restrictive laws, regulations and economic intervention instituted by the collectivists in our government could not prevent this unprecedented advancement of civilization.

This system has enabled creative individuals to produce a nation with the highest standard of living of any country in history. It has produced more scientific, industrial and medical advances than any other nation. There is less poverty here than anywhere else on earth. And as a consequence of individual and economic freedom, private voluntary contributions to charities per capita have steadily increased, amounting to over 22 billion dollars per year. Imagine the advances that would be possible without government intervention in the economy. With a government restricted to its proper function of military defender, local policeman and legal arbiter all mankind would prosper.

To the extent that they were politically and economically free, the rest of the world benefited. Even the stagnant slave camps of Soviet Russia and Communist China attribute their technological advances to theft or "gifts" of western world brains and machines. Their increasing military and economic strength is the result of gangster politicians from Roosevelt to the present. Its most current example, detante, has been correctly observed as a one way street leading to the dead end of collectivism.

But socialism is nothing new. The "wave of the future" has repeatedly failed throughout history. If there is to be a future of humanity, it will be in a system of rational self-interest and laissez-faire capitalism. The socialists know that as long as man remains submissive to the will of the collective, their racket is safe. They know that suppression of individualism is a battle against the mind and that reason will naturally triumph if not drowned in the blood of liberty. So they fight on seeking to destroy this last great hope for mankind. It is an all or nothing battle and you must choose self-defense if you value your life. Speak out against collectivism of all forms or you will surrender, by moral default, to the living death of the socialist state.

Drew Crane is a Collegian Commentator.

Arrested at Seabrook

The following is a partial list of Five College area students who are being held in the Manchester Armory in New Hampshire because of their involvement in the occupation of the Seabrook nuclear power site. The list has been supplied by request of some of the occupiers, who wish to inform friends and faculty of their location. (source: Gary R. Parks)

Adams, Ashley; Adams, Nancy; Anderson, Gary; Ashley, Tom; Barkett, Joe; Barclay, Bill; Beals, George; Blotnick, Joe; Cantor, Howie; Carlson, Jeffrey; Carley, Malcolm; Conley, Sean; Cotton, Tom; Dodge, Richard, Demelth, Cheryl; Drew, Scott; Dryfoos, Paul; Decarean, Joel; Elliott, Beth; Einstein, David; Evlian, David; Edwards, David; Edey, Lisa; Folbre, Nancy; Fite, Lucinda; Friedman, Peter; Finestone, Lisa; Fogelsong, Dave; Gomberg, R. Tooker; Gold, Michael; Griffith, Bonnie; Gage, Meg; Groff, Marc; Hamilton, Holly; Hays, Warren; Helfman, Ilisha.

Also Hackett, Louisa, Hammond, Mark; Hartman, Holly; Jacobson, Jake; Jackson Jack; Jenkins, Peter; Kelley, Ken; Kahn,; Robert; Kutylo, Ray; Knight, H. Henry; Krassner, Debra; Ketcham, Sally; Laurita, Jim; Levy, Myra; Luce, Janet; Lynn, John; Lerner, Adam; Lacy, Chuck; Lynn, Sylvia; Mazzella, Peter; Meyer, Karl; Morse, Susan; Memhard, Scott; Mcglynn, Ed; Montague, Dwight; Munroe, Glen; Miller, Jeff; Miller, Rich; Myerson, Pat; Olsen, Susan; Otto, Timberly; Olander, Ed; Partington, Don; Parks, Gary R.; Pitsch, Mark; Ouellette, Karen; Rosen, Robert; Romano, Steve; Rasmussen, Ravn.

Also Synder, Tracey; Scheffey, Mia; Sanders, Ducan; Salten, Ira; Surprenaut, Alan; Staub, Billy; Saucien, James; Singer, Michael; Staff, David; Shear, Scott; Simurda, Steve; Solorzano, John; Siben, Craig; Thayer, Rob; Theodoras, Maroo; Thorpe, Isaac; Vogt, Jay; Vaslet, Linda; Valienti, Cammy; Veatch, Phil; Weston, David; Wells, Mary; Wilson, Marc; White, Chris; Ward, Janet; Walford, Peter; Winborn, Rebecca; Young, Kevin.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Dorothy A. Clark, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

letters

Tenure denials

To the Editor:

An open letter to Paul Puryear:

The MSP Women's Caucus and the Women's Studies Policy Board wish to draw your attention to the following passage of the Academic personnel Policy of the University of Massachusetts:

Article IV, section 4.2: "For personnel recommendations and decisions, consideration must also be given to the relationship of the recommended personnel action to the following: ... c) departmental affirmative action goals, considering the nature of the positive contribution that affirmative action is able to make to the diversity of perspective that is essential to the well-being of the department and the University community ... " (p. 6) and (p. 16, Article VI, section 6.4,g:) ... "In recommendations for the award of tenure, the Chancellor's recommendation shall contain written justification on the basis of the relationship describd in Section 4.2." This provision was drafted by the Affirmative Action Advisory Committee last year and strongly endorsed by the Faculty Senate Committee on the Status of Women.

In light of these provisions, we are disturbed to find that a number of women faculty who have been given positive recommendations by their departments and deans may be denied tenure at the Provost's level. We cite in particular the cases of Priscilla Hicks, English; Grace Rollinson, Zoology; and Diana Ramos, Afro-American Studies. These cases, like many others, fall into one or both of the following categories: a) women who have served the university for a period of time far exceeding the normal pre-tenure period and have suffered discrimination through anti-nepotism rules; b) women who were hired as part of the university's new commitment to correct past inequities in employment practice.

Although the university is now undergoing a period of severe stress, it would be unconscionable to allow this retrenchment to be the excuse for continued discriminatory treatment of women and minorities in situations of hiring, compensation, reappointment, tenure and promotion. We recognize the need for the university to respond to changing economic conditions. However, we oppose the imposition of any tenure quotas based on a five-year plan which has been defined as tentative by the Chancellor and yourself. Furthermore, changes which involve the abrogation of a clearly stated, binding commitment to affirmative action goals and procedures are both immoral and illegal. We find very disturbing the absence of any consideration of affirmative action in the current five-year plan.

In view of the urgency of this situation, we request a response from your office by May 9th (c-o Prof. Lee Edwards, English Dept., Bartlett).

MSP Women's Caucus,
Women's Studies

Nummo guilty of 'mugging' Wolf

To the Editor:

In the Nummo News (May 2), Mike Thelwell accuses the C.A.S. faculty of "mugging" Provost Paul Puryear through "insult and public humiliation". Whatever the value of Thelwell's critique of the "humanist" wing of Arts and Sciences, his attack on at least one of the C.A.S. faculty, Robert Paul Wolff, is a "mugging" if i ever saw one.

Employing a tactic worthy of a Time's Square roller, Thelwell argues that Wolff's critique of Puryear would have been "infinitely more moving" if the critic had not been a "failed candidate for the position of provost". Thus, with one fell swoop of the rhetorical blackjack, Thelwell reduces Wolff's philosophical dispute with the Provost to the vindictive protestations of a loser. Ironically, Wolff, the assailant of the "dark alley", is bludgeoned by Thelwell, the child of light.

Examine the victim. You will discover that Wolff is a man who thought enough about the "ideal" of the university to write a book on it and then hoped to institutionalize his viewpoint by becoming provost. If he is angry about not getting the job, perhaps it is because he believes that his "failure" was the result not of incompetence, but of the systematic exclusion from administrative posts of anyone who seriously thinks that the university should not dance to the latest tune of the market economy.

My point — an obvious one to anybody who does not wish to stifle debate by dividing ideas into those which are a gloss for personal advancement and those which originate in disinterested benevolence — is that resentment is a healthy motivation providing its bearer does not allow it to turn him into a creature of vendetta. Thelwell does not prove that this is true of Wolff. All he demonstrates is that Wolff is passionately or "righteously" involved with a vision of the university and, unlike so many of us who shrink at the first sign of disapproval from authority, willing to continue to fight for what he believes. If his fight is with the man who has the position he wanted, it arises, not out of some petty careerist jealously, but from the realization that Puryear is the personification of an educational philosophy that he was fighting long before the provost's position opened.

To argue that Robert Paul Wolff's position in the current controversy is undercut by his frustrated desire to be provost is reductionism, the ploy of an intellectual mugger who wishes to avoid facing the substance of his opponent's ideas. It would be as plausible to speculate that Professor Thelwell's defense of Puryear is inspired by crude self-interest since his department — Afro-Am. — is not subject to the cuts of the "five year plan." Hopefully the struggle over the future of UMass will not take place on this level of intellectual crime in the streets.

Jack Murphy
Teaching Associate
Southwest Residential College

Many thanks...

To the Editor:

The Central Area Council would like to extend its sincerest appreciation to Gary Schuster and Dave Kantor for their fine efforts in putting on the Central-Orchard Hill Spring Concert.

We would also like to express our appreciation to the people from the Physical Plant, who helped in setting up the stage and lighting, and to the people from Brooks House, who helped in cleaning up afterwards.

Richard A. Fryer
Vice President

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Last chance to donate your blood

This is the last day appointments can be made to donate blood. Sign up at the Campus Center Assistance Desk.

The Blood Donor Center is located on the ground floor of the University Health Center. Donations will be accepted from 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Self-pleasure course for women tonight

Women will learn the importance and methods of pleasuring themselves tonight at 7:00 at a workshop entitled, "Self-Pleasuring: For the Mind and Body". The workshop will focus on the issues of sexuality, sex roles, stereotypes and masturbation.

The two-hour presentation will be given by Linda J. Fuller at the Central Area Women's Center, 119 B Baker. For more information, call the center at 545-0496.

Internship office offers jobs as TA's

The Office of Internships is seeking applicants for Teaching Assistant for the 1977-1978 academic year. The title of the position is Internship Coordinator, and carries the usual academic year stipend of $3600. Several such position are expected to become available.

Internship Coordinators are responsible for the supervision of undergraduate student interns (non-teaching) in the field, providing academic and administrative support, making field visits, and arranging a series of seminars. Responsibilities also include supervision of office personnel in recruitment and placement of prospective interns.

Applicants must be Graduate students in good standing in a degree program, must be familiar with the University system, must be willing to travel, and must possess a valid driver's license. Pending final approval of budget requests, applications will be accepted until June 1st and retained until such time as interviews can be arranged. Final decisions will be made in July.

Interested students should send a letter and all pertinent information, including summer address and phone number to: Program Coordinator, Office of Internships, 409 Goodell Building.

Rep. Collins to hold office hours

Rep. James G. Collins, D-Amherst, has announced he will hold office hours from noon to 1 p.m. Saturday in the Campus Center.

Amherst Forum: 'Medicine as Religion'

Janice Raymond, assistant professor of Women's Studies-Medical Ethics on the Five College faculty, will lead the Amherst Community Forum Friday at 12:15 at the Unitarian Meetinghouse. The title of her talk is "Medicine as Religion: Male Myths, Ministers and Ministration."

Call 253-2848 for reservations week days between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Health Services offers summer plan

University Health Services will again offer prepaid health services to students and their dependents who will be in the Amherst area during the summer. The deadline for enrollment for coverage for the entire summer is June 15. The fee is $35 for students and an additional $35 for their dependents.

Questions regarding the Summer Health Plan can be answered at the University Health Services, 549-2671, ext. 170.

Legal aid workshop on lease breaking

The Legal Services Office has scheduled workshops to answer questions about the legal effects of breaking a lease. Students wanting to move from their apartments before their leases are up should come to one of the sessions tomorrow from 10 to 11 a.m. in Campus Center 901.

An attorney from the office will be on hand to answer questions. If you cannot attend, call Legal Services, 5-1995, Fridays.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — BBQ Beef on a Bun, Link Sausages with Blueberry Pancakes and Syrup; Basics: Vegetable Sukiyaki, Cheese, Lettuce, and Tomato and Wheat Bread.

DINNER — SPECIAL DESSERT: SUPER CONES, Chicken Cacciatore, Grilled Reuben Sandwich; Basics: Chicken Cacciatore, Soybean Croquettes.

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Fish Burger, Turkey Divan; Basics: Mixed Bean Casserole, Fish Burger

DINNER — Cube Steak, Fried Shrimp with Hot Sauce, Sausage Beef Casserole; Basics: Fried Shirmp with Hot Sauce, Lentil Patties.

TONIGHT
TWO FOR ONE
8:30 'til 11
Most Drinks & Beer
TWO WAY STREET
From 9 'til 1
THE PUB
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST

EMPORIUM INDIA
Sales on JERSEYS
★
DRESSES
★
Men & Women's SHIRTS
An extensive line of SUNDRESSES
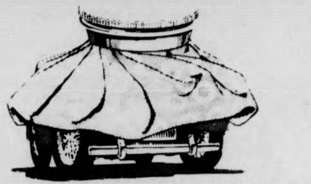
NOW IN STOCK!
Sizes 5-16
Remember
SIDEWALK SALES Thurs.-Sat. 5/12-14
Open Mon.-Thurs. 10-5, Fri. 10-9, Sat. 10-6
549-6400

BIG A AUTO PARTS
FOREIGN CAR OWNERS:
YOU NEED PARTS NOT HEADACHES



Why should you have to wait for replacement parts to be shipped in from long distances—or worse yet, from factories half-way around the world? That's a king-size headache. We've got a sure cure—Worldparts—auto parts for foreign cars. A full line of quality-made replacement parts for the most popular foreign cars in town. Have your garage or service station man call us. Or, if you wish, we can give you the names and addresses of foreign car experts near you when your car needs servicing.
AMERICAN PARTS
Allied Motor Parts
319 Main St., Amherst
256-8341
Shop Service Available
Hours: 8-5:30 M-F, 8-5 Sat.

Food Services All-Campus Barbecue

The University Food Services Annual All-Campus Barbecue will be held next Tuesday from 4:30 to 7 p.m., featuring great food and live music. Students without a meal book may purchase a ticket at the barbecue for $2.75.

"Sperm Whale" will perform for the 6500 people expected to attend the chicken feast at the Southwest Playing Fields across from Southwest. The menu includes a half barbecued chicken, potato chips, salad, brownies, corn-on-the-cob and fresh watermelon. For those who prefer something stronger than soda or milk, beer will be available at a nearby tent.

Food Services will be using 35-foot barbecue pits for the 4000 chickens and four smaller barbecue stations for steaming the 7000 ears of corn in preparation of this year's menu.

Franklin Dining Commons in the Central area is the only building that will serve dinner to those not able to come to the main event in Southwest. A menu similar to the barbecue's, and which will accommodate vegetarians, will be served.

In case of rain, the barbecue will be held indoors at Worcester, Hampshire, and Berkshire Commons.

APPEARING TONITE
Papa John Creach
FRI.-SUN.
FAT
COMING
May 11
POUSETTE
DART BAND
May 14
JAMES COTTON
May 18
JONATHAN EDWARDS
AT
The rusty nail Inn
Rte 47, Sunderland
665-4937

Veteran's policies on educational loans

Education loans for veterans have nearly doubled in a year, Veterans Administration (VA) reported recently.

VA approved 1,516 education loans during March, the largest monthly total since the program was started two years ago. During March 1976, 870 were approved.

VA makes educational loans, up to a maximum of $1,500 per academic year, to needy veterans and dependents beyond regular VA allowances to meet educational costs. Applications come from veteran students enrolled under the GI Bill and from dependents using the dependents educational program.

Repayment of principal and interest is deferred until nine months after the student ceases enrollment. Full payment is due within 10 years and nine months. No interest is charged until the beginning of the repayment period.

Complete loan information is available from veterans representatives on campus.

Report on traumas in the classroom

TORONTO, Canada (AP) — A psychiatrist reporting "combat neurosis" in inner city school teachers said Wednesday that school violence has not declined and officials have taken only token steps to ease the trauma on "battered teachers."

Dr. Alfred M. Bloch said that nationally some 63,000 serious injuries from physical assaults by students were reported in 1975-76 and that many more were never reported.

In addition to their physical injuries, "many psychological symptoms presented by these battered teachers are analogous to those observed in combat neurosis," Bloch said.

They included emotional tension, anxiety, nightmares, jumpiness, phobias and other psychological ills. Bloch said that, as in the case of soldiers under constant fear of attack, the tension is sometimes shown in physical symptoms such as high blood pressure, stomach trouble, backaches and headaches.

NOTICES

ANACAORA CULTURAL CENTER

Is sponsoring the film "A Man Called Horse" to be shown at 7:30 p.m. in Dwight House basement. No admission charge.

ATTENTION POLOISTS!

If you are going to Martha's Vineyard this weekend, please be at Boyden at 1:45 Fri. We leave by 2. Practice Thurs. night.

ATTENTION PRE-DENTS

The results are in from the annual elections for the Pre-Dent Club. We would like to congratulate and wish the best of luck in the next year to our upcoming senior officers: Pres. Thomas Finn; Vice-Pres Daniel Granger; Sec. Edward Kane; Treas. Louis M. Grillon. At this time we would also like to show our appreciation for the graduating officers of the club for their hard work, time and devotion to make it the great club it is.

BICYCLE CLUB

Last meeting of the semester. A well-known expert on cycling will give a talk on long distance touring. Also we will plan weekend trips and see a demonstration of tire-changing. Come to CC 801 at 7 tonight. All invited.

BROWN BAG THEOLOGY

The last of this year's lunch and theology rap sessions will take place tomorrow (Fri) noon from 12-1 in 422 Student Union. Different concerns, different people each week; all people, all questions and concerns are welcome. Facilitated by Pete Sabey for the ecumenical and humanizing UCF Team Ministry.

TURN TO PAGE 14

SENIOR DAY '77
IS COMING
'BOOGIE WITH BROMERY'
AT THE CHANCELLOR'S RECEPTION FOR SENIORS
MAY 20 TO THE NORTHEAST QUAD.
12noon TO 6pm
TICKETS NOW ON SALE
CAMPUS CENTER CONCOURSE
SENIORS: $2.00 GUESTS: $3.00

CHARTER FLIGHTS TO EUROPE AND CALIFORNIA

- London
- Paris
- Amsterdam
- Frankfurt
- Vienna
- Zurich
- Poland
- Hungary
- Ireland
- Greece
- Rome
- Spain
- Geneva
- Hamburg
- Brussels

LOW FARES NO MEMBERSHIP REQUIRED

For Further Information Contact:

CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER

Campus Center 3rd level

Univ. of Mass. 545-0500

CONT. FROM PAGE 13

COIN CLUB

Interested in coin collecting? Come to this semester's last meeting. New members desperately needed for next year's club. All welcome. Refreshments, 7:30-10 p.m. CC 901.

COLLEGE DEMOCRATS

The final meeting of the College Democrats will be held in Rm 901 CC at 6 p.m. Plans for next year will be discussed.

COLLEGE REPUBLICAN ANNUAL MEETING

The UMass College Republican Club will hold its annual meeting this evening in Rm 905 CC at 7:30 p.m. This meeting is of utmost importance as officers for next year will be elected. All dues paying members are urged to attend.

FORMER BROOKS RESIDENTS

Items left unclaimed by past residents of Brook House should be identified and claimed by Sat. May 7. Those items unclaimed will be subsequently disposed of.

FOUND

To the guy who lost his helmet yesterday: you can identify and claim it at the CC information desk.

FOUND

Looking for a lost notebook or book? Check Campus Center Lost and Found. CC 2nd level 8-11 p.m. daily. Unclaimed notebooks will be discarded after Wed. May 11.

FREE CONCERT

There will be a free concert featuring R, S.B.P. Fri., May 6 from 3-8 p.m. in the back of Melville and James. Everyone invited. BYOB.

ISSUES IN AGRICULTURE

Come to the last meeting of the semester. The subject will be "Students Changing Agriculture" with speakers Bill Roseneau from UMass and Paul Slater from Hampshire College. This will happen on Thurs. in CC 174 from 7-9 p.m.

LAG BOMER HIKE

Join us on hike to Puffer's Pond tomorrow, meet at 1:30 p.m. in front of Student Union.

LOST

White short sleeved either at Schlitz-a-rama or Quad Day. Said "David's of Cape Cod" on it. Call 6-7430.

MUSIC THEATER GUILD

There will be an important meeting of the UMass Music Theater Guild tonight in CC 804-808 at 5:30 p.m. Agenda includes the elections for the '77-'78 Executive Board. All members are asked to attend.

NORTHEAST AFFAIRS

Northeast Area Government will be having a meeting tonight in Thatcher at 6:30. Everyone is welcome. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

PHYSICAL THERAPY CLUB

The UMass Physical Therapy club starts Thurs. May 5 at 8 p.m. in NOPE Rm 22 for all those frustrated yet interested students who want more info. Bring your ideas and disenchantments.

SILKSCREEN WORKSHOP

Prof. Femi Richards will conduct a silkscreen printing workshop from 8-10 p.m. tonight (Thurs. May 5) in Webster House, Orchard Hill. Bring your own T-shirt!

SKYDIVE!

There will be a first jump course tonight at 7 p.m. in CC 803. $50 gets you certified instruction, the jump, and annual membership in the club.

STRATEGY MEETING

This Sun. in the Campus Center, we must figure out a reasonable way to handle Swingfires — Shattuck.

SQUARE DANCE

Heymakers our monthly dance is this Sat. at 8 in Farely Lodge, we need a big turnout. Idiot badge excursion to follow the dance. There will be no workshop next week so this is your last chance for the semester.

SUMMER SCHOOL RA POSITION OPEN

For more information contact Valerie Stephens, HR Melville, 6-4543.

WOMAN'S FRISBEE

There will be a game at NOPE Thurs. at 4 p.m. See ya there!

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

FOR SALE

Water bed Q. size complete only $150. Bike, 3 speed, Raleigh $35. Ladys. 256-8746.

Yamaha turntable, Audio technica cartridge. Almost new, excellent cond. Cheap call Lawry 549-6023 - keep trying.

AKC Irish Setter pups. Pick now. Ready May 17. Priced to sell. 665-3321.

Golf clubs, Chi Chi Rodriguez signature, pro-registered and bag - 9 irons, 4 woods and putter. List $350 - used only 2 times - have lost interest and need cash. $175 or B.O. Call Steve 6-5420.

Gift idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

Furniture for sale. 256-0401.

Multi-wide tires, M-50, 14 inch. $50 or best offer. Bill 546-7060.

Calculators! End of semester prices! See classified ad under Calculators!

Pioneer car cassette tape deck with speakers. Total retail value $140. Will sell for $60 or B.O. Call 584-8324 or 549-0616.

Furniture. Reasonable prices. 256-0401.

Twin bed, less than 1 yr. old, metal frame, includes box spring, $70. Call Neil at 256-0665 btwn. 5-7 p.m.

Fender Super-Reverb. B.O. 323-4249.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap 256-8732.

Gibson ES, 330TD guitar, mid '60's, perfect cond. $325 or B.O. Call Bob 6-3432.

Philco fridge, side by side, great cond., only $175 or B.O. 584-4478 days or 549-4804 nights.

Moterbecane Moped. Less than 300 mi., saddle bag & rear view mirror — like new only $400. Call 584-4478 days or 549-4804 nights.

Quadraphonic stereo for sale. A steal at $150. Call Robin at 256-6734.

9x12 bl shag rug, $40; toaster oven $8; rotating Schlitz lamp, $6; wall lamp $3; all exc. cond. 6-8991.

full size refrigerator, excellent condition, $50 or best offer. Call Debbie 545-2303 rm. 315. Keep trying.

Refrigerator 13 cu. ft. for sale. $50 negotiable. Please call Jean 546-9568.

Grateful Dead Tix for Boston, Sat. 5-17. Good seats. Call 253-5705 after 6 p.m.

Peugeot Men's 10 spd. A1 cond. B.O. 25 inch frm. 665-3025 a.m. or late p.m. Must see.

Good used furniture. Call Cheryl 256-0202. Excellent cond.

TV works fine, B&W, $25. Craig at 549-4600, ext. 219.

Yamaha six-string folk guitar: like new, case included. $60 or best offer. Call 549-2781.

5 cu. ft. fridge, $80 or best offer. Call 546-8432.

Water bed, queen sz., w-frame complete, $150. Will neg. Janet 545-2627.

Miranda Model A camera. 50 mm lens, 135mm Tel and Bellowscope. All gd. cond. Asking $100. Bill 5-2642, rm. 311.

Tag Sale: B-3 Cliffside: Furniture, TV, stereo, plants. Sun. 5-8, 9-6.

Little Feat tickets. No mark up. 10 p.m. show, 5-5. Chris 665-3488.

Apt. sz. refridge. Roomy. Must sell. $50 or B.O. Call Nancy 6-4051.

Full size refrig. $40. Call 543-9409.

FOR SALE

One and one-half cu. ft. refrig. Excellent condition. $80 or best offer. Eves. 6-1216. Keep trying!

5.0 cu. ft. refrig., $75. Also 2 burner hot plate, $15. Call Pete 6-9254.

AUTO FOR SALE

1969 VW, runs great. 77,000 miles. Asking $550. Call 665-2159. Ask for Bob.

I have a beautiful Ford van for sale. Excellent interior, carpeted and paneled. Needs some mechanical work. $450.00. Call David at 253-3776.

Reliable trans. '66 Buick. Everything works, new sticker, frt. brakes, wtr. pump. $300 firm. 256-0673.

'64 Ford wagon, runs well. $125—b.o. Call Jay 253-7943. Depend.

1969 VW Bug. Ugly but runs very well. Extremely dependable. $500. 549-6721 after 5 p.m. or weekends.

1975 Fiat 128SL, 4 dr. Excel. cond. 546-5231.

1965 Olds 88, runs fine- smooth. $300 or B.O. Rich 6-7883.

1972 Charger SE, excellent inside and out. $1700. Call 584-8086.

Volvo 122 rns. good. 4 sp. 788-0295 aft. 5.

65 Mustang std. runs good, needs work. B.O. call Mary, 549-6476.

'65 VW Bug, exc. cond., 35 mpg., Spring sticker. $850. 253-3623.

Good Buy! 1971 Buick Skylark, 4 door, vinyl top, A.C., new radials, very economical. $1495. Graduating, must sell. Call 256-8484 today!

'65 Chevy Impala, $200. Call Cathy 256-0611.

'69 Opel GT. Best of. 546-9857.

'69 Olds Cutlass. Dented but running, needs some work. Call Terry 253-7476.

1972 Pinto, 2000cc, automatic. Body good, runs well, good mileage, Spring sticker. Asking $850.00. Call Paul 256-0235.

'70 VW Sqbk. Exc. mech., body needs some work. 28mpg. $700 neg. Tom 549-4600, x325.

Must sell: Tan while you drive in a 1974 VW Bug with sunroof. Standard, new brakes, tape player and speakers. Exc. cond. $2,000. Call 665-3569 or 624-3654.

'68 VW, $500 or best offer. 549-5147.

'69 VW Bug. Engine not working. Good for parts or repair. $150. Michael 549-0909.

'69 Dodge Coronet, runs great, new tires, brakes and exhaust. $350. Call p.m. 665-4153.

1968 Firebird, 6 cyl., auto., P.S. Vy. good cond. $595 or B.O. 546-5814.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

1973 Honda CB350, 5,800 mi., ex. cond. Rack & trunk, $640. Call Pat 253-9233.

'74 Yamaha RD250. 5,000 mi. J&R Pipes. $700. 256-0522.

Two 1974 Kawasaki 100's road and dirt bikes. Both cycles less than 1300 miles. Asking $450.00 each. Call Jeff 665-3064.

'74 Honda 360, low miles, extras. $600. Mike at 5B Brandywine.

CB450 Honda, 3200 miles. $950 or best offer. Call Nan at 549-6449 or 5-0941.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

'71 Kawasaki 350. Must sell. $350 or best offer. 253-5684.

Honda CL350, 1973 tuned and timed, new battery. $500. Call 772-0652.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Summer jobs. Must have car. Earn $1,000 - $4,000. Jobs in many locations. Call for interview, 253-2597.

Papers or people to do them in areas of mass communications and pres. campaigns for $. 549-6702. Also woman to take AST 100 exam.

Create change, make a difference. The student legal services office is now accepting applications for Paralegals (interns or work study) for next Fall and Spring. Pick one up at 922 Campus Center. Hard, important work in good political atmosphere. Deadline May 6.

Men from North Shore who want to play for a team in M-Head Softball League, call Dave 549-4885 eves.

Addresser wanted immediately! Work at home — no experience — excellent pay. Write American Service, 8350 Park Lane, Suite 269, Dallas, TX. 75231.

Responsible creative individual experienced in caring for young children wanted for pt-time child care this summer and after school care next school year. 4 and 8 yr. old. Reasonable salary or room and board. Own car. 256-8205 evenings.

On-campus babysitter 2-3 hours—day, 1-5 days—week at your convenience. Call Fredi 5-0465.

Hard workers needed for entire summer. If you qualify, you could earn $2770 for 13 wks. Call 253-2598.

My clothes need repair. Ron 256-8952.

WANTED

Boat 16 - 18 ft. fiberglass, 1—0 or O—B, fresh water only. $2,000 range. Call Dave 546-4165.

Looking for house to rent year round in Amherst. June 1st. Please call 567-7779 or 1-800-332-9555 and ask for Paul.

Members for weekly poker club! Call Bob 549-1316 for info.

Young, professional couple seeks house to rent. Will sub lease, lease or take care of someone's home. Please call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

Car trouble? I want manual-shift, 4 or 6 cylinder. 546-7096.

Greedy people wanted. Set own hours. Mucho Lucre, May 9 in CC. Hotel Vitamin Business Enterprise.

Martha's Vineyard. 1 or 2 female housemates needed to share large vineyard home for the summer. Please call 546-9568 or 549-1473.

18 or 15 ft. alum. canoe in gd. cond. Reas. priced. Old Town or Applebee w-paddles. Also — need gar. space nr. Amherst. Call Jim aft. 7 p.m. at 6-4156.

Used albums in good condition wanted. I'll buy whole collections. 323-4249.

Need a place down the Cape? There's one in Dennis with good times waiting for you. $400. Call 6-5096 or 6-5138.

Wanted: People to share large house in Hyannis, Mass. on the Cape. Downtown area. Close to beach. Call Ronnie 6-5057 or Booka 6-5099.

FOR RENT

I own a very private ski chalet with a breathtaking view of Echo Lake in Tyson, Vermont. Lake front privileges, canoe, fireplace, loft. Interested in renting it to a faculty member or responsible grad student. 203-875-6306 after 5 p.m.

3-4 Bedrooms for June & September. Call between 6-7 p.m. Skibiski, Realtors Northampton. 584-3428.

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 plus sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Looking for summer residence? Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is offering rooms at $150 per single, and $200 per double or $100 ea.. Call 545-0070, 549-6999 or 549-1321.

3 bedrooms in large house, ½ mile from campus, $60 each for summer and—or fall. 549-1867.

3 housemates, 1 5-15 and 2 5-15 all year, 24 plus for great house on Bay Rd., S. Amherst. $90 plus. 253-7935.

1 or 2 room in 3 bedroom apart. Furnished, Puff. Vil. $60-mo. 549-5892.

Summer rooms full kitchen facilities. New bathrooms. 5 min. to campus. $125 Sin., $175 dble. Large back yard. 545-2162.

For rent apt. in Sunderland. 665-4977.

5 bedroom house, 1 block from campus, reasonable. June - Sept. Call 546-6143 or 546-6155.

1 bdrm. apt., Cliffside, on bus rt., tennis, pool, kitchen. Avail. May. $145—mo., util. inc. Call 665-2886 after 5.

Available rooms in big old house on bus rt. in Sundr. Cheap and spacious. Call Susan 665-4367 nights. Leave message.

Cozy 3 bdrm. ranch house on 1½ acres land, Monteque Rd., Shutesbury. 7 miles from Amherst. Fireplace, rm. for grdn. Avail. middle of June. $300 mo. 549-0119.

Cape Cod — E. Dennis. 3 bdrm., 1½ baths, now thru 9-6. $2500. 253-5017.

1 lg. bdrm. twnhse apt., bus rte. $100—mo. neg. 545-1927 or nites 549-6761.

Own room on bus line with pool - summer housemate needed desperately. Call 665-4364.

Small 3 bedroom apartment, S. Amherst. Quiet, 1 yr. lease. Available Sept. 1. $225 includes electricity. Call 253-9354.

Cape Cod — 3 bedroom ranch in secluded W. Barnstable, 10 minutes from Hyannis and Craigville beach area, June 1 - Sept. 7. $2,000 plus. Call Bill 256-0313.

INSTRUCTION

Diving classes now forming at Hampshire Scuba Supply. Call 268-7373. 4 p.m. - 9 p.m., Mon. - Fri. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Sat. Main St., Williamsburg, Ma.

AUDIO

Quality components. Over 150 lines, reasonable prices. Call Peter, 665-2920.

Pioneer SX-535 20 watts per, BIC form. 4 spkrs., AR-XB with M91ED. $450. Ken 549-1452.

ROOM WANTED

Quiet senior looking for room in apt. or house for fall. 546-6443.

ROOMMATE WANTED

2 female roommates for 3 bedrm. house in Amherst. On bus route. Call 253-3953.

$60. Own lg. rm. in 3 bdrm. twnhse. Furn. or not, pool, bus. Puffton. 549-1033.

Own room, furn. hse., laundry, kitchen, wooded lot. So. Amh. Jun-Aug. Neg. 256-6224.

Put your head down. 2 comfortable bdrms. avail. for summer sessions! Quiet, condo living. A.C. 256-6992 eve.

Female Jan. grad., own bdrm. Rolling Green. 6-6756, 6-6754.

1 or 2 fem. to share 2 bdrm. apt. on bus line. Furn., pool, rent neg. 253-3446.

Fourth roommate wanted to share 2 bedroom house in Hyannis with 3 males. Call Jay 5-3500.

Fmle rmmate wanted to share 2 bdrm. apt. in Amherst. 6-1—8-31 CE. Call 549-2867.

2 rms. in frnshed Br. Mnr. Apt. Pool, tennis, bus rt. $60—month. 256-0677.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

F rmmate needed for next Fall to share 3 bdr. Puffton apt. $95 plus utils., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun-loving, too. Call Carol 256-0325.

2 bdrms. in 4 bdrm. house in Shutesbury. $80—mo. 253-3635.

Looking for a place in Hyannis This summer? One roomate wanted. Call Jay 5-3500.

$75 - own rm. in house - 2 others. Next to Amherst Col. 549-1845.

Shutesbury. Own bdrm. $95 plus. Call 253-7608. Keep trying. 2 persons wanted.

Own rm., 5 bdrm. house, Amhst. $80 plus. 253-5275.

F rmmate needed for nxt fall to share 3 bdrm. Puffton Apt. $95 plus utls., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun loving too! Call Carol 256-0325.

1 bdrm. in 2 bed Brandywine apt. for 1 or 2 people. Cheap! 549-1375.

2 rms. in co-op hse. Rt. 9, Belch. 4 mi. to Amh., bus rte., no lease. $62. 256-0573.

Rmmate for 1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for summer months. Pool, tennis, air cond., buses. All util., rent negot. Call Dave 665-4210. Keep trying.

Available May 15. Nice room, good people. N. Amherst. Call 549-4712.

Housemates: Beautiful house in Amherst. 2 rooms. Avail 6-1. $81.25 incl. heat. 256-8149.

Large sunny bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for 1 or 2 females. Pets OK, dishwasher, laundry fac. Summer with Fall option. 253-7076.

Room for rent. Hse. Amh. Bus. 256-6698.

Professional female seeks same to share 2 bedroom, mostly furnished apartment in Northampton. Nice location. $100—mo plus. Beginning June or July 1st. References req'd. If not at home, leave message. 584-2508.

2 female roommates wanted for Summer to share 2 bedrm. apt. in house in S. Deerfield on bus route. Fall option. Rent $42 plus per person. Call 546-6663.

M — F's. Yarmouth. Lg. house near beach. Up. class. pref. Call 256-0309 - 665-3670.

Own bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt., bus rt., pool, rent neg. 256-8012.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

Patriots fill roster in second round

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots went for a wide receiver and an offensive guard in their first two picks in the National Football League's annual college draft yesterday.

It was the second day of the draft.

In the seventh round, New England took wide receiver Ken Smith of Arkansas-Pine Bluff.

Patriots Coach Chuck Fairbanks said the 6'1", 185-pound Smith did not have many catches in college but has "outstanding" athletic ability and was "impressive" in trials with Patriots' receiver coach Ray Perkins.

Smith ran the 40-yard dash in 4.6 seconds under "very poor" running conditions, the team said.

Offensive guard Brad Benson of Penn State was New England's eighth round pick. Fairbanks said the 6'3", 260-pound Benson started for two years, also played tackle and was a heavyweight wrestler.

The coach described him as strong and competitive.

The Patriots' first pick, made Tuesday on the first day of the draft, was cornerback Raymond Clayborn of Texas. The second pick, also in the first round, was wide receiver Stanley Morgan of Tennessee.

The Patriots did not have a sixth round choice.

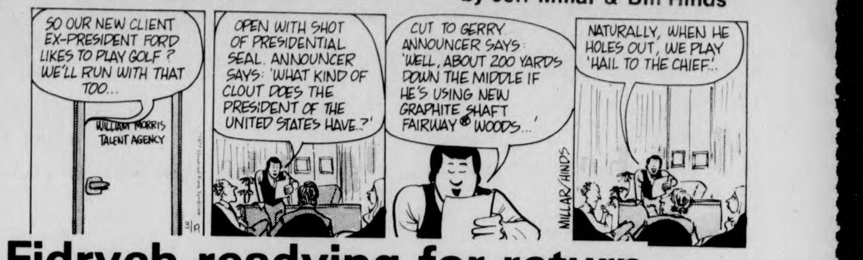
In the ninth round, New England selected Jerry Vogele, a 6'2", 250-pound linebacker from Michigan.

Fairbanks said Vogele was an inside linebacker who was "strong against the running game on a good defensive team."

The Patriots picked two players in the 10th round. They were tackle John Rasmussen, 6'3", 262-pounder from Wisconsin, and defensive lineman Giles Alexander, 6'6", 255-pounds, from Tulsa.

TANK McNAMARA

by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds



SO OUR NEW CLIENT EX-PRESIDENT FORD LIKES TO PLAY GOLF? WE'LL RUN WITH THAT TOO...
WILLIAM MORRIS TALENT AGENCY
OPEN WITH SHOT OF PRESIDENTIAL SEAL. ANNOUNCER SAYS: 'WHAT KIND OF CLOUT DOES THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES HAVE..?'
CUT TO GERRY. ANNOUNCER SAYS: 'WELL, ABOUT 200 YARDS DOWN THE MIDDLE IF HE'S USING NEW GRAPHITE SHAFT FAIRWAY® WOODS...'
NATURALLY, WHEN HE HOLES OUT, WE PLAY 'HAIL TO THE CHIEF'..
MILLAR/HINDS
3/19

Fidrych readying for return

DETROIT [UPI] — Mark Fidrych is tentatively scheduled to make his 1977 pitching debut for the Detroit Tigers in one of seven games between May 27 and June 2.

"There's no way I'm going to rush him," manager Ralph Houk said Wednesday as he outlined his plan to put baseball's rookie sensation of 1976 back in Detroit's rotation.

"I want him to be completely ready before he pitches his first game," Houk said. "He is too important to our club and he has too much of his career ahead of him for me to get panicky and say we'll use him before he's ready."

Houk would not even speculate when the first start would be in the string of seven home games, the first three against Seattle and the next four evenly divided between Oakland and Cleveland.

But the things he did say pointed specifically to one of those seven dates.

The Tigers hope Fidrych can make his first start of 1977 at home, where it would undoubtedly sell out, but can't announce the date officially until they are absolutely sure he will start.

By waiting until three or four days prior to "The Bird's" first flight of the season, the club spares itself the embarrassment and expense of refunding money to disappointed fans should something happen to Fidrych between the time his start is announced and the time he actually throws his first pitch.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

TO SUBLET

A top-notch 2 bedroom apartment for summer lease in Brandywine. Furnished! AC, pool, bus route. Call for a deal — 549-0691.

3 bdrm. Apt., Puffton. Call 549-6948.

Drastic reduction forced by buyers market! Two bedroom apartment — cheap! On bus route, swimming pool, air conditioning. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729.

4 bdrm. townhouse on bus rte., furnished, air cond., pool. June 1st to Aug. 31st. 256-0337.

2 bdrm. twnhse apt. On bus rt. AC, pool, ex. view. 6-1—8-31. Sund. Call 665-3439.

Cheap, 4 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. All utl. included. Furnished, AC, pool. 253-9957.

QUIET AMH. CTR. 1 bdrm., AC, pkg, near bus, stores. $180 w-optn. 253-3516.

Puffton — 3 bedrms. $200 plus elec. 549-1845.

A bargain. 2 bdrm. Colonial Village apt. on bus rt. from 6-1 to 8-31 with option to renew. $180-mo. Cheep! Call 253-9890.

3 bdrm. Puffton Apt. Beautifully furn. Will rent indiv. or total apt. 549-6321.

2 bdr. apt. in house on bus rte. Huge garden-yard. 5-31 — 8-31. Call 253-2819.

2 bdrm. twnhs., furn. P. neg. Call 665-2857

With rent option, 3 rm. apt., furnished, bus route, laundry, all util. included. Colonial Vlg., excellent cond. $210 per. 253-7865.

2 bdrm. apt., Squire Vill., Sund. A.C., pool, bus rte. Avail. June 1. Phone 665-4891.

Rolling Green, 2 bdrm. on bus rte. Air cond., pool, w-w, opt. to re-rent. $200—mo., util. incl. 256-0558.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. Brandywine apt. Bus rt., furn. Pets OK, Pool. 5-22—8-31. Rent negot. Call 549-1405.

Room for rent for month of June in a farmhouse. Call 546-6637.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. June 1 - Aug. 31. Opt. renew, pool, bus rte. Rent neg. 253-7798.

Breezy 2 bdrm. apt. in C.V. on bs rt., pool. 5-23—8-31. Rent vy neg. incl. util. 253-9401.

Summer Sublet. Townehouse apt., A.C., bus route, croquet set!! $55—mo. 549-6033.

For summer — 5 bdrm. semi-furn. hse. on Main St., Belch. Rd. Bus, 1 mi. to UMass, cheap rent. Call 256-0665 after 5

3 bdrm. twnhse apt. June-Aug. $250 per mo. 549-1211 eve or morn.

2 bdrm. apt., Col. Vill. Bus rt., pool. Call eves. 256-6051. $150 incl. util.

1-4 brooms in house, start 6-1—8-31. Pelham. 7 mi. from Amherst, across the st. from Quabbin. $65.00 a month. 253-2757.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt. A.C., pool, furn., on bus rt. Fall opt. 6-1—8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

TO SUBLET

Two bedroom apt. at Cliffside in Sunderland, on bus route. Swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729 and keep trying.

2 br. Col. Vil. Jn 1 - Aug. 31. Option to renew. Garden plots avail., pool, bus rt., cool in summer. $220 inc. 253-2874, after 6.

Riverglade 2 bdrm. 6-1—8-31. Price neg. Call 256-0638.

1 bdrm. & lvngrm at Cliffside. Tennis, swimming, woods, bus line. Util. incl. Avail. end of May. Around $150. 665-7095.

4 bdrm. Rolling Green Townhse. June — Aug. cheap $280 a month. Call 546-7161.

Only $195 a month will get you a spacious three bedroom townhouse at Rolling Green. Available June 1 to Aug. 31. Call Ralph or Steve at 546-6707 or 545-3500.

Sublet — June 1 - Aug. 31. 3 bdrm. apt. in So. Amherst on bus route, pool, air cond., veg. garden, large yard, quiet atmos. $220—mo. 253-5136 anytime.

Harvard U. teaching fellow seeks hse. sitting-sublet for Jun. and July. Mike Milburn, 617-495-3845 - day - 492-0973 - eve.

2 bdrm. apt., Brandywine, on bus rt. A.C., pool, exc. view, semi-furn. 6-1—8-31. $250 or best offer. 549-4766.

Sublet—2 bed. apt. Beaut. Squire Vlg., Sund. 7 min. from campus. 6-1—8-31 w-opt. for fall. Rent neg., A.C., pool, on bus rt! Call 665-3619.

Sublet — room ideal for couple or single. Opp. for Fall. $65 mo plus. Pets OK. Garden, off road, on UM bus. 323-5536.

2 bedrm. and 3 bedrm. Twnhse. Squire Vlg., Sunderland. Jun to Sep (w-opt to renew), bus rte., pool, A.C., 7 min. to UMass. 665-2303.

2 bdrm. twnhs., on bus rt., pool, a.c., d.w., garden, plot, pets, ½ May's rent free. $220. 253-3832.

Fully furnished 2 bdrm. on bus rt., pet, pool, rent negotiable. 6-1—8-30. 256-0501.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. 1 bdrm. June, both July - Aug. Pool, bus, semi-furn. $220—mo. incl. util. Rent negot. 256-0465.

3 bdrm. townhouse. $200—mo. Opt. to renew. Includes hot water, A.C., pool, on bus rt. 1½ baths. 549-2616. Avail. May 18.

2 bdrm. apt., low rent, negotiable, utils. incl., bus rte., pool, tennis. Avail. May 23. Opt. to renew. Cliffside 665-2847.

Cheap. 4 bdrm. apt. Rol. Grn. $150—mo. or $50—mo per rm. Semi-furn., air cond., Swm pool, laund. fac., dishwash. 6-1—8-31. 6-7819.

Pres. Apt. Spacious one bedroom, air, dishwasher, util. incl. Sept. option. Rent neg. 549-1729.

Sublet, 2 bdrm. apt. June 1 to Aug. 31. 106 Colonial, util. $185—mo. 253-7760.

Sum. Sublet. Opt. to lease in fall. 5 bdrm. hse. $425 mo. 2 m fr UM on bus rt. 256-8897.

2 brm. Brandywine. 6-1—8-31. Ful. furnished, pool, A.C. Call 549-1564.

TO SUBLET

Sunny 1 bdrm. apt., screened porch, quiet street, NHamp. Mid June to Mid Aug. $145—mo. 586-0585, eves. No smokers.

2 bdrm. Brandywine apt. avail. June 1. Rent neg. 549-4854. Bus rt., pool, etc.

2 bdr. townhouse, Sq. Vill. May 31 - Aug. 31 plus, lg. yard, pool, A.C., pets, bus rt. 665-7110.

1 bdrm. apt., walk to campus. June — Sept., renew opt. Call 253-7234.

3 bdrm. twnhse. apt. w-furn. A.C., pool, on Brt. Opt. for fall. 6-1—8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

Best offer takes it. 2 bdrm. sublet w-opt., furn. or not. Lots extra. 665-3637.

Puffton, 3 bdrm., furn. Mid-May - Aug. 549-1317.

2 br. $190—mo. Save $90. Must sublet. Includes utils., pool, bus rt. Jn 1 - Aug. 31. 253-2874 after 6.

Great for plants. 2 bdrm. Lant. Ct. Air cond., utl inc., bus rt., some furn. op. to renew. $195. 665-4298.

2 bdrm. semi-furn. apt. Bus rt., pool. 3-3684, Colonial Village.

House in Belch., 3 bdrms., one very lg. Also enclosed porch, full cellar, right on bus rte. Fall option. Land, swimming. 300 plus-mo. 323-5002.

June 1-Aug. 31 w-opt. for year. 1 bdrm. Presidential apt. $205-mo., all utils., air cond. 549-4897.

2 bdrm. apt. Rol. Green, furn., air-c., pool. $220 incl. ut. 543-9409.

3 DESPERATE FEMALES need you to sublet 2 bdrm. twnhse. in Rolling Green. Avail June 1 - Aug. 31. Air cond., on bus rte., pool. $220—mo., or best offer. Call 546-9544 or 253-7537.

2 bdrm. apt. $190—mo., incl. util. Good loc., pool. Call 253-2841.

Puffton — 1 lg. bdrm. to sublet. Pool, bus route, quiet. Rent neg. 549-1603.

Free — 1 mo. rent, Jn.-Ag. Subl. Rol. Grn. Twnse. 2 br. Opt to renew. All util. incl. A.C., bus rt. 256-8120.

2 bdrm. apt. Furn. Lantern Ct. Bus rt - $200. incl. A.C. and util. Avail. 20 May. Fall opt. 665-3931.

Cheap. By Puffers Pond. 2 bdrm., all util. incl. $180. Steve 367-2048.

2 bdrm., comp. furn. Coll. Vill. $175. Bus route, pool. 256-6042.

Sublet — Riverglade. 1 of 2 bdrms. June - Aug. $60 plus. Call Zen 253-3373 after 11.

3 bdr. twnhse. Roll. Green, util. incld. A.C., pool, on bus rt. Pr. negot. Jun - Aug. 546-9668, 546-9670.

Sublet — 1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt. Puffton Vill. Rent neg. Ask for Dan. 549-3809.

2 singles, 1 double at Rolling Green. 100 yds. from bus, util., appl., prt. furn. $75—mo. or best. 6-1—8-31. 256-0340.

TO SUBLET

2 bedroom furnished Brandywine Apt. June 1-Aug. 31. Rent negotiable. 549-6476.

Summer sublet, ranch house, 4 bdrm., 2 baths. S. Amh. 3 mi. from campus. Low rent. 253-5159.

Opt to renew. 2 bdrm. Cliffside apt. June-Aug. $200—mo. Call 665-7188, 545-2820, or 545-0881.

2 bdrm., Amherst, furn., bus rt. $175 mo. 256-8235.

Furnished 2 bdrm. townhse., A.C., pool, on bus route. 665-4149. Rent negotiable.

2 rooms, modern house, Shutesbury. Wall to wall, dishwasher, etc. 7 mi. to campus. $70—rm. 253-5366 eves.

1 bdrm. in 3 bdrm. apt. on N. East St. 5-15 or 6-1 — 8-31 w-opt. $75 mo. 253-7034.

2 bdrm. townhouse. Rolling Green. Furnished. $220. Call Paul 546-6312.

For Rent — 2 bedroom apt. June 1 - Aug. 31 w-option to renew. On bus line. Call after 5. 253-9558.

FOR RENT

To Rent. June 1st. Furn., single bedrm., study, priv. bath, no cooking, non-smoker, near bus. Amh. Cent. $30—wk. 253-2488.

2 rm. apt., util., furn. May 23 — Aug. 31. Call 5-0189, 10-2. Ask - Mike.

Nice house, big garden, woods, bus line, summer or all year. Grads pref. 665-3938.

ENTERTAINMENT

What if they gave a spring concert and nobody came?

Cosmic Wimpout — 2nd annual C.W. Tournament Fri. aft. in The Bluewall. Prize money and fun!

Mostly beige dog, small Terrier-Basset mix, lge. head, paws, no license, ATC Center. Ron 586-5265. Dog's name: Myshkin.

TRAVEL

A small group is biking this summer thru E. Europe, Yugoslavia to Czechoslavakia. 7 weeks, leisurely pace, no biking expertise assumed. I did it last summer and it was great. Call: Alex Lipson. 617-547-1127 or Write 2 Garden Terr. Cambridge, Ma. 02138.

F 24 seeks F travel companion for cross country trip. Call Jan 549-4861.

RIDE WANTED

Need ride. Chicago to Amherst or NYC on or about 18 June. 549-6033.

To U. Mass May - Aug. Leaving Boston Fri., returning Sun. Will share $. 253-3446.

RIDERS WANTED

Riders wanted Fri. 13 and—or Fri. 20 to Philadelphia or Wash., D.C. One way or round trip. Leaving Fridays at 10 a.m., returning Mondays at 2 p.m. Call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

If interested in Worcester car pool first summ. session, call 617-852-3514.

PERSONALS

Lizzy F - (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie, D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

Luxury two bedroom apt. in Sunderland for summer sublet. On UMass bus route, swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low, low rent. Call 665-4729 anytime.

Seniors — You can get the Collegian sent to your home next semester at 1-3 off. Look for the ad in this paper!!

It's cretin week at PI Apple PI.

Sigma Kappa Sorority is taking boarders for Fall semester. Close to campus, 3 meals a day, small, friendly. Price comparable to University. Call 256-6887.

Is there a Patriot season ticket holder on campus. Want to share driving this Fall. Call 546-5621.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF.

Bryan H: Ruth has found out that directions will never come out. The jig is up! Tickets to Rio are in my office. Luck — RLW.

The quest is one for a woman not a girl, commit yourself and give mine a whirl. RWGS.

$50 reward for return or info leading to recovery of grn. Peugeot U08, ser. no. 236676, stolen from Pierpont. No questions asked. I just want the bike. Barry 246 Pierpont. 546-5212.

Janut — I have met you at the bus stop every M, W, F morning at 10 a.m. Want to see you again! Love??

SERVICES

Hi-Fi Audio repair. Fast, reasonable, guaranteed service. Free estimates and checkouts. Amherst Audio. 549-2610.

Expert typing. Call 549-0813.

Men and trucks for hire. You bot it, we'll haul it. John, 549-6878; Gil, 253-3370.

Women, need career advice? Help writing good resume? Call Peggy 584-2857. Experienced, reasonable rates.

Typing — Prompt reasonable, experienced in all forms of papers, theses, etc. Call 586-2490.

Expert typing: Call Melanie 256-6174.

LOST

Kodak Instamatic camera on Sat. Reward. Anne 546-6145. Thanks.

CALCULATORS

End of semester prices! SR-52, $179.95; SR-56, $77.77; SR-51, $49.95; SR-40 and Bus Anal, $29.95; Commodore 1800 Scientific, $34.95; HP-67, $375. And College Calculators services all machines sold for 1 full yr! Before you buy anywhere, call Bob or Linda at 549-1316!

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

Russell canned as Sonic coach

SEATTLE (UPI) — Bill Russell, who took the Seattle Supersonics to the playoffs twice in four seasons as coach, was released yesterday from his job as the team's coach and general manager.

Sonic owner Sam Schulman, who said earlier that Russell was "too expensive" for him, announced a financial settlement has been reached on the final year of his five-year contract.

Russell reportedly received $250,000-a-year in his dual role.

True to his reclusive tendencies, the former Boston Celtics player and coach did not attend the announcement and had no immediate comment except for a statement released through his attorney, Richard Cobey.

"I have mixed emotion about leaving the Sonics but I feel I have reached a point in my career where I want to pursue other activities," read Russell's statement.

Despite Schulman's comment in February that Russell could not continue in both jobs, Russell called the Sonic owner "an extremely good man ... civic-minded with a goal which I wish we had realized together."

Russell said he hoped "my new career path will allow me to continue living in the great city of Seattle" which he said he had grown to love.

"Bill Russell has always given me 110 per cent just as he gave the Celtics and NBA fans 110 per cent as a player," said Schulman.

Schulman indicated Zollie Volchok, the Sonics' executive vice president, would become general manager. Lenny Wilkens, former Sonic and Portland coach, was reportedly being considered for director of player procurement.

In his search for a new coach, Schulman talked last month with Jerry Tarkanian of Nevada-Las Vegas and spent considerable time the past few days with Russell's assistant, Bob Hopkins, who appears to have an edge in the hunt.

Sonice officials said no final decision is expected on a new coach for at least a week.

Following a disastrous 26-56 Sonic season, Schulman hired Russell in May of 1973 in what he called "the greatest coup in sports history."

In four years, Russell's teams compiled a 162-166 record, including early-round playoff appearances in 1975 and 1976 earned with consecutive 43-39 regular season marks.

But the team was torn with dissension, had trouble staying even close in road games and tailed off again this season, finishing at 40-42 and out of the playoffs.

coupon

the SHOE BIN

$3.00 OFF
($10.00/pair minimum purchase)
(With this ad)

any pair reg. priced shoes & boots*

Good Wed, 5/4 through Sat, 5/7, 1977 with $10.00 minimum purchase.

*Sneakers not included

The Winner

Believe it or not it's alive and doing well as a Springfield College student, Lisa Molodee

Thanks to all that entered, especially Lisa, who's a great sport and a truly nice woman.

Chris Hoag of UMass was 2nd.

5 PVR Selected Stereo Systems

PVR (Price Value Relationship) means that some things can cost much more than they're worth in a competitive marketplace. So even when some stereo store advertises the "Cornerthumper 3A with equalizer and EQ" at 50% off list price, the product can be generally outperformed by a lower priced system from us. You see, our buyer has been a stereophile for 18 years and earning his living at it for 11 years. When you buy a preselected system from us, relax.

There's no substitute for experience.

Sherwood
7010 A
AM-FM Receiver
List 189.95

GARRARD
440 M
Complete w/ base,
Dust Cover and V15 ATE Pickering
Magnetic cartridge
List 99.95

MARANTZ
Imperial 4G
Air Suspension Loudspeakers
List 120.00 pr.

PVR Pkg. Price $299 delivered

MARANTZ
2215 B
AM-FM Receiver
List 249.95

PHILIPS
GA 427
Belt Drive Semi-Automatic
w/ Grado F3T Cartridge wood base and dust cover included
List 154.95

EPI
70
Acoustic Suspension Speakers
Famous Smaller version of the EPI 100V
List 150 pr.

PVR Pkg. Price $360 delivered

JVC
JR-S100
AM-FM Receiver
List 220.00

JVC
JL-A15
Belt Drive Semi Automatic
Turntable System w/ Base, hinged
Cover and Pickering cartridge
List 175.00

SONY
SSU 2000
Loudspeaker System with 10" woofer and
2" ohm H.F. Driver
List 300 pr.

PVR Pkg. Price $499 delivered

SONY
STR 3800
FM Receiver
List 299.95

BIC
960
Belt Drive Automatic Turntable
Wood Base, Dust Cover and Shure
List 237.85

BURHOE
Green
Two Way Ducted Port
Loudspeakers
List 220 pr.

PVR Pkg. Price $599 Delivered

SONY
STR 7055 (demo)
AM-FM Receiver
List 399.95

DUAL
1249 (used demo)
Belt Drive Automatic Turntable
w/ wood base, dust cover and Empire 4000 d 1 cartridge
List 335.00

Electro Voice
Interface: A (demo) famous passive radiator speaker system
w/ equalizer
List 450. pr.

PVR Pkg. Price $699 Delivered

We service everything we sell

AMHERST AUDIO

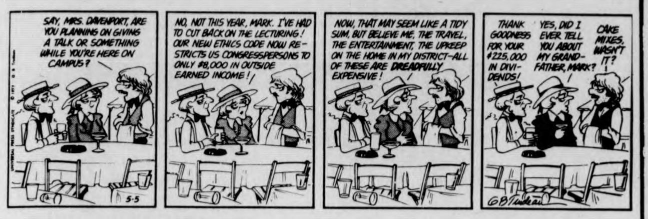
in our own service department

259 Triangle St., Amherst
586-2552 Open 'til 9, Sat. 'til 5 549-2610

master charge
your BANKAMERICARD welcome

DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

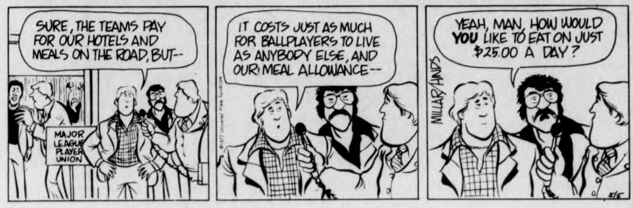
29 S. Pleasant St.
Call 256-6736
TERM PAPERS !
RESERVE EARLY
M-F 10-6, S 10-2



SAY, MRS. DAVENPORT, ARE YOU PLANNING ON GIVING A TALK OR SOMETHING WHILE YOU'RE HERE ON CAMPUS?
NO, NOT THIS YEAR, MARK. I'VE HAD TO CUT BACK ON THE LECTURING! OUR NEW ETHICS CODE NOW RESTRICTS US CONGRESSPERSONS TO ONLY $8,000 IN OUTSIDE EARNED INCOME!
NOW, THAT MAY SEEM LIKE A TIDY SUM, BUT BELIEVE ME, THE TRAVEL, THE ENTERTAINMENT, THE UPKEEP ON THE HOME IN MY DISTRICT—ALL OF THESE ARE DREADFULLY EXPENSIVE!
THANK GOODNESS FOR YOUR $225,000 IN DIVIDENDS!
YES, DID I EVER TELL YOU ABOUT MY GRANDFATHER, MARK?
CAKE MIXES, WASN'T IT?
5-5
GBTrudeau

TANK McNAMARA

by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds



SURE, THE TEAMS PAY FOR OUR HOTELS AND MEALS ON THE ROAD, BUT-- MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYER UNION
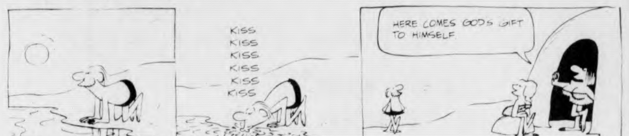
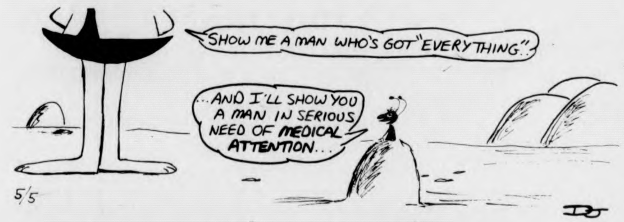
IT COSTS JUST AS MUCH FOR BALLPLAYERS TO LIVE AS ANYBODY ELSE, AND OUR MEAL ALLOWANCE--
MILLAR/HINDS
YEAH, MAN, HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO EAT ON JUST $25.00 A DAY?
5/5

B.C. by Johnny Hart



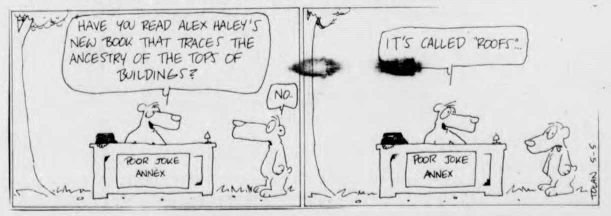
KISS
KISS
KISS
KISS
KISS
KISS
HERE COMES GOD'S GIFT TO HIMSELF.

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



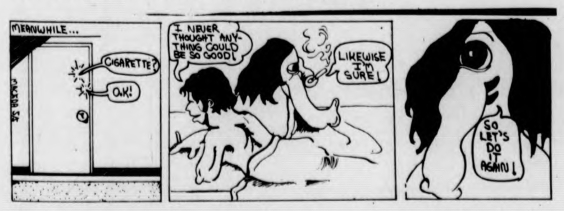
SHOW ME A MAN WHO'S GOT "EVERYTHING"...
...AND I'LL SHOW YOU A MAN IN SERIOUS NEED OF MEDICAL ATTENTION...
5/5

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



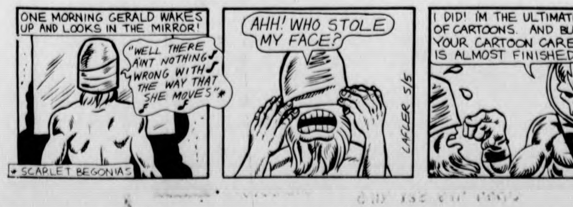
HAVE YOU READ ALEX HALEY'S NEW BOOK THAT TRACES THE ANCESTRY OF THE TOPS OF BUILDINGS?
NO..
POOR JOKE ANNEX
IT'S CALLED "ROOFS"..
POOR JOKE ANNEX
TOLAN 5-5

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



MEANWHILE...
CIGARETTE?
O.K!
I NEVER THOUGHT ANYTHING COULD BE SO GOOD!
LIKEWISE I'M SURE!
SO LET'S DO IT AGAIN!

ALUMINUM GHOST by Steve Lafler



ONE MORNING GERALD WAKES UP AND LOOKS IN THE MIRROR!
"WELL THERE AIN'T NOTHING WRONG WITH THE WAY THAT SHE MOVES"*
*SCARLET BEGONIAS
AHH! WHO STOLE MY FACE?
LAFLER 5/5
I DID! I'M THE ULTIMATE GOD OF CARTOONS. AND BUDDY, YOUR CARTOON CAREER IS ALMOST FINISHED!

Local Television

6:00 3 8 22 30 NEWS
24 TV COMMUNITY COLLEGE — MAN BUILDS, MAN DESTROYS
40 GUNSMOKE "Talbot"
57 ZOOM
6:30 24 CLASSIC THEATRE PREVIEW
57 ONCE UPON A CLASSIC
6:55 40 NEWS
7:00 3 22 40 NEWS
8 CONCENTRATION
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER
30 THE CROSS-WITS
57 IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
7:30 3 DOUBLE PLAY
8 THE MUPPET SHOW
22 HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
24 THE URBAN ANATOMY
30 CHANNEL 30 SPECIAL EDITION
40 THAT GIRL
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 THE WALTONS
8 40 WELCOME BACK, KOTTER "Gabe Under Pressure"
22 30 BAA BAA BLACK SHEEP
27 MOVIE "Pay Or Die"
56 MOVIE "A Shot in the Dark"
57 MASTERPIECE THEATRE
8:30 8 40 WHAT'S HAPPENING "Puppy Love"
24 THE FOURTH ESTATE
9:00 3 HAWAII FIVE-O
22 30 THE RICHARD PRYOR SPECIAL
24 57 CLASSIC THEATER: THE HUMANITIES IN DRAMA "The Playboy of the Western World"
38 MOVIE "The Movie Maker"
9:30 8 40 THE TONY RANDALL SHOW "Case: A Question of Qualifications"
10:00 3 BARNABY JONES
8 40 THE STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO "Dead Lift"
22 30 THE CHEVY CHASE SHOW
27 NEWS
56 LOVE, AMERICAN STYLE
10:30 27 THE ELDER AMERICAN
11:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "Kojak: Out of the Frying Plan"
8 40 S.W.A.T. "Deadly Weapons"
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:30 3 MOVIE "McCloud: Somebody's Out to Get Jenny"
1:00 8 40 NEWS
22 30 TOMORROW
1:30 3 NEWS, WEATHER
2:00 22 30 NEWS

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Thursday, May 5 — Born today, you are of a divided nature. Because of this, you will very likely know considerable inner conflict in your life, whether the issue at hand be career, hobby, friends, enemies, likes, dislikes, or anything else. Where one part of you may be in favor of a particular action, another part may find that same action intolerable. Where one side of your nature may look with favor upon a particular person or group, another side may find associations with such a person or group nearly unthinkable, and certainly unpleasing. You will undoubtedly have to come to terms with yourself and your own dual personality before you can come to terms with those aspects of daily life that make up your personal and public surroundings. Until such time, however, your inner conflict must go on.

You would do well to make no permanent decision regarding a mate until you have had a considerable period to know him or her — and perhaps more important, to allow him or her to know you. Otherwise, you will make mistakes that are nearly as difficult to correct as they are to live with. In marriage, you may find considerable peace of mind by virtue of your partner's willingness to make family decisions for you.

paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

* * *

Friday, May 6

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — This is not a good day to try to surprise another into doing your bidding. If you can't persuade through reason, give up.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — A happier time will be had by all today if you will admit to defeat when first you recognize it. Begin anew at your leisure.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Insist that others take on their share of the responsibility, whether on the home front or on the employment scene.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Those in authority are not to be contradicted with impunity today. Make an effort to agree — and if you can't agree, keep silent.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Soft-pedal criticism of another's work. A new project may make progress of the sort you expect more difficult than you know.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — If you fail to keep your emotions in check, you may be responsible for considerable chaos before day's end.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Unless you can be satisfied with what you have, you will have a most unhappy day. Count intangible assets as well as material goods.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — If you will recognize the reality of the present situation on the home front, you can save loved ones much embarrassment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Today, place your trust in your partners rather than in yourself. Much depends upon how you look at things.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — To be free-thinking is one thing; to be free-speaking is another. Be wise; don't express all that you feel.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — What you are doing at this time is certainly right for you, especially if you are happy doing it. Don't create stressful situations.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Speaking out of turn causes you and a loved one damage to otherwise-clear reputations. Disregard slights; refuse to strike back.

Copyright 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

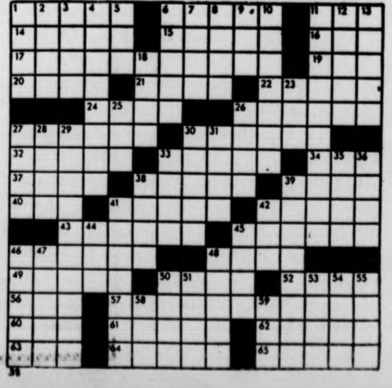
UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Ship's crane
6 U.S. ballistic missile
11 Dull finish
14 Montreal's Forum
15 Pandemonium
16 Judge of Israel
17 New -----------: B.C. city
19 Direct for a purpose
20 Man's nickname
21 Attain a higher status
22 Detective Philo -----
24 Do a gardening chore
26 Watchman
27 Devotes
30 Golfer's concern
32 Disliked
33 Indistinct
34 Long curved bone
37 Outfitted a reefer car
38 Worked on a highway
39 Kind of wood
40 Mal de ---: Sea sickness
41 Racehorse: Slang
42 Skin disease
43 Military organizations
45 Flat-bottomed vessels
46 Fixed a value
48 Withdrew abruptly
49 Pace-setter
50 River of Java
52 Danish coins
56 Japanese sash
57 U.S.A. admirer
60 Compete
61 Pluckier
62 Plant with yellow flowers
63 Wynn and Sullivan
64 "Adam Bede" author
65 Serpent

DOWN
1 Sun-up
2 Field of study
3 Waistcoat
4 In a POW camp
5 Curler's cap
6 Little Orphan -----
7 Mix a salad
8 Stone: Suffix
9 Peer Gynt's mother
10 Civil --------
11 Wandering idly
12 Carroll character
13 Two -----: False friend
18 Irritates
23 Electrical bridge
25 Total up
26 Musician's baton
27 Tapered leveling piece
28 Walking manner
29 Long time periods
30 Stores
31 Layer
33 Outcome
35 U.S. playwright
36 Busy bugs
38 Discharged a debt
39 Forgave
41 Too old: 2 words
42 Daisy --- Yokum
44 Air force hero
45 Political group
46 Substantiate
47 Fanatical
48 Play at courtship
50 Numerical prefix
51 Mountain: Comb. form
53 Tough outer covering
54 Thrall
55 Marquee name
58 Bad: Prefix
59 --- matter of fact

Wednesday's Puzzle Solved:

CASH SORES THAW
OSLO EVOKE HOPI
PIANOMAKER EMIT
TABORET SIPHONS
RESET ALA
DIVEST RELENTED
IRID EGAD ADELE
GAG TRIVETS ALF
UTICA RENE ASEA
PELLMELL ASSENT
EEL STIRES
ARMADAS SOLARIA
LIEN TIMEOFYEAR
PONE ENARM ENTO
STUD DOPES ROAD



Misc.

DID YOU KNOW

The clock tower of the Chapel of Burghausen, Germany, has two clocks and two sundials — because its builders could not agree which were more reliable timekeepers.

An American cent minted in France in 1783 carried the words "Unity States of America" because the French coiner did not know English and could not remember the correct name of the United States of America.

CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means: "Having to do with horses."

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

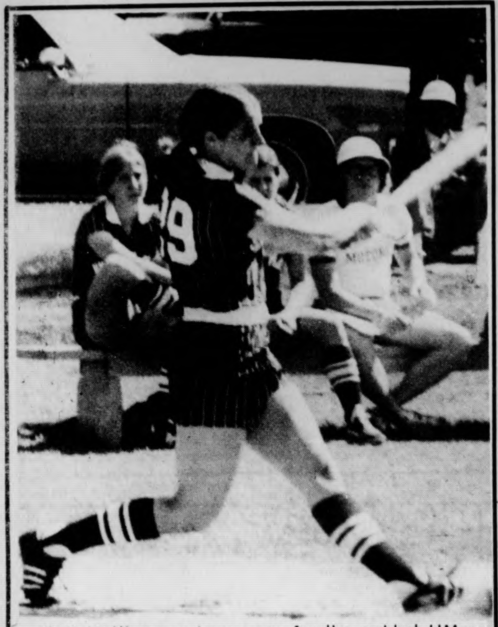
Yesterday's winner.

PETER SHERMAN

Yesterday's word:

GRADUATE

..CONTEST....CONTEST..



Gail Matthews swings away for the red-hot UMass softball team. Her mates will hope to record a twin-killing today at UNH. (Staff photo by John Sideropoulos)

Bosox bunt by, 5-2

BOSTON [UPI] — Carl Yastrzemski drove home two runs, including one on a rare bunt, while Jim Rice homered and scored twice last night to spark a 5-2 victory by the Boston Red Sox over the Seattle Mariners.

Denny Doyle stroked a one-out double in the first inning and advanced to third on an infield out. Yastrzemski followed with a bunt down the third base line to bring home the game's first run. Yastrzemski singled home Rice in the third inning with Boston's third run after Rice had led off with an opposite-field triple.

The other three Boston runs came on Rice's towering solo homer in the seventh and RBI singles by Bernie Carbo in the second and Butch Hobson in the eighth.

Reggie Cleveland yielded both Mariner runs in the eight innings he pitched and was the winner, squaring his record at 2-2. Bill Campbell relieved in the ninth and retired the side for his third save.

Sports Calendar

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

MEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — UMass 16 Syracuse 14
VARSITY BASEBALL — UMass 8 UConn 3
UConn 3 UMass 2

TODAY

VARSITY SOFTBALL — vs. New Hampshire (2) Away 3:30
WOMEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — vs. Plymouth State Home 3:00
MEN'S GOLF — New Englands at Sutton, NMass.
JUNIOR VARSITY BASEBALL — vs. Leicester JC Home 3:00
WOMEN'S JUNIOR VARSITY LACROSSE — vs. Plymouth State Home 4:15

TOMORROW

VARSITY BASEBALL — vs. Springfield Home 3:00
MEN'S GOLF — New Englands at Sutton, Mass.
WOMEN'S GOLF — Lady Lion Tournament at Penn State

Oven Bake Shop
Next to Spirit Haus
339 College St., Amherst
Tel. 256-0284

Graduation Day
Order Your Graduation Cakes Today!

Pastry Beef Pies
Pastry Pork Pies
Eclairs & Brownies
Napoleans

Cookies
Cream Puffs
Pies
Coffee, Tea, Cocoa

Gazelles in tourney tune-up

By NICK KOTSOPOULOS
Collegian Staff

In its final tuneup before the New England Collegiate Women's Lacrosse Championships this weekend, the UMass women's lacrosse team will play host to Plymouth St. today in a 3 p.m. contest on the NOPE field.

The Gazelles, 6-1-1 on the season, are coming off an impressive 14-2 thrashing of Mt. Holyoke College on Tuesday afternoon. In that game, UMass coach Frank Garahan used quite a few second-stringers so that they could get some playing experience under the belts.

"With the playoffs coming up this weekend," Garahan said, "I want to give all the team as much playing time as possible because come this weekend, we may be playing more than one game in a day, so we will definitely need everybody."

Garahan doesn't foresee Plymouth St. presenting the Gazelles any peculiar problems. In fact, he said that he plans once again to utilize as many players in the game as possible.

"If we play the type of game we are capable of, the fast-paced aggressive style, I see no reason why we should have any problems."

The Gazelles as usual will be led offensively by Nancy O'Neil, who is the team's leading scorer, Julie Hall, Evie Sneeden and Judy Kennedy. In the Gazelles' last outing, O'Neil netted four goals, while Kennedy and Sneeden had three goals and an assist apiece.

Other potent scorers in the Gazelles frontline are Carrie Nickerson and senior Cindy Hartstone. Nickerson has had a couple of big-scoring games for the Gazelles, while Hartstone has proven to be a steady performer.

On defense, Garahan will probably go with Marry Murray in goal once again. He said that he would like to give backup goalie Robin Jennings some playing time, but with a JV game that follows the varsity game today, he will probably use her in the JV game.

Chris Basile, Debbie Ames and Grace Martinelli have been solid on defense in front of Murray in goal, and their strong play has been one of the main reasons that the Gazelles have given up so few goals.

Garahan said that although his team has been playing very well of late, he is still looking for the team to polish a few of the basic fundamentals, such as passing and ball control.

In their eight games so far this season, the Gazelles have outscored their opponents by a whopping 85-22 margin.

Spirit Haus
PACKAGE STORE
253-5384
Open Nites 'Till 11 p.m.
•
We Specialize in Quality Wines
Come in and browse through the largest selection of wine in town. We welcome your questions on wine selection and cheerfully give advice.

ORDER YOUR KEGS FOR SPRING CONCERT TODAY

WINES

Chianti Classic Riserva - red
Orvieto Classico Secco - White 2.69 fifth
Verdicchio - white 2.69 fifth
Frascati - white 2.25 fifth

BOLLA
Bardolino - red 2.99 fifth
Soave - white 2.99 fifth
Valpolicella - red 2.99 fifth

IMPORTED BEER

TOBY ALE $2.99 SIX
O'VIENNA BEER $2.39 SIX
O'KEEFE ALE $2.39 SIX
STEFFL BEER $3.39 SIX

TURBORG GOLDEN 5.89 case
SCHLITZ 6.49 case of cans
SHAFFER 5.59 case of cans
FALSTAFF 5.25 case of cans

SODA $4.39 case Pepsi, Cott, Ginger, Club & Tonic

338 College St. (Rt 9)
Next to Poor Richards

feel free!

Join us for lively learning this summer with the Credit-Free Workshop program—two sessions are lined up, the first beginning May 24. Send for our complete catalog: Credit-Free Workshop Catalog, P. O. Box 835, Amherst MA 01002, or call us at (413) 545-3410.

If academic credit is not a concern, this is the place for you—feel free!

summer credit-free workshops:

Patchwork, Cartoon Art, Crewel, Creative Stitchery, Needlepoint and Blackwork, Drawing in Color, Fine Arts for Children, Gravestone Rubbings, Intermediate Weaving, Matting/Mounting Fine Art Work, Pottery, Print Collecting/Appreciation, Puppetry, Studio Painting, Oriental Rugmaking, Wood/Linoleum Block Printing, Woodworking/Design/Construction of Furniture, Assertiveness Training for Men and Women, Bookkeeping/Accounting Systems for Small Business, Developing Consulting Skills, Personal Financial Management/Accounting, Running for Public Office, Ballet—Beginning and Intermediate, Dance Exercise, Jazz Dance, Modern Dance—Beginning and Intermediate, Tap Dancing—Beginning and Intermediate, Acupuncture Massage, Macrobiotic/Natural Food Cooking, Oriental Palm/Face Reading, Methane Gas From Waste, Living with Shortages in the Connecticut Valley, Colonial Restoration/Interior Decorating, Design/Build Your Own Home, Designing Your Own Solar Greenhouse, Home Buyers' Workshop, Real Estate, Large and Small Animal Management for the Self-Sufficient Farm/Homestead, Fiddle Workshop, Folk Guitar Finger Style, Jazz/Improvisational Violin, Jazz/Rock Guitar, Sign Language/Finger Style, American Sign Language—Advanced, Literary Analysis of Eastern/Western Religious Texts, Creative Poetry Workshop, Grassroots Publishing, Logic of Poetry, Buddhist Insight Meditation, Creative Movement, Dreams/Dream Interpretation, Eurhythmics, Guide to Better Health Care, Living with Your Teenager, Managing Yourself Creatively, Self Defeat/Self Realization, Basic News/Public Affairs Photography, Basic Photography, 35mm Camera Workshop, LSAT Workshop, Porch Index of Communicative Abilities, Hatha Yoga, Kundalini Yoga, Staff Survival in Alternative Agencies, Hot Air Ballooning, Local Flora, Tropical Plant Families and Their Culture, Special Education—Para-professional Training, and Elderhostel Workshops.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS/AMHERST

Duffers shoot for NE crown

By BOB HASKELL
Collegian Staff

Although crossed fingers may interfere with the proper grip on a golf club, the UMass fairway fanatics will be hoping to attract that elusive ingredient of luck to go along with their demonstrated proficiency at par production when they put it all on the line today in the New England Championships-NCAA Qualifying tournament which is being held at the prestigious Pleasant Valley Country Club in Sutton, Mass.

The Minutemen are counting on a repeat of last year's performance in which they captured this event, and thereby earned an invitation to the National Championships. This year's NCAA event will be held June 8-11 at Colgate University in Hamilton, N.Y.

Fourteen Division I teams will be vying for that treasured invite, but only one squad will prevail. In earlier editions of this tourney, the top two teams qualified for the NCAA's, but recent amendments will only allow the top team and the top two individuals to visit Colgate in a competitive role.

UMass coach Fan Gaudette is optimistic about his linkster's chances in this two-day event, and he has good reason to be. The Minutemen have just come off an impressive victory over 18 Massachusetts schools in the Mass. State Tournament. In that event, the UMass team beat its closest rival by 11 strokes while copping the top two medalist positions. A repeat of that performance in these next two days would ensure a Minuteman sweep.

Another cause for optimism can be found by reviewing the average scores of Gaudette's regular combatants. After five competitive rounds this season, the top four members of the team are boasting a 77.2 average. The breakdown is as follows: Bob Sanderson — 77.6, Jim McDermott — 76.6, Flint Lincoln — 76.6, Mark Powers — 78.0.

These figures display a remarkable consistency on the part of the floggers, and consistency, along with the ability to produce under pressure are two of the primary requirements for survival in an event of this type.

Gaudette agonized all this past week on who to designate as his fifth starter. After much careful consideration, Gaudette tabbed Charlie Dempsey to be his fifth standard-bearer.

"Charlie Dempsey has played the steadiest golf over the past few days," explained Gaudette. "Some of the other guys have also produced some fine scores, but I'm going to go with Dempsey because of his added experience. He played for us last year, and then took last fall off, so he knows what he's up against. He's hitting the ball pretty straight, so I'm just going to hope for the best."

The best is what the linksters have been specializing in lately, and if their steady play continues, and if they can muster a little luck, it's Colgate for the Minutemen ... and that doesn't mean toothpaste.

THURS., MAY 5
Andy May & Texas Tabby Crabbe
FRI. & SAT., MAY 6 & 7
KID COLT
(Last Area Appearance)
SUNDAY, MAY 8
JOHN LITTLEPAW

RAHAR'S
25c DRAFTS
All Day All Nite

Open 11-1 daily, 12-1 Sundays
Visit Our Game Room
7 Old South St., Northampton
Across from Peter Pan Bus Terminal fabric & yarn

...a great selection!
the shop for busy hands
EARTHWARES
103 N. PLEASANT/AMHERST 256 8810

Batswomen go for two

By PAT McGRATH
Collegian Staff

The UMass softball team will be looking to record its 13th and 14th victories of the season when it travels to the University of New Hampshire for a double-header today.

UNH is currently enjoying a 7-0 season, but its schedule has been much easier than the one that the Minutewomen have faced thus far this season. The only team that both UMass and today's opponent have faced is Keene State. The Minutewomen defeated the Owls by a score of 4-1, while UNH beat them in a close 4-3 game.

Laura Milos, the first-year coach of the Wildcats, feels that the game today will be the toughest one of the season for her young team. They have produced a lot of offense against weak teams, but she feels that UNH will have to come up with a really big effort to do well against UMass.

"Offensively, the Wildcats seem to be really good," said UMass coach Dianne Thompson. "I don't know if it is their good hitting or the fact that they have faced poor pitching. Presumably, it is a combination of both."

Freshman Gail Carter will get the starting nod for the first game, and senior Gail Matthews will handle the pitching chores in the nightcap. Carter is currently the team's leading pitcher with a fine 1.60 ERA. She has recorded three victories without a defeat, and is one of the team's leading hitters.

Matthews provides the experience that the UMass pitching staff needs. She is having a good final season, sporting a 4-1 won-loss record. She has had a little difficulty with control, but her 3.25 ERA is still good. Matthews also yields a big bat for the diamondwomen as she has had many extra-base hits.

Sue Peters, a winner in Tuesday's game against Southern Connecticut, will play left field in the first game, and will provide relief pitching if it is necessary. Rita Riley will be in right for game number one.

The Minutewomen are confident that they can sweep yet another doubleheader. They will be looking for better defense and some good offense in today's game.

Riders host trials

By SUE SCANLON
Collegian Staff

As coach Sarah Carlson of the UMass equestrian team put it, "it's been quite a season."

Last weekend, the long show season ended with a dramatic day at the Regional Championships, and respectable try at the Nationals in Virginia. Only two UMass riders qualified for the Nationals this year; however, according to Carlson, "this was not due to lack of talent on the part of the UMass riders, but rather, technical drawbacks that hounded the team throughout the Regional show."

As it turned out, two younger members of the UMET did the qualifying this year. In an elegant performance, freshman Robin Ziegler captured the Regional Intermediate title, which enabled her to attend the National Championships at the University of Virginia.

Whitney Buttrick, also a freshman, qualified with a third place finish in the advanced division. At the Nationals things did not go as well for the two lone UMass equestrians. Neither pinned, yet both did a fine job in representing the UMass team.

Five regions and 135 colleges from around the country attended this year's National Finals. Most of the top awards went to Florida, Virginia, and upstate New York riders. Suzie Horrigan of Colby-Sawyer College in New Hampshire won both the jumping and flat classes in the open division.

The UMass equestrian team has one more event before the end of the semester. Next weekend, on Saturday, May 14, the UMass Vet and Animal Science Department will sponsor an Invitational Intercollegiate Horse Trials. Many New England colleges including Smith, Mt. Holyoke, Colby-Sawyer, Nasson and others will be here.

MOTHER'S DAY CARDS
Mother's Day
May 8
American Greetings
The very special way to remember . . .
Last chance,
only a few days left . . .
dare you forget?
the University Store Campus Center UMass

We've lowered our Kodak film prices for spring!!
FOR EXAMPLE
FX.PX. OR TX 135-20 99¢
FX.PX OR TX 135-36 $1.38
C135-20 $1.40
KR 135
20 exposure $1.86
36 exposure $2.67
PLUS MANY MORE
tripod CAMERA SHOPS

Whalen Stationery
AND
Office Supply Co.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
- Furniture
- Filing Supplies
- School Supplies
- Business Forms

Complete Zerox Copy Center
141 MAIN ST.
NORTHAMPTON
584-3794

Gorillas edge by Syracuse

By TOM CROWLEY
Collegian Staff

Relying on a nine-goal first period, the UMass lacrosse team held off Syracuse University yesterday, 16-14, behind Boyden gym.

Syracuse midfielder Mark Steiner scored a goal from in front of Don Goldstein, who didn't have a chance, at 4:31 of the final period to pull the Orangemen to within one goal at 14-13.

Randy Krutzler opened a little daylight at 7:57 when he took a Kevin Patterson pass and fired a shot from the side of the crease to make the score 15-13. Patterson added to the margin by picking up a lose ball from Chuck Smith and firing home a goal from in front of the Cage at 11:25 of the last period.

Larry Storrier scored with 43 seconds left to make the final tally.

At the end of the first quarter, Garber's Gorillas had a 9-2 lead and it looked like the Minutemen would be cruising in a wipe out. Syracuse had other ideas.

Syracuse outscored the men in white four to two in the second frame, but UMass still had control with a 11-6 halftime lead.

The visitors tightened the tilt up in the third quarter when they outscored the Gorillas 5-3, and ended the period down three, 14-11. When Syracuse closed to within a single marker, the men in Orange had posted four straight goals from the end of the third period until Krutzler scored.

I'm glad we got that first quarter jump," a relieved coach Dick Garber said after the game.

"We had a lot of shots (56 to 54 for Syracuse), but we didn't score a lot. In the second half, the goalie made the saves and in the first half we were too casual. We started to go for the cute pass."

Garber also had praise for three players who didn't figure too prominently in the scoring column. "Norm Smith played an excellent game. Vin LoBello played well on a bum leg.

"Terry Keefe came in the game in the fourth quarter and neutralized their faceoff man, even with his hurt wrist."

Keefe did not score; Norm Smith got a goal and two assists; and LoBello got two goals and an assist.

The big guns were Mickey Mennag, Patterson, and Krutzler, who had his best offensive game of the season. Patterson had seven goals and an assist. Krutzler put three goals on the board. Menna had a goal and five assists.

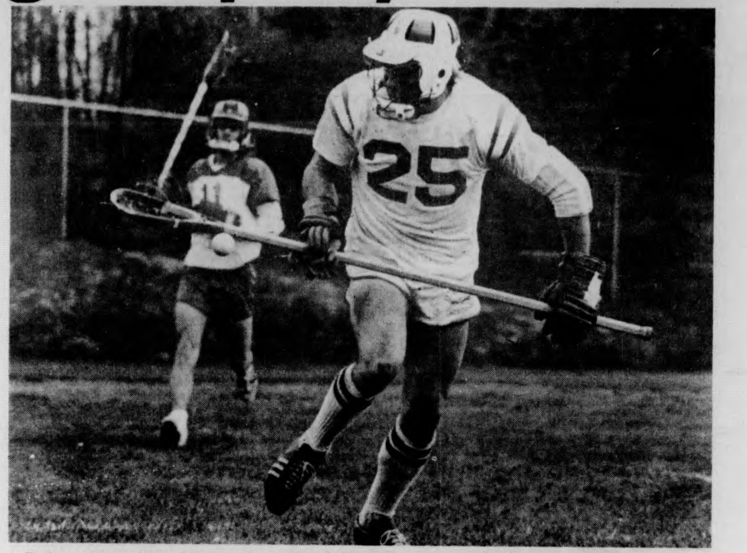
The other scorers for UMass were Steve Pappas, Jeff Spooner (both with a goal and an assist), Chuck Smith, and Mike Lettera (both with an assist).

Seven men scored for the Orange: Storrier (3 goals, 2 assists), Tim O'Hare (2 goals, 2 assists), Tom Abbott (3 goals), Larry Collins (2 goals, an assist), Steiner (2 goals), Bruce Buskard, and Kevin Donahue (both with a goal).

The Minutemen scooped up more ground balls, 76-67, but only won 12 of 34 face-offs.

For the goalies, Goldstein had 17 saves and Jim Molloy of Syracuse had 19.

As this was Syracuse's last game, it ended its season 8-6 while the Minutemen are presently 8-3 with three games remaining. The next game could decide the New England Lacrosse Championship as UMass travels to Cambridge Saturday to play the Crimson of Harvard.



Defenseman Ken Michaud is about to snag a loose ball in yesterday's game against Syracuse University. (Staff photo by Greg Virgiolio)

Batters split big twinbill

By MIKE BERGER
Collegian Staff

STORRS, Ct. — It could only happen in baseball where a game is decided by a judgment call by the umpire on a ball which appeared foul but which ultimately went for a two-run home run. It could only happen in a baseball, where UMass, struggling to beat the best team in New England twice in one day, committed only two mistakes, but had those mistakes ruin the entire day.

It was a last chance effort for coach Dick Bergquist's Minutemen but they fell short of beating UConn twice in one day due to a controversial home run and a double error on a bunt sacrifice which allowed the Huskie runner to score the winning run (3-2) in the second game.

However, the Minutemen did win the first game, 7-3, behind Jeff Reardon and do have the honor of knowing that they knocked out of the box a previously undefeated UConn pitcher with a record of 9-0.

"The second game was an extremely disappointing way to lose especially since we did so many things so well the whole day. If we have any chance of making the New England baseball playoffs, we must win all of our seven remaining ballgames. That's what it comes down to," said Bergquist.

Tragically, the second game loss went to Tom Nigro (5-3) who was tangled up in a pitching duel with another of New England's best pitchers, Greg Biercovicz. Nigro only allowed four hits, struck out five, and only allowed one walk in the third inning but which ultimately helped him lose the game.

With one on and one out, Huskie Dave Schowalter hit a 380' line drive down the left field line which traveled out of the park and landed in foul territory.

The third base umpire ruled it fair and it gave UConn the lead, 2-1, in the third inning. "It was a judgment call by the umpire which was highly contested by all of our team. There was nothing we could do about it," Bergquist said.

UMass came back in the fifth inning to tie the score at two as first baseman Dale Stone doubled home Bob Alves who had reached on an error. But in the last half of the seventh, with the score tied. UConn's Russ Larrabee reached on an infield hit even though shortstop Jim Cullen did everything he could to not allow the ball to enter the outfield.

With everyone in the park expecting a bunt (including the UMass defense) the Huskie's Jim Toler bunted down the first base line. Nigro, expecting it, went immediately to field it and had an excellent chance of getting Larrabee at second. But he overthrew the second basemen and the ball went through centerfielder Paul Abramowicz legs, allowing Larrabee to score the game-winning run.

But in the first game, Reardon, now 3-3, put together one of his best pitched games this season as he allowed only seven hits, four in the last winning, while striking out six. Reardon, coasting until the last inning, suddenly tired and gave up a walk and four successive singles before being relieved by lefty Dave Tewhill.

Tewhill, with two men on, came in with two out and struck out the Huskies' best pinch-hitter, Henry Hukill, to preserve the win for Reardon.

Offensively, leading hitters Ed Skribiski (.345) and Mike McEvilly (.341) had two hits each while Neal Lojek contributed two hits and two walks. RBI's were delivered by McEvilly (2), Skribiski (2) and Cullen (1).

UMass was the only team this season that was able to knock Huskie pitcher Tom Germano, now 9-1, out of the box with nine hits. The 16-15 Minutemen hope to get back on the winning track again this Friday against Springfield at Lorden Field.

Collegian Sports

Bill Edelstein

Portrait of a fan

If, in the past few decades, you've looked carefully at your local newspaper's sports section, or any newspaper's sport section for that matter, you're bound to have noticed that they're all the same in one respect — they never include the views of the person that not only pays the freight in the sporting world, but also loads the boxcars: The Fan.

Oh, sure, newspapers invite folks to write in to vote for the Celtic Most Likely To Miss 50 Shots In A Row, or to express their opinions on the future of football and how it relates to modern societal customs (in 25 words or less), but they never EVER set out to interview one particular fan as the subject of a sports article or column.

Well I say it's about time someone set the record straight because it certainly doesn't sound very good when you leave it in the sun for a day and a half.

I found my subject in the bleachers at Fenway Park. The temperature was 45 degrees and the Sox were trailing 24-2 in the top of the eighth. It looked like rain.

"Excuse me, sir, are you a fan?"

"No, I'm an air conditioner."

"I see."

"That's why it's so cold."

"Well, could I have your name, sir?"

"Sure. If you want it. It hasn't done me much good."

"Fine. How long have you been following the Sox?"

"Ever since they stole my wallet on a crowded subway."

"Your team is down by 22 late in the game and it's freezing out here. I can see you're not just a 'fair weather' fan."

"You bet. I make a point of always knowing what the conditions will be for game time. If it's going to be a nice day, I'll stay home, if it's supposed to rain, you'll find me at Fenway."

"Gosh, that's beautiful. I don't think there's another fan like you in the world."

"Oh no, no. There are plenty of us. See all the guys over there in section three?"

"Marvelous, just marvelous."

"They're all here on free passes too. Makes the attendance figures look better."

"When did you first become a sports consumer?"

"Very early on in life. I'd say two or three."

"That young...."

"My father used to beat me with a baseball bat."

"I notice that you're out here by yourself. Do you like to take advantage of the atmosphere of the ballpark to reflect upon current events and problems?"

"Yeah, sort of. Whenever I think about my two screaming kids and my alcoholic wife, I like to come here... alone."

"How old are you, sir?"

"What is this, the census or something? I'd like to declare the Red Sox as a dependent."

"Out of all your years as a fan, what would you say is the most thrilling moment sports has given you?"

"It wasn't really just a moment, it was a whole game."

"The 'most thrilling' a 'whole game'? It must've been some contest!"

"Actually, I don't remember much about the game, but those ten-cent beers really went down smooth."

"What were they, Budweiser?"

"No, Narragansett I think."

"Yeah, 'Gansett and baseball go together like cheese and crackers."

"Nah, 'Gansett goes better with cheese and crackers than it does with baseball."

"I think it depend on the cracker. Say you've got a cracker that... oh.... uh.... ummm.....If you had any one suggestion that you could tell to anybody who had anything to do with sports, and that suggestion would be honored, what would your proposal be, and who would you tell it to?"

"That's a tough one. Let me see now... Your editor. I think I'd tell your editor to send you to cover snorkel diving in the beautiful Bahamas."

"Why, thank you."

"Without a snorkel."

Collegian Photo Special inside

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 137 FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1977

Collegian

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

Hampshire faculty to rally in support of occupation

By TERESA M. HANAFIN
Collegian Staff

Faculty at Hampshire College will rally at noon today to demonstrate their support of the current occupation by students of the school's administration buildings.

The student occupation, led by the Committee for the Liberation of South Africa and located in the Cole Science Center administrative offices, entered its second day much the same way as the first — with little progress toward agreement.

The occupation is in protest of the school's investments in South Africa. The students charge that the college indirectly aided alleged racist policies of the white-run segregationist government in South Africa through its ownership of $40,000 of stock in four firms.

A meeting was held yesterday between the student occupiers and administration officials at which time the students were told they were appealing to the wrong people.

According to Joel Saxe, one of the leaders of the occupation, Robert Burney, Hampshire College vice-president, and David Lamb, secretary of the Hampshire College Board of Trustees, told the students that their complaints would have to be considered by the investment subcommittee of the Board of Trustees, not any campus officials.

(The Board of Trustees Executive Committee met yesterday and decided not to take any action at this time on the students' requests.)

A faculty meeting was held later and demonstrated "considerable" support for the occupiers position, Saxe said.

Saxe said last night the occupiers are planning to stay in the office until their requests are met.

"We had planned on ending perhaps Monday, but so many people have come out in support of us that we are now talking about staying at least until Wednesday," he said.

The students are demanding that shares of Exxon, Texaco, International Harvester and Clark Equipment corporations be sold. In addition, they want the college to make a policy statement condemning the South African government and to adopt guidelines governing future purchases of stock.

Peter Gluckler, of the college's news bureau, said the college had no plans to remove the students.

Tenants Assoc. to protest 'high rents, poor housing'

By RICHARD E. BARRELL
Collegian Staff

Amherst Tenants Association (ATA) will sponsor a march and rally to protest "high rents and poor housing conditions" on Saturday, May 7, at 11:30 a.m. beginning at the common located at the junction of North and East Pleasant Sts.

Anne Shlay, spokesperson for ATA said the purpose of the rally is to show support for the rent control article on the town meeting warrant, and to demonstrate to landlords that, "we will not tolerate this situation any longer."

The situation, according to Shlay is that rents have increased dramatically since the town meeting severely restricted the construction of apartments in 1971. According to ATA members a 10 to 15 per cent increase in rents can be expected next year. Although landlords are claiming increased costs necessitates the increases in rent, ATA calculations show a 30 per cent increase in costs would be needed to justify these increases.

Also affected by high rents and rent increases are the town's elderly and low-income people, said Shlay. These people have a difficult time finding housing in town at rents they can afford, she said.

Although no specific study has been done regarding housing problems of the elderly and low-income citizens of Amherst, Emily Simpson of the Housing Authority confirmed they have difficulty finding housing here.

"I know of specific cases where people have had to leave the town because they could not afford rents," she said. "I know of other cases of families who cannot live here although they work here and would prefer to live in town," she added.

According to Simpson, some help is available for those who qualify through Chapter 707 State Rental Assistance Program. Until recently, when pressure from state legislators and a letter writing campaign gained an increase in rent subsidies, rents in Amherst were too high to qualify for the subsidy program. The authority has had difficulty finding housing to qualify under federal rent supplement programs as well, she added.

"I guess you could call Saturday 'Tenants Day'," said Shlay, who also said the rally would feature balloons, singing, chanting, music, and several speakers.

Scheduled speakers include Christina W. Platt, a homeowner who supports rent control; Mary Wentworth from the Colonial Village Tenants Association, speaking on tenants unions; and Jean Cahill, who was evicted from Puffton Village on December 1, 1976.

Also, Peter Derrico, a town meeting member, is scheduled to speak on economic and legal problems of tenants.

According to ATA sources, some 70 per cent of Amherst rental housing is in complexes built between 1965 and 1971 when the town meeting passed a law restricting the building of apartment complexes. Allegedly 80 per cent of these complexes are owned by seven to nine individuals or corporations, several of which are out of state and therefore take revenue out of the community.

Dianna Romer of the Board of Selectmen confirmed that "A small number of men or corporations own most of Amherst's rental housing."

The rent control article, which has been brought before the town meeting by petition, would control rent in most of Amherst's rental housing.

inside

Laury Roberts continues her series on rape. See Page 2.

An audit of the Campus Center was completed and will be released soon. See Page 2.

John Hite, speaking before the Faculty Senate attacked faculty behavior at a meeting earlier this week. Page 3.

weather

May showers bring mud.

Parking rules for concert

People going to the concert via Rte. 116 can enter on Stadium Dr., turn right, and park on the north or west side of the stadium.

People from Rocky Hill Rd. should turn right onto Stadium Dr. and park in P-lot at the stadium's north end or in lots 21 and 22.

People arriving via University Dr. or Fearing St. should park in lots 21 and 22 as well. The overflow will be handled at the north end of the stadium.

There will be no parking on University Dr., Dallas Mall, Amity St., or Rocky Hill Rd.

All violators will be towed.

Concert organizers are urging people not drive to Alumni Stadium, since parking spaces will be limited. To accommodate spectators, University buses will stop at the stadium every 10 minutes.

The stage was being set yesterday for tomorrow's Spring Concert at Alumni Stadium. (Staff photo by Bob Higgins)

25,000 expected for Spring Concert

By TIMOTHY JONES
Collegian Staff

The Spring Concert could draw up to 25,000 persons to Alumni Stadium tomorrow, and campus police are preparing for the onslaught.

A student security force of 120 will assist campus police in controlling the crowd, which will number anywhere from 15,000 to 25,000, Bonnie Levetin, a concert coordinator, estimated yesterday.

Two first aid posts and a Room to Move tent will be set up at the stadium to handle any emergency, said Chief Robert G. Joyce of the University Public Safety Department, and at least one ambulance will be on call.

Pleasant weather should grace the nine-and-a-half-hour concert, with clear skies and temperatures high in the 70's predicted. If it rains lightly, the concert will still be held. Only in the event of a heavy downpour would it be cancelled, organizers said.

The Latin band Conjunto Libre will begin the concert at 10:30 a.m. Folksinger Melanie follows at noon. Richie Havens will take the stage at 1:30 p.m., the Pousette Dart Band at 3:00 and Procol Harum at 4:30. Southside Johnnie and the Asbury Jukes will finish the concert from 6 to 7 p.m.

Joyce insisted the concert end by 8 p.m. so the stadium can be emptied before dark. "In the past our biggest problem has been keeping the performers on schedule," he said.

Refreshments will be available at the concert, including 600 kegs of beer. Levetin said the restriction on cans and bottles inside the stadium must be enforced as a "safety factor." Coolers and bags brought into the stadium will be searched for these items.

Joyce said transgressors will be refused admittance.

The stage, all 960 square feet of it, was constructed at the south end of the stadium Wednesday. Sound wings, each holding a bank of speakers 24 feet long, were built at each end of the stage. A 2000-square-foot sheet of plastic will be used to cover the stage it it rains.

Four counselors, including a paramedic, will staff the Room to Move tent. They are prepared to treat sunstroke and persons disoriented by the crowd, or drug and alcohol mixture problems.

First audit of Campus Center available today

By JEAN CONLEY
Collegian Staff

an audit of the Campus Center (CC) is complete and will be made available today, according to Dean of Student Affairs. The audit is the first one done on the Campus Center.

The audit covers fiscal year 1976, and no plans have been made to do audits on any other years.

John W. Corker, former Director of the CC, was "relieved of his duties" in October 1975 for "continuing unresolved problems."

Speaking at a Campus Center Board of Governors (BOG) meeting last night, Dean said the Campus Center got a "clean bill" for 1976, and "there will be financial relief" after fees were hiked this year.

Dean also said it will cost from $600,000 to $3 million to fix leaks in the third deck of the CC. The third deck covers the area of the CC concourse and the University Bookstore. There are also leaks on the 11th floor of the building, not covered in the estimate.

Board members Michael Pill and Herb Tyson were elected co-chairpersons at the meeting. Tyson is a new member on the board. Shelley Gordon was elected vice-chairperson, and newly-elected member Henry Doyle was elected treasurer.

In other action, the board voted to extend hours at the Hatch Cafeteria from 3 to 7 p.m. Hours were shortened from 7 to 3 p.m. two weeks ago when the Hatch reported it was losing money the last four hours of operation. Food and beverages will not be sold after 3 p.m. The Hatch will be open to provide additional study space in the building.

The board also voted to call upon CC administration to install electrical wiring for air conditioning in the student Federal Credit Union.

Pill said permanent damage could be done to the Credit Union's electronic machines in warm weather.

Debate team 21st in nation after 5-3 season

By CAROL COULTAS
Collegian Staff

The UMass Debating Union finished with a 5-3 record at the National Debate Tournament to wind up their season 21st out of 400 teams in the country.

The Union competed their Audience Debate Program Thursday at Westfield High School with a debate on Surface Mining. The program has brought them considerable success with exposure to about 6,000 persons, according to spokesperson Rosanne Hynes. Hynes said the response has been overwhelmingly positive and many school administrators have asked the Union to return.

Hynes said the ultimate triumph for the Union was receiving the $600 request from the Undergraduate Student Senate.

The Union held its Award Banquet May 1. Outstanding Achievement Award for Novice went to freshman David Smith. Hynes and Paul Fishman both received the Nathaniel Hill Public Debating Award. John Cross received the Clarence Angell Award for the graduating senior.

Hynes said, "Of all the winners of the Angell Award, John deserves it most. His efforts while here enabled UMass to achieve recognition as a top debate program."

Dr. Alexander Sandow, a UMass debater from 1921-1923, was presented with the Distinguished Alumni Award. Sandow, a biologist, has contributed greatly to muscular dystrophy research.

In the Union's elections, Mary O'Malley and Nick Burnett were elected co-presidents, and Hynes as treasurer.

Pay hike for faculty

UMass faculty may finally receive their cost-of-living pay raises, which they have been expecting for the past three years.

John L. DeNyse of the Personnel Office said yesterday the money earmarked for employes is being transferred to the University, a process DeNyse said may "take a period" of time.

The money, DeNyse explained, is going "directly into the University account" from Gov. Michael S. Dukakis. DeNyse said the legislature has nothing to do with the transfer.

TODAY'S STAFF

Issue Editor Peter B. Wallace

Day Layout	Debbie Walters
Sports Layout	Mike Smolens
Photo Staff	Pat Dobbs, Steve Parrot, Steve Hershberg
Ad Layout	Ellyn Faber

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
"Beware of enterprises that require new clothes" — Thoreau

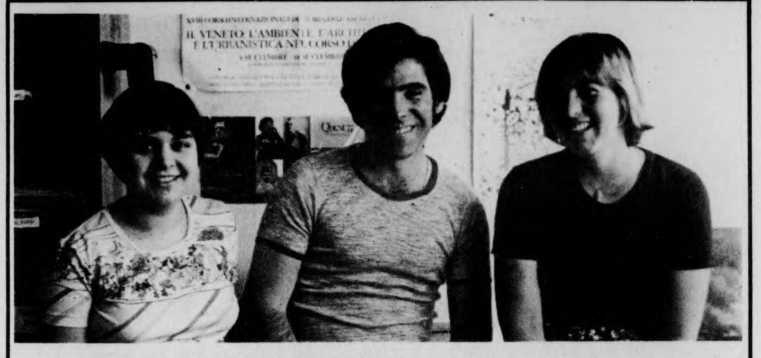
SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off campus	$9	$15
On campus delivery	$5	$9

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusettss, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery to start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545 3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst, Massachusetts 01003. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879, as amended by an act of June 11, 1934.



Pictured here at the helpful student directors at Casiac. (Staff photo by Colleen King)

UMies beat doldrums

By BEN COLE
Collegian Staff

One out of every 11 UMass undergraduates has found a way to beat the "education doldrums."

They are enrolling in Special Problems courses which allow them to study what they want, at their own pace, under conditions and for academic credits they determine in advance.

There are 2,194 undergraduates taking Special Problems this semester, according to the Schedualing Office.

Everyone of the University's 115 departments offers courses listed as Special Problems, which has been offered at UMass since the early 1960's. The registration procedure is generally like that for any other course. The difference is that the students decide what the course is about and choose the teacher-sponsor, said Julie Berwald, associate to the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Special Problems projects include, being a television production-assistant, teaching a course in practical farming, writing a laboratory manual, studying the economics of Southeast Asia, building a cement canoe; and helping to manage the University Dance Touring Company.

Special Problems can be undertaken in a number of ways. They might be based on readings, or undergraduate teaching, or a practicum in a certain field, or whatever qualifies as an educational experience.

It can even be made to satisfy core requirements providing the student requests and gets an exception. There are generally no limits to the number of Special Problems one can undertake in a semester.

But it is possible to get snafued in a Special Problems course if it isn't set up carefully. There are a few things to keep in mind when contracting for Special Problems, including choosing a sponsor, deciding when the work will be done and how many credits it merits.

The student must also describe the materials and resources that will be used, the issues to be investigated and the hypotheses to be tested. A clear definition of the objectives and the ways and means of evaluation is also required.

Some departments and programs do have restrictions. For example, psychology majors are not allowed more than 12 credits in Special Problems, and at least half of a veterans' semester load cannot be Special Problems.

Many students seek counseling

By REBECCA GREENBERG
Collegian Staff

With the rush of students preparing for pre-registration, many University academic offices were crowded during counseling period. But for one of these offices, the crowds were nothing new, because it handles these kinds of problems throughout the academic year.

The College of Arts and Sciences Information and Advising Center (CASIAC), located in E20-26 Machmer, has a staff of student and faculty counselors, specialized advisors, and academic deans to aid students in the tangle of paperwork and referrals that the academic process often involves.

In addition to academic counseling, CASIAC is the place to declare or change a major, obtain add-drop forms and computer registration sheets, and get information about campus regulations.

According to Sandy Pirrello, a CASIAC student coordinator, the usual procedure is to speak to a student counselor first. There are 28 student counselors, all of whom have gone through a 20-hour training program and have done an internship under the supervision of an experienced counselor.

Services aid rape victims

By LAURY ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

Massachusetts State Law, Chapter 265, Section 22: Whoever has sexual intercourse with a person or unnatural sexual intercourse with a person, and compels such person to submit by force and against their will, or compels such person to submit by threat of bodily injury.

The state's definition of a rapist does not stipulate the victim's gender, marital status, attractiveness, particular age, or color — just that one's right to say "no" is protected, even if you are not Anita Bryant or Farrah Fawcett-Majors.

State law also requires training in dealing with rape cases within police departments. Very small police outfits must have access to similarly trained personnel or call in state police assistance when necessary. And, did you know the state Department of Mental Health is supposed to provide voluntary, confidential counseling to victims of sexual assaults?

Two weeks ago, Gov. Michael S. Dukakis signed a bill limiting the admissability of evidence concerning the history of a rape victim. Only pertinent information can be introduced, a practice already followed by Hampden County District Attorney, John Callahan. The law was designed to encourage prosecution and alleviate stupid, irrelevant, voyeuristic type questions used by some defense lawyers.

"When a person has been raped, they often believe the myths (about why they are a victim) and begin to feel guilty; feeling as though they really were responsible, that they must have deserved it. Even close friends and parents will unwittingly add to that guilt by asking 'What were you doing there at 2:00 a.m.?' or 'why were you wearing that?' The blame shifts from the rapist to the victim. Many victims choose not to report the rape in order to avoid further humiliation."

This passage is from a pamphlet prepared by Lise Gordon and Mary Dumas of the UMass Rape Task Force. The Rape Task Force is an organization of University resources and agencies that coordinates campus services to prevent rape through community education and provide effective treatment if a rape occurs.

According to Dumas, a UMass Police Department sergeant, a rape victim can have health and legal questions answered without being forced to prosecute.

"The victim has a right to be informed, that's our first obligation," she said. The UMass Police Department has a Sensitive Crime Unit made up of 11 officers (not all full-time) and has a hotline number for rape victims (K-COPS).

If a victim opts to prosecute, all information is kept confidential and is not entered on the regular computerized files. An officer will help the victim prepare for a court appearance. Following a district court hearing, the case may go to the grand jury and on to superior court for trial. The district attorney prosecutes so there are no legal costs for the victim. The D.A.'s office also has a full-time counselor who coordinates county services for rape victims.

After a rape has been committed the victim is encouraged to go to a medical facility, even if she doesn't want to report the incident to police. Members of the Rape Task Force or of the police department will accompany a victim to UMass Health Services to sidestep the front desk routine.

The physical exam begins in a quiet, safe, private area with immediate care of possible injuries. An account of the rape may be necessary to determine if a victim should receive an oral, anal, or vaginal exam. A victim should not douche or bathe if she wants a collection of evidence. A physician will attend court proceedings with her if necessary.

Health Services staff will also gather information pertaining to the victim's menstrual cycle and birth control practices. A "morning after" pill can be administered if there is a possibility of pregnancy; a menstrual extraction or abortion can be performed during follow-up care if necessary.

"Even if it's months after a rape has occurred, it's important that a woman seek medical attention for a possible ongoing injury," said Barbara Estabrook of Health Services, and the Rape Task Force.

"It's less for the gathering of evidence than for making sure her physical needs are being met," said Gordon.

TURN TO PAGE 4

Seabrook 1414 battle in court

CONCORD, N.H. [AP] — The state of New Hampshire and the Seabrook 1414 fought each other in state and federal courts Thursday in a battle that may cost the state at least $1 million.

In Hampton District Court, eight anti-nuclear demonstrators were found guilty of criminal trespass by Judge H. Alfred Casassa, who fined them $100 and sentenced them to 15 days in jail.

Casassa set bail at $500 each pending appeal to Rockingham County Superior Court.

Atty. Gen. David Souter had recommended 15 days in jail and $200 fines, calling the weekend demonstration "one of the most well-planned acts of criminal conduct in the state or the nation, for the matter."

David Kimball, a UMass student and coordinator of the Western Massachusetts Seabrook Support Group, met with 40 persons from the Five College area yesterday in information and recruitment sessions. There are 80 "support people" now in New Hampshire keeping communications open between protesters in jail and friends and relatives.

the supporters, most of whom are camped at Hampton Falls Campground, are also helping demonstrators relocate when they are released from jail, Kimball said.

Support meetings are planned at UMass today at 10 a.m. in the Student Senate Council Chambers and 8 p.m. at a place not determined at press time.

Souter said the Seabrook case may cost the state as much as $1 million in legal costs and to house the demonstrators in state armories pending trials.

Souter rushed to Hampton after Cassasa gave the first demonstrator to go on trial a suspended sentence.

In U.S. District Court in Concord, lawyers filed a petition seeking release of the demonstrators from the state armories on grounds that their civil rights were being violated.

The petition cited cramped living quarters, eating facilities, poor food and medical attention, and unsatisfactory toilet accommodations.

The state, the petition said, was "not meeting minimum standards as set for in the constitution."

The petition also sought to total in $106 million in damages.

Murray Rosenblith, 26, of Brooklyn, N.Y., the first demonstrator to go on trial, was fined $100 and was sentenced by Casassa to 15 days in jail, suspended on good behavior.

Hite criticizes faculty behavior

By JOE QUINLAN
Collegian Staff

Student Government Association (SGA) co-President Jon A. Hite told the Faculty Senate yesterday the behavior of the general faculty at a meeting earlier this week was the "most disgusting display of elitism and hypocrisy" that he has ever witnessed.

Later on during the 90-minute meeting, the senate passed five motions on academic affairs.

Hite, an ex-officio member of the Faculty Senate, said he is disappointed at a faculty which he "once considered to be rational and concerned above all with the futures of their students" because they have glazed over the "serie of limited resources with hollow empty rhetoric about (governance) process.

"I do not intend to defend the provost," said Hite. "He is capable of defending himself. But I question whether next year at this time the faculty will be willing or able to defend their treatment of the provost."

At the meeting in Mahar Auditorium Tuesday afternoon, the general faculty followed the example of colleagues in a meeting of the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) a week earlier and voted to express no confidence in Vice-Chancellor of Academic Affairs and Provost Paul L. Puryear and sought his removal from office. A similar motion for President Robert C. Wood also passed at both meetings.

Hite criticized the faculty for their behavior when they did not allow former SGA co-president Jay A. Martus to speak at the general meeting.

"I sincerely hope that terrible insult to Mr. Martus as an individual member of the community and, in fact, to students as a whole, will never be repeated by the faculty," said Hite.

He then appealed to the faculty to work with students to fight level funding proposed by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

Hite concluded his five minute address by quoting a motion passed Wednesday night in the student senate. The motion alleges the Faculty Senate and faculty of CAS have "continually" acted toward the provost "in a racist manner, open contempt, and disrespect."

The motion asks the Faculty Senate and CAS to formally apologize to the provost, and also explain their views on students' roles for forming educational policy at the University.

Faculty Senate Secretary Terence Burke said after the meeting, Hite "is asking due respect for Mr. Martus at a meeting when there was a lack of respect for the chair.

"Mr. Hite does not cite any racist remarks for support" said Burke, "and does not identify anyone" as saying these remarks.

John Hite

Hite's statement "is unsubstantiated until he does", added Burke. Burke said he will have no comment about the student senate's request for an apology until he receives its memo.

The Faculty Senate yesterday also dealt with several motions under old business. The senate approved policies for scheduling examinations for evening classes.

The senate also passed a motion recommending students be allowed to transfer to UMass from other schools before finishing their sophomore year. Senator Sarah L. Hawes, who reported the motion, noted a spokesperson from community colleges is agreeable with this proposed policy.

Gordon Paul, chairperson of the council on Academic Regulations on Internships, summarized the findings of his council.

Legislature unreceptive to Mass. bottle bill

By SAMUEL P. HASSAN
Collegian Staff

The Massachusetts bottle-bill died again last week after what some legislators are privately calling the most intensive lobbyist effort they've seen.

The bill's defeat on the Senate floor has prompted reaction as diverse as the futile parlimentary maneuvering used in attempting to win Senate approval. But despite a cautious optimism among proponents of the measure, comprehensive reform of the state's bottling industry in the current legislative doesn't seem likely.

Having twice been defeated, the bottle-bill may get another chance if Gov. Michael S. Dukakis, who supports the bill, decides to resubmit it.

Al Edmonds, a spokesperson for the Dukakis said yesterday, "the governor's decision depends on two things, how the bottle-bill does in Connecticut, and the outcome of the special election to replace DiCarlo and MacKenzie."

Senators DiCarlo and MacKenzie supported the bottle-bill but were convicted of extortion and ousted from the Senate last month. Edmonds said, "Two favorable votes in those seats would make it more likely." Asked what the chances are the governor will introduce the bill, Edmonds said, "Personally it doesn't look good, and even if he does, it's gonna have rough sledding."

Rep. Lois G. Pines, (D-Newton) who co-sponsored the bill with Senator James A. Kelley said yesterday, "Intensive (opposition) efforts we've already witnessed make it difficult to take anything for granted."

A spokesperson for Pines, Doug Huwsid said, "Money is no object to the opposition, but we haven't given up. Far from being dead, the bottle bill is very much alive."

Asked if he was optimistic about the bill's future Huwsid said, "I'm not optimistic because of the money being used to oppose it."

Legislative chairperson for the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, Evelyn Bender was very pessimistic about the bill's future during the current session. "The votes just aren't in the Senate. We've got other high priority legislation to deal with."

NEWS ANALYSIS

Bender criticized Kelley for making "tactical errors" in trying to win Senate approval of his bill. "The (House) speaker and (Senate) president are both opposed to it, and there's no use having the governor re-submit the bill unless you can turn the leadership around."

Bender said she hopes President Carter will see the energy savings in national reform of the bottling industry and take the initiative to implement it.

UMass co-ordinator for the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group, (MassPIRG) Karen Meenan, said recently, "The bottling companies will have to re-tool their factories for conversion to the metric system by the 1980s, so it would seem to make sense that now is the time to implement a bottle-bill."

Considering the massive amounts of money being spent fighting the bottle-bill in Massachusetts, a grass-roots education campaign appears to be the only hope. While proponents of the bill say they haven't given up, their efforts have diminished considerably following the Senate defeat. If and when reform of the bottling industry does come about in Massachusetts, it will truly be a peoples' victory.

Library holds microfilm show

By JILL CLAY
Collegian Staff

"A gentleman wishes to correspond with a young lady, not over 20 years of age with a view to matrimony; the lady must be prepossessing of an amiable and cheerful disposition, and be in search of a true heart instead of riches and worldly honor."

This personal, taken from the July 1, 1863 issue of the New York Times, can be seen along with other microform exhibits on the main floor of the library. The exhibit, which microform reference librarian Melinda McIntosh said is "possibly the first of its kind," has run since March 18th and will continue through May 18th.

"I'm awed by the amount of material here," said Microform Librarian Don Palmer. "We have about 30 machines, and a lot of nights they're all filled up.

"A lot of people use it," Palmer went on, "but I think there's a lot of people that don't know about it."

Two of the most popular portions of the exhibit are those entitled "City Directories of the U.S. through 1860" and "Microfilm Preserves and Conserves," said McIntosh.

The City Directories exhibit displays a map of Massachusetts and several microfiche of old city directories. 1,647 of these microfiche, arranged alphabetically by city, are available here.

The "Microfilm Preserves and Conserves" display shows a Dec. 11, 1936 issue of the New York Times, with the headline, "Edward III renounces British crown." The newspaper is yellowed and decaying. Displayed with it is a microfilm reel of the same issue. Although the newspaper looks as if it won't be around much longer, the microfilm will last a long time.

"Many people have contributed to the exhibit," said McIntosh. One glass case displays Province in Rebellion: A Documentary History of the Founding of the Commonwealth 1774-1775, edited by L. Kinvin Wroth, in book and microfiche form. Displayed with it is a miniature British flag. "The British Consul-General gave me the flag," said McIntosh.

Another part of the exhibit, which looks like the album cover of "There Goes Rhymin' Simon," with its theater masks and sparkles, tells of plays and cultural collections available on microfilm here. "The masks are from Amherst College," said McIntosh.

"More than one quarter of the library's total collection is on microform — that's over half a million items," she said. "The collection here is one of the largest in New England."

One of the services of the microform department here is enlargement of material (including pictures) on a Kodak reproducing machine at prices ranging from 10 cents for a small copy to 25 cents for a full-size copy, the size of a newspaper page.

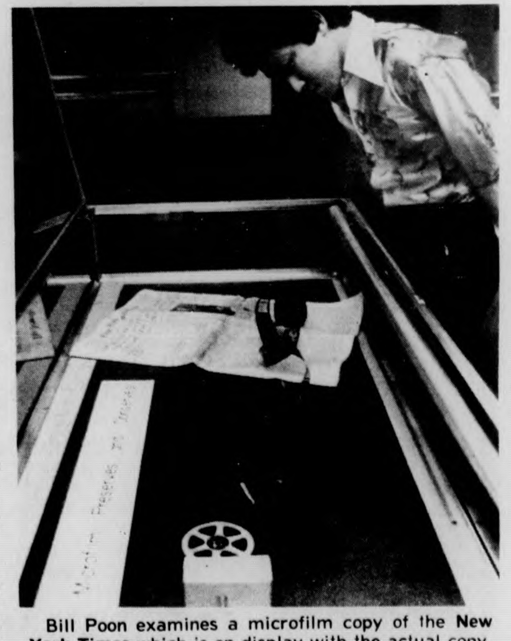
CC fee bill alive

Representative James G. Collins (D-Amherst) said yesterday the bill to have the state assume the Campus Center (CC) debt is still alive in the House.

According to Collins, the committee vote which originally defeated the bill 5-4, has been overturned in the House and referred to Ways and Means Committee.

Collins said the bill's funding mechanisms will probably be re-worked and the request for $22 million lowered before the bill goes to the House floow, hopefully in the fall.

House Speaker Thomas McGee (D-Lynn) and other legislators, said Collins, now appear more sensitive to "equity for students." Collins added UMass-Amherst students are the only students in the state now paying the costs of their campus center.



Bill Poon examines a microfilm copy of the New York Times which is on display with the actual copy. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne)

Ethiopian discussion forum to meet in Student Union

A fund raising and discussion forum to deal with the current situation in Ethiopia will be held in the Student Union Ballroom tomorrow at 6 p.m.

A free Ethiopian dinner, films, slides, progressive cultural shows and discussions will take place.

During the past week, the Ethiopian students of the Pioneer Valley conducted a campaign of radio talks, and published articles describing political repression in Ethiopia.

Discussion centered around Ethiopia as a semi-feudal and semi-colonial country where the aristocrats, bureaucrats, and feudalists have been for years living a life of luxury and affluence at the expense of the working masses. The result of this exploitation and subjugation, has led to mass resistance.

In the middle of the great famine holocaust in Feburary 1974, that killed more than 200,000 peasants, a host of other urban crimes opened a new chapter in the history of Ethiopia. Since then, according to several speakers, despite some setbacks and sacrifices, the situation in Ethiopia has been excellent.

The Ethiopian Peoples' Revolutionary Party (EPRP), has been waging a struggle to destroy exploitation and establish a democratic society.

The Worldwide Federation of Ethiopian Students believes the international public must be alerted to the actions of the Mengistu-Haile Fida regime.

The fund raising event, should be of utmost importance in educating the area communities to the Ethiopian situation, according to its sponsors.

Mark Birdsbro checks the water temp in a back-woods reservoir. "Still mighty cold!" says Mark. "Just wait until June!" (Staff photo by Steve Parrott)

★ Rape

CONT. FROM PAGE 2

A Rape Task Force counselor-advocate is on call nightly and can be reached through Room to Move at 545-0400. A counselor-advocate can also be contacted during the day through Everywoman's Center at 545-0883. Two task force members will meet with the woman in need and accompany her to the police or Health Services if she wants to do so.

"A victim in the crisis stage needs to gain control over her life. Someone has just taken away her power and she needs to regain it. That's why we won't push her to the police or Health Services," said Gordon. But they do try to get her to a place she senses is safe, particularly if the incident occurred at home.

The Rape Task Force deals with one to two women per week, not all of whom were recently raped.

Many women may be dealing with a past rape and are now integrating the experience into their lives. They may be dealing with phobic reactions, such as fear of the dark or being alone. They may be struggling with nightmares and problems with their sexuality. If a woman has been raped as a child (often committed by a family member) the issues are even more intense and complex.

Nor is the victim the only person who may need counseling. "Our priority is the victim," said Gordon. "We don't have the opportunity to thoroughly deal with family members or lovers who are affected." She said the Rape Task Force needs men who can counsel lovers, husbands, and fathers of victims.

Women can practice their own mental counseling whether or not they have been a rape victim.

"Women need to exercise self-assessment," Dumas said, "by identifying our vulnerability and by strengthening awareness and assertiveness."

Awareness isn't the only thing you can strengthen.

"All men expect a willing victim," said Sally Hamilton, director of the New Students Program. "Anything you can do to act outside of their expectations will surprise them." Five years ago Hamilton was attacked in the Campus Center parking garage, but managed to fend off her asailant by biting, screaming and kicking.

"We're so hamstrung by not wanting to hurt anyone," she said. "Women don't realize how effective they can be. They need a strong self-concept and to be able to mentally practice how they could handle bad situations."

Hamilton taught self-defense courses during the two years following her mugging and recommends not only should every woman take a self-defense class, but that such training be mandatory in high school physical education classes.

Project Self, of Everywoman's Center, will offer self-defense during the summer, and the Nutcracker Suite, run by Pat Turney in Northampton, provides similar instruction.

"Self-defense is not the clean martial arts, it's dirty tricks," said Hamilton, who admits the odds are not in a woman's favor if the offender has a weapon or the attack is by a group. "But if every man knew every woman had to successfully pass a self-defense course before she left high school, you can bet there would be fewer assaults."

THE DO'S AND DONT'S OF THE SPRING CONCERT TOMORROW AT ALUMNI STADIUM

FOR YOU AND YOUR GUESTS TO BETTER ENJOY YOURSELF AT THE SPRING CONCERT THE STUDENT SENATE CONCERT COMMITTEE HAS COMPILED THIS LIST.

1. Do not bring cans, bottles, or kegs to the concert. They will be confiscated at the gates. You can buy your food and beverages at the Stadium. Beer is 3 for $1, and we have 600 kegs.
2. Do not drive to the Stadium. Parking will be limited. Walking will be your fastest way of getting there. Extra Stadium and Orchard Hill buses will be in service.
3. The gates will open at 10:00 a.m., Please do not come earlier. There will be plenty of room for everyone. The location of the stage will allow excellent viewing from all parts of the Stadium. Seating will be on the field as well as in the stands. The first act begins at 10:30 a.m.
4. Please do not hassle the concert workers. They are there to assist you, not to aggravate you. If you need any type of help, just ask one of the marshals.
5. Most of all, enjoy the concert.

THE CONCERT IS FREE AND IS SPONSORED BY THE STUDENT SENATE.

Nixon aides sympathetic concerning Frost interview

By United Press International

Richard Nixon's aides called time out when he seemed to be buckling under pressure in the David Frost interview, giving him time to collect his wits for his dramatic final monologue, a porgram aide disclosed yesterday.

"The Nixon people said this was the toughest moment in Nixon's life and asked that the intense interrogation be stopped," said James Reston Jr., who helped Frost prepare for the taped interview televised Wednesday.

"That's why there's a difference in texture," Reston said in Chapel Hill, N.C.

Nixon's misty eyed, close-out summation on the rigors of his Presidency, in which he admitted "I let the country down" with "mistakes of the heart," stirred some sympathy — although not much - among old enemies.

Former Senate Watergate panel chairman Sam Ervin, former Watergate prosecutor James Neal, Washington Post Editor Ben Bradlee and others offered some gentle comments on the former President's performance.

That reaction was not widespread, however. Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Nixon is "as dead as he can be. I don't know any Republican in his right mind who woud want him back. I have no sympathy for him at all."

Boston's account would indicate Nixon got the 10-minute break in the taping when, close to tears, he completed his wistful recollection of how he fired two top White House aides accused of Watergate coverup conspiracy in 1973. His last words in that vignette were "I wasn't a good butcher."

When the questioning resumed, Reston said, Frost stopped grilling the former President on Watergate incidents and tape transcripts, and asked him whether he might admit "wrongdoing" and "apologize" to the nation.

That launched Nixon into a long, emotional monolgue that ran almost uninterrupted to the end of the program and left both men looking exhausted.

"I think that was the climax of the show," Reston said. He said Nixon's men asked for the respite because, until that time, "point after point of factual evidence showed Nixon was not coming off well."

Early viewer samplings by the Arbitron rating service suggested the show was a smash hit. Arbitron spokesman said the 90 minute program drew 42 per cent of viewing audiences in both New York City and Los Angeles, easily outdistancing all competing network and local offerings.

Most eary reaction among political figures and Watergate prosecutors, however, ran heavily against Nixon.

"I'm not a psychiatrist but he gives shades of being a little out of his gourd," said former Rep. William Hungate, D-Mo. a member of the House impeachment panel. "He's a consumate actor. He plays the Mark Anthony role and twists things around... He comes off with $600,000 and a lot of sympathy, and most of the people who worked with him went to jail."

Most of Nixon's former White House associates avoided comment. H. R. Haldeman, the former chief of staff now appealing his coverup conviction, said, "It's too complex to discuss in little bits and pieces."

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill said, "it would have been better not to have been on television... I felt sorry for America."

Frost 'more aware' of Nixon's character

[UPI] — David Frost said yesterday he had a "deeper understanding" of former President Richard M. Nixon and his character after his historic television interviews.

Frost held a news conference in the Beverly Hilton Hotel a few feet from where Nixon gave his famed "You won't have Nixon to kick around any more" speech 15 years ago following his loss in the California gubernatorial election to Edmund G. Brown.

"I ended up with a deeper understanding of Nixon the man and Nixon the President and a much greater awareness of how many dimensions there are to his character," Frost said.

Frost appeared buoyant over the worldwide interest in his interviews with Nixon and said the first of the four 90-minute shows which was broadcast Wednesday night exceeded his expectations.

"I'm not disappointed," he said. "The ex-president went further in terms of contrition than I had expected or hoped. I felt that it was seen as a catharsis for him and an emotional experience — more so than I've have thought.

Frost said he had not spoken to Nixon since their last taping session in April.

The British television personality said only six hours of the 28 and 3-4 hours of interviews he had with Nixon will be televised

MTOKO, Rhodesia: Chief Inspector David Perkins, a ballistics expert, displays North Korean made AK rifle after inquest yesterday. Perkins told the court this was the rifle used in the massacre of white Roman Catholic missionaries at the St. Paul Mission in Musami. (UPI photo)

Nixon was 'frank' says Pres. Carter

LONDON [UPI] — President Carter said yesterday he thought former President Richard Nixon was candid in admitting he lied to the American people during the Watergate affair, but he doubted the David Frost interviews "enlightened" the public.

Carter told reporters en route to the London economic summit conference that he watched the first 15 minutes and the last 15 minutes of the 90-minute interview televised Wednesday night.

"Well, I didn't change my mind," Carter said. "I think he was frank in saying that he lied to the American people on some of the statements that he made.

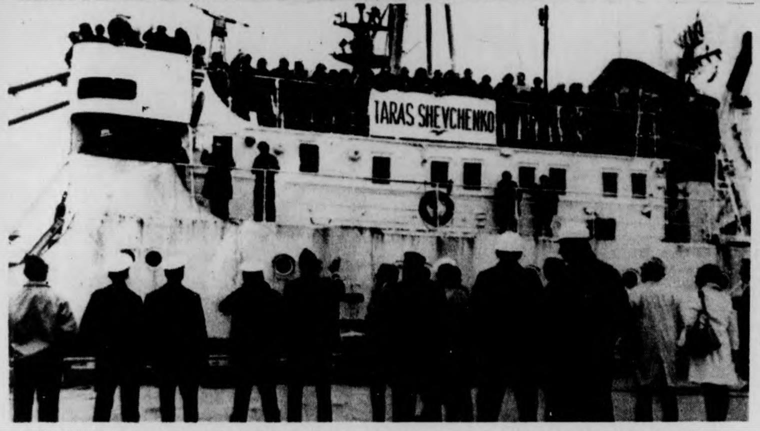
"I think Nixon has convinced himself that he did not violate the law. It was an interesting discussion but I doubt if the American people were enlightened by it."

A reporter pressed Carter whether he thought Nixon had violated the law.

"Well, I don't know," Carter said.

The President said he may ask Nixon for advice when Secretary of State Cyrus Vance prepares his trip to China later this year.

image
Friday May 6
HATCH
Last Night Hatch will be Open



BOSTON: Crew of the Soviet fishing trawler Taras Shevchenko (backgrd.) crowd the rails, some waving to U.S. Coast Guardsmen (fore) as the vessel prepares to depart Boston Harbor. (UPI photo)

Soviet trawler leaves Boston

BOSTON [UPI] — The Soviet trawler Taras Shevchenko, the first foreign vessel seized for violations of the 200-mile fishing limit law, yesterday sailed from Boston to join her sister ships off the New England coast.

The Soviet government yesterday afternoon paid $240,000 in civil damages to gain her release.

Some members of the crew were standing on the decks and waving as the rust-stained vessel was nudged out of her berth by tugboats at 5:51 p.m.

The vessel had been detained at Boston Coast Guard Base fo nearly four weeks while the Soviet and United States governments negotiated over here release. About a dozen Soviet fishing ships are operating off the New England coast.

A U.S. Marshal delivered release orders to the ship's master Alexander Gupalov, allowing him to lift anchor whenever it is convenient.

She was the first foreign vessel seized for violations of the Fisheries Conservation and Management Act of 1976 which went into effect March 1.

Longshoremen late Thursday afternoon finished reloading about 350 tons of frozen fish aboard the 275-foot vessel, seized by the Coast Guard April 10.

The vessel, boarded about 150 miles off the coast of Nantucket Island, and her crew of 93 men and women, were escorted into Boston Coast Guard Base.

Gupalov this week pleaded guilty to criminal charges of violating the fisheries act. He paid a $10,000 fine and was given nine-month, suspended probation by U.S. District Court Chief Justice Andrew J. Caffrey.

Indictments handed to crime figures; described 'orgies'

DETROIT [UPI] — A federal grand jury indicted eight organized crime figures and a policeman yesterday on charges of luring wealthy businessmen to sex and gambling parties and extorting large sums of money from them.

The parties, described as "orgies" by one source close to the investigation, featured prostitutes and fixed card and dice games. They were held at undisclosed locations in Michigan and Ohio over a four-year period beginning in December, 1970, the indictments said.

The victims would drop sizeable amounts of money in the card and dice games and be forced through acts and threats of physical violence to pay off their markers, the indictments said. In one case cited, more than $200,00 was collected from one victim over a period of three years.

The alleged ringleader of the operation was Ronald Morelli, 38, of suburban Warren, a "rising star" in the Detroit Mafia who was indicted in March on gambling charges.

Morelli's main accomplice was Rober LaPuma, 39, of suburban Royal Oak, who was identified as the "leg breaker" of the ring, authorities said.

The Detroit policeman indicted, Ronald Jones, 31, allegedly made phony arrests of victims caught in compromising circumstances with the girls provided at the parties. He would then agree to release his victim for a "payoff" in the $5,000 range, sources said.

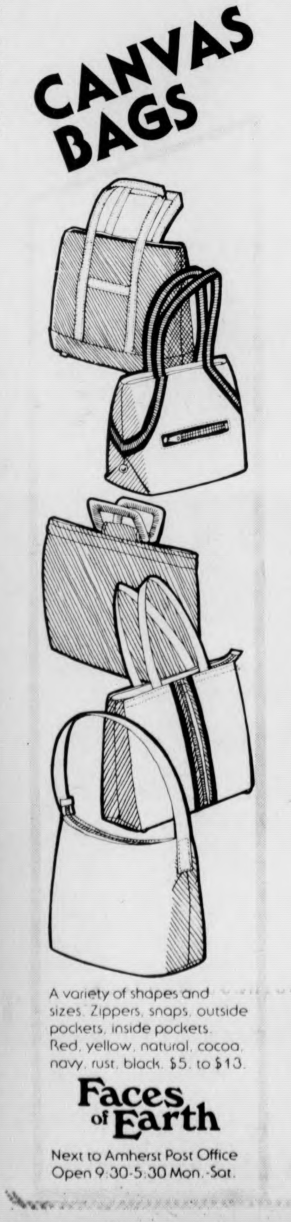
Morelli, LaPuma, and Jones were among those arrested yesterday on charges carrying overall penalties upon conviction of 140 years in prison if applied consecutively.

The FBI also arrested Thomas Misko, 59, of suburban St. Clair Shores, identified as a Mafia bodyguard and driver, and Elmer Turbyfill, 40, of Taylor described as a "hanger on" who participated in the games.

A fugity warrant was issued for Augustino Giordano, 35, an alleged low-level loan shark and shakedown artist.

Also believed still at large were three out-of-state men, Las Vegas bookie Joseph A. Malfi, 39 and brothers John Groff, 35, and Michael Groff, of Warren, Ohio, who have lengthy arrest records as "hired muscle."

Fashionable Imported Clothing for Women
SAVE 30% to 70%
Dresses
Pants
Skirts
Blouses
SPECIAL PURCHASE
Slightly Irregular Women's Clothing at Ridiculously Low Prices
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office. Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.



CANVAS BAGS
A variety of shapes and sizes. Zippers, snaps, outside pockets, inside pockets. Red, yellow, natural, cocoa, navy, rust, black. $5. to $13.
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

coupon
the SHOE BIN
$3.00 ($10.00/pair minimum purchase) OFF
(With this ad)
any pair reg. priced shoes & boots*
Good Wed, 5/4 through Sat, 5/7, 1977 with $10.00 minimum purchase.
*Sneakers not included

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9—HADLEY, MASS
The first major motion picture to challenge two thousand years of history! the Passover Plot Did Jesus really die on the cross?
1 PG Fri: 4:45, 7:15, 9:30, Twi-liter 4:15-4:45
Sat: 2:00, 4:45, 7:15, 9:30, Twi-liter 4:15-4:45
Sun: 2:00, 6:00, 8:00, Twi-liter 5:30-6:00
An epic fantasy of peace and magic. A RALPH BAKSHI FILM WIZARDS
2 PG Fri: 5:00, 7:15, 9:30, Twi-liter 4:30-5:00
Sat: 2:15, 5:00, 7:15, 9:30, Twi-liter 4:30-5:00
Sun: 2:15, 6:15, 8:15, Twi-liter 5:45-6:15
Carney's back and Tomlin's got him! The Late Show
3 PG Fri: 4:45, 7:00, 9:15, Twi-liter 4:15-4:45
Sat: 2:15, 4:45, 7:00, 9:15, Twi-liter 4:15-4:45
Sun: 2:15, 6:00, 8:15, Twi-liter 5:30-6:00
4 WINNER OF ACADEMY AWARDS! Prepare yourself for a perfectly outrageous motion picture. MGM presents NETWORK FAYE DUNAWAY WILLIAM HOLDEN PETER FINCH ROBERT DUVALL
4 R Fri: 4:30, 7:00, 9:15, Twi-liter 4:00-4:30
Sat: 2:00, 4:30, 7:00, 9:15, Twi-liter 4:00-4:30
Sun: 2:00, 5:45, 8:00, Twi-liter 5:15-5:45
★ REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS... LIMITED TO SEATING ★

Salaried Positions Available at the MASSACHUSETTS DAILY Collegian VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 136 THURSDAY MAY 1977
weather It will be so rainy that the mice will be hunchback.
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst MA 01003 (413) 545-3500
NEXT SEMESTER
PRODUCTION/NEWS
ISSUE EDITORS Responsible for layout and headline pages. Layout experience helpful, but not necessary. (3-5 positions)
WIRE LAYOUT Responsible for laying out and writing headlines for wire pages (New England, national, and ternational news from wire services). Layout experience preferred. (5 positions)
DAY LAYOUT To lay out What's Happening, Notices, etc. writing for the news pages once a week. Layout experience a necessity. (5 positions)
PASTE UP PERSONS To paste up Collegian pages at the printer. Experience an absolute necessity. (3-5 positions)
ASSISTANT NEWS EDITOR two positions open -- assigns and edits news stories.
EDITORIAL LAYOUT two positions. Responsible for laying out the editorial pages two nights a week.
PROOFREADERS To proof Collegian copy for typing errors at printer. No experience necessary. (5 positions)
BUSINESS
FINANCE MANAGER Responsible for collection of Collegian accounts receivable.
CIRCULATION MANAGER Responsible for Collegian daily distribution ® subscribtions.
CLERICAL 3 work-study student clerk positions - for general office work.
PLEASE SEE BOB HIGGINS MANAGING EDITOR OR PLEASE SEE TONY ARMELIN BUSINESS MANAGER
ALL MUST BE AVAILABLE TO BEGIN SATURDAY AUGUST 26, 1977 FOR TRAINING & ORIENTATION
CALL 545-3500

News in Brief

Bailey goes to prison

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — State Rep.-elect William H. Bailey left Green State Airport here yesterday afternoon enroute to Michigan and a two-to-four year prison term for a 1973 larceny conviction.

Bailey arrived at the airport accompanied by two Rhode Island state police officers and two members of the Algonac, Mich., police department.

Defense proposal voted down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House yesterday voted down a proposal it had approved a week ago to give President Carter the full $120.1 billion he asked for defense in the 1978 budget.

The House then began to take other votes on how much less to approve for defense.

But the vote of 233 to 176 to reject Carter's full amount was regarded as an initial victory for Congress' new budget process.

Female priest issue to be studied

CHICAGO (UPI) — America's Roman Catholic bishops yesterday once again said women could not become priests but agreed to study the theological issues involved in the Vatican's stand against female priests.

At the conclusion of a three day meeting, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops adopted a statement affirming that "as bishops we cannot compromise Catholic teaching" and rejected all efforts that would imply the bishops looked favorably on the idea of ordaining women.

Autos may be recalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Possible safety problems with 2.7 million Volkswagen, Ford and General Motors vehicles are being studied to determine whether recalls will be ordered, the Transportation Department said yesterday.

The GM inquiry involves the power brake booster on 2.2 million Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Cadillacs and GMC trucks.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration said gas vapors are breaking down part of a power brake system.

Dukakis wants 'oil spill' fund

BOSTON (AP) — Gov. Michael S. Dukakis has called for a state liability fund to help pay for mopping up oil spills off the Massachusetts coast and a new Coast Guard strike team to be stationed in New England.

The governor made the comments at a yesterday news conference, where he released the findings of an interagency task force on oil spills.

Conn. supports bottle bill

HARTFORD (AP) — A bill to end the sale of beer and soda in nonreturnable containers won a key procedural victory in the Connecticut Senate yesterday but opponents fought to derail it.

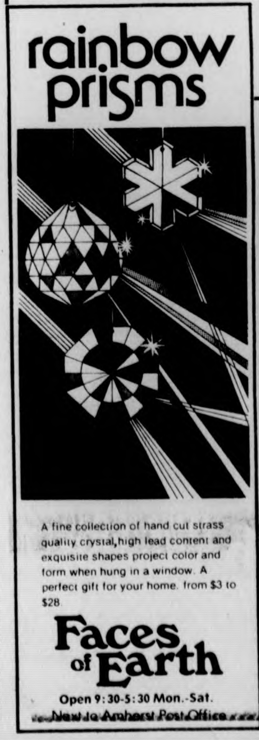
"The days of abundance are over," said Sen. Lawrence DeNardis before the Senate voted 20-16 to reverse an unfavorable committee report, clearing the way for consideration by the chamber.

Taxes paid for publicity photos

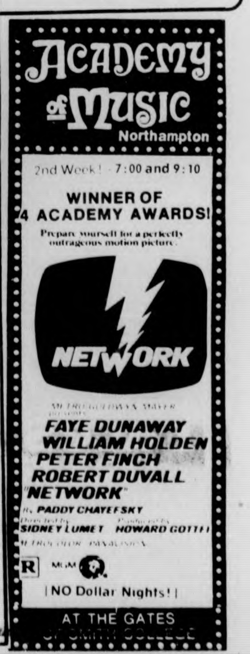
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress billed taxpayers $341,000 last year to pay 19 photographers and darkroom assistants to produce hundreds of thousands of publicity photos.

The photographers snap pictures of home-town high school bands playing on the Capitol steps, Girl Scouts, potential campaign donors socializing at fund-raising dinners.

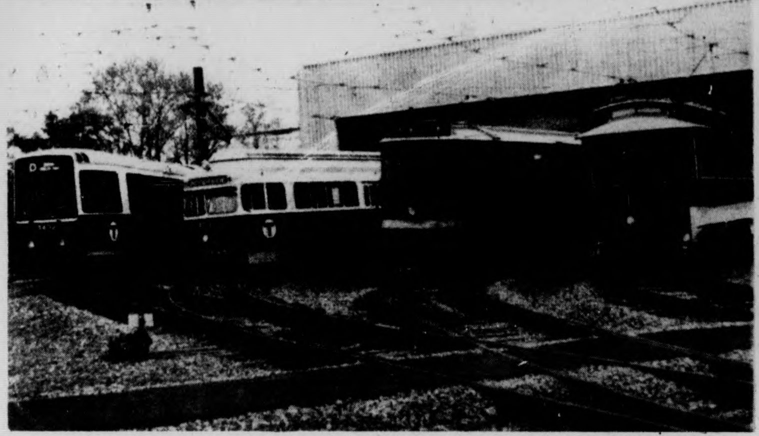
"We call them 'grip and grin' shots," said a Republican campaign aide who supervises one of the four photo labs on the Capitol grounds.



rainbow prisms
A fine collection of hand cut strass quality crystal, high lead content and exquisite shapes project color and form when hung in a window. A perfect gift for your home. from $3 to $28.
Faces of Earth
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.
Next to Amherst Post Office



ACADEMY of MUSIC Northampton
2nd Week! 7:00 and 9:10
WINNER OF 4 ACADEMY AWARDS!
Prepare yourself for a perfectly outrageous motion picture.
NETWORK
FAYE DUNAWAY
WILLIAM HOLDEN
PETER FINCH
ROBERT DUVALL
"NETWORK"
PADDY CHAYEFSKY
SIDNEY LUMET HOWARD GOTTF
R MGM
(NO Dollar Nights!)
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE



NEWTON, Mass.: Four generations of Boston streetcars, on view at the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA) Riverside Carhouse. (RIGHT TO LEFT) No. 396, a 25-ft., box car on loan from the Seashore Trolley Museum and first used by the Boston Elevated Railway Co., on its Allston line in 1900; No. 5159, a "Type 3" Boston car built for the Boston "El" by the St. Louis Car Co., in 1907, and converted in the 1930's to its current use as an MBTA snowplow; Presidents' Conference Committee car, No. 3072, built by Pullman in 1944, and a new Light Rail Vehicle built by the Boeing Co., in 1976. (UPI photo)

Carter begins overseas talks

WASHINGTON [AP] — President Carter set out yesterday on his first venture in international summitry, a meeting of seven of the world's richest nations which are discussing how to stay that way.

Carter's first trip overseas — to Great Britain, where a genealogist says the President has his roots — also includes a meeting between France, Britain, the United States and West Germany to discuss such issues as Berlin and the spread of nuclear power.

The six-day journey will take Carter on to Geneva, Switzerland, where he will meet with Syrian President Hafez Assad to talk about Carter's efforts to convene a Geneva Conference on the Middle East.

From Geneva, Carter will return to London for a meeting of foreign ministers in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to discuss arms sales, standardization of weapons and NATO's ability to defend Western Europe.

In farewell remarks before boarding a helicopter on the White House lawn, Carter predicted he would return from his trip "with a major step having been made forward in dealing with the world's problems."

He said the aim of his visit will be to "to put people back to work" and fight the inflation that he said is robbing working people around the world.

"I feel well-briefed and well-prepared and my only hope is that I can well and truly represent what the American people would like to see their President do in discussing world problems with other government leaders."

He said he will seek to establish "basic mechanisms by which these discussions can continue, not just at the summit level on special occasions but on a continual day-by-day interrelationship."

The trip will initiate Carter into the ranks of world statesmen. And they, in turn, will get their first closeup look at the peanut farmer from Georgia in action.

"The purpose of the summit," Carter told European television before departing Washington, "is to search our common ground, to get to know one another, to set long-range goals on the control of energy consumption, the proliferation of atomic weapons and increasing economic growth in the less-developed countries."

Elaborate security precautions were in place for Carter's visit. The President's armor-plated Cadillac awaited him at Heathrow airport. The British also said they would bolster Carter's normal Secret Service protection with British police in uniforms and plainclothes and with a detachment from Scotland Yard's Special Branch.

Carter begins his stay in Britain with a tour of the countryside 270 miles northwest off London, the city where genealogist Noel Currer-Briggs believes he has traced the President's roots back to a 16th-century wine merchant.

The President will visit the English village where America's first president had his roots. Called "Washington Old Hall," the manor house of George Washington's family is being restored by patrons on both sides of the Atlantic.

Former CIA agent guilty of espionage

BALTIMORE [UPI] — Former CIA employe Edwin G. Moore was convicted yesterday of espionage for trying to sell secret government documents to the Soviet Union.

Moore, 56, had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to charges of espionage, unauthorized possession of classified information and possession of government property worth more than $100.

He admitted during the trial he took the secret documents to the Soviet Embassy in Washington, but said he thought he was doing it under orders from a CIA agent named "Joe."

Moore tossed the documents and a note asking $200,000 over the fence surrounding the embassy, but a Soviet employe, fearing the package was a bomb, called officers of the Executive Protection Service, the uniformed Secret Service branch that provides diplomatic protection.

The jury deliberated six hours before returning the guilty verdict. U.S. District Court Judge Frank A. Kaufman ordered Moore to undergo psychiatric and medical tests at Baltimore's Public Health Service Hospital.

After the jury foreman read the verdict, Moore asked to address the court.

"I just wanted to thank you for the solicitude you have shown me with my health condition in letting me stay at the Public Service Hospital," he said.

Moore was removed from the City Jail to the hospital after the first week of trial when a heart ailment flared up.

Throughout the proceedings Moore has been equipped with a heart monitor. On the final day, however, he was not wearing the monitor.

Moore was arrested Dec. 22 at his Bethesda home by the FBI when he picked up the packet which purported to be the payoff from the Soviets for the information which included a 1973 directory of active and inactive CIA employes.

Flood victim finally has own bed

LOBATA, W.Va. (AP) — Roland Steele considers himself a fortunate man. After a month of sleeping in a cramped car, the 74-year-old retired coal miner finally has a warm bed. has a warm bed.

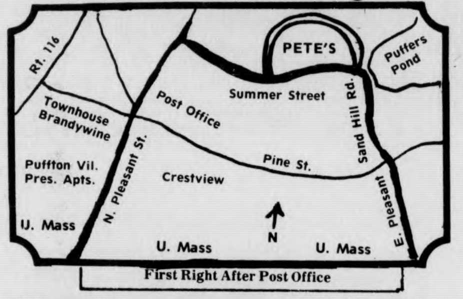
"Yep, I've got myself a caboose," he said yesterday, pointing to a tiny travel trailer that sat beside his flood-gutted home.

Like many of the hundreds of southern West Virginians whose homes were destroyed by a flood last month, Steele had looked to his government for help. A month later he was still looking, and sleeping in his car.

"I have circulation problems," said the old man. "My leg was getting so bad I could hardly walk. The doctor said I had to do something."

What Steele did, in desperation, was go out and buy the trailer.

PETE'S
PACKAGE STORE
144 SUMMER ST. N. AMHERST
Why fight Traffic · Easy Parking
TELE — 256-6828



LIQUORS
BEERS - WINES - ICE
PROMPT - FREE DELIVERY
GENE AND SANDY SOJKA, PROP.

The Copper Lantern
Dinner Specials...
Fried Shrimp $3.75
Fried Scallops $3.25
Haddock Fillet $2.75
Haddock Plakkay $3.25
...Delicious Greek Fish Specialty
Daily Happy Hour 4 - 7
Most Drinks 75¢
Tuesday May 10 is Senior Night
64oz. Miller Pitchers $1.95
All Bar Gin 75¢
Ameretto Sombrero 75¢
1 Pray St. Amherst Carraige Shops
549 - 5403

NETWORK
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER presents
FAYE DUNAWAY
WILLIAM HOLDEN
PETER FINCH
ROBERT DUVALL in
"NETWORK"
by PADDY CHAYEFSKY
Directed by SIDNEY LUMET Produced by HOWARD GOTTFRIED
METROCOLOR PANAVISION
R MGM United Artists
M-G-M presents
LOGAN'S RUN
PG
THEATRE
Released thru United Artists
Friday, Sat. & Sun.
May 6-8 Show at Dusk
DEERFIELD DRIVE IN Route 5 & 10
665-8746

Whalen Stationery
AND
Office Supply Co.
HEADQUARTERS
FOR
- Furniture
- Filing Supplies
- School Supplies
- Business Forms
Complete Zerox
Copy Center
141 MAIN ST.
NORTHAMPTON
584-3794

THE FLAVOR SAYS BETTER.

BETTER!
Schmidt's of Philadelphia
QUALITY SINCE 186

Ah, the thrill of ripping off someone else's ad campaign.

Since we first said, "Schmidt's outscores Coors," a whole bunch of beers (who will remain nameless) have challenged the canny consumer to do his/her own taste test. All of which is cool, not to mention original. But. Nobody seems to be stopping the presses to get results out.

Well, here are our results, full disclosure fans.

Largely because a lot of people thought we were crazy, we actually got many letters and some formal reports of blind taste test findings. People being homo sapiens, you'd think we'd get letters like, "I did your phoney test and I think you're a disgrace to free enterprise."

But. As far as we know, going against every beer our skeptics could think of, we won every one.

Schmidt's
The beer that might make Philadelphia famous.

forum

The student as consumer

greg tarpinian

and bob melia

A tacit agreement is made between the seller of a commodity and its purchaser which calls for a relationship of equivalence between the two parties; one which says: "You get what you pay for."

As an institution of public higher education UMass has as its primary responsibility the education of the state's-working-class people, those who are unable to afford the splendor of Harvard, Tufts, Amherst, or Smith. Throughout our primary and secondary school educations many of us were subjected to low budget school systems, where classrooms were overcrowded, buildings were deteriorating, lunches were second-rate and faculty and staff were low paid. Upon coming to UMass we were quite pleased with the sight of green grass, modern buildings and lists of activities. Educationally, things were apparently far superior to what we had previously experienced.

The purpose of public higher education is to provide an atmosphere in which students can develop intellectually and personally. To achieve the first thing tuition must be low and quality must be high. To achieve the second purpose we must have decision-making power, in other words, control over our lives. Personal development implies the acceptance of responsibility. Decision-making power requires responsible action.

Think about a humane living environment; a dorm where two people with academic and personal pressures are not cramped into an area the size of a large closet. Think about food services which provide good food. Think about a classroom where class discussion is possible. Think about the freedom to live on or off-campus. Think about input. Think about rights; your right to a meaningful and enjoyable educational experience.

We are consumers of an education. An implicit contractual agreement is made with the administration when we pay our tuition and fees; one which calls for the provision of a University education; a quality education. As it stands now, unless students are organized, the dream of many of us and our families will go down the drain. Enough has been said recently about the dissolution of UMass as a reputable institution. But its true.

As consumers we have a basis upon which to bargain with the administration. While no precedent has been set regarding the institution of collective bargaining rights for students, there is nothing which says it's illegal. We should have the right to bargain over the terms and conditions of our relationship with the University administration. To realize a position as equals with the administration we must get collective bargaining rights. We must also establish a unified consciousness as students striving for a common objective-control over the course of our lives.

Recently, people have been organizing department councils and have made substantial gains. Department organizing seems at this point to be the prime mode of organizing for empowerment, as it is in one's major that one experiences one's primary educational relationships. Department councils are central to the formula which has as its product the formation of a student union.

The future sees the union as a necessity in dealings with the administration. As we all know, the administration is an immense bureaucracy and bureaucracies have rules, one of the most important being efficiency. This means that education and students are to be mass-produced. Consideration of individual needs is not be be tolerated because it is inefficient. Nor is student participation in decision-making to be tolerated because it would mean disruption of efficient administrative procedures.

In order to have a union we must have collective bargaining rights. With the attainment of bargaining rights the other things such as councils in every department and other grievance mechanisms will follow. The attainment of actual bargaining rights will set things in motion for the realization on the part of students that they can exert effective control over the course of their lives at UMass.

At this point the Student Government Association is the primary mechanism through which students can address their grievances to the administration. The SGA is, to say the least, an ineffective means by which to gain input into the policy decisions made at the University. While it is true that the SGA is the voice of the student body, it is also true that in dealing with the administration it oftens confronts deaf ears. The relationship between students and administrators is one of speaker to wall. We can get behind that wall only with legally legitimate bargaining rights. We must have the ability to force the administration to bargain with us, which means we must have collective bargaining rights; and of course, the way to achieve such rights is to unionize. It is clear that if bargaining rights are not implemented we will continue to be consumers on the wrong end of an unequal exchange.

The state and the administration do not have our best interests at heart, and if we are to protect ourselves, we must unionize. As Benjamin Franklin eloquently phrased it, "If we don't hang together, we shall most assuredly hang separately."

Greg Tarpinian and Bob Melia are Collegian Commentators.

Bargaining collectively

william m.

bluestein

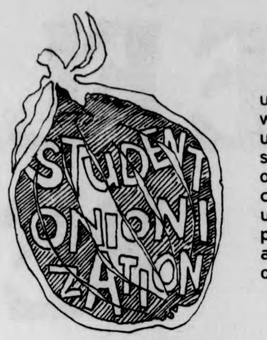
Whenever students have attempted to unionize, questions on collective bargaining spring up immediately. For the most part they are: What is collective bargaining? How do we get it? and What good is it?

First, collective bargaining is the process whereby an interest group within the university (students, staff, or faculty), after having determined its needs and priorities, sits down with the Board of Trustees and the University administration to determine what the rules and conditions concerning educational life are going to be at the University. Understandings reached through this process are put into writing and these become legal contracts enforceable in court and binding by arbitration. It is an assumption of the collective bargaining process that all parties are equal at the bargaining table and are expected to bargain in good faith.

The trick is getting to the point where we, as students, are considered as equals by the faculty union and-or the administration. In order to do this, students must first organize to demand recognition and start making demands with respect to particular issues like tuition levels, department funding proposals, etc. A wide variety of tactics may be employed to force the administration to recognize us. These include fee boycotts, negotiations and law suits, to name a few. These tactics cannot be simply laid out as a solution for just any problem. They must be evaluated with respect to the specific issue or demand they are used to back up. This is a decision that a union must make as a whole.

The last question, "What good is collective bargaining?" is easy to answer. It provides a mechanism whereby students can negotiate over the conditions of their education here. Mandatory dorm and dining requirements, tuition levels, course and graduation requirements would all be subject to negotiation. Do you really want to live in a dormitory? A union with collective bargaining could easily negotiate the student response to this question. Are you tired of increasing tuition and fees? Overcrowded classes: Vanishing departments and programs? Collective bargaining would give us the chance to negotiate these issues from the student's perspective and not that of the faculty or the administration. It is the only way students will be able to control and shape their education.

Organizing students



Editor's note: The idea of student unionization, regardless of whatever form the union might ultimately take, seems to be here to stay. The following editorials, some of which were written by people closely involved with the unionization movement on campus, present some perspectives on how and why students should be organized.

A fighting chance

"The single most important thing that this Union has done to protect and enhance public higher education in Pennsylvania has been simply to serve as a model and inspiration for the development of an independent student union."

Martin Morand, Executive Director,
Association of Pennsylvania
State College and University Faculties

lawrence j.

magid

The words of Professor Morand may be prophetic for the future of collective bargaining at UMass. Though student unionization has been on the drawing board for more than three years, the unionization of the faculty makes it needed more than ever before.

The Massachusetts Society of Professors, the NEA affiliated union which represents faculty and certain professional staff at the University, and of which I am a member, was formed to enhance the faculty's role in decision making and to improve the faculty's lot when it comes to wages, working conditions and other terms of employment. For the most part, the interests of the faculty and student body coincide. We all want to see more money spent on higher education. We all want to see an end to administrative waste and mismanagement. And we all want to see an end to arbitrary and capricious decision making.

In our common desire for a greater share in the decision making process we all need organizations which will protect our constituencies. This we have in common. But our constituencies are not the same. And some of our needs will differ.

Like most people who work at this University, I am deeply concerned for the welfare of students. But unlike some of my colleagues, I believe that the welfare of students can best be served by the empowerment of students. Students should have a much greater degree of self determination and a far greater role in decision making over issues which affect their lives.

The process by which this enfranchisement takes place should be determined by students. It certainly cannot be foisted upon students by staff or faculty. While unionization will not totally solve the problem of disenfranchisement (any more than trade unions have eliminated employer greed), Unionization will go a long way towards creating a legal and social climate in which students can have meaningful participation in decisions.

At the present time, students are engaged in a legal relationship with the university which is determined, primarily, by bodies on which they have little or no representation. While major university policies are ultimately passed by the Trustees, the policies are, for the most part, set and enforced by agencies of either the Faculty or the administration. Academic rules are deliberated in the Faculty Senate — not the Student Senate. Tuition is set by the trustees — only with one student from this campus voting. Fees and regulations are recommended by the administration — with students having only consultation rights through their Senate committees. There are no regulations which require the administration to seriously consider student needs — only to hear what students have to say. And there is nothing to prevent the administration from arbitrarily deciding what is best.

Because students have known this for years, there is little outcry from the student sector when the governance system breaks down. Faculty angrily called for the removal of the president and provost when their wishes went unconsidered. Students have long since realized that their input into decisions would be token and only effective to the point of convincing the administration that it is in the administration's interest to go along. There is almost no reason for outrage. Outrage is a continual process and one that manifests itself in the daily interaction between the student and the institution.

While unionization would not be a panacea, it would give students a fighting chance to determine the terms and conditions of their relationship with the university.

Those interested in learning more about unionization are encouraged to visit the various SGA offices which have been created to develop strategies that empower students. The Student Organizing Project is responsible for logistics, the Student Center for Educational Research has developed issues and the Student Legal Services Office will be working towards the legal basis of unionization. SOP has a number of pamphlets which explain the concept and process of unionization. And SCER has extensive files on all aspects of student empowerment. SCER also has resources on collective bargaining for students, faculty and university staff as well as material relating to virtually all areas of higher education. The offices located in 406 Student Union.

Lawrence J. Magid is Director of the Student Center for Educational Research [SCER] and a member of the MSP Executive Board. His opinions do not necessarily reflect those of the MSP.

The student as worker

bill

sundstrom

I don't know about you, but every time I think of a union I envision George Meany puffing on a fat cigar. Does a student union have anything in common with a labor union? Do students have anything in common with workers?

A great deal has been written about the student movement as consumer's movement. After all, students do pay for their stay here, expecting in return an education which will hopefully lead to gainful employment. As a consumer, the student can expect to gain little more than the product (in this case training and a diploma that confirms it) in the process of purchasing it.

Thus the emphasis of the consumer-related unionization effort is on improving the value of the product rather than the process. And yet buying an education is not much like buying a stereo or an ounce of pot. Learning is a social process, much as labor is. Students have increasingly become divorced from the learning process, placing less stress on how to learn than on receiving specialized training in their chosen field.

Students, like workers, become lazy and apathetic when they recognize that their efforts have little meaning for them outside of the desired end. The means toward that end are given no independent significance or value by either administrators or professors. Indeed, students who avoid having to think or learn whenever possible are much easier to keep in line while they are here and settle right into our economic system when they leave.

In a very real sense, however, students have as much at stake in the process of education as they do in the final salability of their degree, particularly those students who seek a "liberal" education. The cultivation of an inquisitive and critical mind is an asset to both the individual and the society in which she or he lives. In addition, the university itself should be a central resource which provides the "outside world" with a forum for the examination and discussion of issues important to people everywhere. The modern university, as a training ground, is providing these crucial services less and less.

The university does not have to be a factory, much as that may be the intent of the state and the administrators, and the purpose underlying Puryear's five-year plan. The goal of a student union should not be improving the factory's productivity but making the factory's productivity but making the factory less factory-like. That isn't an easy task, considering the state of the outside economy.

Students must become aware of what it means to be a student. Learning is not a passive, one-way experience like having a cavity filled — it involves input by all parties involved. A major task of the student unionization movement is to socialize the process of education to give it meaning beyond the filling of requirements toward a degree. This is where the labor movement comes in, as it is important that workers, like students, see some value in what they are doing quite outside of money wages.

It might serve student organizers well to develop an understanding of the labor struggle. What we share with workers is alienation from the "means of production" — for them, that means labor; for us, it means learning.

Of course, ending worker alienation has never been the first thing on George Meany's mind — most big labor unions in this country are interested in procuring better wages. Student unionizers will have to avoid falling into a similar trap — considerations go much further than getting a bigger portion of the state budget. Hopefully we will be up to the social task, as well as the legal one.

Bill Sundstrom is Executive Editor of the Collegian.

Co-ops: gaining economic control

By BOB MELIA

bob melia

Although there seems no obvious connection, student cooperatives are a vital piece in the unionization puzzle. In essence, a union of students is nothing more than a mechanism which helps give us control over our lives. But to gain this control we must have power; political, legal and economic. A union can provide us with political and legal power, but alone it cannot provide us with economic power, hence the need for cooperatives.

Most of the co-ops were founded with SOP help, and the philosophy behind them is that money equals power. The more money we control, the more power we have, and this power spills over into the political arena. Everyone knows that there are numerous local laws which discriminate against students; to put it bluntly, the town likes our money a lot more than it likes us. But if we develop our co-ops, we will be able to use economic sanctions to persuade the town to treat us fairly.

And there are other, more immediate economic benefits derived from co-ops. Co-ops have created between 180-200 student jobs and have provided an additional 50-100 work study positions. Also the salaries and profits that outside corporations would remove from the University are recycled back in by co-ops and, through the multiplier effect, provide additional student employment and spending money.

At a time of skyrocketing tuition costs and shrinking state support, these benefits are of no small importance. But there is more. Co-op prices are low. The stereo co-op prices are at least 15 per cent below outside prices and there is strong evidence that it was the competition from the co-op that resulted in outside stereo business' cutting their prices. Thus co-ops help control inflation and prevent price fixing.

The SOP, which provided the resources which have turned ideas into co-ops, has been criticized for wasting student's money, but few people realize that the Food Stamp Office alone (which probably wouldn't exist if it hadn't received SOP assistance) has already saved students more money than the SOP spends in two years.

But economic benefits, great as they are, were not the only reasons which induced the SOP and the Senate to assist co-ops. The philosophical benefits of the co-ops may in the long run prove to be the most important benefits.

A co-op is more than just a business; it is students helping students and students taking responsibility for their own development and the development of the University. Co-ops have proven that we can feed ourselves, handle our own financial needs and supply much of what else we need. And we can do it responsibly and efficiently.

Having demonstrated that we can control our economic life, it should be clear that we have the ability as well as the right to control our personal and intellectual life also. As everyone who has ever worked in or patronized a co-op should know, student control leads to student responsibility; and control and responsibility together can only benefit students.

Co-ops have given us economic control, with great results. To gain control over other aspects of our lives, we must have a union.

If you like co-ops, you'll love a union.

gregg wilson

At the crossroads

I was inspired into this role of columnist by the gonzo writings of the illustrious Hunter Thompson. It was during the intersession of 1975 that I first stumbled upon his book, "Fear and Loathing on the Campaign Trail." His ibogained view put American politics into the view I had been searching for.

Now as I pen the last of my editorial diatribes a certain ambivalence pervades my attempt at saying farewell. I remember other goodbyes, particularily the one of the "still innocent" Tricky Dick, and I realize that I want mine to be more than a teary Rose Garden adieu. The James Montgomery in me says do it in style.

But my style has always been to attempt to influence, and I can't bear to pass up my last opportunity to do just that.

This institution has permanently shaped my thought process. More than its scholarly influence though, I have been molded by the people whom I have met in my four year race to the finish. Two men and women particularily, it is they who have as much right to claim an impact on me, the finished product, as any of the fine teachers, books, or experiences I have enjoyed as a person here.

In retrospect I feel confident and content with what and whom I have become. While I was here I developed a critical perspective, an attitude which is all too often confused by my friends as cynicism. Critic yes, cynic no. I feel that the present state of the University and the world mandates an attitude which questions rather than accepts.

Today I am again at the crossroads, but I feel that it is time to pause, unlike what I did at the last fork, before I decide which will be the road not taken. I see others around me scrambling on towards jobs and graduate schools. It's so typical of the American way. We seem constantly in a rush to go anywhere.

Myself I'll be content to spend this summer on the road with Jack Himself, as I attempt to determine if it is worth my time and energy to change this state. There are people and experiences out there which I know cannot be experienced in formal educations and jobs. For me it's on to the school of hard knocks and please no sheepskins upon its completion.

In my field of study, economics, it is an assumption of the micro-view of the economy that more is better, that individuals derive greater enjoyment by consuming more and more of the outputs which firms offer. There was a time when I also shared this view; more booze, more pot, more physical enjoyment, more possessions, and even more words per article. Somehow I feel I was duped by this idea of non-satiation, tricked into perpetuating conditions which I personally disagreed with.

Today, some four years later, I am content with an occasional buzz, mental satisfaction, just the material goods I need to get by, and the need to say more by writing less. It is a lesson which I hope my contemporaries at UMass and on this paper will come to learn.

It's been great UMass. Peace, love and frisbees for all.

Ddddddddd---that's all folks.

Gregg Wilson is a Collegian Columnist.

More editorials

on page 12

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
[illegible]

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, [illegible] Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Dorothy A. Clark, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., [illegible] Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

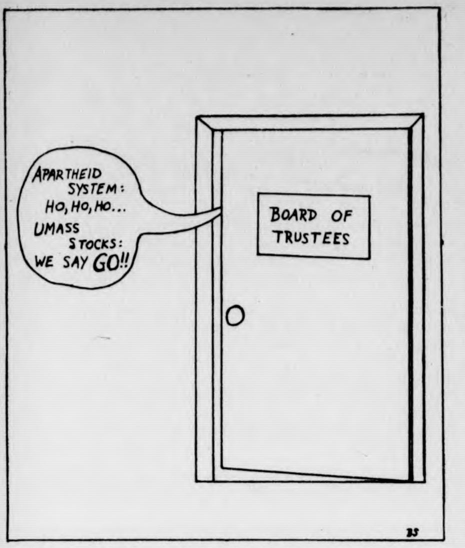
The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.



APARTHEID SYSTEM: HO, HO, HO... UMASS STOCKS: WE SAY GO!!
BOARD OF TRUSTEES
33

letters

Asking for angels

To the Editor:

Recent faculty meetings over planning and governance have produced a heady brew which may be as gaseous as it is intoxicating.

Of course, no one expects large meetings to observe fine distinctions in producing sensitive judgements. But the emotional level of our recent gatherings made for unusual excesses of oratory and inuendo and led to rhetorical overkill on both sides. In such an atmosphere, there is a tendency for all of us to seek comfort in delusions while repressing reality.

Understand that I am not writing to endorse the Provost's recent actions. Like most of my colleagues, I found his planning document hasty and high-handed, and I have been dismayed by his tendency to avoid consultation rather than encourage it. This quality of reclusive arrogance is doubly unfortunate because of the difficult matters at stake. After all, what is tough about a "tough decision" is often not the decision itself but the process by which it is given legitimacy and respect — even among those who disagree with it. It is this very process — political in the best sense — which distinguishes the enduring leader from the momentary manager.

I take this to be a basic faculty consensus, one with which even the Provost might now agree. Any yet there is a temptation to identify the Provost with the issues confronting him, and to assume that we can eliminate the latter by removing the former. Alas, not so, as most of us know full well. Any university committed to excellence in a changing context must make difficult choices. Such choices are all the more difficult for UMass because we have so little experience in confronting them. This university has just begun to crystallize its sense of mission, priorities, and decision-making criteria. It is still developing a capacity for administrative action which is adequately consultative, on the one hand, and adequately decisive, on the other.

Tight resources require periodic reallocation as a flexible response to new circumstances. Even the most extensive consultation will not remove the pain. While some programs are augmented, others will have to be scaled down, phased out altogether or imaginatively recombined. Surely one cannot deny the relevance of changing "institutional needs" to personnel decisions, including tenure. Exceptional scholarly merit must predominate among our personal criteria, but these criteria can and probably should be tightened for the sake of the university as a whole. Certainly campus governance must allow for more leadership, not less. We dare not paralyze decision-making through a governance process which involves a congeries of equal-weighted veto groups operating in an authority vacuum. As we have already come to learn, the more we postpone our difficult decisions, the more we add to their final costs and agonies.

In all of this, I write not with any sense of a new insight; I suspect most of my colleagues would agree privately with most of the above. And yet the few faculty who have been saying it publicly have little credability either as members of the higher administration or as their shrill defenders resorting to such willful distortions as the charge of racism. At the moment, I doubt that any of us has a clear sense of the results of our recent exorcisms.

Despite all, this remains a first-rate university, one that is far better than either the state or its students believe it to be, and one that can become better still if we face its problems squarely. Karl Marx once cited the perverse advice of Cardinal d'Ailly at the Council of Constance: "Only the devil in person can still save the Catholic Church, and you ask for angels." Perhaps it is the ultimately folly to search out either.

Jay Demerath
Professor and Chair
Department of Sociology

melanie johnson

Challenges to meet

How does one begin a last column?

Four years ago I never even thought I'd have written one column for this "venerable rag;" more than twenty times at the typewriter later, I suppose I should be able to make some profound, sweeping statement about life, the world, and political decadence in the United States. Don't hold your breath, however, as the statement isn't coming. Four years at the University has taught me that I'm too young to make such generalizations, and even those made by many "older and wiser" persons really don't always carry too much weight.

I also refuse to sit here and type about the past four years here at UMass, since everyone else on the pages will probably do that for me. Besides, a more important question is what we will be doing with ourselves after we leave here, and what will happen with those students who take our places here.

I've spent the past few weeks job hunting around Boston; it's exhausting, time-consuming, frustrating, invigorating, and soul-searching work; probably much harder than any job that I end up taking. A few pointers to those who have not yet embarked upon this little adventure: only do one place per day, keep plugging at places, even if they don't answer your letters (very often the personnel managers don't know of all the open positions), were comfortable shoes, and keep smiling.

The Sunday Globe this week asserted that there are 10 per cent more jobs available since last year, but the majority of positions are still for engineers, accountants, and computer processors. Liberal arts majors are finding better luck with insurance and retail businesses than in the past, and education majors remain at the bottom of the list.

Some people will be a lot of fun and helpful (one person who interviewed for people), and others will pick your brain and leave you wondering why you ever got yourself into this little game of selling yourself for a few bucks. Until we can do away with having to pay rent, utilities, and food bills, however, I'll be out playing their little game, and hoping to preserve as much of myself as possible.

How many of us graduating will fall into the same little games we've watched our parents play for years, chasing the elusive thing called "success" around and around? I suppose it all depends on our definition of the word; if it entails something different than buying a new swimming pool for the backyard, or stepping on co-workers for promotions, then we may be onto something. It will be difficult to make our way through a business world that is marked by these values, and not get tossed aside by them, or become swallowed up in the same games. It's a challenge, but I also think it's a challenge that we can meet.

What will become of UMass after we leave? My suspicion is that it will reflect more and more the shift towards individual interests, career-oriented education, and more traditional values. As long as the students are willing to sit back and let these things happen on campus, they will; it's up to the students who are here to continue to question the education that is handled to them.

People keep asking me if I'm glad to leave, and seem surprised when I say yes. It's not that I haven't enjoyed the four years of UMass insanity, for it does have its charms. But I think I'm ready to move on and try something new; I want to play "real person" rather than "student" for awhile. A year from now I may wish I had never left Amherst's safe little coccoon; "real" bills, a "real" job, and the "real" city may become all too "real" too soon.

But who knows? There's only one way to find out; it's not the kind of thing you can learn in a textbrook (nor are most things that we'll need to use in a job or in a day-to-day life). And if it doesn't work out, there's always the alternative; I can always go back to school.

Melanie Johnson is the Women's Coordinator of the Collegian.

more letters

Globe: More concern for us

To the Editor:

Whenever we read articles in The Boston Globe concerning UMass, we get the impression that these articles are biased. Since The Boston Globe is an influential newspaper, we are concerned that the public has been given negative views of this school. With the many problems we are facing here, it would be helpful to have public support against level funding. We recommend that students take the time to write letters to the editor of the Globe, insisting that they provide better coverage of UMass, and to use the paper as a medium to let the public know our concern for this school.

Miriam Werlin and eight others

An experience not forgotten

To the Editor:

As an exchange student from Oregon State University this year I want to put in my good word for the National Student Exchange program. Upon arriving at Umieland in September I was first appalled by the towers and the Freudian library, but the real shocker came when I stepped foot in the coed showers. Coming from conservative Oregon Straight I went through a slight culture and climatic shock here in New England.

The N.S.E. program provides students at 35 state college and universities across the U.S. with an opportunity to go to another college for one academic year while paying instate tuition. It encourages students to experience new life and learning styles, appreciate differing cultural perspectives, learn more about themselves and others and broaden their educational backgrounds through specialized courses or unique programs which may not be available at your home campus.

I didn't realize how secure I was as a sophomore at O.S.U. until I started out my junior year here with that freshman feeling again. You don't realize what a rut you're in and how much you take everything for granted until you find yourself 3,300 miles away from home at a new zoo. If you're looking for new and added excitement in your life, you want a change of pace, a new environment, new friends, or you just want to travel to another part of this country, then you should seriously think about exchanging to another university for a year. If you're like me you'll find yourself experiencing new adventures at your new home state that you never thought you'd catch yourself doing. Believe me, if you get the opportunity to exchange to another college it will be an experience you'll never forget.

Jennifer S. Harper

People behind Seabrook

To the Editor:

Wednesday night at eight o'clock I bailed myself out of the Concord State Armory, where I was being held for the offense of criminal tresspass. I was one of the sixteen hundred who were arrested at the nuclear power site at Seabrook, N.H. on Sunday.

I spoke briefly to some occupiers still being held at Manchester State Armory and their situation seems to be pretty much the same as ours at Concord; solidarity is holding us close together and morale is high. Many of the occupiers do not plan to leave until they are granted personal recognizance or until their trial.

We have not done anything wrong. We are environmentalists, trying to make a statement to the world. By our commitment of non-violence, and our love of each other, we have made people sit up and listen to us.

However, Governor Thomson seems to think we are criminals, out to cost the state of New Hampshire as much money and grief as we can. He refused to listen to our people, or to look at our record. Each and every one of the August 180 came back for their trials after being released on personal recognizance. They were not bad risks, and we are not bad risks. I could have left several times after being arrested if I had wanted to. At one point, our arresting officer fell asleep for a full hour while we were on the school bus waiting to be moved. We didn't leave, and we won't leave now.

People who don't understand our situation, who can't understand why we should want to have been arrested in the first place, should have observed us during the occupation and afterwards at the armories. We are all brothers and sisters. There was no violence against anyone because we can't hurt another living being. Our argument is with the proponents of nuclear energy, not with the State Police or the National Guard. Once they understood this, the Guard and the Police became our friends. We are close and we are right, and we know the world will see it. Our solidarity has made us brothers and sisters of the world. We are one, and nothing can ever break us apart.

We want to thank the people who have stood by us. You have given us our strength and we could not have done it without you. Governor Dukakis has tried to intervene on our behalf, and the people of Seabrook and our own home communities have called Governor Thomson and have offered us their support. It gives us a great feeling to know that people are behind us.

LONG LIVE THE SEABROOK 1600!

Susan Leahey

We'll give you 10 good reasons to attend Summer Session.

No. 8
What about a job?

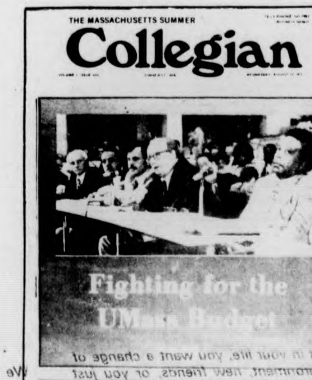
Opting for an educational summer can prepare you for bigger and better things, in jobs. Classwork will serve as a solid background for the professional world. With such variety to choose from, the possibilities for summer enrichment for future profit are endless!

Catalogs are still available at many locations on campus, and more information on the wide variety of courses offered can be had by stopping by the Summer Session Office in 239 Whitmore, or by calling 545-0584.

Summer Session '77
University of Massachusetts/Amherst

Advertising in the Summer Collegian.

The best way to reach your market this summer.



Call the Collegian Business Department at 545-3500 for details.

Notices

CASIAC

Positions for a Director and two Assistant Directors for CASIAC student Counselors Office. Applicants must have had previous office experience as well as having completed the CASIAC counselor training colloquium. Applications and job descriptions may be picked up in E-20 Machmer Hall. They must be returned by 5 p.m., Mon. May 9.

CHADBOURNE RESIDENTS

All Chadbournites must remove items from storage area before May 7. Remaining items will be auctioned off on May 8.

FOLKDANCE PERFORMANCE GROUP

Any folkdancer interested in being in next year's performing group should attend a meeting at 7 tonight before folkdancing in the Cape Cod Lounge. If you cannot come to the meeting, see either Mary or Cindy at dancing. Newcomers encouraged.

HEALING COURSE

Burn-out prevention for students, holistic healing, pressure pts., massage techniques taught by Gurucharan Singh Khalsa on May 8, 11-5 p.m. in Rm. 917 CC.

HILLEL ADVISORY BOARD

Meets today in CC 902 at noon.

MALE COUNSELOR OPENING

For an interested UMass male with a background in male issues. Call Jean at 546-4562, JQA Upper House.

MORTAR BOARD

Meeting Mon. night in CC 911-915 at 7. Last meeting for 1976-77 members and first one for 1977-78 members. Attendance expected. Question? Call Teresa Wyman, 256-6455. If I'm not in, leave a message.

RESOURCES JUDAICA

There will be an important general meeting Mon., May 9 at 8 p.m. in CC 175. Elections will be held and future programming will be discussed. Be there.

RSO DEADLINE

The extended deadline for funded RSO groups who wish to be included in the fall student services handbook is Wed., May 11. Send new Rm. and phone numbers, corrections and or new copy to Jim Gagne, Rm. 420, Student Union.

ROISTER DOISTERS

There will be an important meeting for all voting members on Friday at 5:30 in SU 310 ("Duke's Room"). Elections for executive board and for producers of "Tom Jones" will be held.

SHAB

Student Health Advisory Board meeting next Tues., May 10 in CC 162, at 5:30 p.m. Last meeting, please attend.

SPECIAL SABBATH SERVICES

A special service tonight dedicated to our graduating seniors, 7 p.m. in 174-76 CC.

STEREO CO-OP SUMMER HOURS

The Union Stereo Co-op will be open this summer Mon. 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., and Thurs., 12 p.m. to 6 p.m.

TO A CONCERNED HILLELER

Come May 6 to Puffer's Pond for the L'ag B'omer celebration. It's what you want.

UMASS BUS DRIVERS ASSOCIATION

Special meeting on Tues., May 10 at 7:30 in CC 905.

LOST

One grey-silver money clip with artificial peso attached — holding one peso. Deep sentimental value. A gift from my brother. Call 546-7792 and leave a message for Bag.

DC menu

DC MENU
TODAY

LUNCH — Fish Burger, Turkey Divan; Basics: Mixed Bean Casserole, Fish Burger.

DINNER — Cube Steak, Fried Shrimp with Hot Sauce, Sausage Beef Casserole; Basics: Fried Shrimp with Hot Sauce, Lentil Patties.

TOMORROW

BRUNCH — Scrambled Eggs and Bacon, Chili Con Carne, Deli Ham Sandwich on Rye Bread.

DINNER — Spaghetti with Meat Sauce, Fried Fish with Tartar Sauce.

SUNDAY

BRUNCH — Scrambled Eggs and Sausages, Corned Beef Stuffed Peppers, Cold Roast Beef Sandwich.

DINNER — Fried Chicken, Squash Bake.

Spirit Haus
PACKAGE STORE
253-5384

Open Nites 'Till 11 p.m.

We Specialize in Quality Wines

Come in and browse through the largest selection of wine in town. We welcome your questions on wine selection and cheerfully give advice.

ORDER YOUR KEGS FOR SPRING CONCERT TODAY

WINES

Chianti Classic Riserva - red		BOLLA
Orvieto Classico Secco - White	2^{49} fifth	Bardolino - red	2^{99} fifth
Verdicchio - white	2^{49} fifth	Soave - white	2^{99} fifth
Frascati - white	2^{25} fifth	Vaipolicella - red	2^{99} fifth

IMPORTED BEER

TOBY ALE	$$2^{99}$ SIX
O'VIENNA BEER	$$2^{39}$ SIX
O'KEEFE ALE	$$2^{39}$ SIX
STEFFL BEER	$$3^{39}$ SIX

TURBORG GOLDEN 5^{89} case

SCHLITZ	SHAFFER	FALSTAFF
6^{49} case of cans	5^{59} case of cans	5^{25} case of cans

SODA $$4^{39}$ case Pepsi, Cott, Ginger Club & Tonic

338 College St (Rt 9)
Next to Poor Richards

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Fund raising dinner to help refugees

There will be a fund raising dinner to help political refugees and famine victims in Ethiopia tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. Activities includes films, discussions, short plays and an Ethiopian dinner. Donations are $2 and tickets will be available at the door.

Grad employes union membership meeting

The Graduate Students Employes Union (GSEU) will be holding an important membership meeting today at noon in 805 Campus Center.

Elections will be held for the new executive board of GSEU. Nominations are open to any interested graduate students.

Summer childcare registration open

Applications are now being accepted for registering children in summer session childcare at UMass. Childcare programs run from May 25 to Aug. 18

Slide show, lecture on Kennedy killing

The Assassination Information Bureau from Cambridge will present a slide show and lecture about the Kennedy assassination Monday at 3:30 and 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. The Zapruder film of the assassination will be shown.

Peace Corps opens information center

A Peace Corps Information Center has been established at 117 Draper Hall.

The center will be directed toward students majoring in agriculture, food and natural resources, although the center will extend its services to all interested students of the five colleges.

Two returned Peace Corps volunteers, Carmine Russo and Russell Anderson, will be available by appointment. Full information is available at 545-1562.

Musical preview today in Goodell

A sneak preview of the play "Journey: a Mythical Musical" can be seen today, at 3 p.m. in 615 Goodell. The play is an inward journey, set in a mythological framework.

It will be performed May 11, 12 and 13 in Bowker Auditorium. Tickets are available at the BDIC office in 416 Goodell, or at the box office on the nights of the performances. The performance on May 13 will be a benefit for the United Christian Foundation. Admission is $1.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line
Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line
ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

FOR SALE

Peugeot Men's 10 spd. A1 cond. B.O. 25 inch frm. 665-3025 a.m. or late p.m. Must see.

Yamaha turntable, Audio technica cartridge. Almost new, excellent cond. Cheap call Lawry 549-6023 - keep trying.

AKC Irish Setter pups. Pick now. Ready May 17. Priced to sell. 665-3321.

Golf clubs, Chi Chi Rodriguez signature, pro-registered and bag - 9 irons, 4 woods and putter. List $350 - used only 2 times - have lost interest and need cash. $175 or B.O. Call Steve 6-5420.

Gift idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

Furniture for sale. 256-0401.

Multi-wide tires, M-50, 14 inch. $50 or best offer. Bill 546-7060.

Calculators! End of semester prices! See classified ad under Calculators!

Pioneer car cassette tape deck with speakers. Total retail value $140. Will sell for $60 or B.O. Call 584-8324 or 549-0616.

Furniture. Reasonable prices. 256-0401.

Twin bed, less than 1 yr. old, metal frame, includes box spring, $70. Call Neil at 256-0665 btwn. 5-7 p.m.

Fender Super-Reverb. B.O. 323-4249.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap 256-8732.

Gibson ES, 330TD guitar, mid '60's, perfect cond. $325 or B.O. Call Bob 6-9432.

Philco fridge, side by side, great cond., only $175 or B.O. 584-4478 days or 549-4804 nights.

Moterbecane Moped. Less than 300 mi., saddle bag & rear view mirror — like new, only $400. Call 584-4478 days or 549-4804 nights.

9x12 bl shag rug, $40; toaster oven $8; rotating Schlitz lamp, $6; wall lamp $3; all exc. cond. 6-8991.

Head Skis 185 cm, Tyrolia bindings, Koflack Bts., 10 men's. Call 546-8368.

Kitchen sz. fridge. Neg. $75. 546-8207.

H70X14 tires on Cragar SS mags X4, balanced. Steve 253-5692 afternoon.

If you're subletting for summer, you'll need some furniture cheap. Mine's for sale. Chairs, couch, etc. Call 549-0506.

Tag Sale — Sun. May 8 — Rain or shine. 301 Cliffside Apt., Sunderland. Plants, albums, household items. All Day.

Genuine porcelain, china from Peking. Cups and saucers. Very nice, cheap. 253-9750

Yamaha six-string folk guitar: like new, case included. $60 or best offer. Call 549-2781

5 cu. ft. fridge, $80 or best offer. Call 546-8432

Water bed, queen sz., w-frame complete, $150. Will neg. Janet 545-2627.

Miranda Model A camera. 50 mm lens, 135mm Tel and Bellowscope. All gd. cond. Asking $100. Bill 5-2642, rm. 311.

Tag Sale. B-3 Cliffside. Furniture, TV, stereo, plants. Sun. 5-8, 9-6.

Apt. sz. refridge. Roomy. Must sell. $50 or B.O. Call Nancy 6-4051.

Full size refrig. $40. Call 543-9409.

One and one-half cu. ft. refrig. Excellent condition. $80 or best offer. Eves. 6-1216. Keep trying!

5.0 cu. ft. refrig., $75. Also 2 burner hot plate, $15. Call Pete 6-9254.

AUTO FOR SALE

1969 VW, runs great. 77,000 miles. Asking $550. Call 665-2159. Ask for Bob.

I have a beautiful Ford van for sale. Excellent interior, carpeted and paneled. Needs some mechanical work. $450.00. Call David at 253-3776.

Reliable trans. '66 Buick. Everything works, new sticker, frt. brakes, wtr. pump. $300 firm. 256-0673.

'64 Ford wagon, runs well. $125—b.o. Call Jay 253-7943. Depend.

1969 VW Bug. Ugly but runs very well. Extremely dependable. $500. 549-6721 after 5 p.m. or weekends.

1975 Fiat 128SL, 4 dr. Excel. cond. 546-5231.

1965 Olds 88, runs fine- smooth. $300 or B.O. Rich 6-7883.

1972 Charger SE, excellent inside and out. $1700. Call 584-8086.

1975 Toyota Celico GT., ex. condition. New Michelins and brakes. Best offer. 546-5297.

1968 Spitfire. 549-6834.

'65 Rambler, runs good, new starter, tires, radiator, $250. Call Jay, 546-5347.

1963 Chevy Impala, very dependable, 2nd owner. $175 or B. O. Call Steve 546-5065.

'71 Vega, 4 speed, good cond. Must sell. $700. Paul, 546-5494.

65 Mustang std. runs good, needs work. B.O. call Mary, 549-6476.

'65 VW Bug, exc. cond., 35 mpg., Spring sticker. $850. 253-3623.

Good Buy! 1971 Buick Skylark, 4 door, vinyl top, A.C., new radials, very economical. $1495. Graduating, must sell. Call 256-8484 today!

'69 Opel GT. Best of. 546-9857.

'69 Olds Cutlass. Dented but running, needs some work. Call Terry 253-7476.

1972 Pinto, 2000cc, automatic. Body good, runs well, good mileage, Spring sticker. Asking $850.00. Call Paul 256-0235.

'70 VW Sqbk. Exc. mech., body needs some work. 28mpg. $700 neg. Tom 549-4600, x325.

Must sell: Tan while you drive in a 1974 VW Bug with sunroof. Standard, new brakes, tape player and speakers. Exc. cond. $2,000. Call 665-3569 or 624-3654.

'68 VW, $500 or best offer. 549-5147.

'69 VW Bug. Engine not working. Good for parts or repair. $150. Michael 549-0909.

'69 Dodge Coronet, runs great, new tires, brakes and exhaust. $350. Call p.m. 665-4153.

1968 Firebird, 6 cyl., auto., P.S. Vy. good cond. $595 or B.O. 546-5814.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

1973 Honda CB350, 5,800 mi., ex. cond. Rack & trunk, $640. Call Pat 253-9233.

'74 Yamaha RD250. 5,000 mi. J&R Pipes. $700. 256-0522.

Two 1974 Kawasaki 100's road and dirt bikes. Both cycles less than 1300 miles. Asking $450.00 each. Call Jeff 665-3064.

'74 Honda 360, low miles, extras. $600. Mike at 5B Brandywine.

'71 Kawasaki 350. Must sell. $350 or best offer. 253-5684.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Summer jobs. Must have car. Earn $1,000 - $4,000. Jobs in many locations. Call for interview, 253-2597.

Papers or people to do them in areas of mass communications and pres. campaigns for $. 549-6702. Also woman to take AST 100 exam.

Men from North Shore who want to play for a team in M-Head Softball League, call Dave 549-4885 eves.

Addresser wanted immediately! Work at home — no experience — excellent pay. Write American Service, 8350 Park Lane, Suite 269, Dallas, TX. 75231.

On-campus babysitter 2-3 hours—day, 1-5 days—week at your convenience. Call Fredi 5-0465.

Hard workers needed for entire summer. If you qualify, you could earn $2770 for 13 wks. Call 253-2598.

My clothes need repair. Ron 256-8952.

Caretakers for 4 bdroom house. N. Amherst. Garden, flowers, bus route, walk to Roosters, Mikes. After 6 p.m., 549-6702. Option Fall. Cheap!

Applications are being accepted for the following summer positions in the SGA. 1. assistants to SGA officers. 2. inventory. 3. secretary. 4. orientation—and consulting. 5. Course and teacher evaluation. Applications and job descriptions in rm. 420 S.U. Deadline Wednesday, 4 p.m. A.A. Equal Opp. Emp.

WANTED

Looking for house to rent year round in Amherst. June 1st. Please call 567-7779 or 1-800-332-9555 and ask for Paul.

Members for weekly poker club! Call Bob 549-1316 for info.

Young, professional couple seeks house to rent. Will sub lease, lease or take care of someone's home. Please call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

Car trouble? I want manual-shift, 4 or 6 cylinder. 546-7096.

Greedy people wanted. Set own hours. Mucho Lucre, May 9 in CC. Hotel Vitamin Business Enterprise.

18 or 15 ft. alum. canoe in gd. cond. Reas. priced. Old Town or Applebee w-paddles. Also — need gar. space nr. Amherst. Call Jim aft. 7 p.m. at 6-4156.

Used albums in good condition wanted. I'll buy whole collections. 323-4249.

Need a place down the Cape? There's one in Dennis with good times waiting for you. $400. Call 6-5096 or 6-5138.

Wanted: People to share large house in Hyannis, Mass. on the Cape. Downtown area. Close to beach. Call Ronnie 6-5057 or Booka 6-5099.

ROOM WANTED

Fairly quiet fem. Sr. looking for room in apt. or house for Fall. 546-4879.

RIDERS WANTED

Riders wanted Fri. 13 and—or Fri. 20 to Philadelphia or Wash., D.C. One way or round trip. Leaving Fridays at 10 a.m., returning Mondays at 2 p.m. Call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

If interested in Worcester car pool first summ. session, call 617-852-3514.

INSTRUCTION

Diving classes now forming at Hampshire Scuba Supply. Call 268-7373. 4 p.m. - 9 p.m., Mon. - Fri. 10 a.m. - 5

FOR RENT

I own a very private ski chalet with a breathtaking view of Echo Lake in Tyson, Vermont. Lake front privileges, canoe, fireplace, loft. Interested in renting it to a faculty member or responsible grad student. 203-875-6306 after 5 p.m.

3-4 Bedrooms for June & September. Call between 6-7 p.m. Skibiski, Realtors Northampton. 584-3428.

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 plus sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Looking for summer residence? Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is offering rooms at $150 per single, and $200 per double or $100 ea.. Call 545-0070, 549-6999 or 549-1321.

1 lge. bdrm. in Sunderland hse on bus rte. Vegetable gdn. in bk. Call Debbi 665-2367.

3 housemates, 1 5-15 and 2 5-15 all year, 24 plus for great house on Bay Rd., S. Amherst. $90 plus. 253-7935.

1 or 2 room in 3 bedroom apart. Furnished, Puff. Vil. $60-mo. 549-5892.

Summer rooms full kitchen facilities. New bathrooms. 5 min. to campus. $125 Sin., $175 dble. Large back yard. 545-2162.

For rent apt. in Sunderland. 665-4977.

5 bedroom house, 1 block from campus, reasonable. June - Sept. Call 546-6143 or 546-6155.

1 bdrm. apt., Cliffside, on bus rt., tennis, pool, kitchen. Avail. May. $145—mo., util. inc. Call 665-2886 after 5.

Available rooms in big old house on bus rt. in Sundr. Cheap and spacious. Call Susan 665-4367 nights. Leave message.

To Rent. June 1st. Furn., single bedrm., study, priv. bath, no cooking, non-smoker, near bus. Amh. Cent. $30—wk. 253-2488.

2 rm. apt., util., furn. May 23 — Aug. 31. Call 5-0189, 10-2. Ask - Mike.

Nice house, big garden, woods, bus line, summer or all year. Grads pref. 665-3938.

Seconds from campus, minutes from Amherst Ctr. We need roommates to fill 2 bedrooms in our house on Fearing St. $70 and $100—mo. Call 6-9708 or 6-9694. For Fall semester.

Cape Cod — E. Dennis. 3 bdrm., 1½ baths, now thru 9-6. $2500. 253-5017.

1 lg. bdrm. twnhse apt., bus rte. $100—mo. neg. 545-1927 or nites 549-6761.

Own room on bus line with pool - summer housemate needed desperately. Call 665-4364.

Small 3 bedroom apartment, S. Amherst. Quiet, 1 yr. lease. Available Sept. 1. $225 includes electricity. Call 253-9354.

Cape Cod — 3 bedroom ranch in secluded W. Barnstable, 10 minutes from Hyannis and Craigville beach area. June 1 - Sept. 7. $2,000 plus. Call Bill 256-0313.

AUDIO

Quality components. Over 150 lines, reasonable prices. Call Peter, 665-2920.

Pioneer SX-535 20 watts per, BIC form 4 spkrs., AR-XB with M91ED. $450. Ken 549-1452

ROOMMATE WANTED

2 female roommates for 3 bedrm. house in Amherst. On bus route. Call 253-3953.

$60. Own lg. rm. in 3 bdrm. twnhse. Furn. or not, pool, bus. Puffton. 549-1033.

Own room, furn. hse., laundry, kitchen, wooded lot. So. Amh. Jun-Aug. Neg. 256-6224.

Put your head down. 2 comfortable bdrms. avail. for summer sessions! Quiet, condo living. A.C. 256-6992 eve.

Female Jan. grad., own bdrm. Rolling Green. 6-6756, 6-6754.

1 or 2 fem. to share 2 bdrm. apt. on bus line. Furn., pool, rent neg. 253-3446.

Fourth roommate wanted to share 2 bedroom house in Hyannis with 3 males. Call Jay 5-3500.

Fmle rmmate wanted to share 2 bdrm. apt. in Amherst. 6-1—8-31 CE. Call 549-2867.

2 rms. in frnshed Br. Mnr. Apt. Pool, tennis, bus rt. $60—month. 256-0677.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Frmmate needed for next Fall to share 3 bdr. Puffton apt. $95 plus utils., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun-loving, too. Call Carol 256-0325.

2 bdrms. in 4 bdrm. house in Shutesbury. $80—mo. 253-3635.

Looking for a place in Hyannis This summer? One roomate wanted. Call Jay 5-3500.

Fall on Fearing St. We need 2 bedrooms filled in our house for next semester. $70 and $100—mo. Call 546-9694 or 6-9708.

Own rm., 5 bdrm. house, Amhst. $80 plus. 253-5275.

Frmmate needed for nxt fall to share 3 bdrm. Puffton Apt. $95 plus utls., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun loving too! Call Carol 256-0325.

1 bdrm. in 2 bed Brandywine apt. for 1 or 2 people. Cheap! 549-1375.

2 rms. in co-op hse. Rt. 9, Belch. 4 mi. to Amh., bus rte., no lease. $62. 256-0573.

Rmmate for 1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for summer months. Pool, tennis, air cond., buses. All util., rent negot. Call Dave 665-4210. Keep trying.

Available May 15. Nice room, good people. N. Amherst. Call 549-4712.

Housemates: Beautiful house in Amherst. 2 rooms. Avail 6-1. $81.25 incl. heat. 256-8149.

Large sunny bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for 1 or 2 females. Pets OK, dishwasher, laundry fac. Summer with Fall option. 253-7076.

Room for rent. Hse. Amh. Bus. 256-6698.

Professional female seeks same to share 2 bedroom, mostly furnished apartment in Northampton. Nice location. $100—mo plus. Beginning June or July 1st. References req'd. If not at home, leave message. 584-2508.

M — F's. Yarmouth. Lg. house near beach. Up. class. pref. Call 256-0309 - 665-3670.

Own bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt., bus rt., pool, rent neg. 256-8012.

3F for house appar. Amherst Center loc. Sum — Fall option. Rent negot. 253-9403.

1 or 2 female roommates. June - August, $50 mth. Call 549-2804. Ask for Joanne, Jean.

2 female rmts. wanted for summer to share 2 bdrm. apt. in house in S. Dfld. On bus rt. Fall opt. Rent $42 plus p-pers. Call 546-6663.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

LOCAL COLOR

NE Artist Festival beginning tomorrow

More than 33 professional performing groups will be giving showcase performances tomorrow and Sunday at the New England Artist Festival and Showcase at the Tri County Fairgrounds in Northampton.

The performances cover many different art forms and include children's performers.

There will be classical samples of music from Juan de la Sierra on Flamenco Guitar and the New England Arts Trio; folk music will be represented by Linda Worster, Tex La Mountain, Andy May and Texas Tabby Crabb, Geoff Bartley, Ruthanna, Skinny Bob, and the Howling Jacob Review; bluegrass music will be showcased by the Rattle Hill Ramblers, Raintree, the Possum Pickers String Band, and Foxfire and Jazz will be provided by Trillium, the L.A. Schneider Trio, Do'a, the Bricker Band, and Rosenshontz.

HS Choral Festival to be held in FAC

The third annual High School Choral Festival will be held in the Fine Arts Center tomorrow.

Starting at 9 a.m., six high school choirs will present concert programs and rehearse with clinicians. At 1:30 p.m. the Vocal Jazz Ensemble will present a workshop and demonstration. At 3 p.m. the University Chamber Singers will present a performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury," directed by Dr. Richard DuBois. There is no admission charge.

Fiddlers convention at Amherst College

The Amherst College Fiddlers Convention will be held on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the quadrangel in front of Robert Frost Library free. In case of rain the event will be held in the Amherst College Cage.

University Chorale plans spring concert

The University Chorale, under the direction of Dr. Richard DuBois, will present its spring concert Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall.

Also appearing on the same program will be the University Chamber Singers in a special production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury".

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line
Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line
ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

TO SUBLET

A top-notch 2 bedroom apartment for summer lease in Brandywine. Furnished! AC, pool, bus route. Call for a deal — 549-0691.

3 bdrm. Apt., Puffton. Call 549-6948.

Drastic reduction forced by buyers market! Two bedroom apartment — cheap! On bus route, swimming pool, air conditioning. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729.

4 bdrm. townhouse on bus rte., furnished, air cond., pool. June 1st to Aug. 31st. 256-0337.

Cheap, 4 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. All utl. included. Furnished, AC, pool. 253-9957.

QUIET AMH. CTR. 1 bdrm., AC, pkg, near bus, stores. $180 w-optn. 253-3516.

3 bdrm. Puffton Apt. Beautifully furn. Will rent indiv. or total apt. 549-6321.

Little house in country, furnished, pine interior, 2 bedrooms, streams, 3 acres. Must see 1-628-3931 or 527-5420. $225—month.

Pres. Apt. Two bdrm., sunlight, util. incl., furnished. Best offer. 549-4455.

Summer Sublet. 2 bdrm. apt. Dates and rent negotiable. Call 256-0338.

Sublet — quiet, clean, sunny, 1 bedroom apt. Available June 1. Option to renew. On bus route, pool, laundry facilities. Utilities included. 253-5588 after 5.

With rent option, 3 rm. apt., furnished, bus route, laundry, all util. included. Colonial Vlg., excellent cond. $210 per. 253-7865.

2 bdrm. apt., Squire Vill., Sund. A.C., pool, bus rte. Avail. June 1. Phone 665-4891.

Rolling Green, 2 bdrm. on bus rte. Air cond., pool, w-w, opt. to re-rent. $200—mo., util. incl. 256-0558.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. Brandywine apt. Bus rt., furn. Pets OK. Pool. 5-22—8-31. Rent negot. Call 549-1405.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. June 1 - Aug. 31. Opt. renew, pool, bus rte. Rent neg. 253-7798.

Breezy 2 bdrm. apt. in C.V. on bs rt., pool. 5-23—8-31. Rent vy neg. incl. util. 253-9401.

Summer Sublet. Townehouse apt., A.C., bus route, croquet set!! $55—mo. 549-6033.

For summer — 5 bdrm. semi-furn. hse. on Main St., Belch. Rd. Bus, 1 mi. to UMass, cheap rent. Call 256-0665 after 5

3 bdrm. twnhse apt. June-Aug. $250 per mo. 549-1211 eve or morn.

2 bdrm. apt., Col. Vill. Bus rt., pool. Call eves. 256-6051. $150 incl. util.

1-4 brooms in house, start 6-1—8-31. Pelham. 7 mi. from Amherst, across the st. from Quabbin. $65.00 a month. 253-2757.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt. A.C., pool, furn., on bus rt. Fall opt. 6-1—8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

2 bdrm. apt., Colonial Vlg. Apts., on bus rte, prtly furn. upstairs. Jun - Aug. Opt. to renew. $165. neg. Call 5-7 p.m., 253-9559.

3 bdrm. twnhs. Jun - Aug., util. incl. Pool, air cond., cheap. 546-9671; 546-5670.

4 br. Rolling Green twnhse. Part furn. $250—mo., June - Aug. Leave message. Days 5-1552; eves., 253-3755.

Two bedroom apt. at Cliffside in Sunderland, on bus route. Swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729 and keep trying.

2 br. Col. Vil. Jn 1 - Aug. 31. Option to renew. Garden plots avail., pool, bus rt., cool in summer. $220 inc. 253-2874, after 6.

Riverglade 2 bdrm. 6-1—8-31. Price neg. Call 256-0638.

1 bdrm. & lvngrm at Cliffside. Tennis, swimming, woods, bus line. Util. incl. Avail. end of May. Around $150. 665-7095.

4 bdrm. Rolling Green Townhse. June — Aug. cheap $280 a month. Call 546-7161.

Only $195 a month will get you a spacious three bedroom townhouse at Rolling Green. Available June 1 to Aug. 31. Call Ralph or Steve at 546-6707 or 545-3500.

Sublet — June 1 - Aug. 31. 3 bdrm. apt. in So. Amherst on bus route, pool, air cond., veg. garden, large yard, quiet atmos. $220—mo. 253-5136 anytime.

2 bdrm. twnhs., furn. P. neg. Call 665-2857

1 rm for male in 2 bdrm. apt. $70 incl. all util. Call 549-1816. Keep trying.

2 bdrm. apt., Brandywine, on bus rt. A.C., pool, exc. view, semi-furn. 6-1—8-31. $250 or best offer. 549-4766.

Sublet—2 bed. apt. Beaut. Squire Vlg., Sund. 7 min. from campus. 6-1—8-31 w-opt. for fall. Rent neg., A.C., pool, on bus rt! Call 665-3619.

Sublet — room ideal for couple or single. Opp. for Fall. $65 mo plus. Pets OK. Garden, off road, on UM bus. 323-5536.

2 bedrm. in 3 bedrm. Twnhse. Squire Vlg., Sunderland. Jun to Sep (w-opt to renew), bus rte., pool, A.C., 7 min. to UMass. 665-2303.

2 bdrm. twnhs., on bus rt., pool, a.c., d.w., garden, plot, pets, ½ May's rent free. $220. 253-3832.

Fully furnished 2 bdrm. on bus rt., pet, pool, rent negotiable. 6-1—8-30. 256-0501.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. 1 bdrm. June, both July - Aug. Pool, bus, semi-furn. $220—mo. incl. util. Rent negot. 256-0465.

3 bdrm. townhouse. $200—mo. Opt. to renew. Includes hot water, A.C., pool, on bus rt. 1½ baths. 549-2616. Avail. May 18.

2 bdrm. apt., low rent, negotiable, utils. incl., bus rte., pool, tennis. Avail. May 23. Opt. to renew. Cliffside 665-2847.

Cheap. 4 bdrm. apt. Rol. Grn. $150—mo. or $50—mo per rm. Semi-furn., air cond., Swm pool, laund. fac., dishwash 6-1—8-31. 6-7819.

Pres. Apt. Spacious one bedroom, air, dishwasher, util. incl. Sept. option. Rent neg. 549-1729.

Paradise. 2 bdrm. apt. for summer. Brandywine. 549-0901.

1 lrge bdrm. S. Amherst. $65. June - Sept. Option to renew. 256-6602. Larry.

Sublet, 2 bdrm. apt. June 1 to Aug. 31. 106 Colonial, util. $185—mo. 253-7760.

Sum. Sublet. Opt. to lease in fall. 5 bdrm. hse. $425 mo. 2 m fr UM on bus rt. 256-8897.

3 bdrm. 2nd floor, semi-furn. After May 21. Just off campus. 24 Nutting Ave. 549-1862, util. inc.

Low rent, 3 bdr. twnhse, ½ m campus. Furn., priv. bkyd., 2 bus rt., residential. 549-4855.

Sunny 1 bdrm. apt., screened porch, quiet street, NHamp. Mid June to Mid Aug. $145—mo. 586-0585, eves. No smokers.

2 bdrm. Brandywine apt. avail. June 1. Rent neg. 549-4854. Bus rt., pool, etc.

2 bdr. townhouse, Sq. Vill. May 31 - Aug. 31 plus, lg. yard, pool, A.C., pets, bus rt. 665-7110.

1 bdrm. apt., walk to campus. June — Sept., renew opt. Call 253-7234.

3 bdrm. twnhse. apt. w-furn. A.C., pool, on Brt. Opt. for fall. 6-1—8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

Best offer takes it. 2 bdrm. sublet w-opt., furn. or not. Lots extra. 665-3637.

Puffton, 3 bdrm., furn. Mid-May - Aug. 549-1317.

2 br. $190—mo. Save $90. Must sublet. Includes utils., pool, bus rt. Jn 1 - Aug. 31. 253-2874 after 6.

Great for plants. 2 bdrm. Lant. Ct. Air cond., utl inc., bus rt., some furn. op. to renew. $195. 665-4298.

2 bdrm. semi-furn. apt. Bus rt., pool. 3-3684, Colonial Village.

2 bdrm. apt. Rol. Green, furn., air-c., pool. $220 incl. ut. 543-9409.

3 DESPERATE FEMALES need you to sublet 2 bdrm. twnhse. in Rolling Green. Avail June 1 - Aug. 31. Air cond., on bus rte., pool. $220—mo., or best offer. Call 546-9544 or 253-7537.

2 bdrm. apt. $190—mo., incl. util. Good loc., pool. Call 253-2841.

Puffton — 1 lg. bdrm. to sublet. Pool, bus route, quiet. Rent neg. 549-1603.

2 bdrm. apt. Furn. Lantern Ct. Bus rt - $200. incl. A.C. and util. Avail. 20 May. Fall opt. 665-3931.

Cheap. By Puffers Pond. 2 bdrm., all util. incl. $180. Steve 367-2048.

2 bdrm., comp. furn. Coll. Vill. $175. Bus route, pool. 256-6042.

Sublet — Riverglade. 1 of 2 bdrms. June - Aug. $60 plus. Call Zen 253-3373 after 11.

3 bdr. twnhse. Roll. Green, util. incld. A.C., pool, on bus rt. Pr. negot. Jun - Aug. 546-9668, 546-9670.

Sublet — 1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt. Puffton Vill. Rent neg. Ask for Dan. 549-3809.

2 singles, 1 double at Rolling Green. 100 yds. from bus, util., appl., prt. furn. $75—mo. or best. 6-1—8-31. 256-0340.

Spacious So. Deerfield apt. on bus route. Very unique so must be seen. Please call after 6:00 p.m. 665-7193.

Large apt. w-2 lg. bdrms. on N. Pleasant. $260—mo. 253-5298.

3 big bdrms. apt., A.C., close to cmps., nice view, util. inc. $290. Dishwasher. 549-1387.

1 bdrm. in 4 bdrm. house. June 1 - Aug. 1. Reasonable rent, excellent location. 253-9458. Female preferred.

2 bdrm. apt. Uni. Park. 5-23 - 8-31. Util. inc., bus rt. $190—mo. Rent neg. 253-5307.

Free — 1 mo. rent, Jn. - Ag. Subl. Rol. Grn. Twnhse. 2 br. Opt. to renew. All util. incl. A.C., bus rt. 256-8120.

2 bedroom furnished Brandywine Apt. June 1-Aug. 31. Rent negotiable. 549-6476.

Summer sublet, ranch house, 4 bdrm., 2 baths. S. Amh. 3 mi. from campus. Low rent. 253-5159.

Opt to renew. 2 bdrm. Cliffside apt. June-Aug. $200—mo. Call 665-7188, 545-2820, or 545-0881.

2 bdrm., Amherst, furn., bus rt. $175 mo. 256-8235.

Furnished 2 bdrm. townhse., A.C., pool, on bus route. 665-4149. Rent negotiable.

2 rooms, modern house, Shutesbury. Wall to wall, dishwasher, etc. 7 mi. to campus. $70—rm. 253-5366 eves.

1 bdrm. in 3 bdrm. apt. on N. East St. 5-15 or 6-1 — 8-31 w-opt. $75 mo. 253-7034.

2 bdrm. townhouse. Rolling Green. Furnished. $220. Call Paul 546-6312.

For Rent — 2 bedroom apt. June 1 - Aug. 31 w-option to renew. On bus line. Call after 5. 253-9558.

2 brm. Brandywine. 6-1—8-31. Ful. furnished, pool, A.C. Call 549-1564.

LOST

Silver bracelet. Lost at Orchard Hl. Initials EAD. Please call 6-8026.

Kodak Instamatic camera on Sat. Reward. Anne 546-6145. Thanks.

ENTERTAINMENT

What if they gave a spring concert and nobody came?

Mostly beige dog, small Terrier-Basset mix, lge. head, paws, no license, ATC Center. Ron 586-5265. Dog's name: Myshkin.

Cosmic Wimpout — 2nd annual C.W. Tournament Fri. aft. in The Bluewall. Prize money and fun!

RIDE WANTED

Need ride. Chicago to Amherst or NYC on or about 18 June. 549-6033.

To U. Mass May - Aug. Leaving Boston Fri., returning Sun. Will share $. 253-3446.

Driving to Calif? Earn $100 hauling my UHaul with your car. Berkeley. Mid-May. Call 253-5191, Susan.

SERVICES

Hi-Fi Audio repair. Fast, reasonable, guaranteed service. Free estimates and checkouts. Amherst Audio. 549-2610.

Expert typing. Call 549-0813.

Men and trucks for hire. You bot it, we'll haul it. John, 549-6878; Gil, 253-3370.

Women, need career advice? Help writing good resume? Call Peggy 584-2857. Experienced, reasonable rates.

Typing — Prompt reasonable, experienced in all forms of papers, theses, etc. Call 586-2490.

PERSONALS

Lizzy F - (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie, D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

Luxury two bedroom apt. in Sunderland for summer sublet. On UMass bus route, swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low, low rent. Call 665-4729 anytime.

Seniors — You can get the Collegian sent to your home next semester at 1-3 off. Look for the ad in this paper!!

It's cretin week at PI Apple PI.

Sigma Kappa Sorority is taking boarders for Fall semester. Close to campus, 3 meals a day, small, friendly. Price comparable to University. Call 256-6887.

Is there a Patriot season ticket holder on campus. Want to share driving this Fall. Call 546-5621.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF.

$50 reward for return or info leading to recovery of grn. Peugeot U08, ser. no. 236676, stolen from Pierpont. No questions asked. I just want the bike. Barry 246 Pierpont. 546-5212.

Barb and Wen, It is not over yet! Our fun, love, and friendship will continue. Luck to all of us. Love, Diane.

Need couple on campus to switch room. 546-6762.

Dear Eileen — I'm at loose ends. Don't forget to wrap me up. Love, Jeff.

Flexy, thanks for everything. You've made '77 bearable. Luck on exams. Love, Dood's.

Happy Birthday, Jet. We'll make it one of the best. Love, Anne.

Beth, Have a Happy Birthday! Are you 5 now? Love, Twinks.

To 219 — Happy Birthday gorgeous and Twinkies! 224.

You're welcome Hobbit, you're welcome, Hobbit, Happy Birthday, Hobbit, you're welcome, Hobbit, you're welcome, Hobbi.

To the tall, shy European gentleman seen in the Collegian Office: I love your column, I don't mind a Dutch accent, and I want to click your heels. — A Friend.

Learn to play the piano — experienced teacher seeking beginning and intermediate students. Call 546-4830 after 8 p.m.

Dial-A-Decision. Call Paul 545-0575. Legal opinions over the phone. No waiting.

TRAVEL

F 24 seeks F travel companion for cross country trip. Call Jan 549-4861.

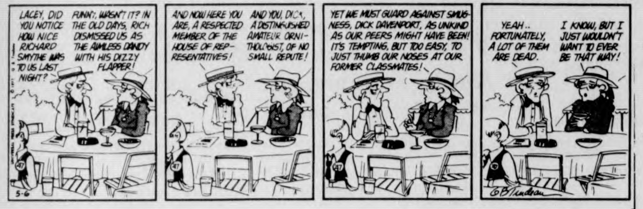
CALCULATORS

End of semester prices! SR-52, $179.95; SR-56, $77.77; SR-51, $49.95; SR-40 and Bus Anal, $29.95; Commodore 1800 Scientific, $34.95; HP-67, $375. And College Calculators services all machines sold for 1 full yr! Before you buy anywhere, call Bob or Linda at 549-1316!

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

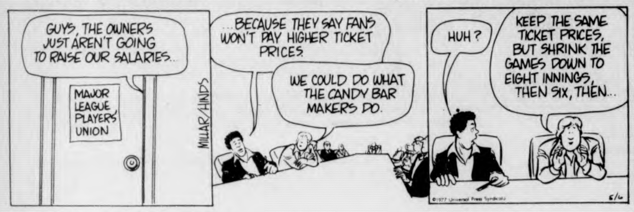
DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

29 S. Pleasant St.
Call 256-6736
TERM PAPERS !
RESERVE EARLY
M-F 10-6, S 10-2



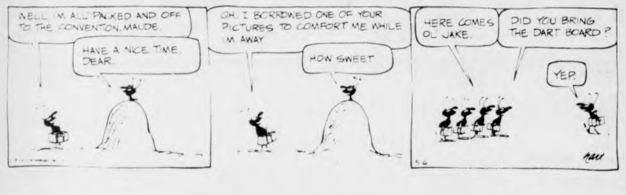
LACEY, DID YOU NOTICE HOW NICE RICHARD SMYTHE WAS TO US LAST NIGHT?
FUNNY, WASN'T IT? IN THE OLD DAYS, RICH DISMISSED US AS THE AIMLESS DANDY WITH HIS DIZZY FLAPPER!
AND NOW HERE YOU ARE, A RESPECTED MEMBER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES!
AND YOU, DICK, A DISTINGUISHED AMATEUR ORNITHOLOGIST, OF NO SMALL REPUTE!
YET WE MUST GUARD AGAINST SMUGNESS, DICK DAVENPORT, AS UNKIND AS OUR PEERS MIGHT HAVE BEEN! IT'S TEMPTING, BUT TOO EASY, TO JUST THUMB OUR NOSES AT OUR FORMER CLASSMATES!
YEAH.. FORTUNATELY, A LOT OF THEM ARE DEAD.
I KNOW, BUT I JUST WOULDN'T WANT TO EVER BE THAT WAY!
5-6
GBTrudeau

TANK McNAMARA by Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds



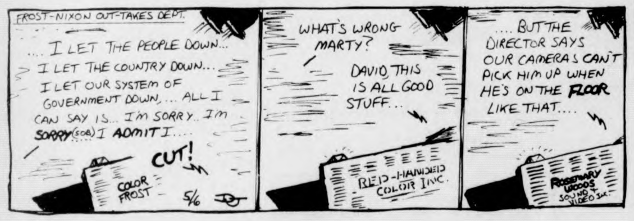
GUYS, THE OWNERS JUST AREN'T GOING TO RAISE OUR SALARIES...
MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYERS' UNION
MILLAR/HINDS
...BECAUSE THEY SAY FANS WON'T PAY HIGHER TICKET PRICES.
WE COULD DO WHAT THE CANDY BAR MAKERS DO.
HUH?
KEEP THE SAME TICKET PRICES, BUT SHRINK THE GAMES DOWN TO EIGHT INNINGS, THEN SIX, THEN...
©1977 Universal Press Syndicate
5/6

B.C. by Johnny Hart



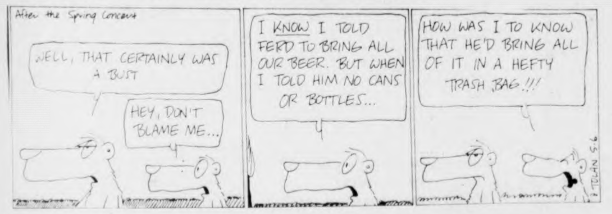
WELL, I'M ALL PACKED AND OFF TO THE CONVENTION, MAUDE.
HAVE A NICE TIME, DEAR.
OH, I BORROWED ONE OF YOUR PICTURES TO COMFORT ME WHILE I'M AWAY.
HOW SWEET
HERE COMES OL' JAKE.
DID YOU BRING THE DART BOARD?
YEP.
5-6
hart

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



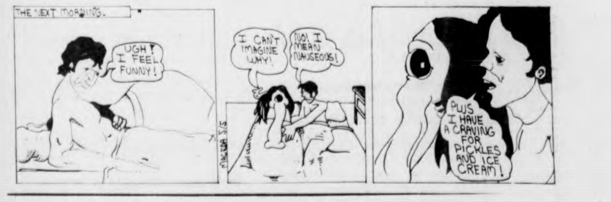
FROST-NIXON OUT-TAKES DEPT.
....I LET THE PEOPLE DOWN...
I LET THE COUNTRY DOWN...
I LET OUR SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT DOWN,... ALL I CAN SAY IS... I'M SORRY.. I'M SORRY (SOB) I ADMIT I....
CUT!
COLOR FROST
5/6
WHAT'S WRONG MARTY?
DAVID, THIS IS ALL GOOD STUFF...
RED-HANDED COLOR INC.
....BUT THE DIRECTOR SAYS OUR CAMERAS CAN'T PICK HIM UP WHEN HE'S ON THE FLOOR LIKE THAT....
ROSEMARY WOODS SOUND + VIDEO INC.

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



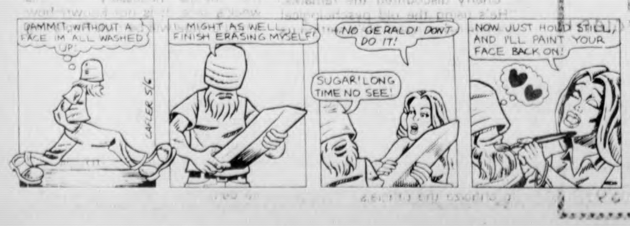
After the Spring Concert
WELL, THAT CERTAINLY WAS A BUST
HEY, DON'T BLAME ME...
I KNOW I TOLD FERD TO BRING ALL OUR BEER. BUT WHEN I TOLD HIM NO CANS OR BOTTLES...
HOW WAS I TO KNOW THAT HE'D BRING ALL OF IT IN A HEFTY TRASH BAG!!!
TOLAN 5-6

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



THE NEXT MORNING.
UGH! I FEEL FUNNY!
I CAN'T IMAGINE WHY!
NO! I MEAN NAUSEOUS!
MACEDA 5/5
PLUS I HAVE A CRAVING FOR PICKLES AND ICE CREAM!

ALUMINUM GHOST by Steve Lafler



DAMMIT, WITHOUT A FACE I'M ALL WASHED UP!
LAFLER 5/6
MIGHT AS WELL FINISH ERASING MYSELF!
NO GERALD! DON'T DO IT!
SUGAR! LONG TIME NO SEE!
NOW JUST HOLD STILL, AND I'LL PAINT YOUR FACE BACK ON!

Local Television

7:00 3 22 40 NEWS
8 CONCENTRATION
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 THE FBI "The Vendetta"
30 CROSS-WITS
38 THE ODD COUPLE
56 STAR TREK
57 THE WAY IT WAS
7:30 3 MATCH GAME
8 ACTION NEWSMAKERS
22 30 THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
24 CAPITOL REPORT
38 DICK VAN DYKE SHOW
40 THE MUPPET SHOW
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 JACQUES COUSTEAU "The Unexpected Voyage Of Pepito And Crostobal"
8 40 THE DONNY AND MARIE OSMOND SHOW
22 30 SANFORD AND SON "Fred's Extra Job"
24 57 WASHINGTON WEEK IN REVIEW
27 MOVIE "The Prince And The Showgirl"
38 IRONSIDE "The Macabre Mr. Micawber"
56 WORLD AT WAR
8:30 22 30 CHICO AND THE MAN "The Second Coming Of Della"
24 57 WALL STREET WEEK
9:00 3 CBS FRIDAY NIGHT SPECIAL: "Support Your Local Gunfighter"
8 40 ABC FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIE "Aloha, Bobby and Rose"
22 30 THE ROCKFORD FILES "Piece Work"
24 AGRONSKY AT LARGE
38 MOVIE "The Man In The Gray Flannel Suit"
56 NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SPECIAL
57 57 REPORTS MASSACHUSETTS
9:30 24 AMERICANA
57 AGRONSKY AT LARGE
10:00 22 30 QUINCY
24 57 DOCUMENTARY SHOWCASE
27 NEWS
56 LOVE, AMERICAN STYLE
10:30 8 40 THE CHOPPED LIVER BROTHERS
27 CHAMPIONSHIP BOXING
11:00 3 8 22 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
27 MOVIE "Along The Great Divide"
56 ALL THAT GLITTERS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 NBA PLAYOFFS
8 40 THE KENTUCKY DERBY SPECIAL
22 30 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:00 38 FRIDAY NIGHT LATE SHOW "Counterspy"
12:30 8 LATE NIGHT FRIGHT FLICK "The Skull"
40 DRAGNET
1:00 40 NEWS
22 30 THE MIDNIGHT SPECIAL
1:45 3 8 NEWS, WEATHER
2:30 22 30 NEWS

Your Birthday

by Stella Wilder

Friday May 6 — Born today, you are a highly intelligent individual who combines mental awareness with a degree of competence that is quite exceptional. Although you are capable of successful involvement in almost any enterprise even without a great deal of preparation, you are not one to take advantage of your quickness of mind. Rather, you prefer to take your time, to study the situation and the circumstances surrounding it before you enter into any real association with a project or endeavor. You do not lack self-confidence -- but you are not so naive or inexperienced as to believe that self-confidence can carry you through by itself. You believe in your ability to accomplish what you will -- but you do not believe yourself to be a superman or superwoman.

There is very little of the loner about you. You enjoy friends; more, you make them easily and keep them for a lifetime. There is in you an element of reserve, but you never allow it to stand in the way of the establishment of good and firm relationships with those whose friendship you desire. Although it is possible for you to be completely independent, relying on no one but yourself for both the necessities and the luxuries of life, you have no real desire to lead your life independently of others. Rather, your wish is to develop habits of cooperation and peaceful coexistence in yourself and in those around you.

A basic timidity may keep you from progressing as rapidly as you might like, both socially and in your career.

* * *

Saturday, May 7

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You may be very much dissatisfied with your progress this morning. Wait until afternoon; you will probably change your tune.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Promises and performance are two different things. Your admirers expect you to remember that -- and produce.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — You can transform a dream into reality today if you are careful to tie loose ends of an old project together. Assert independence in the evening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Keeping your nose to the grindstone may serve to accomplish little. Another's irritation at your progress must be understood, not scoffed at.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — This is a good day for new beginnings. Redirect your own and another's energies toward the fulfillment of expectations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — This promises to be an exceptionally complex day. You would be wise, therefore, to seek the simplest solutions possible.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Friends from afar may have the wrong impression of you at this time. Turn disfavor into favor through the performance of a good deed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Make it your business to know and understand something of new developments taking place in your line of work. Prepare for questions.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Imagined difficulties cause you to pay less attention to a new project than you should. Don't be scared off by an increase in competition.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Though professional advancement may not come as quickly as you hope, neither is it as slow as you fear. Be satisfied with the happy medium.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Ill thoughts are the parents of ill deeds. Make sure you understand the degree to which you are expected to progress. Don't hurry!

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — When you take stock of the day in the evening, you will be surprised to find how much progress has actually been made. Contact friends.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Wearing footwear
5 Be of one mind
10 Coasted
14 Foundry device
15 Principal water ducts
16 Sit for a portrait
17 Customer
18 Not capable of existing 20 Confused fight
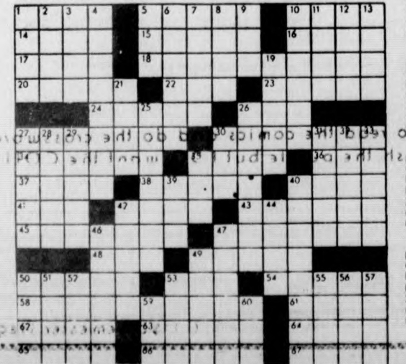
22 Egypt. pleasure god
23 Religious belief formula
24 Important economic group
26 Visualize
27 Lose vitality
30 Lymphoid tissue masses
34 Portions
35 Got the ----: Was fired
36 Knock
37 This month: Abbr.
38 Ontario river
40 Pro ----: In proportion
41 Gelderland city
42 Feds.
43 Auto accessory
45 Of a seam
47 Adds yeast
48 Female swan
49 Poetry
50 Quebec province
53 Children's game
54 Trumpeter Ziggy -----
58 Kind of 'flu
61 Lytton heroine
62 Preeminent
63 Sharp ridge
64 IOU's relative
65 Garment flaps
66 Pried curiously
67 Electron tube coil

DOWN
1 Scoria
2 Stockings
3 City on the Oka
4 Neglectful
5 Nice friend
6 Skip
7 More mature
8 Son of Seth
9 S-shaped worm
10 Steeples
11 Ear part
12 Water-bound land
13 Transfer property
19 Distinctive odor
21 Gutter site
25 Wedding member: 2 words
26 Pain reliever
27 Secret watchers
28 East Indian
29 Fix anew
30 Weight unit
31 Angry
32 Make tardy
33 Poles used as masts
35 London's Big ---
39 Electrical unit
40 Loose thread
42 Kilmer poem
44 Affluence
46 Down on one's ------
47 Pope's representative
49 Weathercocks
50 Central idea
51 Kind of tapir
52 Wound with a dagger
53 Neophyte: Var.
55 North African
56 ---- knock
57 Necessity
59 Summer tint
60 Showed the way

Thursday's Puzzle Solved:

D	A	V	I	T	■	A	T	L	A	S	■	M	A	T
A	R	E	N	A	■	N	O	I	S	E	■	E	L	I
W	E	S	T	M	I	N	S	T	E	R	■	A	I	M
N	A	T	E	■	R	I	S	E	■	V	A	N	C	E
■	■	■	R	A	K	E	■	■	W	A	R	D	E	R
S	P	E	N	D	S	■	S	T	A	N	C	E	■	■
H	A	T	E	D	■	F	A	I	N	T	■	R	I	B
I	C	E	D	■	P	A	V	E	D	■	P	I	N	E
M	E	R	■	O	A	T	E	R	■	M	A	N	G	E
■	■	N	A	V	I	E	S	■	B	A	R	G	E	S
P	R	I	C	E	D	■	■	F	L	E	D	■	■	■
R	A	T	E	R	■	S	O	L	O	■	O	R	E	S
O	B	I	■	A	M	E	R	I	C	A	N	I	S	T
V	I	E	■	G	A	M	E	R	■	S	E	N	N	A
E	D	S	■	E	L	I	O	T	■	A	D	D	E	R



Misc.

DID YOU KNOW

Tansen, the most famous singer in India's history — for a single concert he performed at the court of Emperor Akbar the Great, he was paid a fee of $3,245,000.

Louisa Belden of Hallowell, Maine, the daughter of a preacher — after hearing any sermon once could repeat it word for word.

...CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means: "To argue both sides of an issue back and forth."

FIND IT
AND YOU
COULD BE OUR
$5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner.

ROBERT WILSON

Yesterday's word:

EQUESTRIAN

CAMP TRAILS • KELTY • JAN SPORT • ALPINE DESIGNS • SIGG • WOOLRICH • PETER STORM • OPTIMUS • EUREKA • NORTH FACE • COLEMAN • PALCO • MIRRO • STAG • WHITE • JASQUE •

The Joy Of Camping

Begins with the right equipment from
Don Gleason's
DON GLEASON'S SUPPLY offers one of the largest selections of QUALITY CAMPING AND BACKPACKING EQUIPMENT available in New England. You'll find everything you need to make your camping more enjoyable, all under one roof, including a large display of set up tents (over 33) for your inspection. Visit us now. Located just off I-91 in the center of Northampton, Mass.
Open daily except Sundays 9AM to 5:30PM;
Thursday and Friday nites till 9PM;
Saturday 9 til 5PM

HIKING and BACKPACKING EQUIPMENT

FREE
96 Page Catalog with Copy of Ad.
CAMPERS SUPPLY* INC.
Pearl Street, Northampton, Mass. Exit 18 I-91
Pearl St. is one block south of N'ton Cornor.
Just off Rte. 5.

HIKING

For the finest selection of hiking & climbing boots & accessories come to the specialists

EASTERN MOUNTAIN SPORTS
Rte. 9 Amherst/ Hadley town line
253-9504
Mon.-Fri. 9:30-9 Sat. 9:30-5:30

SENIORS!

Are you graduating in May?
Leaving UMass—land for good&
.. Here's your chance to keep all those wonderful memories of those budget cuts level funding and the crazy but great antics of the Aluminum Ghost!!!!!!
For a limited time only. seeing as there is less than three weeks left to school for most. you can rip off the Collegian for a subscription at 1/3 off regular prices.

For $6 (reg $9) per semester, or $9 (reg $15) per year, you can have the COLLEGIAN mailed to your house every day. Just by being a senior, you can qualify for this discount rate.

Simply fill out this order form and bring this to the COLLEGIAN office rm 113 Campus Center before May 6, at 3:45 pm. Be sure to bring payment with the form. You must include your student number. Cash or check only, with all orders prepaid. Starting with the first issue of the fall semester, we'll see that you get your copy of the MASSACHUSETTS DAILY COLLEGIAN.

SO YOU DON'T FORGET* ORDER BEFORE MIDNIGHT TONIGHT!!

☐ Yes. I really want to read the comics and do the crossword
☐ No. I can never finish the puzzle but I DO want the COLLEGIAN!
My name is: ______________________
Address: ______________
City: __________ State: __________ zip: _____
good till may 6 1977
$10 year (reg $15) ( ) $6 semester (reg $9)

Sox stop Segui

BOSTON [UPI] — George Scott and Jim Rice hammered two-run homers last night to give Ferguson Jenkins and the Boston Red Sox a 5-2 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

Trailing 2-0 in the sixth inning, Denny Doyle started a three-run Boston rally with a double off loser Diego Segui, 0-4. After an infield out, Carl Yastrzemski singled home Doyle and Scott followed with his fourth homer of the year to give the Red Sox a 3-2 lead.

Rice added his third homer in the eighth inning after Doyle had reached base on an error.

Jenkins, who surrendered a two-run first inning homer to Dan Meyer, faced only three batters over the minimum the rest of the way in raising his record to 4-1. Jenkins allowed only seven hits and retired 17 of the last 20 batters he faced. He did not walk a batter for the third straight game.

Segui struck out 10 and allowed just six hits in seven innings.

The victory gave the Red Sox a 12-10 record in the Eastern Division of the American League. Boston opens a three-game series against the California Angels tonight at Fenway Park, with Luis Tiant, 2-1, scheduled to start for the Sox.

Sports Calendar

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
VARSITY SOFTBALL — UMass 9 - UNH 5; UMass 3 - UNH 0
WOMEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — UMass 9 Plymouth 4
WOMEN'S JV LACROSSE — UMass 8 - Plymouth 6
TODAY
VARSITY BASEBALL — vs. Springfield Home 3:00
MEN'S GOLF — New England's at Sutton, Mass.
WOMEN'S GOLF — Lady Lion Tournament at Penn State
TOMORROW
VARSITY BASEBALL — vs. Providence (2) Away 1:00
JUNIOR VARSITY BASEBALL — vs. Springfield (2) Away 1:00
MEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — vs. Harvard Away 3:00
MEN'S TRACK — YanCon Championships Home
VARSITY SOFTBALL — Vermont (2) Home 1:30
MEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — New England's at Williams
WOMEN'S GOLF — Lady Lion Tournament at Penn State
MEN'S CREW — Worcester Invitational
SUNDAY
WOMEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — New England's at Williams

Cherry gets itchy while Bruins relax

BOSTON [UPI] — Boston Coach Don Cherry welcomed a chance to relax before his Bruins begin the final round of the Stanley Cup, but he's starting to get itchy.

"It would have been a disadvantage to go into a series with Philadelphia," Cherry said yesterday. "We had some very tired people. We also had a lot of colds and the flu at the end of the Philadelphia series."

Boston will meet the winner of the other semifinal between Montreal and the New York Islanders. The Canadiens held a 3-2 edge going into last night's game at Uniondale, N.Y.

But will the time off slow down the Bruins' aggressive game?

"No, we had eight days off when we played Los Angeles and it didn't hurt us," Cherry said. "The days off really helped our club. But I would like to get started. If it (the layoff) went past Saturday it would just be too much."

When Cherry talks about the layoff giving his players a chance for some needed rest, veteran names come up. Jean Ratelle, Gregg Sheppard, Brad Park and some other older Bruins were tired at some point of the playoffs, according to the coach.

The facts tend to bear him out. In the last two games with the Flyers, younger players such as Terry O'Reilly and Rick Middleton stood out with crucial goals.

In Montreal, Canadien Coach Scotty Bowman was commenting on the Bruins' style. Bowman said Boston was "getting away" with flagrant interference plays all season because of lax officiating.

Cherry discounted the remarks. "He's using the old pyschological warfare game again. He's setting us up for the refs."

"I think it's unfair," the Bruin mentor said. "We have enough problems and to think he could come out with something like that before he's done with the Islanders. He's just setting us up."

Cherry, who was fined $500 for remarks he made about an NHL referee this season, was quick not to criticize the officials.

"But I have no complaints with the referees," he said. "I hope you print that."

Oarsmen in regatta

By BILL CARRINGTON
Collegian Staff

The UMass men's crew will be at Lake Quinsigamond in Worcester tomorrow to compete in the Worcester Invitational Regatta.

The crew will be hoping for a repeat performance of the last time that it was there, three years ago, when it won every event that it entered. UMass will be entering a varsity eight, junior varsity eight, freshman eight and a freshman four.

This will be the largest race of the year for UMass, as the JVs will have to row qualifying heats to compete in the finals. The varsity will race against six other crews in the finals.

Competing with UMass in the race will be Wesleyan, Holy Cross, Worcester State, Assumption, University of New Hampshire, and Amherst College. Amherst is the defending champion. Wesleyan is coming off a one-length victory over Williams, a crew that UMass defeated by a length last week.

A back injury to number six oak Mike Partrige makes a change in the lineups necessary for this week's race. It is not known how long Partrige will be out. Replacing him at six seat will be Dave Rubin, formerly the stroke (eight oar) of the JV eight. Replacing Rubin at stroke in JVs will be Mark Bouzianas.

The Regatta will be the last race for UMass before heading into the Dad Vail Championships in Philadelphia. The crew is hoping to go to Philly with a big victory under its belt.

Montreal's Jim Roberts dumps Bryan Trottier of the New York Islanders during the Canadians 2-1 Stanley Cup victory last night.

Canadiens oust Islanders

UNIONDALE, N.Y. [UPI] — Bab Gainey scored a record-approaching seven seconds after the opening faceoff and added what proved to be the game-winning goal midway through the third period last night to lead Montreal to a 2-1 victory of the New York Islanders and clinch a berth for the Canadiens in the Stanley Cup finals.

Montreal goalie Ken Dryden lost a chance for his third shutout in the six-game series when Denis Potvin scored with nine seconds left to play, but the defending Stanley Cup champion Canadiens held on to win the NHL semifinal match four games to two and enter the final round for the 24th time.

The Canadiens will host the Boston Bruins in the first game of the finals Saturday night in Montreal.

The Islanders have now lost in the semifinal round the past three seasons, including losses to Montreal the past two years.

After the capacity Nassau Coliseum crowd of 15,317 treated the Islanders to a prolonged pre-game ovation, Doug Jarvis won the opening faceoff from Bryan Trottier and threw the puck to Montreal defenseman Guy Lapointe, who banked a lead pass to the left boards. Gainey outraced defenseman Gerry Hart to the puck and beat goalie Glenn Resch with a 20-footer from a wide angle. It was one of only three shots Montreal got off in the opening 20 minutes.

Gainey added his second goal at 9:12 of the third period by putting the puck into an open net after taking a pass from Jarvis from the corner.

Potvin scored on a 15-foot drive at 19:51 of the third period off a feed from Bryan Trottier for his sixth Stanley Cup goal this season.

★Softballers

CONT. FROM PAGE 20

The Minutewomen scored the only run they needed in the first inning, but left the bases loaded. They made the score 2-0 in the second when Lynn Barry drove in Elaine Howle with a single. The only other scoring was done in the seventh, as Carol Bruce drove in Howle with the final run.

"Bruce was outstanding and played her best game of the season," Thompson said. Bruce threw a Wildcat runner out at the plate in the fifth inning, and made a great shoestring catch for the third out in the sixth inning with two runners on base.

The Minutewomen will host Vermont in a doubleheader at NOPE Field tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. The Catamounts are 5-0 and have been invited to play in the Easterns, despite playing a weak schedule.

"Since we can't play in the Easterns due to finals, we have a lot to prove to the other teams that UMass has a top quality softball team," Thompson said.

Looking for a lost notebook or book? Check Lost and Found at the Campus Assistance Center-2nd level of the Campus Center. Unclaimed notebooks will be discarded after Wed. May 11. Open daily 8-11 P.M.

SENIOR DAY TICKETS
NOW ON SALE!
CAMPUS CENTER CONCOURSE
SENIORS — $2.00
GUESTS — $3.00
"BOOGIE WITH BROMERY"

Crewwomen in Worcester

By LISA MELILLI
Collegian Staff

The UMass women's varsity and junior varsity crew will row against some of New England's best in the Worcester Regatta on Lake Quinsigimond, Worcester tomorrow.

According to UMass coach, Doug Frost, the UMass squad will be providing some stiff competition for some top teams like Mt. Holyoke, Dartmouth and Connecticut College.

The varsity competition includes 12 boats who will row in two heats. In the first heat, Dartmouth, UNH, MIT, URI, Wesleyan and Assumption will row against each other. In the second, UMass will row against Mt. Holyoke, Smith Amherst, and Connecticut College. The top three boats of each heat will then compete in the final race.

Frost said yesterday that he expects UMass will be one of the top three boats in its heat along with Mt. Holyoke and Connecticut College based upon records so far this season. UMass early last week beat Smith by 17 seconds. Smith later in the week wiped out Amherst College. Connecticut College is predicted to be just as fast as Mt. Holyoke. At the beginning of the season, Mt. Holyoke beat UMass by three seconds, however, Mt. Holyoke was killed last week by Syracuse, a team UMass beat by two and a half seconds. "So, the race should be exciting," said Frost.

From the first heat, Frost said he expects the odds are on MIT, UNH and Dartmouth as based on past records. Frost said Wesleyan's ability is equal to Amherst and Smith's and Assumption, a new team, is not even as fast as they.

The UMass junior varsity beat will compete against Dartmouth, Mt. Holyoke, a second Mt. Holyoke boat, Connecticut College, MIT, and UNH. Frost said officials would say that the top three in the race would be Dartmouth, Mt. Holyoke and Connecticut College as based on past records, however he said that "UMass should bring some big surprises when we get there. The squad has improved tremendously in the past weeks since their last meet at Syracuse."

The course of the race will be unusually long, set at 2000 meters, the usual length of a men's crew meet. The usual length of a women's crew meet is 1500 meters, however the state boat will also be set-up for the men's race, which is also at Worcester tomorrow.

★Women runners

CONT. FROM PAGE 20

jump, indoors. The distance events will feature Kathy Mills of Penn State who represented the US in the World Cross Country Championship in England this year, Liz Berry of Penn State, Meg Poynter of Rutgers, Marina Buckley of Amherst, and Deb Snaggs of Delaware State.

This meet will mark another step in the development of women's track, which has grown by leaps and bounds in its short history. Great improvement should be noted in the performance of the UMass women, as well as the rest of the competitors, over last year's Eastern performances.

Rugged
Comfortable
Goodlooking
TRAIL
SHORTS
EMS carries the finest shorts from Woolrich, Sportif, & Chouinard/ Patagonia. Choose from a wide selection of men's and women's styles, priced from $12.50 to $22.00.
EASTERN MOUNTAIN SPORTS
Rte. 9,
Amherst/Hadley town line
253-9504
Mon.-Fri. 9:30-9
Sat. 9:30- 5:30

Mother's Day

After a woodcut from "The Royal Primer," published in 1770.

is a tradition at the Lord Jeff
Your family, our savory food, lively drink and a plethora of fresh cut flowers. Fantastic. The chef has prepared a flavorsome menu just for this day to include a happy choice of traditional holiday favorites including several selections (and prices) for the youngsters. As always, senior citizens are welcome at their own special prices.
The Lord Jeffery Inn
ON THE COMMON. AMHERST. MASS.
RESERVATIONS (413) 253-2576

Oval team seeks NE crown

By MIKE BERGER
Collegian Staff

This winter UMass track coach Ken O'Brien looked outside at the snow and the cold and said, "Even though our indoor team is 1-7, we are a much better team than that. We are probably the best last place team in the league."

Tomorrow, starting at 10:30 a.m., O'Brien will get to see just how much his ovalteam has improved this spring as they host the Yankee Conference Championship. O'Brien will send 51 trackmen into action in 15 different track and field events in hopes of recapturing the crown that was last won two years ago.

Even though six other state universities in addition to Boston University will compete, the battle for first place will be between UMass, UConn, and BU.

"UConn is a deep squad with outstanding individuals in the field events, sprints, the middle distance, and distance events. It will be a very close meet. In the winter, our sprinting crew and javelin throwers were not as developed as they now are. It might provide the difference," said O'Brien.

O'Brien said that Boston University also has some outstanding personnel but lacks the depth in the distance events to seriously challenge for first place.

UConn's strengths are in the field events where the Huskies are led by Phil Rowland-javelin, Jody Walton and Rich White-discus and shot put, and Pat Augeri in the high jump and long jump.

Walton is rated seventh in New England in the discus with a 155'4" throw while UMass' Ron Melkonian is rated 13th with his best throw of the year being 152'2.

Walton and White are fifth and sixth respectfully with 54' plus throws while UMass does not have anyone in the top ten. Rowland is the best in New England in the javelin with a 224'5" throw.

Three event man Pat Augeri leads New England in the high jump at 7'0 while also rated fifth in the long jump at 23'2¼".

For UMass, in the field events, besides Melkonian's rating, co-captain Ken Adamson, out for most of the spring season with a knee injury is ready to compete again as he is rated fifth in the long jump at 23'3½". Toney Pendleton is tenth at 22'8½". In the triple jump, Bruce Parsons has jumped a best of 46'5" rating him eighth.

While UConn might have a slight advantage in the sprints with Mike DePetro, Herb Saunders, and Herb LeMay, all sub-10 second 100-yard dash men. UMass's hopes of beating UConn rest in the middle distance and distance events.

Joe Martens (48.6) is rated second in New England in the 440 while co-captain Jim Hunt (1:53.9) and freshman Jeff King (1:54) are among the top leaders in the half mile. UConn has only Mark McLennan (1:54.5) to answer back.

UConn has nothing in the 440 intermediate hurdles while Mark Healy (55.2) and John Richards (55.6) are listed as seventh and tenth respectively.

The heaviest strength of UMass lies in the distance events where senior John McGrail and sophomore Mike Quinn return from the Penn Relays with records galore broken. McGrail, last Thursday, set the UMass record in the 10,000 meter run with a time of 28:47.1.

His third place time missed qualifying for the Olympic trials by seven seconds. McGrail also broke his own record and rewrote the UMass record books with a six mile timing of 27:52.

Quinn broke the UMass record in the three-mile, formerly set by graduate Randy Thomas in 1974. His time, of 13:26 beat Thomas by nine seconds. Quinn also set the 50,000 meter run record with a time of 13:59 while finishing fourth.

Still, Bruce Clark, an All-American cross country runner himself, is rated second in New England with a 4:05.8 mile. Senior UMass runner Chris Farmer (4:09.5) is rated eighth.

In the three-mile UConn's Paul O'Neil's time of 14:07 is listed as tenth in New England while UMass's Matt Wolff (14:02.4) and Frank Carroll (14:08.8) will provide steep competition.

THEY'RE OFF AND RUNNING — Actually, the bevy of teams which showed up for the UMass Relays won't be here this weekend, but six visiting teams are expected to show up for the Yankee Conference championships. (Staff photo by Randy Glenn)

Gorillas take on Crimson

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

Tomorrow afternoon while most students will be soaking up the sun in Alumni Stadium, enjoying the Spring Concert, Garber's Gorillas will be down in Cambridge, taking on the Crimson of Harvard University at 2 p.m.

Saturday's contest is the first of three important games remaining on the Gorillas regular season schedule in their bid to make the playoffs. Understandably, UMass coach Dick Garber feels a sweep of the three games (Springfield and Brown being the other two teams the Minutemen must face) would help his team in the ratings and eventual playoff bid.

If you look at Harvard's record, the Crimson don't seem very impressive: they are rated second or third in New England (jockeying with UNH), 17th in the nation.

Their record is 4-6, which makes one wonder how they can be justifiably rated in the top 20 in the country. Garber explained why Harvard is up there nationally as a lacrosse team.

"They play a tough schedule with Brown, Hofstra, Penn, and Cornell (not to mention Princeton)."

UMass midfielder Randy Krutzler will lead the Minutemen against the Crimson at Harvard tomorrow. (Staff photo Chris Bourne)

OK OK So Harvard won't be just another easy victory.

While Harvard doesn't have any superstars in the scoring column, Garber acknowledged that "they have some midfielders who can score off a quick feed."

How about injuries? "We've got a couple guys with leg injuries. A couple of arms," said Garber.

The Gorillas go into the game rated 10th in the country, one spot behind North Carolina. As you lacrosse followers probably already know, but for those who don't, only the top eight teams make the playoffs.

Besides a victory over Harvard which would keep UMass rated number one in New England, the Gorillas may be helped out by the following fact: Rutgers and Virginia, teams rated seventh and eighth respectively before the latest ratings came out, lost (the Scarlet Knights dropped at 12-7 decision to 12th ranked Princeton, while Virginia was beaten by small college powerhouse, Towson State, 11-10).

Concievably, those losses could drop Rutgers and Virginia down a couple of notches, and UMass could move up. Concievably.

Nothing can be taken for granted, however. The Gorillas must still continue their winning ways.

SHOTS ON GOAL — the Chimps will be traveling to play Harvard's JV squad also tomorrow...they looked impressive in scrimmaging the varsity squad yesterday; good passing, shooting...Chimps are 4-0 on the year...Gorillas are 8-3.

Women linksters head for Easterns

By JUDY VAN HANDLE
Collegian Staff

It has been a frustrating spring for the UMass women's golf team.

But starting today and running through tomorrow, the Minutewomen will get their chance to put it all together in the Lady Lion Invitational, being held on the campus of Penn State.

The invitational is the unofficial Eastern championships in women's golf. Along with UMass, defending champion Penn State ("the class of the bunch," — UMass coach Jane McGahan), Mt. Holyoke, Penn State, Salisbury State (Md.), Ohio State, and Cortland State should send teams. According to McGahan, a few other schools are expected to send individual competitors.

"A school can enter more than one team," McGahan said, "but we don't think there will be two from one school."

Penn State won the Easterns last season, while UMass finished third, missing the runner-up shot by a stroke to Cortland State.

Last season in the Lady Lions, UMass was second behind Penn State. UMass' Deb McCulloch grabbed low honors for the tourney as she shot a 36-hole total of 163 for a one-stroke victory over Mt. Holyoke's Jan Van Munching.

Both the top individual and top team will be honored with trophies, while the runners-up will also be cited.

The winner of the Invitational will be determined by totaling the best two out of five team scores each day of the 36-hole affair.

"I think we can do well in the tourney," McGahan said. "We're improving in all of our practice rounds."

One thing is for sure, though. The Minutewomen haven't had much opportunity to tune up against competition for its most important two days of the spring.

The season has been a short one for UMass. A match against Rhode Island was cancelled, while the Minutewomen lost their two other matches to Mt. Holyoke.

Last Friday, UMass hoped to get another match in against the Lyons, but several of the golfwomen were either sick or help up in classes, so only McCulloch and Jo Smith were able to play.

They shot 80 and 82, respectively, which McGahan said were "good, under windy conditions."

McGahan has been particularly pleased with the play of Smith. "She's shown a lot of improvement over the spring," McGahan said. Smith has been golfing for only two years.

Besides McCulloch and Smith, McGahan plans on sending Meg Groden, Joy Little, and Anne Morrison to the Lady Lions.

Appearing
Tonite- Sun
FAT
Monday
Zanzibar
Coming May 11
Pousette Dart Band
May 14
James Cotton
May 18
Jonathan Edwards
AT rusty nail Inn
RTE47 Sunderland
665-4937

Used Book Sale
20% off our regular price on all paperbacks & hardbacks
Sat. May 7-thru-Sat. May 14
VALLEY BOOK SHOP
Carriage Shops Amherst

STUDENT JOBS
SWITZERLAND-AUSTRIA
FRANCE-GERMANY
Resorts - Hotels - Office
Restaurants - Hospitals
SEND 25¢ — APPLICATION INFORMATION
TRANSWORLD OVERSEAS
STUDENT OVERSEAS SERVICES
10 TREMONT STREET
BOSTON, MA. — 617-723-7875
TRANS WORLD

安城中國飯店
AMHERST CHINESE FOOD
62 Main St., Amherst
Tel. 253-7835
EAT IN OR TAKE-OUT.
LUNCH SPECIALS 99¢ & up

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass. 545-0500

Collegian Sports

Trackmen in YanCons; p. 19
Gorillas vs. Harvard; p. 19

Gazelles roll, 9-4; set for NE playoffs

By JIM GLEASON
Collegian Staff

The UMass women's lacrosse team prepared for the New England Championship this weekend in good fashion by rolling over Plymouth State College, 9-4, yesterday at NOPE.

A strong first half, which the Gazelles dominated 6-1, greatly aided the cause as the two teams played evenly the second half.

"I was misinformed in the quality of our opponent," said Coach Frank Garahan. I said yesterday that they shouldn't be any trouble, but I was wrong." Plymouth, undefeated in two seasons, was 5-0 before the game which included a win over Northeastern (the team UMass tied on opening day).

"It was scary because all week I was hearing how weak they were and a day before the game I began hearing how impressive they were. Their reputation kept growing and growing."

Evie Sneeden opened the scoring on a beautiful pass from Nancy O'Neil which found Sneeden all alone in front of the net. O'Neil capitalized on the next opportunity herself with an unassisted goal to make the score 2-0.

Plymouth State closed the gap momentarily with a goal but the Gazelles responded quickly, scoring four straight goals before halftime. Sneeden contributed to the attack with two goals and two assists in this span. One of her goals was an almost exact replica of the games first — a pass from O'Neil which found her uncovered staring at the front of the goal.

The second half was a different story as the teams played evenly with each side netting three goals. Mary Murray was the big difference in the game as she turned in one of her best efforts of the season. She continually thwarted Plymouth when they had golden opportunities to score and was instrumental in initiating their successful fast break.

"She was fabulous, what else can I say?" said Garahan. "She was there when we needed her and that made the whole difference".

The defense, which has been solid all year, turned in another excellent performance against a usually potent Plymouth offense. LuAnne Fletcher, Chris Basile, and Grace Martinelli combined to virtually shut off an offense which had scored 20 goals in a previous game.

"I gave Grace (Martinelli) the unenviable task of guarding their leading scorer and she did a great job, Garahan said.

A victory was essential — not only because it raises their record to 6-1-1 — but because it prepares them mentally for the upcoming New England Collegiate Women's Lacrosse Championships this weekend.

"We really needed this one," said Evie Sneeden. "A lot of the players were down on themselves for our recent loss to New Hampshire and we needed a win to put us back on the track".

The scoring for the Gazelles ran down this way. Sneeden had 4 goals, 1 assist, Nancy O'Neil had 2 goals, 3 assists, Carri Nickerson had 2 goals and 1 assist. Judy Kennedy added a goal and Cindy Hartstone drew an assist.

One of the most impressive features of the Gazelles, besides their stickwork, was evident to everyone at the game and that was their fine physical conditioning. They were able to keep up a fast, aggressive pace throughout the game. Even the Plymouth State coach commented to Garahan that she wished her players were in such good shape.

"I think we're in our prime as far as conditioning goes, said Sneeden. I'm glad it came around at tournament time."

The tournament is very important to the UMass team. While it is set up in a fashion that a team isn't outrightly declared "the best", it does feature the toughest competition in the East.

JV Results — The JV women's lacrosse team closed out a successful season yesterday with an 8-6 victory over Plymouth State.

Jean Hackett scored six goals in leading the attack. Laura O'Neil and Joan Wockowicz also added single goals. Ruth Morton also drew an early assist.

UMass jumped into an early lead only to see Plymouth rally and cut the lead to 5-4. Some fine saves by goalie Robin Jennings kept the game from being tied and UMass capitalized on some breaks to put the game away.

The team ends the short season with a 5-1 record and Rietschel foresees many on the team playing for the varsity next year.

The Gazelles prepared for this weekend's New England Championships with a convincing 9-5 win over Plymouth St. yesterday.

Batswomen topple UNH

By MEL WEBSTER
Collegian Staff

The UMass softball team ran its winning streak to seven yesterday defeating the University of New Hampshire in a doubleheader at Durham by scores of 9-5 and 3-0.

Coach Dianne Thompson was not pleased with the play of the Minutewomen, now 14-1, but was happy to get the two victories. "We didn't play too well in the first game, but the second game was a little bit better Thompson said."

Opening game winning pitcher Gail Carter, 4-0, was racked for nine hits, including two triples, but Thompson thought she pitched a good game and worked out of some tough jams.

UMass scored a run in the first inning with the help of four walks, including Heidi Dickson's with the bases loaded. The Wildcats came back with two in the bottom of the second on two singles, a triple, and a stolen base.

The Minutewomen took the lead for good in the second. Once again they received four walks from the UNH pitcher. Carter had one RBI on a bases loaded walk and Sue DiRocco had the other with a single. The third run scored on a wild pitch.

UMass made it 7-2 in the third scoring three runs. The big blow was Sue Peters two run double. New Hampshire made it close again in the bottom of the third, scoring three runs on four hits and a walk, but this was as close as they would come.

Rita Riley and Beth Collins had run-scoring hits in the fourth for the Minutewomen making the final score 9-5. Riley broke out of a hitting slump with three hits in the game.

Co-captain Gail Matthews picked up the win in the second game. Matthews pitched a strong game allowing only four hits and striking out three, to raise her record to 5-1.

The UMass softball team defeated UNH in a doubleheader at Durham yesterday, 9-5 in the first game and 3-0 in the second.

TURN TO PAGE 18

Women tracksters compete in Easterns

By DAVE RODMAN
Collegian Staff

The UMass women's track team will finally face a legitimate test today and tomorrow when it travels to East Stroudsberg, Pennsylvania to compete in the second annual Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women Track and Field Championships to be held in the East Stroudsberg State College Stadium.

According to meet director Dr. Barbara Burris, the coach at East Stroudsberg, more than 70 teams will be competing. Penn State will return to defend its team title of a year ago. Maryland, last year's runnerup and this year's indoor titlist, will also return. UMass finished seventh last year and was fifth in the indoor Easterns this year.

Coach Ken O'Brien will be sending 21 athletes to the meet. Gail Emond will throw the javelin, and the remaining women will compete in the distance events and four relays.

"There'll be a lot of good competition in this meet," said O'Brien. "With good performances out of our individuals, we could finish about fifth — with exceptional performances out of our relay people, we could finish as high as third."

Individually, Julie Lafreniere, who was recently voted the outstanding athlete on the team, will run the half-mile. Barb Callanan, who recently ran a personal best 5:17.6 in the mile, will run that event.

In the longer distances; Johara Chapman, Maggie Crowley, and Debbie Farmer will run the two-mile; with Jane Welzel, Sue Swartz, and Anne Bradshaw in the three mile.

Indoors the distance runs were big point events. Welzel (fourth), and Swartz (fifth) placed in the three-mile. Chapman (4th), and Farmer (5th) did likewise in the two-mile; and Lafreniere (5th), and Crowley (6th) placed in the mile.

In other individual events, Chris Perron and Nancy Cominoli will run the 120-yard high hurdles. Perron, who just set a school record in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles will run that event along with Ginger Bulman.

Most of the team's top personnel will be stacked in the relays. Cominoli, Cathy Contini, Cindi Martin, and Diane Sealy will be trying to lower the record (50.1) they set last Friday in the 4 x 110 relay.

Sealy, Martin, Contini, and Carolyn Shea will team up in the 4 x 440. In the sprint medley; which is a 220, two 110's, and a 440 — Sealy, Cominoli, Contini, and Martin will handle the baton. In the final relay, the two-mile; Laurie Wolf, Bonnie Bukowski, Sue Mulligan, and Karen Zimmerman will each run 880-yard legs.

All the relay runners have improved their times over the spring season, with several notable performances. Sealy set and broke the 440 record inside of a week's time. Cominoli tied the record in the 110 yard dash. Martin has gone well under 60 seconds in the 440, and Mulligan has drastically lowered her 880 time.

A double handful of outstanding individuals will be at the meet. Last year's outstanding track athlete, Kris Bankes of Penn State, who won the mile and 880, will return. Martha Suhayda, last year's outstanding field athlete, will compete for Maryland. Last year, Suhayda competed for Pittsburgh and won the shot and discus.

The sprints and sprint relays have shown the most rapid development. Maryland has the McRoy twins, a pair of panthers in the 100, 220, and 4 x 110. Federal City College of Washington, DC, has a team of three women; Carol Brinkley, Sandra Upshaw, and Rebecca Stroy; who ran a total of 19 races between them and finished fourth in the team battle indoors.

Morgan State College of West Virginia has a national class relay quartet in the mile, sprint medley, and 4 x 110. Paula Girven of Maryland cleared 5'10" in the high

TURN TO PAGE 18

PHOTOGRAPHY '77

A showcase of the winners,

and selected entries

in this year's

COLLEGIAN

Photo Contest

Photo by MARK TUTUN

PRIZE MONEY

FIRST PRIZE - $25
SECOND PRIZE - $15
THIRD PRIZE - $10
TWO HONORABLE MENTION - $5 each

All photos may be picked up in the Collegian Business Office between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. M - F

How About the
HUNGRY—U
They Deliver
ALLRIGHT!
How about a large peanut butter and cheese pizza!

HUNGRY-U
No. 1 For Deliveries
103 N. Pleasant St.
256-0473

103 N PLEASANT 256-0473

FREE
QUART OF COKE WITH ANY LG.
COMBINATION PIZZA

FREE
CHEESE CAKE OR SODA
WITH ANY SMALL
COMBINATION PIZZA

5/2 to 5/6 DELIVERIES ONLY 5/2 to 5/6

Walt Disney's $1.00
Alice in Wonderland
Friday May 6 Mahar
7, 8:30, 10, 11:30 pm

BLOODY BROOK LOUNGE
Thurs. & Fri.: THE SUNDROP BAND
COUNTRY ROCK
Sat.: LATE ARRIVAL
LIVE ENTERTAINMENT COME JOIN US
CENTER SOUTH DEERFIELD
ELM & MAIN ST. 665-8792

photo lab 1
$1.00 off passports and job application photos
with this ad
FAST SERVICE

POCKET CAMERAS
$15.00 and up
IN TIME FOR GRADUATION

ADDITIONAL 10%
OFF ON ALL FILM
with this ad

mountain farms mall hadley
584-4403

HONORABLE MENTION

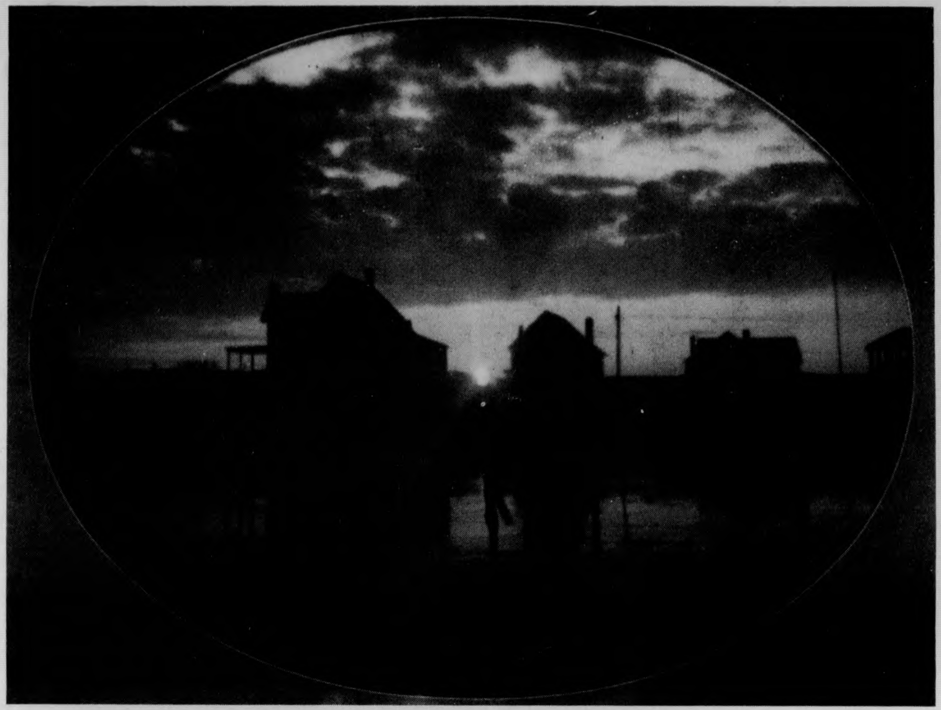

Photo
by
ERIN
E.
SWEENEY

HONORABLE MENTION

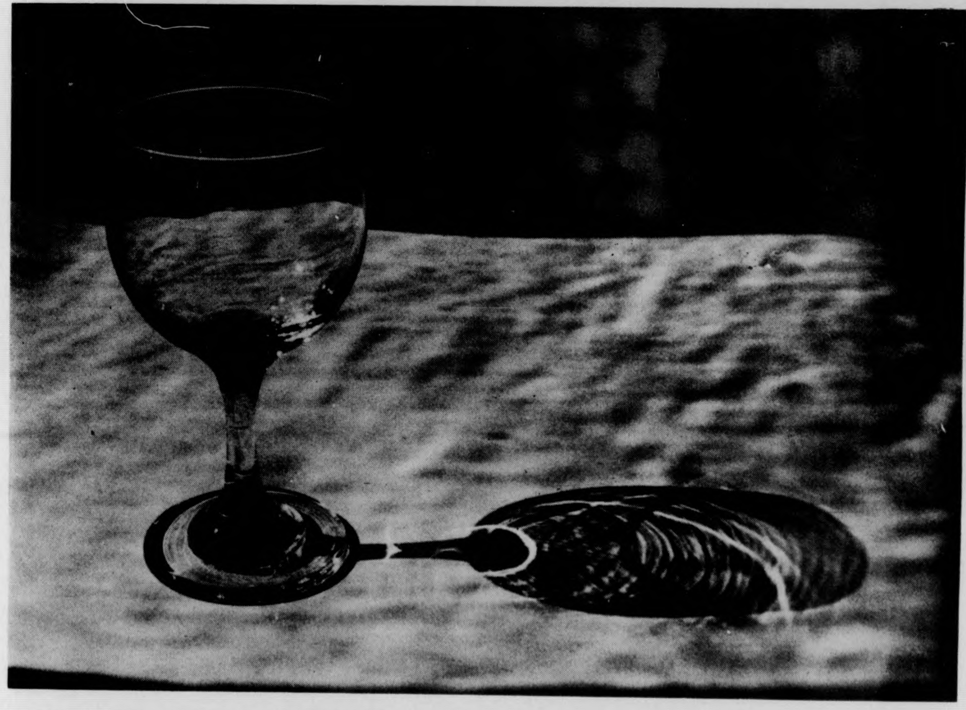

Photo
by
DIANE QUIMBY

LAW SCHOOL INTERVIEWS
Counselors are available daily at the
UNIVERSITY OF SAN FERNANDO VALLEY COLLEGE OF LAW
to offer guidance and career planning

Call or write USFV, 8353 Sepulveda Blvd.
Sepulveda, California 91343. Tel. 213-894-5711

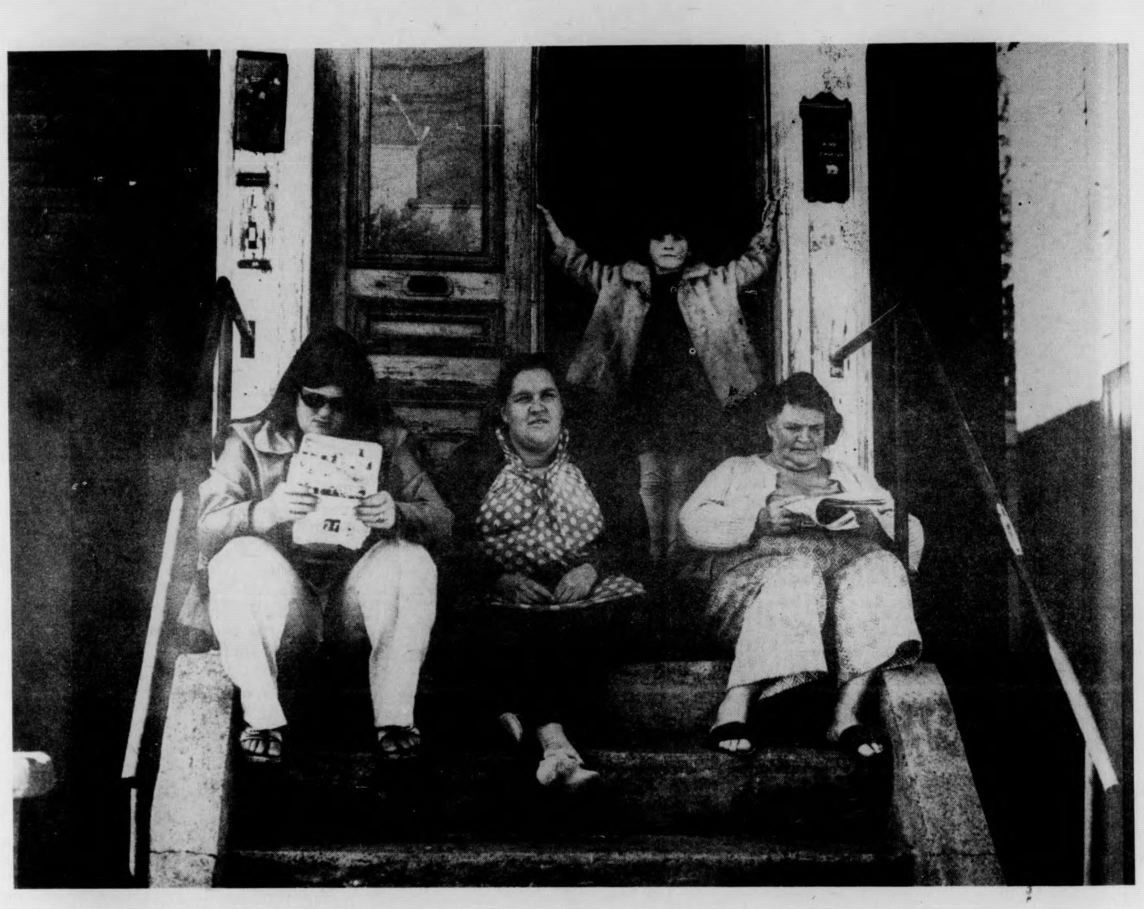
The College of Law offers a full-time 3 year day program as well as part-time day and evening programs. The school is fully accredited by the Committee of Bar Examiners of the State Bar of California.

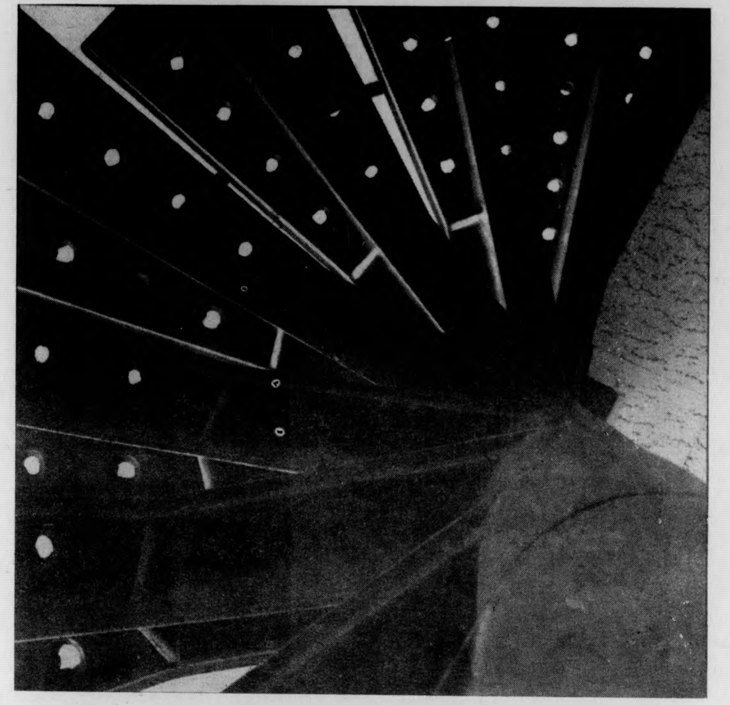
COFFEE SPECIAL
FOR EXAM WEEK
OPEN 24 HOURS * MAY 11-MAY 20

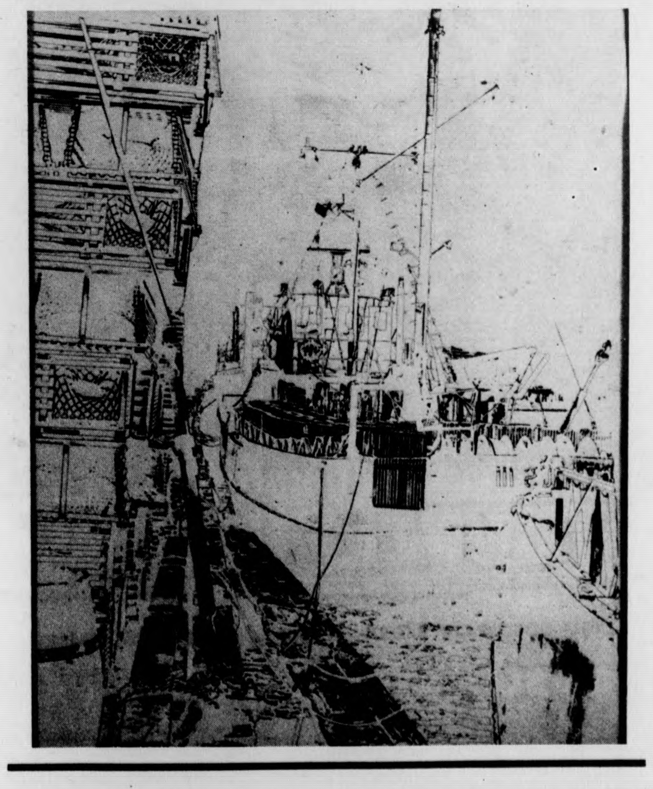
Exam Studiers & Other Night Owls:
We will be open 24 hrs. a day, from May 11-May 20. During this time, from 12 midnight to 7 a.m., fresh coffee will be only 15¢ a cup. Hungry too? Try our: Hot Dogs, Pastry, Tony's Hot Sandwiches, Cold Cut Grinders, Candy, Donuts, Cold Soda, Peanuts, Popcorn & assorted other munchies as well as our groceries and dairy products.

ALL STAR
AMHERST ALL-STAR
"Not just a Milk Store"
87 MAIN STREET • AMHERST
Town Hall Bus Stop - SN-BR Bus Route

THE WINNERS







First Prize - Diane Quimby (above)

Second Prize - R. Matthew Rogers (top right)

Third Prize - David Follansbee (bottom right)

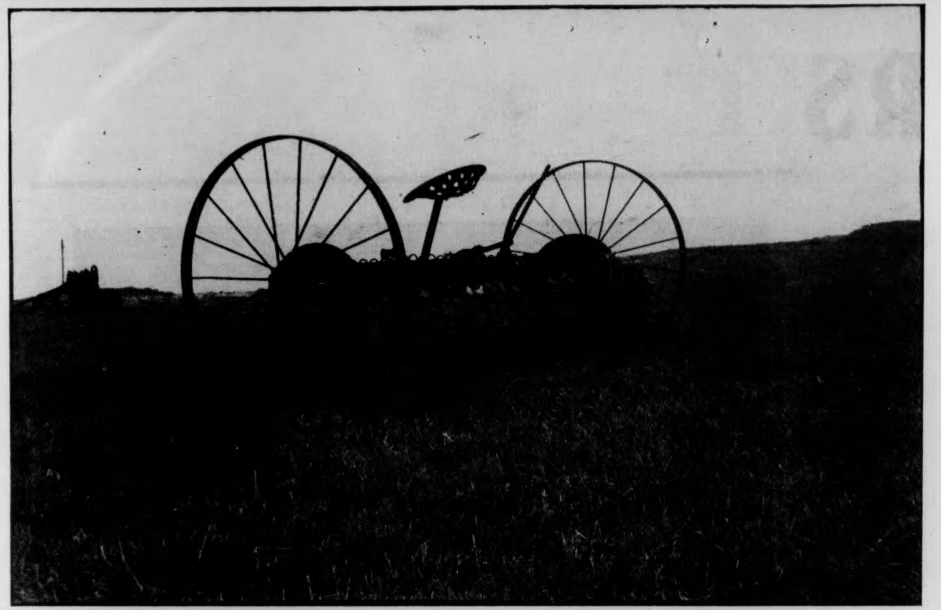


Photo by R. MATTHEW ROGERS

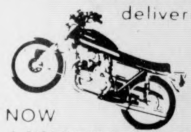

SPRING AND SUMMER
TRANSPORTATION
SPECIAL

1977
KAWASAKI
KZ400S

ONLY $995. delivered

NOW
ACCEPTING ORDERS
ON 1977 1000LTD'S

VALLEY
MOTOR SPORTS

348 KING ST.
NORTHAMPTON
584-7303
MTWF 9-6 TH 9-9
SAT 10-4

EXPERT SERVICE, USED BIKES, CIMATTI MOPEDS

Back Room
Record Shop
All $6.98 List
Record Albums

$3.99

FILM DEVELOPING SPECIAL with coupon
Expires 5/30

YOUR COLOR PRINT FILM
DEVELOPED & PRINTED

UP TO 12 EXPOSURES $2.49 PER ROLL
UP TO 20 EXPOSURES $3.49 PER ROLL

YOUR SLIDES OR MOVIES DEVELOPED
$1.49

Located in rear of College Town Barber Shop
183 N. Pleasant St.
Next to Mobil Station

1985: The year television will wipe you out.
PEOPLE
TUNNEL VISION

The comedy that gives the world relief.

Starring
CHEVY CHASE • PHIL PROCTOR • RICK HURST • LARRAINE NEWMAN • HOWARD HESSEMAN
ROGER BOWEN as Henry Kissinger
Music by LAMBERT & POTTER • Written by MICHAEL MISLOVE and NEIL ISRAEL
Executive Producer: WOODPECKER MUSIC, INC.
Produced by JOE ROTH • Directed by BRAD SWIRNOFF & NEIL ISRAEL
From NEW LINE CINEMA
R RESTRICTED

PLUS,
"BASKETBALL JONES" hilarious classic
cartoon,
Cheech &
Chong

Friday, May 6
7:00
8:30
10:00
11:30

Saturday, May 7
7:00
8:30
10:00
11:30

In CCA
$1

From April 1 through June 14, you can fly roundtrip from New York to Luxembourg for only $410.

That's $89 less than the youth fare you'd pay on any other scheduled airline. (From Chicago you pay $458 thru April 30 and $430 from May 1 thru June 14.) All you have to do is be under the age of 26.

There are no booking restrictions. We give you the same service you'd get from other airlines, without the same high costs. So, if you're not flying Icelandic to Europe, you're spending more than you have to. We'll give you the best deal on fares and on our New Horizon Escorted Tours, too.

Save $89 on jet fares to Europe and book anytime you want.

Icelandic Airlines, Dept. #CN
P.O. Box 105, West Hempstead, N.Y. 11552
See your travel agent. Or call toll free: (800) 555-1212.
Please send information on Icelandic's low-cost fares and New Horizon Escorted Tours of Europe.

Name
Address
City State Zip
Fares subject to change and gov't. approval.

Icelandic
Lowest Jet fares to Europe of any scheduled airline.

SPRING&
SUMMER
SALE

Get the most wanted
Spring & Summer items
now at savings of:
30-50%

BUS STOP
197 N. Pleasant St./Amherst/Mass./256-0140

Photo by DAVID FOLLANSBEE

feel free!

Join us for lively learning this summer with the Credit-Free Workshop program—two sessions are lined up, the first beginning May 24. Send for our complete catalog: Credit-Free Workshop Catalog, P. O. Box 835, Amherst MA 01002, or call us at (413) 545-3410.

If academic credit is not a concern, this is the place for you—feel free!

summer credit-free workshops:

Patchwork, Cartoon Art, Crewel, Creative Stitchery, Needlepoint and Blackwork, Drawing in Color, Fine Arts for Children, Gravestone Rubbings, Intermediate Weaving, Matting/Mounting Fine Art Work, Pottery, Print Collecting/Appreciation, Puppetry, Studio Painting, Oriental Rugmaking, Wood/Linoleum Block Printing, Woodworking/Design/Construction of Furniture, Assertiveness Training for Men and Women, Bookkeeping/Accounting Systems for Small Business, Developing Consulting Skills, Personal Financial Management/Accounting, Running for Public Office, Ballet Beginning and Intermediate, Dance Exercise, Jazz Dance, Modern Dance Beginning and Intermediate, Tap Dancing Beginning and Intermediate, Acupuncture Massage, Macrobiotic/Natural Food Cooking, Oriental Palm/Face Reading, Methane Gas From Waste, Living with Shortages in the Connecticut Valley, Colonial Restoration/Interior Decorating, Design/Build Your Own Home, Designing Your Own Solar Greenhouse, Home Buyers' Workshop, Real Estate, Large and Small Animal Management for the Self-Sufficient Farm/Homestead, Fiddle Workshop, Folk Guitar Finger Style, Jazz/Improvisational Violin, Jazz/Rock Guitar, Sign Language/Finger Style, American Sign Language [illegible] Advanced, Literary Analysis of [illegible] Religious Texts, Creative Poetry Workshop, Grassroots Publishing, Logic of Poetry, Buddhist Insight Meditation, Creative Movement, Dreams/Dream Interpretation, Eurhythmics, Guide to Better Health Care, Living with Your Teenager, Managing Yourself Creatively, Self Defeat/Self Realization, Basic News/Public Affairs Photography, Basic Photography, 35mm Camera Workshop, LSAT Workshop, Porch Index of Communicative Abilities, Hatha Yoga, Kundalini Yoga, Staff Survival in Alternative Agencies, Hot Air Ballooning, Local Flora, Tropical Plant Families and Their Culture, Special Education Para-professional Training, and Elderhostel Workshops.

DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS/AMHERST

Photo by ROD KESSLER

Walt Disney's
ALICE
IN WONDERLAND
FRIDAY MAY 6
MAHAR
7, 8:30, 10, 11:30 pm $1.00

LAST MINUTE
ART SUPPLY SALE
For Your Last Minute Project
25¢ off WITH COUPON AD MARKERS 200 COLORS
35¢ off WITH COUPON DUO COLOR MAT BOARD 32"x40" (different color on Either Side)
50¢ off WITH COUPON University Imprint Sketch Pad 18"x 24"
METAL FRAMES -SECTIONAL TYPE ONLY BLACK & SILVER
AT THE UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER
'THE ART STORE WITHIN A STORE'
SALE ENDS SAT., MAY 21

INVALID AFTER 5 21 25¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE AD MARKER THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5 21 35¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE SHEET DUO COLOR MAT BOARD 32"x 40" THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5 21 50¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE UNIVERSITY IMPRINT SKETCH PAD 18" x 24" THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5 21 50¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE SET OF METAL FRAMES-SECTIONAL ONLY THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER

DANCE & THEATRE
SUMMER COURSES

The TRINITY ALIVE SUMMER ARTS FESTIVAL will offer three exciting credit courses in dance and theatre. Judy Dworin has designed a unique course which will explore architectural space in the cityscape of Hartford, require students to keep a movement notebook and will provide video feedback for students' self analysis.

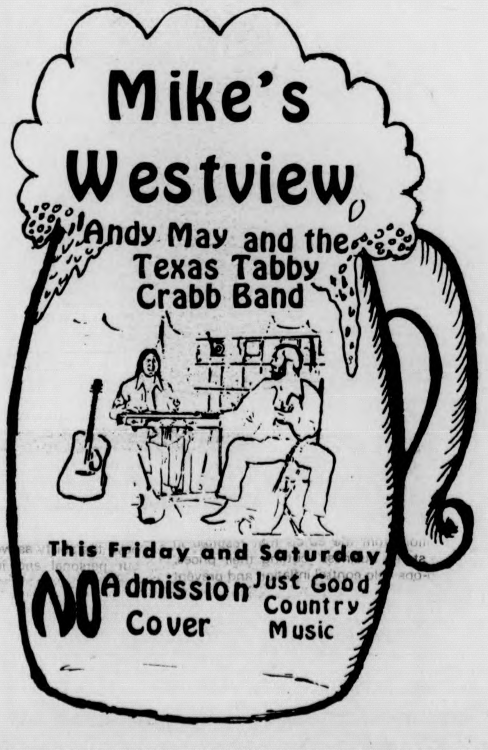
Another course, for graduate credit, is for people who work with people. Discover how movement can be used as a means of expression, a creative problem solver, a means for group interaction and a tool for self-awareness.

The theatre course, taught by George Nichols, will cover acting, movement, directing, scene and play analysis, modes of drama, as well as the technical and business aspects of theatre. SUMMERSTAGE, the new professional theatre company on Trinity's campus, will provide an excellent backdrop for this course with professional designers and Equity actors working with the students.

The College will be alive with a new summer arts festival and air-conditioned apartments are available on campus.

Call 203-527-3151 X 208

SUMMER STUDIES · TRINITY COLLEGE · HARTFORD · CT 06106



Mike's
Westview
Andy May and the
Texas Tabby
Crabb Band
This Friday and Saturday
NO Admission Cover
Just Good Country Music

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 138 MONDAY, MAY 9, 1977
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

'Change the system' tenant rally urged

By RICHARD E. BARRELL
Collegian Staff

"If this system can't give us housing at a reasonable cost, then it is time to change the system," said Mary Wentworth of the Colonial Village Tenants Association speaking at a rally Saturday on Amherst Common sponsored by Amherst Tenant's Association (ATA).

Addressing a group of some fifty persons Wentworth said 42 per cent of Amherst's citizens live in rental housing, and face problems such as leaking faucets, poor insulation, poor plumping and inadequate electric service. Wentworth said she feels rent control would help tenants get some control over these problems and the high rent they face.

An article proposing rent control will be debated this week at town meeting, according to ATA spokesperson Anne Shlay. Shlay said the rally was called to warn tenants about the rent control article and that landlords would probably not notify tenants of planned rent increases until after it is acted on.

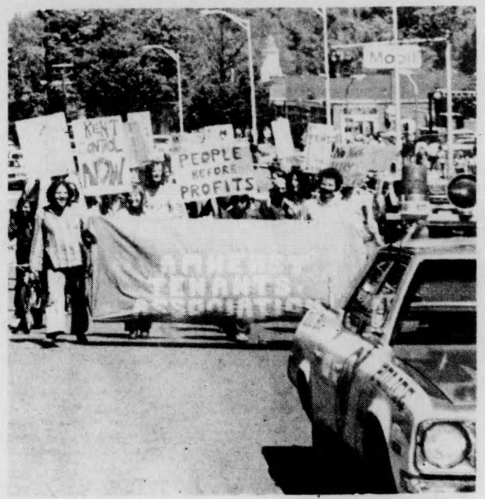
A similar article was defeated in the previous town meeting and a special election, according to selectman Dianna Romer.

Wentworth said more money would remain in the community if rent control was enacted since much of Amherst housing is owned outside the area and the state. If tenants don't have to spend so much money for rent, they will have more to spend in the community for groceries, services, and recreation, she added.

"We are no longer quiet and we are no longer going to pay rent under these circumstances," Wentworth said. Rent control is not a cure all, but it will force landlords to open their books and show true costs, she said.

Shlay said she was pleased by the "excellent" turnout and predicted more demonatrations in the future.

Wentworth said the turnout was especially pleasing, when taking into consideration the Spring Concert at UMass, the Northampton craft fair, and the Seabrook antinuclear power action involved many persons wh would have been there.



Amherst Tenants' Association demonstrators march to the common with police escort. (Staff photo by Dick Barrell.)

Hampshire to sell S. Africa stock

By JOE MAGLITTA
Collegian Staff

Hampshire College today will sell some of its stock in firms with interests in South Africa, President Charles R. Longsworth said in an interview last night.

The four-day student occupation of the Coles Science Center-Administration Building ended Saturday afternoon when Longsworth announced $19,000 in common stock in International Harvester, Clark Equipment, and Exxon would be sold today.

Longsworth said a decision to sell about $20,000 in Texaco stock depended on conversations with Harold Johnson of Florida, founder of Hampshire College.

While Johnson is not "actively involved" with the college, Longsworth said he nonetheless manages the investment of his gifts for the college.

"We have won a partial victory," said Joel Saxe, spokesperson for the Hampshire Committee for the Liberation of South Africa. "You have to look at this thing in context. Considering all the circumstances, we achieved what we set out to do, though we have only won a concession. The fact remains that the Texaco stocks still have not been sold. It appears that the president and the trustees do not want to bother (Harold) Johnson."

Last Wednesday morning at 4:30, Saxe and about 25 members of the group locked themselves inside the first floor of Coles Science Center to protest the school's holdings in segregationalist South Africa.

During negotiations with school administrators Wednesday, the group also demanded the establishment of moral and political guidelines for the college's ownership of stocks.

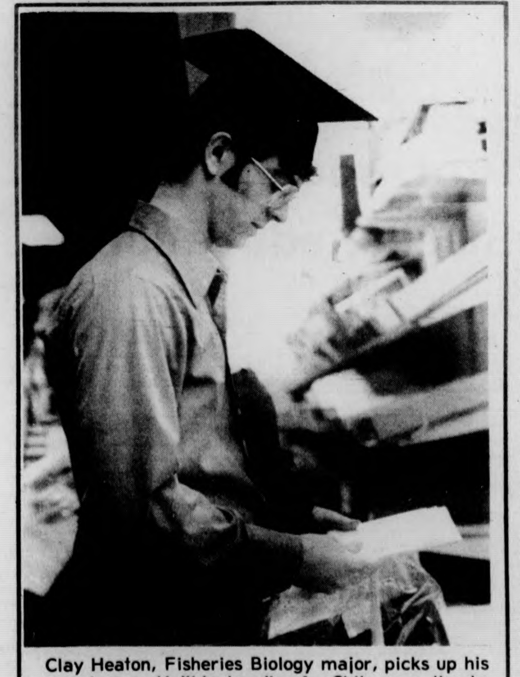
Longsworth announced in a prepared statement Saturday that Treasurer Allen L. Torrey will "prepare a policy for investment of college funds which will assume orderly consideration of a range of criteria, including moral and ethical implications."

Longsworth said the policy guidelines will be completed by September.

No punitive action will be taken against the student occupiers, who evacuated the building at about 2:15 p.m. Saturday, Longsworth said.

Saxe said the efforts to oppose South Africa's apartheid policy will continue after the group evaluates the completed policy guidelines in September. At present, they will continue to work with the Third World community at Hampshire to further student unity, he said.

"We did not want to build a movement against the college itself, but on the broader issue of South Africa. We showed the community what could be done and they showed us a great deal of support. We can only win concessions, but we will continue," Saxe said.



Clay Heaton, Fisheries Biology major, picks up his cap and gown. He'll be heading for Chile soon; thanks to the Peace Corps. (Staff photo by Steve Parrott)

Judges dismiss charges against SWA candidates

By JOHN M. MORAN
Collegian Staff

Three judges ordered charges dismissed against the five candidates in the April 20 Southwest Assembly elections accused of violations of campaign regulations and misuse of campaign funds at the trial held last Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the Student Union Building.

The judges dismissed the charges just before midnight after the trial had been in progress for nearly four and one-half hours.

"Basically, the charges were dropped because of a lack of evidence on the part of the prosecution," said defense advocate Harry Quirk of George Washington Tower in Southwest.

Diane Fessenden, Bruce Berkowitz, Bonnie Ward, Greg Maynard, and Joanie Mersky were charged with misuse of campaign funds for printing the phrase "For Southwest T-shirts call Jeff 546-5068" at the bottom of table tent advertisement cards which the defendants placed in the dining commons during the course of their campaign.

The defense contended in the trial that the defendants did perform the actions described in the complaint, but these actions were not against either Southwest Elections Rules and Regulations or University Rules end Regulations.

"In effect, what we are saying was that the charges did not apply," said Russ Skelton, the other defense advocate.

Louis Capponi, prosecuting advocate, said last night in an interview he did not agree with the decision of the judges but he could understand their interpretation of the rules.

"The rules can be interpreted two ways," said Capponi. "I was trying to apply a loose interpretation and the judges decided to apply a strict interpretation."

"The whole trial seemed pretty ludicrous," said SWA Vice-President-elect Bruce Berkowitz, a defendant in the trial. "Now that the trial is over we hope we can get on with the business we were elected to do."

Three of the defendants took the stand in their own defense. They were Fessenden, Maynard, and Mersky.

"It (the trial) was boring and tedious but we thought each of the defendants should have their say," said defense advocate Skelton.

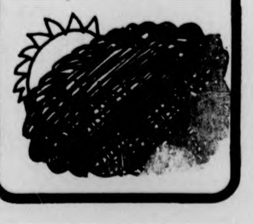
The charges were dismissed before we called the other two candidates. We could have been there a long time."

The candidates had also been charged with disregarding a ruling of the Southwest Election Committee Chairperson Paul Banks who said candidates in the election could not campaign in the dining commons.

Quirk said that charge was dropped when it was determined that the ruling by Banks had not had the proper SWA endorsement.

Marcus Hathaway and Carlos Miranda were two of the judes at the trial with Julie Leonard as the presiding judge.

weather



$13.9M in grants given UMass

By JOE MAGLITTA
Collegian Staff

UMass was awarded $13.9 million in research grants during fiscal year (FY) 1976, the highest amount in five years, according to a recently published report from the Office of Grant and Contract Administration.

The report Sponsored Activities for Fiscal Year 1976, said during the period from July 1, 1975 to June 30, 1976, 391 separate research, education, and public service grants were awarded for the Amherst campus. The report does not include state-funded projects.

The faculty of Natural Sciences and Mathematics collected the largest share of funds, receiving over $4.3 million in federal and private aid for 113 projects. Their funds accounted for 31 per cent of all awards granted.

Physics-Astronomy topped all departments in this section with grants amounting $1.6 million.

However, the highest percentage increase over the past three years was registered by the School of Health Sciences, whose total funds rose 197 per cent to $1.6 million in 1976. The school engaged 11 researchers in 25 separate projects, many geared toward research at the University Health Services.

While the average per-project grant from federal agencies was about $34,000, the report showed some uneveness in the distribution of funds.

Sixteen individual projects received at least $100,000, in support or direct costs, accounting for almost 30 per cent of all direct costs.

Three of the sixteen projects, funded by the National Science Foundation, totaled $1.3 million or nine per cent of all funds awarded.

The largest of the three, "National Disaster Recovery Processes", was awarded to Peter H. Rossi and James D. Wright of the Sociology Department. Grant for the project was $496,564.

According to the report, 82 per cent of the $13.9 million total came from federal sources, accounting for $11.42 million. Aid from The National Science Foundation increased sharply in FY 1976, as the agency provided almost one-third of all federal funds.

Similarly, direct costs from the Energy Research and Development Administration were 70 per cent higher than those awarded by the former Atomic Energy Commission.

Despite a 50 per cent plunge in funding from agencies in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, approximately one-fifth of all federal money awarded the University originated there.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts provided almost half of all non-federal aid. The remainder was divided among Private Foundations and Industry. Average grant from these sources is $15,000.

The report stated it's findings were not all-inclusive due to late-filing dates for many projects. In addition, data for FY 1974 and 1975 is incomplete because of a reorganization in fact gathering agencies, the report said.

Food Science and Nutrition seniors' Dave Haytowitz, Kim Warner, and Dulce Anderson display sausages which they manufactured as part of a class project. (Staff photo by Steve Parrott)

Roughaging it

Vegetables aid health

By PIA TALABACH and DORIS DOHERTY
Collegian Staff

Remember when your mother used to threaten you with, "If you don't eat your spinach, you can't have dessert?" She urged you to finish the food on your plate because "it's good for you."

In addition to its nutritional value, she might have told you it contained roughage. Roughage, also called fiber or bulk, has been proved beneficial in preventing the onslaught of many diseases of the digestive system.

Roughage is found most commonly in the skins of fruits, in whole grain breads and cereals, some vegetables, such as lettuce and celery, and for all you popcorn fanatics out there, roughage is found in the husk of the kernel. More specifically, it can be defined as those parts of plants which can't be digested by the human, and therefore leave the body virtually unchanged.

You probably thought roughage was an insignificant part of your diet. Recent studies, conducted by D.P. Burkitt, a member of the Medical Research Council of London, suggest roughage is an important part of the diet and is essential in maintaining health. These studies compared diets of rural African villages with Western diets. The African diet was composed of unrefined, raw or fresh foods, whereas the Western diet was more refined due to processing. It was found that the diets of increased fiber promoted regularity and more frequent elimination.

The studies indicate an increase in diseases especially with the colon (a section of the large intestines) in the more affluent societies, such as ours. Among the disorders are constipation, irritable colon, obesity, and coronary heart disease.

Although these disorders may be related to the fiber in the diet, other factors also contribute to their occurrence. These include the increase of fat, protein and sugar intake.

There are many factors to be considered when looking for the cause of a disease and not one factor can take all the blame. A moderate increase in dietary fiber in the form of raw foods can be a valuable investment. What you eat now will more than likely have an effect on your health in the years to come.

Farewell Staff Box

Issue Editor
Peter (I did it my way) Wallace

Day Layout	Hilary Sallet
Wire Slave	Paul Blumberh
Prince of Darkness	Rob (Tri-x) Carlin
Photo Plunkies	Steve Parrot, John Sideropoulos
Addled Layout	Brian Campbell (Who?)
Laid out	Paul Yanosandwich
Alienated	Betsy Grose

Thanxs to the people at Ware
"I'm outta here"

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$9

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusettss, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery to start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545 3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst, Massachusetts 01003. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Food Sci. feast features more than cold beer, hotdogs

By STEVE PARROTT
Collegian Staff

Beer, hotdogs, hamburgs, pickles, catsup... the usual ingredients for your usual picnic. In fact, everything seemed quite usual at this picnic alongside the lazy Connecticut on a steamy Friday afternoon.

Frisbees, softballs, even some jugglers served to entertain (in the usual ways) about thirty UMass students and faculty. So what's so interesting about this one picnic in a season where every family, club and dorm held their "usual" spring picnic?

Food. Food made the difference. Food Science and Nutrition (FS&N) seniors made the food. Over a dozen different foods were prepared, processed, and packaged by these industrious students. Working in groups of four, each group was assigned a food category, such as meats, baked goods, and beverages. Each group researched formulations and procedures of processing for their particular foodstuff.

The meats group, for example, visited a slaughterhouse and shortly thereafter obtained a steer and lamb from a UMass herd. Et voila, hamburgs, lamburgs, steaks, and sausage. Prof. E. M. Buck and Kim Warner were largely responsible for this ambitious undertaking.

Raw milk was secured from the UMass Dairy in Deerfield. Under the direction of food scientists Dr. Frank Potter and Don Lynch, the milk was homogenized, pasteurized, then manufactured into chocolate chip ice cream.

Food Science Prof. Dr. D. A. Evans and colleague Bob Barrysouskas combined efforts to direct the brewing of fifteen gallons of beer. Some felt the group went overboard in their fermentation, though, since a reputed alcohol content of 10 per cent was noted. Commercial beers contain about six per cent alcohol.

Packaging proved to be a problem for the snackfoods group. According to Carol Nally, Food Science senior, the group manufactured about fifteen pounds of potato chips and packed them in paper lined boxes. The boxes were then placed in cold storage where moisture penetrated the paper resulting in a stale product. Many consumers never realize how important and expensive packaging can be.

In fact, consumers fail to realize many of the problems which confront the food manufacturer today. Problems with natural and additive toxicity, flavor, and color are just a few considerations for the food scientist. Graduates from the UMass FS&N department are dealing with these problems on an every-day basis in industries scattered world-wide.

Like it or not, the consumer must place his-her trust in these picnicking seniors. Their rigorous curriculum, which includes four years of chemistry, has prepared them to do more than cook hotdogs and hamburgs; they are prepared to research and develop all future foods and trust in them, we must.

Prof. speaks on Blacks, education

By MARY CUSTARD
Black Affairs Staff

Black Affairs

Dr. Jacquelyne Jackson, an associate professor at Duke University, highlighted CCEBS third annual "Family Day" Saturday with a speech on blacks in higher education.

"Black students owe their souls before they get their first jobs," Jackson said. "Many times these students who have loans do not finish their education and leave school without receiving a degree, but they are still in debt."

Jackson went on to say "there is nothing wrong with a black women making money and having power," and drew cheers from the women in the audience.

"The key to being able to raise our successive generations to a higher social status is not education but income," Jackson asked.

The day began at 10:00 a.m. with academic counseling sessions at The New Africa House for individual students and their parents. A banquet followed at the Campus Center where jackson and members of the CCEBS staff addressed the crowd.

Dr. Michael Jackson, director of CCEBS, began the afternoon ceremonies as he explained the purpose of CCEBS.

Jackson and Carol Miranda, a member of the CCEBS staff, then presented plaques and certificates of awards to students with honors in academic areas. LuJuane Crockett won the Shirley Graham DuBois Community Service Award given to the person that other students and faculty feel has made the most outstanding contribution to the community.

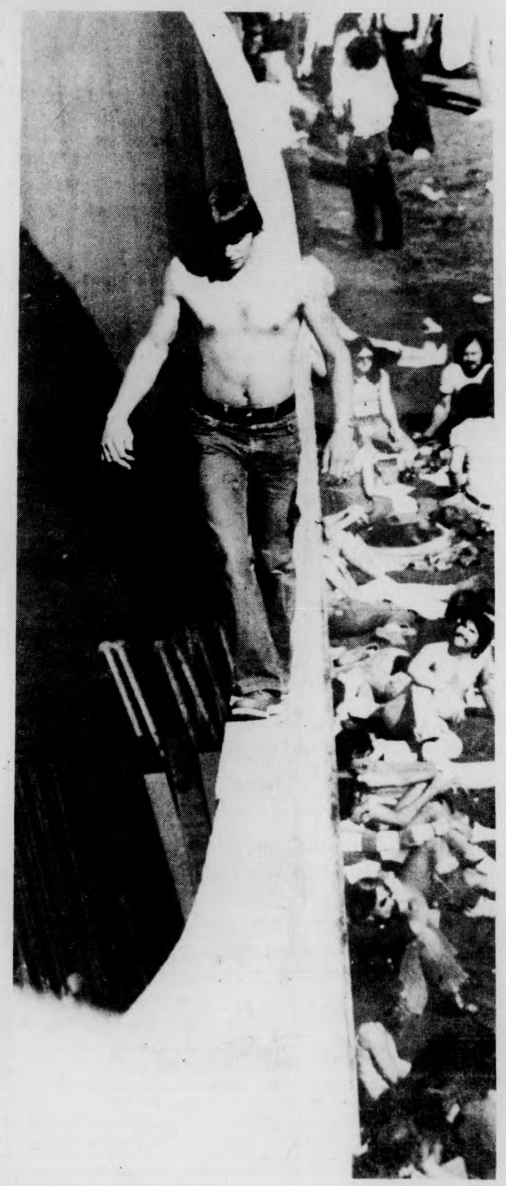
After the banquet, additional counseling sessions were held at the New Africa House, and refreshments were provided by "Yvonne."

The day was a complete success as it drew students, parents, and faculty together.

Spring Concert: NOTEworthy...

by

Chris Bourne



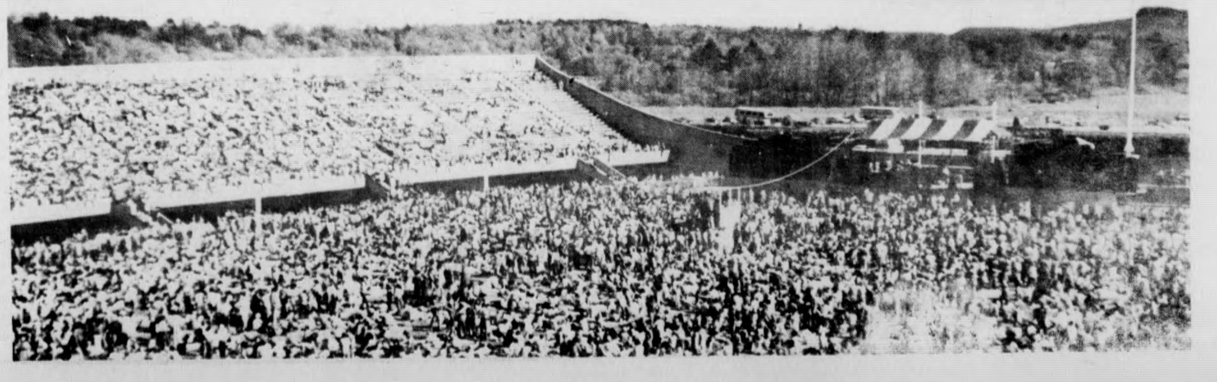
There were over 20,000 people there. People came to drink. People came to smoke. And most of all people who came to enjoy a bit of sun and music.

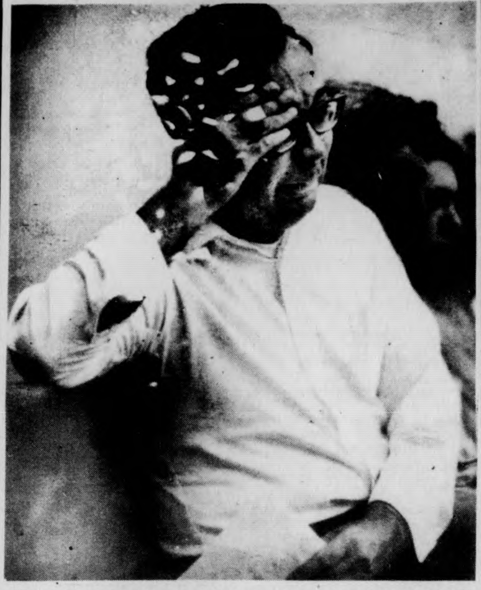
They stayed from 10:30 in the morning till 10:30 at night. During that time, there was music to please almost any kind of taste. Conjunto Libre played the Latin beat.

Coming back after a few years semi-retirement, Melanie played new songs that she had written over the past few years.

.Richie Havens brought the crowd to its feet with his folk rock songs and gyrations around the stage.

Pousette Dart and Procol Harem warmed up the crowd for the act everyone was waiting for: Southwide Johnnie and the Asbury Jukes. Southside played under the lights and sent everyone home in high spirits. (Some higher than others.)





FLORIDA: Attorney Roger Aldworth of West Palm Beach sits in courtroom awaiting arraignment after being arrested and charged with attempting to murder a U.S. Representative on Saturday. Police discovered a loaded gun in Aldworth's briefcase. (UPI)

CIA accused of slandering Warren report critics

BALTIMORE [UPI] — The CIA and the State Department waged a campaign after the Warren Commission issued its report on the assassination of President John Kennedy to discredit the commission's critics and bolster confidence in its report, the Baltimore News American reported yesterday.

The News American said it based its conclusion on documents obtained under the Freedom of Information Act by author Mark Lane, a critic of the investigation into Kennedy's death.

According to the newspaper, the documents show the State Department and the CIA viewed attacks on the Warren report as a "matter of concern to the U.S. government" and plotted ways to build up the reputation of the commission.

The CIA reportedly tried to discredit the critics by trying to convince some politicians and editors that further speculation on the Warren Commission's conclusion played into the hands of America's enemies.

Lane said the CIA took the approach that all critics had formed their opinions before evidence was in and were politically interested, financially motivated or "infatuated with their own theories."

Lane said the documents show the State Department became involved in 1964 when the Ugandan minister of education, Abuk Mayanja, told the International Association of Democratic Lawyers, a group of attorneys conducting their own investigation of the assassination, that he felt the assassination was the result of a conspiracy.

Nixon under fire

HOUSTON [UPI] — Former Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski said yesterday in addition to the famous 18½ minute gap on a White House tape recording, a Dictabelt subpoenaed from President Nixon turned out to be almost blank.

Nixon apparently began dictating a memo about a phone conversation with former Attorney General John Mitchell on the Dictabelt, he said. But when investigators played it, the only words on it were, "Now John."

LEGISLATIVE INTERNSHIPS
AVAILABLE PRACTICUMS——
INDEPENDANT STUDY

★ MONITER HIGHER EDUCATION BILLS
★ ADVOCATE STUDENT RIGHTS AND LEGISLATION TO THE LEGISLATURE IN BOSTON ★ BUILD ALLIANCES AND MULTI CAMPUS COALITIONS
★ DO LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH
★ DRAFT BILLS ADVOCATING STUDENT INTERESTS

THE PROGRAM IS BEING COORDINATED BY THE STUDENT CENTER FOR EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH AND THE STUDENT ORGANIZING PROJECT. CREDIT CAN BE ATTAINED THROUGH VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS. APPLY BEFORE THE END OF THE SEMESTER AT THE SCER S OFFICE, ROOM 406 SUB

Moving Sale

25% off all canvas bags, accessories & gift items - lots of Mother's day & graduation gift ideas!

Kaleidoscope Handprints
16 Main St. Amherst

CRAZY ABOUT THE SUN?

Me, too. And I don't intend to miss a single day on the beach.

That's my number one reason for choosing Tampax tampons when I'm having my menstrual period.

They're worn internally. So there's nothing to get in your way. And nothing to show or feel bulky. Even in a bikini.

Sun…fun…and Tampax tampons. A combination that really works.

The internal protection more women trust
TAMPAX® tampons
MADE ONLY BY TAMPAX INCORPORATED, PALMER, MASS

NEW BREAK THROUGH IN HUMAN POTENTIAL

- Levitation
- Invisibility
- Flying

The
TRANSCENDENTAL MEDITATION PROGRAM –
DEVELOPMENT OF CONSCIOUSNESS, ENLIGHTENMENT AND
SUPER NORMAL ABILITIES.

Introductory Lecture by the New England Board of Governors

TUES., MAY 10, 12:30 p.m.
UMASS CAMPUS CENTER
ROOM 168 (below Concourse Level)
Sims 549-5335

©1976 World Plan Executive Council—U.S. All rights reserve
Transcendental Meditation™ and TM® are service marks of WPEC—U.S., a non-profit educational organization.

Whalen Stationery
AND
Office Supply Co.
HEADQUARTERS
FOR
- Furniture
- Filing Supplies
- School Supplies
- Business Forms

Complete Zerox
Copy Center
141 MAIN ST.
NORTHAMPTON
584-3794

WHO KILLED JFK?
What really happened in Dallas
Slide Show and Lecture
PLUS: The Zapruder Film of the Assassination
TODAY
STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
3:00 & 8 p.m.
GSEU 75c donation

APPLY NOW FOR WORK
STUDY JOBS IN THE SUMMER
HELP ORGANIZE DEPARTMENT COUNCILS
HELP ORGANIZE THE CAMPUS COMMUNICATION NETWORK
WRITE AND LAYOUT THE NEWS LETTERS, PAMPHLETS
DESIGN POSTERS
DO RESEARCH, WRITE ARTICLES
APPLY AT THE STUDENT ORGANIZING PROJECT 426 SUB
545-2515 BEFORE THE END OF THE SEMESTER.

MASSACHUSETTS BAY
COMMUNITY COLLEGE
Division of Continuing Education
50 Oakland Street, Wellesley Hills 02181
3 SUMMER SESSIONS
Over 100 courses Courses to Choose From Registration Dates: -
Day I June 1
Evening June 1
Day II July 14
For catalog, call 237-1100 ext. 180

Position Open
Central Area Govt. Activities Coordinator
-$10 a week salary
-Organize & initiate activities in the Area
Come to the Last meeting Monday, May 9th, 7:15 P.M. AT THE CHADBOURRNE DORM SEMINAR ROOM (IN THE BASEMENT)

Fashionable
Imported Clothing for Women

SAVE 30%
to 70%
Dresses
Pants
Skirts
Blouses

SPECIAL PURCHASE
Slightly Irregular
Women's Clothing at
Ridiculously Low Prices

Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office. Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Foreign official 'critical' after assassination wound

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina [UPI] — Foreign Minister Cesar Guzzetti rested under intensive care at a police hospital yesterday, conscious and alert, but in critical condition from a gunshot wound he received in an attack by Montonero guerrillas, sources said.

Guzzetti, a 52-year-old Navy Vice admiral, was waylaid and shot in the head in a private clinic Saturday morning by "two or three" guerrillas, the military sources said.

Rushed to the Bartolome Churruca Hospital, Guzzetti underwent surgery for removal of the bullet and was placed under intensive care in "extremely critical condition," from "severe cranial trauma," a government communique said.

Despite the government's "reserved prognosis," military sources said the foreign minister regained consciousness late Saturday, listened to doctors tell him what had happened to him and blinked his eyes to indicate he understood what was said.

The sources said Guzzetti was conscious and alert yesterday and showed no immediate evidence of paralysis, but experienced some awkwardness in moving his right arm and leg.

A brief government statement yesterday described Guzzetti's condition only as "good, with no change in the overall clinical picture."

The assassination attempt, the first on a member of military President Jorge Videla's cabinet, came at 11:50 a.m. Saturday when Guzzetti went for his weekly check-up at a private clinic.

The sources said Guzzetti stepped out of an elevator to be met by two or three guerrillas who jumped him, put a pillow over his head as a muffler, shot him once and fled. They left a briefcase containing four hand grenades and two bombs. A nearby wall bore the hastily painted word "Montoneros."

Economic summit ends; Carter endorses program

LONDON (AP) — President Carter and the leaders of six other non-Communist industrial nations ended their two-day Downing Street summit conference yesterday, saying the "most urgent task" was to create jobs while cutting inflation.

They pledged to "maintain the momentum" of economic growth, expand trade and begin an urgent study of ways to expand the use of nuclear energy while preventing the spread of atomic weapons.

A surprise decision called for a ban against irregular practices and improper conduct in international trade.

Carter endorsed the action, saying, "we believe the time has come for international control and prohibition against illegalities, bribery, extortion and other actions that have sometimes been condoned in trade, commerce and banking."

The leaders, who referred to their meeting as the "Downing Street Summit," said in a 700-word joint communique they were committing their governments to meet the targets for economic growth they previously had set to "provide a basis for sustained noninflationary growth" around the world.

"We are determined to respond collectively to the challenges of the future," they said. "Our most urgent task is to create more jobs while continuing to reduce inflation."

LONDON: President Jimmy Carter discusses world economics with other international leaders at the London summit.

SUMMER WORK
EARN $278.80 per week

EAST GO
WEST

NO CAR NECESSARY
INTERVIEWS TODAY
11:00, 1:00, 3:00, 5:00, 7:00
CAMPUS CENTER ROOM 811-815
MUST BE HARD WORKER AND INDEPENDENT
Please be prompt

Bell wants FBI charter

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Attorney General Griffin Bell says he favors a charter for the FBI so agents know exactly what they may and may not do.

Bell, interviewed by U.S. News and World Report, said, "I'm very much in favor of a charter. I don't think it's fair for the FBI not to know definitely — chapter and verse — what it is supposed or not supposed to do.

" ... Right now, the FBI's authority comes from my authority. I'm the person who has to sign off on the things it does, and I don't want to be in a position where I may spend the rest of my life being sued by people who claim that I've authorized something illegal."

Bell said "morale in the FBI is low" because of the indictment of a New York agent. "They (agents) are very upset. They feel the whole FBI has been indicted. They're worried about it and so am I."

He said he would make the decision, going "by the law and my conscience," on whether any more agents will be indicted for acts such as illegal entry in the course of an investigation.

The attorney general said the FBI is delving more and more into Medicaid and Medicare fraud and, "We may want to use the FBI a little more on antitrust investigations. The old days of just building up impressive statistics based on autho theft cases are gone."

On other topics, Bell said:

— There have no national security wiretaps against Americans in the Carter administration, but he would not comment about wiretaps in criminal cases.

— He is "not really that upset" about leaks of grand jury proceedings and does not favor laws against leakers. "I don't think anything ought to be against the law. I think maybe we have too many laws already."

— He supports affirmative action "goals" but not quotas and favors the Equal Rights Amendment.

Humphrey knocks Nixon talk: 'He wasn't leveling with us'

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. [UPI] — Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., said David Frost's televised interview with Richard Nixon was "saddening" because the former president was not candid.

"I felt he wasn't leveling with his audience. I felt he was still covering up," Humphrey said of his old political foe.

"I caught some of the first part of the interview and quite honestly I was saddened by it," the former vice president said Saturday. Humphrey was visiting the hometown of the late President Harry Truman to receive a Truman Public Service Award.

Humphrey, who lost the 1968 president election to Nixon, said in a news conference that seeing the widely publicized Nixon interviews with Frost was like "exhuming a body."

"This Watergate was just an ugly, ugly, mean, nasty chapter in American history and I don't see any need for it to be replayed," he said.

"I think we've had enough of it. There's still suspicion and concern over the power of the executive branch.

"But Watergate has had its good points too. It caused Congress to adopt a more stringent code of ethics policy, for example."

Humphrey, vice president under President Lyndon Johnson, said the post-Watergate era opened a new chapter in American politics.

"Out of all the difficulties we've had, we've learned that American society is a very human instrument. We learn from pain, from suffering," he said. "The reforms that have come, have come as a result of crisis."

You Can Find Your Future in the Legal Profession

If you are seeking a career opportunity — WSU offers several ways in which you can enter the legal profession. Full-Time Students: Can earn a J.D. Degree and be eligible to take the California State Bar Examination in 2½ or 3 years. Part-Time Students: Can graduate in 3½ or 4 years of study with the same degree as a full-time student by attending class an average of 3 times per week, 3 hours per class. There are schedules to fit many needs — classes are offered days, evenings and weekends. Western State University College of Law has a Whole Person Admissions Policy - applicants are screened for academic background, personal aptitude, general experience, maturity and motivation. Applications are now being accepted for Fall Semester from men and women with two or more years of college credits. To obtain catalog fill out and mail advertisement to either of our two campuses.

Western State University College of Law. Dept. 106

1111 N. State College Blvd.
Fullerton, CA 92631
Phone (714) 993-7600

1333 Front Street
San Diego, CA 92101
Phone (714) 231-0300

(Print)
Name ______
Street ______
City ______ State ______ Zip ______

APPLY NOW FOR FALL SEMESTER. CLASSES START AUGUST 25

Although the cost of professional education continues to spiral, tuition at WSU remains among the most moderate in the nation.

Western State University College of Law

Fully accredited by the State Bar of California and by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges.
Students eligible for Federally Insured Student Loans.

Emporium india

SIDEWALK SALES!
THURS—SAT 5/12 - 5/14

RIDICULOUSLY low PRICES
MON—THURS 10-5 10-5 FRI 10-9
SAT 10-6 549-6400

Giscard rebukes Concorde slurs

LONDON [UPI] — French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing said yesterday that unless the Anglo-French Concorde airliner was permitted to land in New York France would draw some conclusions about the "real will" of the United States to improve free trade in the world.

In an interview with the NBC Radio network, Giscard said the supersonic transport should be allowed to land at New York's Kennedy airport because "the airport is on the sea, and the sea is crowded by fish — not by people."

It was "absolutely contradictory to use a complicated device of law to prevent an experiment that has been authorized by the federal American authorities," he said.

The U.S. Department of Transportation authorized a 16-month experiment of Concorde landings at Dulles airport outside Washington but a similar trial in New York was blocked by the New York port authority.

In the interview, Giscard compared people objecting to Concorde to those who objected to railroads in the last century.

"In France last century," the French president said, "we had the same problem with railroads when some towns decided it would prevent the trains from coming in because of the noise and because of the smoke."

He asked, "Do you think that was a sensible decision?"

France will "draw some conclusions about the real will of the United States to progress on the discussion for improving the free trade in the world" if the Concorde is rejected in New York, Giscard said.

The interview was recorded during the Downing Street economic summit in which the seven leading Western industrial democracies committed themselves to the expansion of free trade.

DANCE & THEATRE SUMMER COURSES

The TRINITY ALIVE SUMMER ARTS FESTIVAL will offer three exciting credit courses in dance and theatre. Judy Dworin has designed a unique course which will explore architectural space in the cityscape of Hartford, require students to keep a movement notebook and will provide video feedback for students' self analysis.

Another course, for graduate credit, is for people who work with people. Discover how movement can be used as a means of expression, a creative problem solver, a means for group interaction and a tool for self-awareness.

The theatre course, taught by George Nichols, will cover acting, movement, directing, scene and play analysis, modes of drama, as well as the technical and business aspects of theatre. SUMMERSTAGE, the new professional theatre company on Trinity's campus, will provide an excellent backdrop for this course with professional designers and Equity actors working with the students.

The College will be alive with a new summer arts festival and air-conditioned apartments are available on campus.

Call 203-527-3151 X 208

SUMMER STUDIES · TRINITY COLLEGE · HARTFORD · CT 06106

Appearing Tonite
ZANZIBAR
TUES.
Benefit for Kamp for Kids
WED.
Pousette Dart Band
Coming MAY 14
James Cotton
WITH Mitch Chakour
AT
The rusty nail Inc.
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937

Cops ready for violence in Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland [UPI] — Police organized special flying squads to protect workers against possible violent clashes today with backers of a faltering, Protestant-led general strike.

The move came yesterday after the Ulster Freedom Fighters, an outlawed Protestant paramilitary group, threatened open coercion against workers defying a call for intensifying the six-day strike on Monday.

"The police cannot protect everyone," the group said.

Government leaders took the threat seriously — a government source said "It could lead to a very serious escalation in the situation" — and organized police squads to protect workers and major factories today.

The Ulster statement coincided with attacks on two bus drivers in Belfast. One was shot in the side by a gunman who boarded the bus. The other was badly burned when four men firebombed his bus.

Everyone's Invited To UNIVERSITY FOOD SERVICES 11TH ANNUAL
ALL-CAMPUS BARBECUE
TUES., MAY 10th 4:30 - 7:00 P.M. SOUTHWEST PLAYING FIELDS
½ Barbecued Chicken
All the Fixin's & Coke
Beer Available
University Meal Ticket or $2.75 admission
featuring
"SPERM WHALE"
IN CASE OF RAIN, MEAL WILL BE SERVED IN ALL D.C.
FRANKLIN D.C. WILL BE OPEN FOR INDOOR SERVICE

nancy waskiewicz

Israel raps U.S. on aid list; Rabin is wary of peace help

TEL AVIV, Israel [UPI] — Israeli leaders yesterday reacted angrily to reports the United States has excluded the Jewish country from a list of nations with priority to receive U.S. arms supplies and "insisted" that it be given top consideration.

"Israel will insist on occupying the preferred position and will not agree to remain with all the rest," Foreign Minister Yigal Allon told the cabinet session.

"The matter should be seen as severe and serious," Allon commented in response to reports the United States has made up a list of nations — NATO countries, Australia and Japan — that should get top priority in weapons supplies.

Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, who last month took leave of absence because of his Washington bank account scandal, emerged from political obscurity to warn the United States against imposing a peace plan on Israel.

"If the Americans bring a program of their own, they will lose their unique position in the Middle East," Rabin said, speaking in public for the first time since he took the leave.

Allon's comments were leaked to the state radio immediately after the close of the cabinet meeting. Government sources said the minister would raise the matter with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance in talks later this week.

Acting Prime Minister Shimon Peres declared Israel would use every possible means to guarantee what he called its special relationship with the United States in weapons supply, production and development, the radio said.

"Israel's strength is vital for self-defense and negotiations with the Arabs," Peres said.

Reacting to Vance's hints last week that the United States would propose a plan of its own for Middle East peace, Peres said Israel would prefer to see Washington limit itself to a supporting role in negotiations with the Arabs.

If the United States introduces its own plan it is likely to get into a fight with one side or both, he said.

SPENDING THE SUMMER IN NEW YORK?

ADVANCE YOUR COLLEGE CAREER. TAKE SOME COURSES AT HUNTER.

Art
Biology
Black Studies
Chemistry
Cinema
Classics
Communications
Economics Education
English
Foreign Languages
Geology/Geography
Health & Physical Education History
Home Economics
Mathematics
Music
Puerto Rican Studies
Philosophy
Physics and Astronomy
Political Science Psychology
Sociology
Urban Affairs

The distinguished Hunter Faculty teaches during the six week Summer Session (both day and evening). Reasonable fees are made possible by the support of the City and State of New York. The college is conveniently located on the Upper East Side at 68th Street between Park and Lexington.

For further information write or call:
SCHOOL OF GENERAL STUDIES
HUNTER COLLEGE
OF THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK
695 PARK AVENUE, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10021
(212) 570-5646

Soviets pressure 'free' papers

LENINGRAD [UPI] — Soviet authorities are threatening to close down the nation's two unofficial publications and try their principal officers, the editor of one of the publications said yesterday.

Emilia Sotnikova, 30, Leningrad editor of "Jews in the USSR," said Soviet writer David Dar was told by a Soviet official that "we are going to shut down all publications which are not officially sanctioned. I will see you either in the dock or in the witness box."

She said the 69-year-old Dar was told this by an unidentified man at the Soviet visa office Saturday, where he was seeking permit to leave for Israel.

Earlier, he had renounced his membership in the Union of Soviet Writers, which he had held for 29 years.

Dar also released a letter he wrote to a group of prominent authors, including Saul Bellow, Arthur Miller, and Jean-Paul Sartre, asking for their help in keeping "Jews in the USSR" from being closed down.

Mrs. Sotnikova, whose apartment has been searched several times by Soviet Secret Police, said she has been summoned to appear at the Leningrad prosecutors office on May 10.

There are only two major unofficial publications in the Soviet Union — "Jews in the USSR" and the "Chronicle of Current Events," a Moscow publication put out by the Russian democratic movement.

"If these two publications are closed down, it would sever the last links of the active unofficial movement in the Soviet Union," Mrs. Sotnikova said.

Dar, in his letter of resignation from the union, said he was not a Communist "but actually I appear to be involved in a staff of workers of a pure political party department which calls itself the Union of Soviet Writers.

OPEC seeks oil pricing compromise

BEIRUT, Lebanon [UPI] — The price split within the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries will not endanger the cartel's unity, Qatar Oil Minister Abdel Aziz Ben Khalifa Al Thani said in an interview published yesterday.

"In fact, the coming days will bring a new surprise to oil producers and consumers...It will be a pleasant surprise...and it will be soon," Al Thani, who is OPEC chairman, was quoted as saying by the An Nahar newspaper.

He did not elaborate but oil industry sources said the surprise could involve a possible settlement of the price split within OPEC.

Work—Study Job Available

A 20 hour per week work-study secretary-research assistant position is available at $3.50 per hour starting May 15th and running through summer and next academic year. Position is to work on the UMass campus with the ELEMR Project. ELEMR is a research program which is examining the effects of the living environment on residents and staff of Belchertown State School. Although considerable typing and office chores are involved, this job has a variety of tasks and entails exposure to varied data gathering, analytic and statistical techniques. Applicants must be good typists and must be eligible for work-study funds.

Apply Mon.-Fri. 9:00-12:30 p.m. at 208 Middlesex House, UMass, or call 545-1981.

BE FOXY.
AND GET IN ON A GREAT OFFER.

Just kick on a pair of Scholl Exercise Sandals—the sandals that were made for comfort and look as great as they feel. Comfortable 'cause they're made of cool, sculpted beechwood and soft foam-padded leather straps. Great looking 'cause they go with all the casual things you wear. And because they have a special toe grip that makes your toes "hang on," Scholl Sandals exercise your legs while you walk.

So be a real fox, and take advantage of this special offer from the people who make special sandals. Sandals that look great, feel great and exercise your legs all at the same time. Scholl Exercise Sandals—they're fantastic.

Scholl
Better than barefoot

Special T-Shirt offer direct from Scholl.

For your Scholl "Go Natural" T-Shirt, send $3.00 in check or money order (no stamps or cash please) and the words "Scholl Exercise Sandals" cut from the front of the box to:
Scholl Go Natural T-Shirt Offer, P.O. Box 2684,
Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15219

Check your size:
Small (5-6-7)
Medium (8-9-10)
Large (11-12-13)

Name____________________

Address____________________

City__________ State________ Zip________ A32

Offer void where taxed or prohibited by law. Please allow 6 weeks for delivery. Offer limited to Continental U.S. Offer expires March 31, 1978. Scholl, Inc., 213 W. Schiller, Chicago, Il 60610

©1977 Scholl, Inc.

THE RECYCLING PROJECT
WOULD LIKE YOU TO KNOW THAT
WE WILL CONTINUE TO COLLECT
PAPER GLASS AND ALUMINIUM
OVER THE SUMMER
FOR MORE INFO CALL
546 -0618

NOTICES

AASA

Elections will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m., New Africa House Rm 415. All members of the AASA please attend!

CAMP FOR KIDS BENEFIT

Tues., May 10 at Rusty Nail, Sunderland. Featuring Fat, Clean Living, Mission Band, Mitch Chakour, Hot Calypso Key. Door open 7, music begins at 7:30. Donation $4. See you there!

GAMMA SIGMA SIGMA

Mon. night's meeting will be in Rm 903 CC. At 6:15 there will be an executive Board meeting. At 6:45 there will be a general meeting. Everyone is expected to attend.

INTERNATIONAL FOLKDANCING

Last Mon. night dancing of the year tonight. We do all requests in a free for all format, so come and do the dances you want. 8-11 in the Cape Cod Lounge, SU.

LOST

Silver frame glasses in brown case on campus. Reward. 6-7096.

MORTAR BOARD

Important meeting tonight at 7 in CC 911-915 to elect next year's officers. Both old and new members should attend. Question? Call Teresa Wyman 256-6455.

OUTING CLUB

Tonight in CC 165 at 7 p.m. is the Outing Club's LAST meeting of the year. A surprise of entertainment will be provided. All old and new officers please attend. EVERYONE IS WELCOME!

RESOURCES JUDAICA

Important meeting Mon., May 9 at 8 p.m. in CC 175. Elections held and future programming discussed. Here is your opportunity for input and participation. Be there.

RSO DEADLINE

The extended deadline for funded RSO groups who wish to be included in the fall student handbook is Wed., May 11. Send your next semester room and phone number, along with office hours, corrections, and-or new copy to Jim Gagne. Rm 420 SU.

STEREO CO-UP SUMMER HOURS

The Union Stereo Co-op will be open this summer Mon., 9 a.m.-2 p.m.; Thurs., 12-6 p.m.

WOMEN'S COFFE HOUSE — DANCE

Benefit with local singers and Liberty Standing Mon., May 9 from 8:30-1 a.m. in Hampden Student Center in southwest. Sponsored by the 5-College Women Centers.

Finast Italian Food Festival

Finast SUPERMARKETS

Finast Welcomes FOOD STAMP CUSTOMERS
The food stamp program helps smooth the edges of inflation and put more and better food on the tables of many families. You may qualify. The best way to find out if food stamps are for you is to call toll free 1-800-842-1508

gallon ctn. Wesson Oil
Pure Vegetable Oil 3.49 gallon ctn
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one coupon per family. Valid May 8-14 H-796 FN

Hunt's Reg., Meat, Mushroom Prima Salsa
Spaghetti Sauce 32 oz jar 89¢
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one coupon per family. Valid May 8-14 H-797 FN

Finast Regular or Thin Spaghetti
or Elbow Macaroni 4 1 lb pkgs $1
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one coupon per family. Valid May 8-14 H-798 FN

Marval Fresh Turkey Breast
SAVE 30¢ lb
"New" from Marval Fresh Never Frozen 98¢ lb

Italian Style Peeled Tomatoes
Montini 35 oz can 59¢

Penn Dutch Mushrooms
Stems & Pieces 4 oz can 39¢

Whole Veal Leg or Rump
SAVE 20¢ lb
1.08 lb

Italian Style Sausage 5 lb box Marco
SAVE 40¢ lb
88¢ lb
lesser amount 98¢ lb

Ken's Great for Salads or for Marinating
Italian Dressing 16 oz btl 69¢

Mac & Bean, Lentil, Minestrone, Escarole, Gr. Pea
Progresso Soups 2 20 oz cans 79¢

Pope Tomato Puree 35 oz can 59¢
Tomato Paste Pope 4 6 oz cans 99¢

Trailer Sweet Peas 8½ oz can or
Trellis Corn Whole Kernel 7 oz Cream Style 8½ oz 9 cans $1

Ronzoni Mostaccioli Rigati Cavatelli, Rotelle . . 1 lb pkg 49¢
Parmesan Finast Grated . . . . 8 oz jar 1.39
Lasagna Muellers . . . . . 16 oz pkg 59¢
Zucchini Del Monte . . . . . . 16 oz can 39¢
Tesori Italian Tomatoes . . . . 35 oz can 65¢
Bread Crumbs Finast Regular 15 oz ctn 49¢

Lean Ground Beef 4 lbs or more 98¢ lb (lesser amt 1.08 lb)
Ground Beef 4 lbs or more (lesser amounts 88¢ lb) 78¢ lb

Boneless Underblade USDA Choice
Beef Chuck Steak 1.28 lb

USDA Choice Beef for your favorite recipe
Boneless Stew Beef 1.28 lb

Whole or Half Boston Butt
Fresh Pork Butts 88¢ lb

Tender, Young Milk-fed Veal!
Veal Chops Fresh Rib or Shoulder . . lb 1.18
Veal for Stew Boneless . lb 1.28
Loin Veal Chops . . . lb 1.38
Fresh Veal for Scaloppini Thin Sliced from the Leg lb 2.68
Veal Hearts Fresh for Soffritto . . . . lb 68¢
Veal Shank Sliced for Osso Boco . . . . lb 68¢

Italian Finast fresh Bread 1-lb Loaf 49¢
baker street at Finast
Big Sandwich White Bread . 21 oz lv 49¢
English Muffins . . 2 pkgs 6 69¢
Hot Dog or Hamburg Rolls Finast Fresh 2 pkgs 8 69¢
Junior Pies . . . . . 4 4 oz pkgs 1.00
Cinnamon Buns . . . pkg 8 85¢

Baked Fresh Available Tues. to Sat.!
Grinder Rolls 10 oz pkg 39¢

Fresh Chicken Parts for your favorite Cacciatore Recipe!
Chicken Legs 68¢ lb
Fresh Thighs 78¢ lb
Fresh Breasts 98¢ lb
Drumsticks 98¢ lb

A Meat Street U.S.A. Value!
Beef Chuck Pot Roast
USDA CHOICE Boneless 1.18 lb

Frozen Food Values!
Tony's Frozen Sausage Pizza
or Cheese Pizza 13¼ oz pkg w/ Regular or Thick Crust 15 oz pkg 99¢

Sunrise fresh Dairy Values!
Minute Maid Orange Juice
100% Pure Orange Juice half gal 79¢

Louise Round Ravioli 13 oz pkg 69¢
Parkay Quarters Margarine 2 1 lb pkgs $1

Louise Gnocchi . . . 16 oz pkg 89¢
Biagio Spaghetti Sauce with Meat Balls . . 30 oz pkg 1.49
Garlic Bread Tinis . . . 6 oz pkg 49¢
Banquet Spaghetti and Meatballs Dinner . . 11 oz pkg 49¢
Ricotta Cheese Finast Whole or Skim Milk . . 15 oz pkg 79¢
Mozzarella Finast Shredded . . . 8 oz pkg 89¢
Cheddar Finast Shredded . . . . . 8 oz pkg 89¢
Provolone or Mozzarella Finast Sliced . . 6 oz pkg 79¢

More Values from Finast on Meat Street U.S.A.!
Calves Liver Whole Fresh (Sliced 1.28 lb) . lb 1.08
Blade Steaks Fresh Pork Bone-in lb 1.08
Shaved Steak Lovitt's Frozen . lb 1.79
Sausage Perri Italian Hot or Sweet where available lb 1.28
Hot Dogs Weaver's Chicken . . . . . lb 89¢
Salami Franks or Knockwurst American Kosher Brand 12 oz pkg 1.19
Mortadella Gallo . . . . 4½ oz pkg 89¢
Gallo Salami and Provolone . . . . . . 4½ oz pkg 1.09
Swift's Pepperoni, Genoa or Hard Salami, Whole or Half lb 1.58
Shoulders Colonial Master Smoked water added lb 89¢
Briskets Mosey Corned Beef all Thin Cuts . . lb 1.19
Hens Rock Cornish 1½ to 2 lbs average . . . . . lb 69¢
Ducklings Young Fresh or Frozen . . . . lb 98¢
Pies Fresh Mrs. Budd's all White Meat Chicken . . 36 oz pkg 2.19
Sliced Bacon Oscar Mayer . . 1-lb pkg 1.59
Bologna Oscar Mayer Meat or Beef . . . . 12 oz pkg 99¢
Variety Pak Oscar Mayer Round or Square 12 oz pkg 1.49
Pickles Kosher Claussen Whole or Icicle . . . qt jar 1.09

Quality Produce the Finast Way!
Strawberries
First O' the Fresh
Fresh Calif. quart 99¢

Tomatoes Family Pack 1½ lb pkg 69¢
Cucumbers Long Green 6 for $1

Chicory or Escarole . lb 29¢
Artichokes Fresh Large . . . 6 for 1.00
Fresh Squash Green Zucchini or Yellow lb 29¢
Purple Eggplant . 3 lbs 1.00
Scallions Green Onions . . . . . bunch 19¢
Italian Red Onions . . lb 39¢

Shop Finast for all your Lawn & garden needs!
Azalea Plants beautiful, flowering, hardy, outside plants poly bag 99¢ ea
Peat Pots 2¼ & 3 inch Sleeve of 8 . . . sleeve 39¢
Vigaro Rose Food, Tomato Food All Purpose Plant Food 5 lb bag 1.29
Top Soil . . . . 40 lb bag 1.59
Marble Chips . . . . 50 lb bag 1.99

Treat your Family to Mr. Deli Favorites!
Virginia Style Freshly Sliced to Order
Fresh Baked Ham 1.19 ½ lb
Italian Hot Ham 1.99 lb
Genoa Salami or Pepperoni Carando's lb 1.99
Provolone Domestic Slicing . . . . lb 1.89
Hard Salami B C . . . . lb 1.89
Olive Salad Italian . . . . . 1-lb ctn 99¢
Fresh Salad Potato, Macaroni and Cole Slaw 1-lb ctn 39¢
Dandy Loaf Carando's . . . . lb 89¢
Available Only in Finast Stores with Mr. Deli Depts

Beer & Wine Shoppe!
Tuborg Gold Beer . . . case of 24-12 oz cans or N.R. btls 5.49
Giacobazzi Red, White, Rose Wine . . 24 oz btl 2.29
Martini&Rossi Sweet or Dry Vermouth 25 oz btl 2.79
Almaden Nectar Rose, Rhine or Chablis Wine magnum 3.79
Labrusca Henri Marchant . . . . 24 oz btl 1.99
Available Only in Finast of Hadley

In-Store Bake Shop!
Fresh Italian Bread 4 7 oz lvs 1.00
Cake Donuts Plain, Sugar, Cinnamon . doz 69¢
Home-style Rolls . . . doz 79¢
Available Only in Finast Stores with In-Store Bake Shops

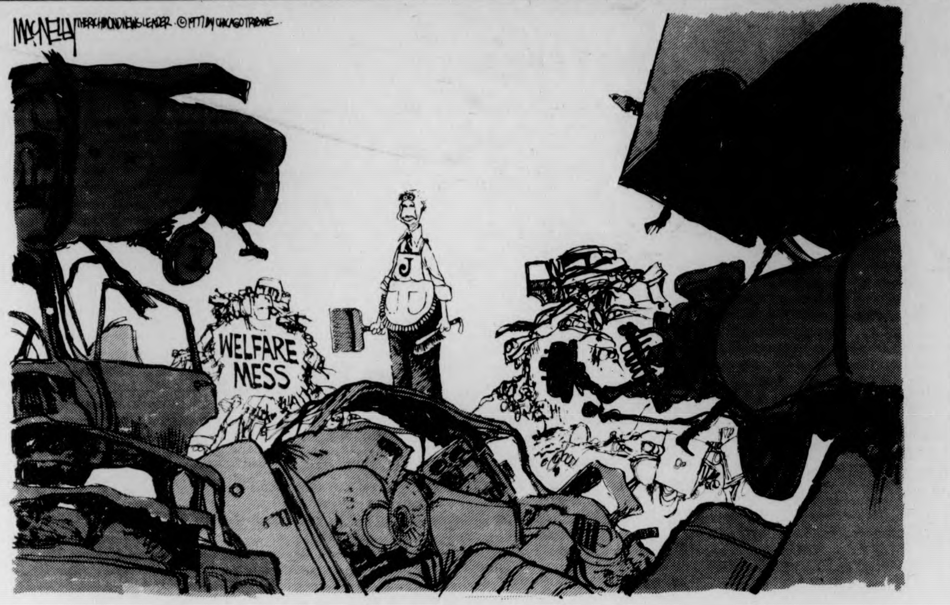
10¢ off with this coupon on (1) 24 oz btl Log Cabin Honey Flavor Maple Syrup Valid May 8-14, 1977 H-799 MFG

20¢ off with this coupon on (1) pkg 36 Cling Free Fabric Softener Valid May 8-14, 1977 H-800 MFG TX

$1.00 off with this coupon on (1) 50 lb bag Purina Dog Chow Valid May 8-14, 1977 H-801 MFG TX

8¢ off with this coupon on (1) 8 oz pkg General Mills Trix Cereal Valid May 8-14, 1977 H-802 MFG

Prices effective Sunday May 8 thru Saturday May 14, 1977
We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities
Not Responsible for Typographical Errors



MacNELLY THE RICHMOND NEWS LEADER ©1977 by CHICAGO TRIBUNE
J WELFARE MESS

commentary

Exploiting nature's gifts

By KEVIN KNOBLOCH

Farrah Fawcett-Majors spent Easter weekend at our house and at last check, was still there. No kidding. After recovering from the initial shock of learning of her presence in our humble abode, I was informed by Mother that she would be staying in my room. My brother, she said, had frantically carried Farrah to the room and pinned her against the wall.

Enraged at such ill treatment of a houseguest, I stormed up the stairs to the room. There, to my surprise, I found my brother gently staring into Farrah's eyes and whispering soft words to the young starlett, who although pinned against the wall, showed no resistance.

"If I told you you had a beautiful body, would you hold it against me?" he said, not realizing I was present. "Me Tarzan, you Jane."

Looking over the situation, I was further angered at hearing these remarks, as I realized my younger brother had been stealing my most coveted one-liners from my little black book. At the same time, I discovered that the "situation" was hardly that. Farrah was not Farrah in the flesh, but Farrah was a poster taped to the wall.

Farrah this and Farrah that. Oh, Farrah, what has led to this Farrah-mania I see all around me?

Enter a Farrah fan's furnished flat and you'll discover not one, but two and sometimes multiples of two, Farrah posters adorning the walls. Carried into thousands of homes across the nation in the past year, the poster boasts Farrah posing in a wet, skin-tight, one-piece bathing suit with her hair dangling about her smooth cheeks. Farrah's blinding smile dominates her facial features, forcing a difficult decision upon the viewer as to what to look at first.

Each week, Farrah fans may be found anxiously watching another intellectually refreshing episode of Charlie's Angels, in which Farrah, and two feline friends, demonstrate one of their many admirable qualities. Farrah fans will tell you this quality is called "acting."

The Perils of Pauline it is not, but somehow it seems to provide a necessary stimulant to these love-starved Farrah devotees.

But the secret. What is the key to all this madness? "All the guys do it," a Farrah fan will say in defense of his actions. Yes, all the guys do it, but tell me why. Can the male desire be so simple as to be satisfied with this paper version of a blond, toothy excuse for a beauty? Is it as simple as a weakness for a pretty face? Or a bathing suit with all the appropriate bumps and curves?

I guess even the poster purchasers and the Charlie's cherishers couldn't answer my questions or offer an explanation to this Farrah phenomenon, but the forum is open for those who wish to try.

Furthermore, why would a women who has everything from a bionic lover (we bionic lovers are rare, you know) to an acting jobs that pays $5,000-a-week simply for riding an occasional skateboard, want to pose scantily clad for a poster, knowing all the while that thousands of males will drool in frustration at her image for hours at a time?

Alas, the answer to this probably lies in greed. But then again, one really can't blame a pretty face for exploiting nature's gifts to earn a few bucks.

Who knows, someday soon, even I may submit to one of the many requests that regularly swamp my mail and pose in my wet, skin-tight swim suit for a poster. Move over, Farrah!

Kevin Knobloch is a Collegian Commentator.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst MA [illegible]

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Dorothy A. Clark, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

letters

A language council

To the Editor:

Many departments in the university are presently organizing councils in order to effectively become a part of the decision making process. These councils serve to open the way for change. Many have begun by changing major requirements, pushing for smaller classes or even deciding which courses they feel the department should offer.

Since many language programs have been cut recently, now more than ever we need an effective organization to make ourselves heard. A language council could do just that.

Regular meetings beginning next semester would give us the opportunity to discuss specific problems which we as language majors have.

We must organize in order to bargain for control over our education!!

The Student Organizing Project provides a resource center which is open to everyone for exchanging ideas on how to organize within our departments. Their phone number is 545-2415. If you are interested, contact the S.O.P. office and I will return your call. Or come and see me at 310 Dickinson, 546-6589. Ask for Debbie Nichols.

As it stands the Asian and Slavic programs will be gradually removed from the curriculum at UMass. Many other departments feel a sense of false security because they were not slated for major cuts. Don't fall into that trap, because as we all know too well, spring comes every year!!

Deborah A. Nichols

bill sundstrom

In the great tradition...

Because I couldn't pass up my last chance of the semester to see my name in print, and yet was at a total loss for a topic to write about, I decided to bring my trusty pad of lined paper out behind the Student Union with the hopes of getting some sort of inspiration from Metawampe, the "Legendary Spirit of the Redmen".

Now there are many legends associated with this familiar statue, not the least known of which concerns the Indian's grip on his spear (which, as we all know, is actually a musket) around this time of year. On this issue I refuse to pass judgement, and would offer insufficient data as my excuse.

I doubt most students have any idea why Metawampe appears on their notebooks and beermugs — I certainly don't. Surely, however, we could merely proclaim him a "tradition" and leave it at that.

Traditions are, of course, an important part of our lives, in spite of our frequent desire to ignore or even destroy them. They are our most tangible links with the past, and offer us some sense of continuity in a rapidly changing world. That's probably why Metawampe is able to retain his spot in the UMass seal year after year.

Traditions are negative when they cause us to stubbornly oppose needed change and create tensions and contradictions in our daily lives. But traditions are quite positive when they link us to other people with ideas similar to ours who might have lived at some other time.

The phrase, "radical tradition", is tossed around a great deal on this campus, and it's basically in recognition of the positive aspects of traditions. Each May it becomes painfully apparent that the student population is a highly transient one. By the time students learn how to bring about change in the university, it is time for them to leave. If there were no continuity in the students' movement, it would find itself getting nowhere fast.

But it is getting somewhere, and largely because students entering UMass with any interest whatsoever in "student affairs" soon discover that there is indeed a tradition for change here.

One of the best ways to establish a tradition is to institutionalize it. And that is precisely what students have done with co-ops and other change-oriented groups like the Student Center for Educational Research and MassPIRG. Of course, traditions are also displayed in attitudes and personal philosophies — which is why older students would do well to teach new students the history of UMass student struggles. Taking a course in student history might at first sound silly, but it is actually vital. Important lessons are learned by student activists nearly every day, only to be forgotten in a year or two.

The most common complaint received by radical students is, "You can't go back to the 60's." I certainly won't argue with that. But why discard the ideals and methods of the past when they may well enlighten us in planning present and future actions? Hampshire College students, protesting that school's investments in corporations operating in South Africa, used a "60's" tactic in their recent occupation of a building there. And to a great extent, it worked. The excuse that "times have changed" is a poor rationalization for apathy.

This is not to suggest that either Metawampe or living in the past will lead students to a better education and greater influence at UMass. But a tie to other students who shared the frustrations of trying to bring change, people who experienced and analyzed the role of students at the modern university, could aid us all considerably.

Finally, so as not to part with tradition, I offer my farewell to the folks who won't be returning in the fall. A bon voyage to those who will soon embark on cross-country or cross-Atlantic treks, and a best of luck to those in pursuit of gainful employment. And to Martha Tripp, who always wanted me to put her name in here somewhere, here it is.

To one and all — have a nice summer.

Bill Sundstrom is Executive Editor of the Collegian.

letters

To the people of UMass and the general world:

To the Editor:

Thursday at the Hampton District Court of New Hampshire, the first eight members of the Seabrook 1400 were tried, convicted, and sentenced. I'm sure you have heard the story by now. The first man was given a fifteen-day sentence, suspended, and one hundred dollars fine. Then, the Attorney General appeared on the scene, conferred with the judge, and the rest of the occupiers were given fifteen days, not suspended, and a one-hundred dollar fine, and a five-hundred-dollar appeals bond.

The occupiers still in jail will, for the most part, stay put until their trials. The ones who left on bail, myself included, are caught up in the legal problems of the cases, and concern for our friends still in prison. The result is obvious. We are so busy trying to talk to relatives and friends, and at the same time untangle ourselves from the legal mess we are in, that we have no time to think about the original reason we were there.

Back in the 1960's, when people were protesting the war in Viet Nam, this same tactic was used, and with great success. They tied up the leaders and the activists with so much legal red tape that it was impossible for them to think about anything but Court for a long time. It still works. I believe deeply in the Anti-Nuclear movement, but I can't afford to get into any more trouble with the law until I get myself out of the mess I am in. And that may be months or even years. How long will it take to try fourteen hundred separate appeals cases?

I'm out of jail on bail. I came back because I decided there was more work for me to do here than there was in prison. I am now a coordinator of the support group. But I am on good behavior, and the slightest infraction will send me back to jail until my trial. I am forced to give up my active position for now.

Many people, when they heard of what we have done, said to me that they wish there was something they could do to help. I tell you, you can! I cannot go back to New Hampshire — they'd just love to bag me on something else — but you can. If you believe in our cause against nuclear energy, I ask you to take up the position of active supporter. There is plenty you can do, both here and in New Hampshire. You are desperately needed. Get involved, and help us keep the focus of the whole occupation and the protest on the Nuke, and not on the inequities of the New Hampshire judicial system.

We need support, but the Anti-Nuke movement needs it more. Don't let Governor Thomson and the Public Service Company win through legal red tape. Our hands are tied, for the time being, but yours aren't. Help us win.

Susan Leehey

An open letter to a thief:

To the Editor:

We at Mass PIRG hope you enjoy using the money you stole from our office yesterday. In case you are interested, the $229 was payment for the buses used for the Seabrook rally last weekend. We are particularly pissed-off since there was no forced entry into the office — the implications are obvious.

If you care at all, if you have any scruples, bring the money to the Student Transit office — no questions asked, though there are many we'd like to pose.

Mass PIRG

Thanks for help...

To the Editor:

Since last year the University of Massachusetts Student Federal Credit Union has grown from 840 to 2000 members, has moved from a small secluded office to a larger more accessible one, and has gone from a manual accounting system to an on-line computer system. Along with these changes, cash withdrawals, and sales of money orders and travelers' checks were added to the list of financial services previously offered.

None of this would have been possible without the support of its members and volunteers. I'd like to take this opportunity to thank the volunteers, who through hours of hard work and dedication have made this Credit Union one of two successful student-run credit unions in the United States.

The Credit Union will close at 3:00 p.m. on Thursday, May 19. Summer hours will be Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 10-3 starting May 23rd. Have a good summer.

Linda Cote
President

Thanks for funding...

To the Editor:

The members of the UMass Debate Union [Forensic Services RSO 474] would like to thank the members of the Student Senate for passing our budget request. Our quest for Senate funding has been a long and frustrating struggle, and we are grateful that our perserverence finally paid off.

We would especially like to express our gratitude to that sage Collegian columnist and Student Senator Jan Van Tol for presenting and encouraging our motion for funding. Thanks to his consideration and that of the students voting for us we will better serve the needs of the many people involved in our organization and the members of the University community.

The Debate Union

Response to displeasure response

To the Editor:

Mr. Van Tol, we do not disagree with your recent comment that courtesy extends across racial and cultural lines. For that matter and as a point of information you just have only to take a look at different but diverse populations like Native Americans, Chicanos, Blacks, Puerto Ricans and Hispanos in general. They are all courteous, civilized, friendly, and hospitable people. Yet in the United States that have often felt the need to revolt, brake the "law" and take arms to defend themselves against oppression and animal behavior.

As for AHORA; the people representing the organization and their members have been amazingly polite, civilized, and patient in spite of the history of constant harassment and threats which for five years they have been subjected to. During these five years the organization has been put through the humiliating experience of proving to the Budget Committee how they are going to spend every penny of every item in the budget; something that other organizations do not have to go through. Every year there is a threat that their funds will be eliminated or cut. The capacity of this group to face issues with courage and determination is evidence of the everyday fight they have to wage for their survival in this Institution.

As to Mr. Van Tol's reference that people have to band together to comfort each other: this can be said about fraternities, sororities, and some of your political organizations, but certainly not about the organization AHORA, whose members alone have constantly stood face to the sun at the most difficult moments in which the survival of the organization has been in jeopardy.

The most interesting thing about Mr. Van Tol's statement is his reflection of how he has been conditioned to think and act. It is easy for him to look at AHORA and Third World organizations as groups of people that need to band together, and avoid looking at himself, his political organization, fraternities and social groups here on campus and outside that historically have done just that. We are convinced that Mr. Van Tol has a very serious projection problem. He shows it by accusing others of what evidently is his guilt feeling.

In the article "The Displeasure Response," Mr. Van Tol took it upon himself to interpret terms very freely and to his convenience. Civility for him in this particular instant is inefficient because he expected certain people to behave certain ways, because he expected certain people to do as they were told, and because he expected certain people to take the places they were assigned. It was evident that when people did not behave the way he expected them to behave, they did not accept what he wanted them to accept, he became angry and his sense of superiority was challenged.

The AHORA organization did not follow Mr. Van Tol's interpretation of civility, because in this particular instance and based on his interpretation it is the equivalent to Institutionalized Racism.

During the debates on the AHORA budget, when the Third World and some white senators took the floor to defend the budget, Mr. Van Tol's anger became very noticeable, more so when the amendment to the amendment was passed. It was obvious that he could not control himself. For a moment he held on to his tie, perhaps to remind himself that he was a man of Prestige, because he had a tie and most people in the room did not have any.

When "law and order" is used to persecute some and protect others and when civility is used as an instrument of oppression to hide corruption and control people it is no longer effective.

According to Mr. Van Tol's remark there was a threat by AHORA to the Senate. The only thing that can be interpreted as a threat was the rally against budget cuts for students and the efforts and concerns that AHORA expressed so that people in the Senate listen to their arguments in favor of their budget. This is an everyday activity here on campus that all types of groups and now Third World organizations exercise to get what belongs to them.

They have rallies, sit-ins, sit-outs, picket Whitmore, destroy property, threaten others' lives by throwing dangerous objects, challenge the administration, tangle with the police; but somehow these things go unnoticed and are for the most part accepted. Contrary to that, when a Third World organization organizes a rally or makes a protest, that act is not considered civil. These things are looked upon with critical eyes and people are ready to condemn them.

A clear example of prejudice openly showed by Mr. Van Tol is when he dares to call the AHORA rally "behavior of animals in 'heat'." Needless to say, he has only to think about the things we just mentioned to realize that the AHORA rally constituted the equivalent of a mild case of Bronchitis vs. a serious case of Pneumonia.

Surprisingly he somehow forgot to mention the behavior of bouncers in the Blue Wall, the racial incidents and physical attacks on Third World students in dormitories, especially in Southwest residential area. Those, of course, are things that shouldn't be addressed because they just happen on this campus and are a way of life.

There is no question that it was a double joepardy for Mr. Van Tol when he saw that the Senate not only voted to restore the 85 per cent cut to AHORA, but also voted in favor of granting money to other students' organizations.

We believe that what happened in the Senate on Wednesday, April 28, was not only good for all UMass students but also for the Senate. At least this action by the Senate demonstrated that the distribution of money that belongs to the students is not going to be left to those who consider themselves as the money managers.

We sincerely congratulate all the senators who stood up in the name of justice for all. The AHORA organization has, and will continue to use its money to promote mutual understanding and cooperation among all people at the University, with the hope that in the future students will not have to fight over their own money.

The people from AHORA

What's Happening

Registration for summer childcare

Applications are now being accepted for registeriing children in summer session childcare at UMass. Childcare programs run from May 25 to Aug. 18 and are available for children from infant to 6 years. For more information call 545-0333.

Donald Keys on 'US world posture'

Donald Keys, representative plenipotentiary to the United Nations of the World Association of World Federalists, will speak at Amherst College tonight at 7:30 in the Converse Assembly Room. His talk will center on the new U.S. world posture.

At the U.N., his probing reports on international affairs are widely respected, and he is often called to testify before official conferences and committees.

In addition to writing frequently on world affairs for several journals, Mr. Keys is editor and contributor to a number of books, including "God and the H-Bomb" and "The Nature of Human Conflict."

Mailing of INDEX 77 to seniors

Seniors whose mailing address will be different in the fall should contact the INDEX office at 102 Campus Center 545-2874 to correct their address. If your mailing address will be in the Amherst-Northampton area stop by the office to pick up the yearbook in the fall. If you have any questions, stop by or call the INDEX.

Mass. Rehab. money cut: Appeals made

Benefits for students on general relief (Mass. Rehab. Status) have been cut. However, these students have the right to appeal, and have their benefits continued for up to four months while the law suit is in process. For more information, contact Neil Cronin, Welfare Advocate, at 584-6863.

Benefit Concert for Kamp for Kids

Fat, Clean Living, Mitch Cakour and the Mission Band, and Hot Calypso Key will all be performing at the Rusty Nail tomorrow night at 7:30 in a benefit performance for Kamp for Kids.

Kamp for Kids, a summer camp for handicapped children, is funded through group and individual donations.

Last year 120 children attended the camp at Western Massachusetts Hospital Grounds.

The $4 donation will support the camp. The Rusty Nail doors open at 7 p.m.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Cheese Omelet, Sausage Grinder; Basics: Cheese Omelet, Vegetable Grinder

DINNER — Roast Beef, Fried Fish; Basics: Lentil Rice Loaf, Fried Fish

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Clam Roll, Meatloaf; Clam Roll, Soybean, Corn and Tomato Casserole

DINNER — ALL CAMPUS BARBEQUE AT SOUTHWEST PLAYING FIELDS: (Indoor menu at Franklin D.C. only) Barbequed Chicken Half, Macaroni and Cheese; Basics: Barbequed Chicken Half, Macaroni and Cheese

Orchard Hill Women's Center holds dance

There will be a benefit coffeehouse and dance tonight at 8:30 in Hampden Student Center, Southwest. Liberty Standing and five local women singers will perform at this benefit for the Lesbian Defense Fund for a child-custody court case in Vermont. The benefit is being sponsored by the 5-college Women Centers.

The suggested donation is $1.50 and includes one free beer - glass of wine.

Registration for parking ends Fri.

Parking pre-registration for the fall ends May 13.

If you have not received a registration form, come into the Parking Office, Room 1, Munson Hall; 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. If you have unpaid parking tickets, your parking lot assignment and decals will be withheld until August 29, 1977. Tickets should be paid at the Clerk of the Courts in Northampton District Court. The Department of Public Safety, 545-0964, has current records of unpaid tickets.

Health care for summer students

University Health Services will offer prepaid health services to students and their dependents from the Five College area this summer. The prepaid package, the same offered the academic year, covers for the entire summer from May 24 through August 30. The deadline for enrollment is June 15.

Fees are $35 for students and an additional $35 for dependents. Students enrolled in the summer session and pay a health fee as part of their service can pay an additional amount to obtain coverage for the entire summer. Care will also be available on a fee-for-service basis.

Call the University Health Services business office, 549-2671, ext. 170, for more information.

Project Self summer courses

Project Self, a series of workshops by, for and about women, will be operating this summer from June 27 to August 5. Registration begins May 23.

Project Self workshops are designed to meet women's needs. Most workshops have one credit available for both community and University women.

Brochures for the summer workshops will be available at Everywoman's Center, 506 Goodell Hall, 545-0883, later this month.

Counselor Position Available
$2.75 hr. 12 hours/wk.
walk-in/appointment
counseling
Job Descriptions and applications availabe in Lesbian Union (C.C) and People's Gay Alliance Office
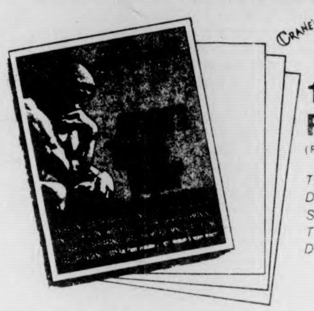
(443 S.U.)
The P.G.A. is an Affirmative Action Employer.

Crane's THESIS PAPER



Crane's Thesis Paper
100% RAG
(Recycled)
The Only Paper Designed Specifically for Theses and Dissertations.
Makes the grade in...
• appearance • durability • permanence
• opacity • microfilming qualities university store campus center
university of massachusetts/amherst

The Copper Lantern TONIGHT
BEEFSTEAK DINNER $1.95
Chopped N.Y. Sirloin with Choice of Potato, Vegetable with Roll & Butter
It's Also Collins Night!
Any Gin, Vodka or Whiskey Collins only 75¢
Daily Happy Hour 4-7
Tuesday is Senior Night!
64 oz. Miller Pitchers $1.95
Amoretto Sombrero's 75¢
All Bar Gin Drinks 75¢
Fish & Chips Special — $1.75
All the Spaghetti & Meat
Sauce you can eat.--- $2.25
Watch for our weekend SPECIALS
1 Pray St.
549-5403
Amherst Carriage Shops

Advertising
in the Summer Collegian.
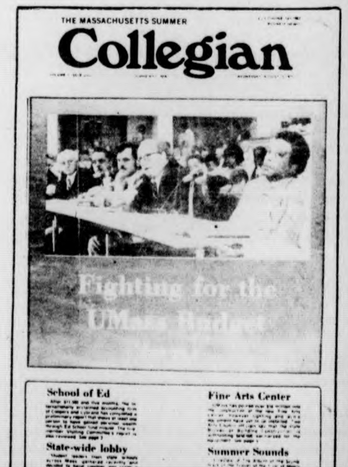
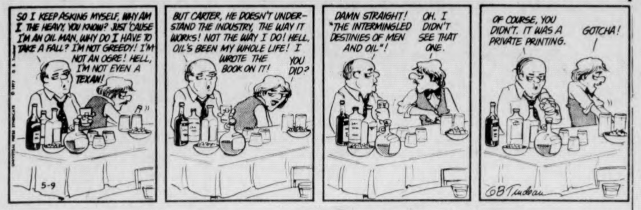
The best way to reach your market this summer.
Call the Collegian Business Department at 545-3500 for details.



THE MASSACHUSETTS SUMMER
Collegian
Fighting for the UMass Budget
School of Ed
Fine Arts Center
State-wide lobby
Summer Sounds

DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

29 S. Pleasant St.
Call 256-6736
TERM PAPERS !
RESERVE EARLY
M-F 10-6, S 10-2



SO I KEEP ASKING MYSELF, WHY AM I THE HEAVY, YOU KNOW? JUST 'CAUSE I'M AN OIL MAN, WHY DO I HAVE TO TAKE A FALL? I'M NOT GREEDY! I'M NOT AN OGRE! HELL, I'M NOT EVEN A TEXAN!
BUT CARTER, HE DOESN'T UNDERSTAND THE INDUSTRY, THE WAY IT WORKS! NOT THE WAY I DO! HELL, OIL'S BEEN MY WHOLE LIFE! I WROTE THE BOOK ON IT!
YOU DID?
DAMN STRAIGHT! "THE INTERMINGLED DESTINIES OF MEN AND OIL"!
OH. I DIDN'T SEE THAT ONE.
OF COURSE, YOU DIDN'T. IT WAS A PRIVATE PRINTING.
GOTCHA!
5-9
GBTrudeau

Local Television

7:00 3 22 32 40 NEWS
8 CONCENTRATION
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 THE FBI "List For A Firing Squad"
30 THE CROSS-WITS
38 THE ODD COUPLE
56 STAR TREK
57 AS MAN BEHAVES
7:30 3 THE NEW PRICE IS RIGHT
8 THE GONG SHOW
22 CANDID CAMERA
24 CONNECTICUT
30 THE HOLLYWOOD SQUARES
32 FEATURE FILM "Love, Hate, Love" with Ryan O'Neal, Lesley Warren
38 DICK VAN DYKE SHOW
40 POLKA
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 THE JEFFERSONS
8 40 HAPPY DAYS THIRD ANNIVERSARY
22 30 INSIDE O.U.T. Farrah Fawcett, Bill Daily
24 57 SIX AMERICAN FAMILIES "The Burke Family Of Georgia"
27 MOVIE "Battle Flame"
38 IRONSIDE "Reprise"
56 MOVIE "Testimony Of Two Men"
8:30 3 HANDLE WITH CARE
8 40 ABC MONDAY NIGHT BASEBALL
9:00 3 AMERICA'S JUNIOR MISS PAGEANT
22 30 NBC MONDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES "The Eiger Sanction"
24 57 THE PALLISERS
32 FEATURE FILM "Task Force"
38 MOVIE "Saboteur"
10:00 3 TESTIMONY OF TWO MEN
24 SOUNDSTAGE
27 NEWS
57 AMERICANA
10:30 27 JOURNEY TO ADVENTURE
57 WOMAN
11:00 3 8 22 24 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
27 MOVIE "Gun Crazy"
32 ALFRED HITCHCOCK PRESENTS "The Derelicts"
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "Kojak: Sweeter Than Life"
8 40 THE STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO
22 30 32 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
56 NIGHT GALLERY
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
12:30 3 MOVIE "Maneater"
12:40 8 40 TOMA "Crime Without Victim"
1:00 22 30 32 TOMORROW
1:30 3 NEWS, WEATHER
1:45 40 NEWS
2:00 8 22 30 32 NEWS

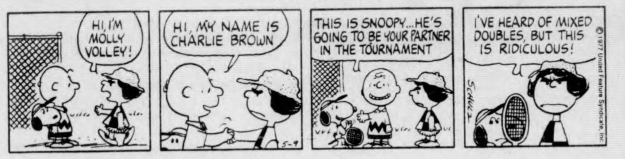
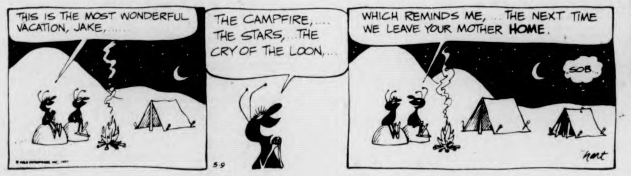
PEANUTS by Charles Schulz

Styles By Deborah
His & Hers
Design Haircuts
Tel. 549-5610



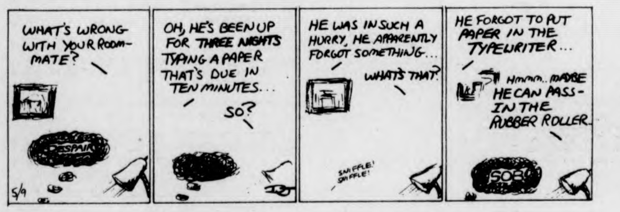
HI, I'M MOLLY VOLLEY!
HI, MY NAME IS CHARLIE BROWN
THIS IS SNOOPY...HE'S GOING TO BE YOUR PARTNER IN THE TOURNAMENT
I'VE HEARD OF MIXED DOUBLES, BUT THIS IS RIDICULOUS!
5-9
SCHULZ
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

B.C. by Johnny Hart



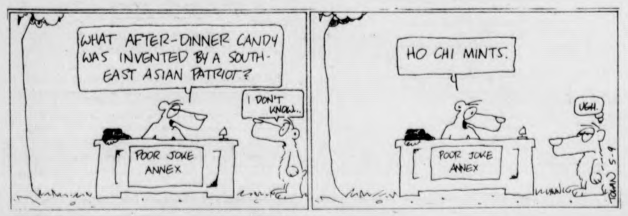
THIS IS THE MOST WONDERFUL VACATION, JAKE,......
THE CAMPFIRE,.... THE STARS,...THE CRY OF THE LOON,...
WHICH REMINDS ME, ... THE NEXT TIME WE LEAVE YOUR MOTHER HOME.
SOB...
5-9
hart

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen

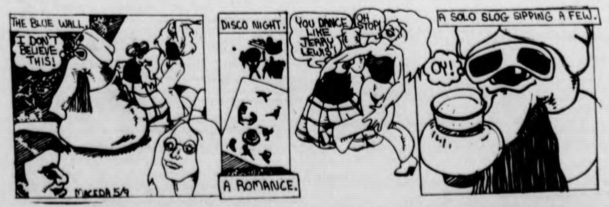


WHAT'S WRONG WITH YOUR ROOM-MATE?
DESPAIR
5/9
OH, HE'S BEEN UP FOR THREE NIGHTS TYPING A PAPER THAT'S DUE IN TEN MINUTES...
SO?
HE WAS IN SUCH A HURRY, HE APPARENTLY FORGOT SOMETHING...
WHAT'S THAT?
SNIFFLE! SNIFFLE!
HE FORGOT TO PUT PAPER IN THE TYPEWRITER...
HMMM.. MAYBE HE CAN PASS-IN THE RUBBER ROLLER.
SOB!

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



THE BLUE WALL.
I DON'T BELIEVE THIS!
MACEDA 5/9
DISCO NIGHT.
YOU DANCE LIKE JERRY LEWIS!
OH STOP!
OY!
A ROMANCE.
A SOLO SLOG SIPPING A FEW.

Your Birthday by Stella Wilder

Monday, May 9 — Born today, you are one of those extremely persuasive individuals who has no trouble at all maneuvering others into positions or attitudes you wish them to have. Moreover, you are able to do this without incurring any animosity on the part of those who ultimately, whether they will or not, end by doing your bidding. Diplomatic, tactful and always soft spoken, you manage to make even your most unwilling "follower" quite willing in the end. You have, further, the moral sense to take a responsible attitude toward those you "control." This means, of course, that you never lead others into dangerous -- whether physically or spiritually -- circumstances or situations, but, rather, always have the welfare of all in.

There are times, however, when without meaning to you fool others into complying with your requests. You may offer them incentives which are actually nonexistenct -- though you yourself may not realize this at the time. Or you may grant rewards for actions which are actually not yours to grant.

***

Tuesday, May 10

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Promote projects new to the community. This is an excellent time to demonstrate your ability to take the lead.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Plan the day's activities as early in the morning as possible. Take into account the condition of another's material equipment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — If you can avoid speaking ill even of those who have recently done you harm, you will satisfy a longing for self-improvement.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Attend to all routine matters before giving time and attention to those aspects of career or hobby which are new to you or different.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — If you can combine social activities with business dealings, you will be well on your way to material gain by day's end.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — There is the possibility of fulfillment where dreams of romance are concerned -- but only if you are willing to confide in another.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Add reason to emotion and you may come up with a workable formula for finding solutions to family problems on the home front.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You should find rewarding circumstances beginning to develop as a result of past efforts. Children seem able to make things happen in PM.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Know what it is you wish to accomplish before you allow the day to begin to unfold. You may have to get up very early this morning to set the pace.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Make sure that any dealings with the public are out in the open. Private deals cannot be considered for the day's prize -- material gain.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — A long-held dream could become real for you this morning. Make an effort to make the same dream real for others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Present your idea to one in authority. Make certain first, however, that it is an idea that at least touches on the subject at hand.

Copyright 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Hint
4 Banal
9 N. Mexican Indian
14 Also
15 Become tardy
16 Jefferson ----- C.S.A. president
17 Wealthy person
19 Unseals
20 Concise summary
21 "Once --- blue moon"
22 --- Winston Churchill
23 Roman road
24 Of vision
26 Delicate skill
29 Retreat rapidly
31 Palm leaf: Var.
32 Gelatin substitute
33 Of a time
36 Feudal slave
38 Cooling drink
39 E. Canadian of old
41 Certain newspapers
43 Pro's opposite
44 Went on foot
46 Cigarette lighter accessories
47 Joie de vivre
49 Adherent of: Suffix
50 Above-ground transports
51 Change
52 Kilns
54 Santa Anita counselor
58 Outcome of an act: Suffix
60 Land area: Abbr.
61 Metal roofing
62 Degrade
64 O'Brien or O'Neill: 2 words
66 Revive
67 Oval
68 Color
69 Social stratum
70 Feminine name
71 Entity

DOWN
1 Italian island
2 Not rented
3 Deduce
4 Dish out clumsily
5 Tic- ---- -toe
6 Aweigh
7 Sheds
8 Had as a consequence
9 Bustles
10 Per ------
11 "Let's do it ---- -----"
12 Sixty secs.
13 Foolish person
18 ------ with the same brush
24 Canadian province
25 Water containers
27 Future officer
28 Plait of hair
30 Regiment or division
33 Indianapolis-500 entrant
34 French school
35 Lore of a N. Amer. country
37 Load completely
40 Record
42 Give heed
45 Merit
48 Loops with running knots
53 Test of patience
55 Harangue
56 Deprive of courage
57 Adolescent period
59 TV program
61 Those people
62 Orbit part
63 Sound unit
65 Airline for St. Louis Mo.

Saturday's Puzzle Solved

STAMP SASH SOLD
POKER ALTA TREE
ANILE WARM EAVE
SYNODS REPEALED
DAIS WELDERS
REFITTED RAY
AGREE WOVEN LET MAES LURID PAVO
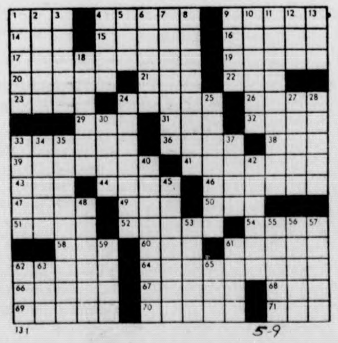
ADE NIPAS DAVIS
FAT LIBERALS
SPROUTS TUFT
QUARTERS MATTES
URIM ROTA CIRCE
ASSE EVEN EMOTE
BEER DEWY SETON



Misc.

DID YOU KNOW

THE IRON MAN — Thomas Nicholson, famous English wrestler, danced all night in Penrith, England, walked 25 miles to Ambleside, and then defeated his opponents in four heavyweight wrestling matches in succession.

Thomas Jefferson Chambers, Anahuac Texas, was killed by an assasin who fired at him through a window. The bullet passed through the victim's chest and then lodged in the identical spot in a portrait of Chambers hanging on the wall. (1865)

CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means: "Material used to keep the heat in (and the bill down)."

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Friday's winner:
MARIA MAFFEI

Friday's word:
DEBATE

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

Hijacker thwarted by crew member

TOKYO [AP] — A crew member swinging a fire axe subdued a would-be hijacker yesterday who tried to force a U.S.-bound Northwest Airlines jumbo jet with 261 persons aboard to Moscow, authorities said.

The incident occurred aboard the Boeing 747 about an hour after it left Tokyo at 6:30 a.m. EDT for Honolulu, an airline spokesman said.

He said the would-be hijacker was injured, but his condition was not immediately known. No other injuries were reported.

The man, identified as a U.S. citizen named Bruce Trayer, "apparently had taken a stewardess hostage with a razor, holding it at her throat," said Federal Aviation Administration spokesman John Leyden in Washington. "His only demand was to go to Moscow."

The pilot, Capt. Homer Sutter, advised air traffic controllers of the situation and requested directions to fly to Moscow, Leyden said.

Minutes later, he said, "the pilot advised that the hijacker had been subdued with a fire axe and the aircraft was returning to Tokyo at the advice of a doctor on board because of injuries to the hijacker."

The airline spokesman said it was a purser who stopped the would-be hijacker. The crew member's name was not immediately known.

Officials confirm southern cholera case

MONTGOMERY, Ala. [UPI] — A Center for Disease Control official yesterday confirmed the second case of cholera contracted within the United States in more than 65 years.

Dr. Mitchell Cohen was summoned to Montgomery's St. Margaret's Hospital after laboratory personnel suspected a truck driver was stricken with the disease, an acute disorder of the digestive tract.

Neither the patient's name nor his condition was released.

"It's only the second time since 1911 that the organism was acquired within the United States," Cohen said. "It's very unique. This is the first time it has been isolated in the gall bladder."

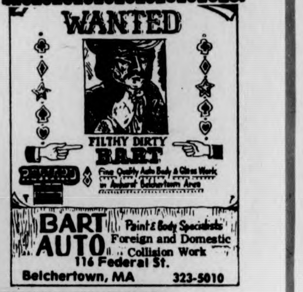
Officials said the truck driver had complained of mild symptoms — diarrhea, vomiting and cramps — for 10 years. The illness finally forced him to be hospitalized on April 28.

Laboratory personnel suspected the illness was cholera but asked the CDC to aid in the investigation.

Although cholera is an infectious disease, Cohen said "there is almost no chance it can spread in the United States" because of sanitation practices.

However, he said it would be difficult to trace where the victim had contracted the disease because so much time had lapsed and the driver had visited so many parts of the country in the course of his work.

Scholl
Exercise Sandals
Reg. 14.95
10.95
College Drug
4 Main St.,
Amherst



WANTED
FILTHY DIRTY BART
REWARD
Fine Quality Auto Body & Glass Work in Amherst Belchertown Area
BART AUTO
Paint & Body Specialists
Foreign and Domestic Collision Work
116 Federal St.
Belchertown, MA 323-5010

安城中國飯店
AMHERST CHINESE FOOD
62 Main St., Amherst
Tel. 253-7835
EAT IN OR TAKE-OUT.
LUNCH SPECIALS 99c & up

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line
Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line
ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

FOR SALE

Peugeot Men's 10 spd. A1 cond. B.O. 25 inch frm. 665-3025 a.m. or late p.m. Must see.

Yamaha turntable. Audio technica cartridge. Almost new, excellent cond. Cheap call Lawry 549-6023 - keep trying.

AKC Irish Setter pups. Pick now. Ready May 17. Priced to sell. 665-3321.

Golf clubs. Chi Chi Rodriguez signature, pro-registered and bag - 9 irons, 4 woods and putter. List $350 - used only 2 times - have lost interest and need cash. $175 or B.O. Call Steve 6-5420.

Gift idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

Furniture for sale. 256-0401.

Multi-wide tires, M-50, 14 inch. $50 or best offer. Bill 546-7060.

Calculators! End of semester prices! See classified ad under Calculators!

Pioneer car cassette tape deck with speakers. Total retail value $140. Will sell for $60 or B.O. Call 584-8324 or 549-0616.

Furniture. Reasonable prices. 256-0401.

Twin bed, less than 1 yr. old, metal frame, includes box spring, $70. Call Neil at 256-0665 btwn. 5-7 p.m.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap 256-8732.

Gibson ES, 330TD guitar, mid '60's, perfect cond. $325 or B.O. Call Bob 6-9432.

Philco fridge, side by side, great cond., only $175 or B.O. 584-4478 days or 549-4804 nights.

Moterbecane Moped. Less than 300 mi., saddle bag & rear view mirror — like new, only $400. Call 584-4478 days or 549-4804 nights.

9x12 bl shag rug, $40; toaster oven $8; rotating Schlitz lamp, $6; wall lamp $3; all exc. cond. 6-8991.

Head Skis 185 cm, Tyrolia bindings, Koflack Bts., 10 men's. Call 546-8368.

Kitchen sz. fridge. Neg. $75. 546-8207.

H70X14 tires on Cragar SS mags X4, balanced. Steve 253-5692 afternoon.

If you're subletting for summer, you'll need some furniture cheap. Mine's for sale. Chairs, couch, etc. Call 549-0506.

Tag Sale — Sun. May 8 — Rain or shine. 301 Cliffside Apt., Sunderland. Plants, albums, household items. All Day.

Genuine porcelain, china from Peking. Cups and saucers. Very nice, cheap. 253-9750.

Yamaha six-string folk guitar, like new, case included. $60 or best offer. Call 549-2781.

5 cu. ft. fridge, $80 or best offer. Call 546-8432.

Water bed, queen sz., w-frame complete, $150. Will neg. Janet 545-2627.

Miranda Model A camera. 50 mm lens, 135mm Tel and Bellowscope. All gd. cond. Asking $100. Bill 5-2642, rm. 311.

Tag Sale: B-3 Cliffside: Furniture, TV, stereo, plants. Sun. 5-8, 9-6.

Apt. sz. refridge. Roomy. Must sell. $50 or B.O. Call Nancy 6-4051.

Full size refrig. $40. Call 543-9409.

One and one-half cu. ft. refrig. Excellent condition. $80 or best offer. Eves. 6-1216. Keep trying!

Stereo sys., Pioneer 525 receiver, PL10 turntable, w-Empire cartridge, Sml Advents, Panasonic cassette deck, Koss phones. Asking $350. Call 546-7022.

Couch for sale, good cond. $25. 256-6408.

FOR SALE

5.0 cu. ft. refrig., $75. Also 2 burner hot plate, $15. Call Pete 6-9254.

AUTO FOR SALE

'64 Ford wagon, runs well. $125 — b.o. Call Jay 253-7943. Depend.

1969 VW Bug. Ugly but runs very well. Extremely dependable. $500. 549-6721 after 5 p.m. or weekends.

1975 Fiat 128SL, 4 dr. Excel. cond. 546-5231.

1965 Olds 88, runs fine- smooth. $300 or B.O. Rich 6-7883.

1972 Charger SE, excellent inside and out. $1700. Call 584-8086.

1975 Toyota Celico GT., ex. condition. New Michelins and brakes. Best offer. 546-5297.

'65 Rambler, runs good, new starter, tires, radiator, $250. Call Jay, 546-5347.

1963 Chevy Impala, very dependable, 2nd owner. $175 or B. O. Call Steve 546-5065.

'71 Vega, 4 speed, good cond. Must sell. $700. Paul, 546-5494.

65 Mustang std. runs good, needs work. B.O. call Mary, 549-6476.

'69 Opel GT. Best of. 546-9857.

1972 Pinto, 2000cc, automatic. Body good, runs well, good mileage, Spring sticker. Asking $850.00. Call Paul 256-0235.

'70 VW Sqbk. Exc. mech., body needs some work. 28mpg. $700 neg. Tom 549-4600, x325.

Must sell: Tan while you drive in a 1974 VW Bug with sunroof. Standard, new brakes, tape player and speakers. Exc. cond. $2,000. Call 665-3569 or 624-3654.

'69 Dodge Coronet, runs great, new tires, brakes and exhaust. $350. Call p.m. 665-4153.

Toyota MKII '74, 2 dr., 4 spd., AM-FM, lo mi., rust proof. Must sell. Evenings 6-4580.

1951 Plymouth, 4 dr., 38,000 original miles. Excellent condition. B. O. over $1200. 586-2213.

Saab 1967 station wagon. $400. Call John 545-0192.

1969 VW, runs great. 77,000 miles. Asking $550. Call 665-2159. Ask for Bob.

I have a beautiful Ford van for sale. Excellent interior, carpeted and paneled. Needs some mechanical work. $450.00. Call David at 253-3776.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

1973 Honda CB350, 5,800 mi., ex. cond. Rack & trunk, $640. Call Pat 253-9233.

'74 Yamaha RD250. 5,000 mi. J&R Pipes. $700. 256-0522.

Two 1974 Kawasaki 100's road and dirt bikes. Both cycles less than 1300 miles. Asking $450.00 each. Call Jeff 665-3064.

'74 Honda 360, low miles, extras. $600. Mike at 5B Brandywine.

'71 Kawasaki 350. Must sell. $350 or best offer. 253-5684.

RIDERS WANTED

Riders wanted Fri. 13 and — or Fri. 20 to Philadelphia or Wash., D.C. One way or round trip. Leaving Fridays at 10 a.m., returning Mondays at 2 p.m. Call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

If interested in Worcester car pool first summ. session, call 617-852-3514.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Men from North Shore who want to play for a team in M-Head Softball League, call Dave 549-4885 eves.

Addresser wanted immediately! Work at home — no experience — excellent pay. Write American Service, 8350 Park Lane, Suite 269, Dallas, TX. 75231.

Hard workers needed for entire summer. If you qualify, you could earn $2770 for 13 wks. Call 253-2598.

My clothes need repair. Ron 256-8952.

Caretakers for 4 bdroom house. N. Amherst. Garden, flowers, bus route, walk to Roosters, Mikes. After 6 p.m., 549-6702. Option Fall. Cheap!

Dishwashers wanted for next semester. For info call 549-1321 or 545-0070.

Be youth leader, Boy's Camp (49th yr.) Beautiful N.E. — Lenox, Ma. Historical and cultural area. Staff from all parts of U.S., overseas. Specialists for water sports, tennis, overnight camping, naturalist, ceramics, leather craft, golf, softball, baseball, basketball. Full details, inc. phone, to Camp Mah-Kee-Nac, 20 Allen Court, South Orange, N.J. 07079.

3 older students looking for sublet. 6-1 — 8-31. 2 bdr., furn. — semi-furn. prefer. $150 incl. utils. 586-5477. 6 p.m. on. John, Steve, Chris.

Fm. roommate to share large furn. apt. in Amh. On bus rt. Summer — Fall. $85. 546-7660.

WANTED

Looking for house to rent year round in Amherst. June 1st. Please call 567-7779 or 1-800-332-9555 and ask for Paul.

Members for weekly poker club! Call Bob 549-1316 for info.

Young, professional couple seeks house to rent. Will sub lease, lease or take care of someone's home. Please call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

Car trouble? I want manual-shift, 4 or 6 cylinder. 546-7096.

Greedy people wanted. Set own hours. Mucho Lucre. May 9 in CC. Hotel Vitamin Business Enterprise.

18 or 15 ft. alum. canoe in gd. cond. Reas. priced. Old Town or Applebee w-paddles. Also — need gar. space nr. Amherst. Call Jim aft. 7 p.m. at 6-4156.

Used albums in good condition wanted. I'll buy whole collections. 323-4249.

Need a place down the Cape? There's one in Dennis with good times waiting for you. $400. Call 6-5096 or 6-5138.

Wanted: People to share large house in Hyannis, Mass. on the Cape. Downtown area. Close to beach. Call Ronnie 6-5057 or Booka 6-5099.

INSTRUCTION

Diving classes now forming at Hampshire Scuba Supply. Call 268-7373. 4 p.m. - 9 p.m., Mon. - Fri. 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Sat. Main St., Williamsburg, Ma.

ROOM WANTED

Fairly quiet fem. Sr. looking for room in apt. or house for Fall. 546-4879.

FOR RENT

I own a very private ski chalet with a breathtaking view of Echo Lake in Tyson, Vermont. Lake front privileges, canoe, fireplace, loft. Interested in renting it to a faculty member or responsible grad student. 203-875-6306 after 5 p.m.

3-4 Bedrooms for June & September. Call between 6-7 p.m. Skibiski, Realtors Northampton. 584-3428.

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 plus sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Looking for summer residence? Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is offering rooms at $150 per single, and $200 per double or $100 ea. Call 545-0070, 549-6999 or 549-1321.

1 lge. bdrm. in Sunderland hse on bus rte. Vegetable gdn. in bk. Call Debbi 665-2367.

3 housemates, 1 5-15 and 2 5-15 all year, 24 plus for great house on Bay Rd., S. Amherst. $90 plus. 253-7935.

1 or 2 room in 3 bedroom apart. Furnished, Puff. Vil. $60-mo. 549-5892.

Summer rooms full kitchen facilities. New bathrooms. 5 min. to campus. $125 Sin., $175 dble. Large back yard. 545-2162.

For rent apt. in Sunderland. 665-4977.

1 bdrm. apt., Cliffside, on bus rt., tennis, pool, kitchen. Avail. May. $145 — mo., util. inc. Call 665-2886 after 5.

Available rooms in big old house on bus rt. in Sundr. Cheap and spacious. Call Susan 665-4367 nights. Leave message.

To Rent. June 1st. Furn., single bedrm., study, priv. bath, no cooking, non-smoker, near bus. Amh. Cent. $30 — wk. 253-2488.

2 rm. apt., util., furn. May 23 — Aug. 31. Call 5-0189, 10-2. Ask - Mike.

Nice house, big garden, woods, bus line, summer or all year. Grads pref. 665-3938.

Seconds from campus, minutes from Amherst Ctr. We need roommates to fill 2 bedrooms in our house on Fearing St. $70 and $100 — mo. Call 6-9708 or 6-9694. For Fall semester.

Cape Cod — E. Dennis. 3 bdrm., 1½ baths, now thru 9-6. $2500. 253-5017.

1 lg. bdrm. twnhse apt., bus rte. $100 — mo. neg. 545-1927 or nites 549-6761.

Own room on bus line with pool - summer housemate needed desperately. Call 665-4364.

Small 3 bedroom apartment, S. Amherst. Quiet, 1 yr. lease. Available Sept. 1. $225 includes electricity. Call 253-9354.

Cape Cod — 3 bedroom ranch in secluded W. Barnstable, 10 minutes from Hyannis and Craigville beach area, June 1 - Sept. 7. $2,000 plus. Call Bill 256-0313.

Looking for summer residence? Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is offering rooms at $150 per single and $200 per double or $100 each. Call 545-0070, 549-6999 or 549-1321 for info.

Room available. June 1 on McClellan St. Call 256-6215.

ROOMMATE WANTED

For house on Craigville Beach, near Hyannis. Call Steve 253-7976.

ROOMMATE WANTED

2 female roommates for 3 bedrm. house in Amherst. On bus route. Call 253-3953.

$60. Own lg. rm. in 3 bdrm. twnhse. Furn. or not, pool, bus. Puffton. 549-1033.

Own room, furn. hse., laundry, kitchen, wooded lot. So. Amh. Jun-Aug. Neg. 256-6224.

Put your head down. 2 comfortable bdrms. avail. for summer sessions! Quiet, condo living. A.C. 256-6992 eve.

Fourth roommate wanted to share 2 bedroom house in Hyannis with 3 males. Call Jay 5-3500.

2 rms. in frnshed Br. Mnr. Apt. Pool, tennis, bus rt. $60 — month. 256-0677.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125 — mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

F rmmate needed for next Fall to share 3 bdr. Puffton apt. $95 plus utils., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun-loving, too. Call Carol 256-0325.

Looking for a place in Hyannis This summer? One roomate wanted. Call Jay 5-3500.

Fall on Fearing St. We need 2 bedrooms filled in our house for next semester. $70 and $100 — mo. Call 546-9694 or 6-9708.

Own rm., 5 bdrm. house, Amhst. $80 plus. 253-5275.

F rmmate needed for nxt fall to share 3 bdrm. Puffton Apt. $95 plus utls., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun loving too! Call Carol 256-0325.

1 bdrm. in 2 bed Brandywine apt. for 1 or 2 people. Cheap! 549-1375.

2 rms. in co-op hse. Rt. 9, Belch. 4 mi. to Amh., bus rte., no lease. $62. 256-0573.

Rmmate for 1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for summer months. Pool, tennis, air cond., buses. All util., rent negot. Call Dave 665-4210. Keep trying.

Available May 15. Nice room, good people. N. Amherst. Call 549-4712.

Large sunny bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for 1 or 2 females. Pets OK, dishwasher, laundry fac. Summer with Fall option. 253-7076.

Room for rent. Hse. Amh. Bus. 256-6698.

Professional female seeks same to share 2 bedroom, mostly furnished apartment in Northampton. Nice location. $100 — mo plus. Beginning June or July 1st. References req'd. If not at home, leave message. 584-2508.

M — F's. Yarmouth. Lg. house near beach. Up. class. pref. Call 256-0309 - 665-3670.

Own bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt., bus rt., pool, rent neg. 256-8012.

3F for house appar. Amherst Center loc. Sum — Fall option. Rent negot. 253-9403.

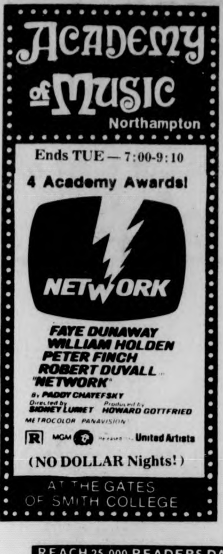
1 or 2 female roommates. June - August. $50 mth. Call 549-2804. Ask for Joanne, Jean.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. From June 1 to Aug. 31. $90 — mo. plus utilities. Bus route. Call soon. 665-7019, after 5 p.m. Sunderland area.

2 bdrm. in 4 bdrm. apt. $55. Bus rt., pool, non-smokers. Call evenings 253-5206.

Looking for a good time this summer? We need a roommate for Townehouse Apts., North Amherst. A steal at $46 per month (approx. May 20 until August 31), plus utilities. Call Joe Q or Phil, 545-3500.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!



ACADEMY of MUSIC
Northampton
Ends TUE — 7:00-9:10
4 Academy Awards!
NETWORK
FAYE DUNAWAY
WILLIAM HOLDEN
PETER FINCH
ROBERT DUVALL
"NETWORK"
By PADDY CHAYEFSKY
Directed by SIDNEY LUMET Produced by HOWARD GOTTFRIED
METROCOLOR PANAVISION
R MGM United Artists
(NO DOLLAR Nights!)
AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9 - HADLEY, MASS.
The first major motion picture to challenge two thousand years of history!
the Passover Plot
Did Jesus really die on the cross?
1 PG Mon. & Tues. 6:00, 8:00 Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00
An epic fantasy of peace and magic.
A RALPH BAKSHI FILM
WIZARDS
2 PG Mon. & Tues. 6:15, 8:15 Twi-Liter 5:45-6:15
Carney's back and Tomlin's got him!
The Late Show
3 PG Mon. & Tues. 6:00, 8:15 Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00
WINNER OF 4 ACADEMY AWARDS!
Prepare yourself for a perfectly outrageous motion picture.
MGM presents NETWORK
FAYE DUNAWAY WILLIAM HOLDEN PETER FINCH ROBERT DUVALL
4 R Mon. & Tues. 5:45, 8:00 Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45
REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI-LITE SHOW TICKETS - LIMITED TO SEATING

UNIVERSITY PIZZA
WANTS TO THANK EVERYONE
FOR THEIR PATRONNAGE
HAVE A GOOD SUMMER
SEE YOU NEXT YEAR!

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line
Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line
ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

TO SUBLET

A top-notch 2 bedroom apartment for summer lease in Brandywine. Furnished! AC, pool, bus route. Call for a deal — 549-0691.

3 bdrm. Apt., Puffton. Call 549-6948.

Drastic reduction forced by buyers market! Two bedroom apartment — cheap! On bus route, swimming pool, air conditioning. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729.

4 bdrm. townhouse on bus rte., furnished, air cond., pool. June 1st to Aug. 31st. 256-0337.

Cheap, 4 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. All utl. included. Furnished, AC, pool. 253-9957.

QUIET AMH. CTR. 1 bdrm., AC, pkg, near bus, stores. $180 w-optn. 253-3516.

Little house in country, furnished, pine interior, 2 bedrooms, streams, 3 acres. Must see 1-628-3931 or 527-5420. $225 — month.

Summer Sublet. 2 bdrm. apt. Dates and rent negotiable. Call 256-0338.

Sublet — quiet, clean, sunny, 1 bedroom apt. Available June 1. Option to renew. On bus route, pool, laundry facilities. Utilities included. 253-5588 after 5.

With rent option, 3 rm. apt., furnished, bus route, laundry, all util. included. Colonial Vlg., excellent cond. $210 per. 253-7865.

2 bdrm. apt., Squire Vill., Sund. A.C., pool, bus rte. Avail. June 1. Phone 665-4891.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. Brandywine apt. Bus rt., furn. Pets OK. Pool. 5-22 — 8-31. Rent negot. Call 549-1405.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. June 1 - Aug. 31. Opt. renew, pool, bus rte. Rent neg. 253-7798.

Breezy 2 bdrm. apt. in C.V. on bs rt., pool. 5-23 — 8-31. Rent vy neg. incl. util. 253-9401.

Summer Sublet. Townehouse apt., A.C., bus route, croquet set!! $55 — mo. 549-6033.

1-4 brooms in house, start 6-1 — 8-31. Pelham. 7 mi. from Amherst, across the st. from Quabbin. $65.00 a month. 253-2757.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt. A C., pool, furn., on bus rt. Fall opt. 6-1 — 8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

2 bdrm. apt., Colonial Vlg. Apts., on bus rte, prtly furn. upstairs. Jun - Aug. Opt. to renew. $165. neg. Call 5-7 p.m., 253-9559.

3 bdrm. twnhs. Jun - Aug., util. incl. Pool, air cond., cheap. 546-9671; 546-5670.

4 br. Rolling Green twnhse. Part furn. $250 — mo., June - Aug. Leave message. Days 5-1552; eves., 253-3755.

Spacious 2 bdrm. apt. at Colonial Village. Includes utilities, pool and option to renew. Available May 29. $150. Call Paul 546-6312.

With rent option, 3 rm. apt., furnished, bus route, laundry, all util. included. Colonial Vlg. Excel. cond. $210 per. 253-7865.

2 bdrm. twnhse., bus rt., A.C., pool. $190. Sq. Vlg. 665-4789.

TO SUBLET

Two bedroom apt. at Cliffside in Sunderland, on bus route. Swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729 and keep trying.

2 br. Col. Vil. Jn 1 - Aug. 31. Option to renew. Garden plots avail., pool, bus rt., cool in summer. $220 inc. 253-2874, after 6.

Riverglade 2 bdrm. 6-1 — 8-31. Price neg. Call 256-0638.

4 bdrm. Rolling Green Townhse. June — Aug. cheap $280 a month. Call 546-7161.

Sublet — June 1 - Aug. 31. 3 bdrm. apt. in So. Amherst on bus route, pool, air cond., veg. garden, large yard, quiet atmos. $220 — mo. 253-5136 anytime.

Sublet — 2 bed. apt. Beaut. Squire Vlg., Sund. 7 min. from campus. 6-1 — 8-31 w-opt. for fall. Rent neg., A.C., pool, on bus rt! Call 665-3619.

Sublet — room ideal for couple or single. Opp. for Fall. $65 mo plus. Pets OK. Garden, off road, on UM bus. 323-5536.

2 bedrm. in 3 bedrm. Twnhse. Squire Vlg., Sunderland. Jun to Sep (w-opt to renew), bus rte., pool, A.C., 7 min. to UMass. 665-2303.

1 rm for male in 2 bdrm. apt. $70 incl. all util. Call 549-1816. Keep trying.

2 bdrm. apt., Brandywine, on bus rt. A.C., pool, exc. view, semi-furn. 6-1 — 8-31. $250 or best offer. 549-4766.

2 bdrm. twnhs., on bus rt., pool, a.c., d.w., garden, plot, pets, ½ May's rent free. $220. 253-3832.

Fully furnished 2 bdrm. on bus rt., pet, pool, rent negotiable. 6-1 — 8-30. 256-0501.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. 1 bdrm. June, both July - Aug. Pool, bus, semi-furn. $220 — mo. incl. util. Rent negot. 256-0465.

3 bdrm. townhouse. $200 — mo. Opt. to renew. Includes hot water, A.C., pool, on bus rt. 1½ baths. 549-2616. Avail. May 18.

Cheap. 4 bdrm. apt. Rol. Grn. $150 — mo. or $50 — mo per rm. Semi-furn., air cond., Swm pool, laund. fac., dishwash. 6-1 — 8-31. 6-7819.

Pres. Apt. Spacious one bedroom, air, dishwasher, util. incl. Sept. option. Rent neg. 549-1729.

Paradise. 2 bdrm. apt. for summer. Brandywine. 549-0901.

1 lrge bdrm. S. Amherst. $65. June - Sept. Option to renew. 256-6602. Larry.

Sublet, 2 bdrm. apt. June 1 to Aug. 31. 106 Colonial, util. $185 — mo. 253-7760.

3 bdrm. 2nd floor, semi-furn. After May 21. Just off campus. 24 Nutting Ave. 549-1862, util. inc.

Low rent, 3 bdr. twnhse, ½ m campus. Furn., priv. bkyd., 2 bus rt., residential. 549-4855.

Opt to renew. 2 bdrm. Cliffside apt. June-Aug. $200 — mo. Call 665-7188, 545-2820, or 545-0881.

$105 Free. 1 bedrm. apt. - Pool 665-2886.

1 br. A.C. July and Aug. Dates flexible. Poss. Fall option. Presidential Apts., Amherst. 549-2812. Nice airy place.

$100 — 2 bdrm. twnhse. June - Aug. 256-6205.

TO SUBLET

Sunny 1 bdrm. apt., screened porch, quiet street, NHamp. Mid June to Mid Aug. $145 — mo. 586-0585, eves. No smokers.

2 bdrm. Brandywine apt. avail. June 1. Rent neg. 549-4854. Bus rt., pool, etc.

1 bdrm. apt., walk to campus. June — Sept., renew opt. Call 253-7234.

Best offer takes it. 2 bdrm. sublet w-opt., furn. or not. Lots extra. 665-3637.

Puffton, 3 bdrm., furn. Mid-May - Aug. 549-1317.

2 br. $190 — mo. Save $90. Must sublet. Includes utils., pool, bus rt. Jn 1 - Aug. 31. 253-2874 after 6.

Great for plants. 2 bdrm. Lant. Ct. Air cond., utl inc., bus rt., some furn. op. to renew. $195. 665-4298.

2 bdrm. semi-furn. apt. Bus rt., pool. 3-3684, Colonial Village.

3 DESPERATE FEMALES need you to sublet 2 bdrm. twnhse. in Rolling Green. Avail June 1 - Aug. 31. Air cond., on bus rte., pool. $220 — mo., or best offer. Call 546-9544 or 253-7537.

2 bdrm. apt. $190 — mo., incl. util. Good loc., pool. Call 253-2841.

Puffton — 1 lg. bdrm. to sublet. Pool, bus route, quiet. Rent neg. 549-1603.

2 bdrm. apt. Furn. Lantern Ct. Bus rt - $200. incl. A.C. and util. Avail. 20 May. Fall opt. 665-3931.

Cheap. By Puffers Pond. 2 bdrm., all util. incl. $180. Steve 367-2048.

2 bdrm., comp. furn. Coll. Vill. $175. Bus route, pool. 256-6042.

Sublet — Riverglade. 1 of 2 bdrms. June - Aug. $60 plus. Call Zen 253-3373 after 11.

3 bdr. twnhse. Roll. Green, util. incld. A.C., pool, on bus rt. Pr. negot. Jun - Aug. 546-9668, 546-9670.

Sublet — 1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt. Puffton Vill. Rent neg. Ask for Dan. 549-3809.

2 singles, 1 double at Rolling Green. 100 yds. from bus, util., appl., prt. furn. $75 — mo. or best. 6-1 — 8-31. 256-0340.

Spacious So. Deerfield apt. on bus route. Very unique so must be seen. Please call after 6:00 p.m. 665-7193.

Large apt. w-2 lg. bdrms. on N. Pleasant. $260 — mo. 253-5298.

3 big bdrms. apt., A.C., close to cmps., nice view, util. inc. $290. Dishwasher. 549-1387.

1 bdrm. in 4 bdrm. house. June 1 - Aug. 1. Reasonable rent, excellent location. 253-9458. Female preferred.

Free — 1 mo. rent, Jn. - Ag. Subl. Rol. Grn. Twnhse. 2 br. Opt. to renew. All util. incl. A.C., bus rt. 256-8120.

Summer in the country. Sublet apartment in Sunderland. 6-1 to 8-31. Air conditioning, dishwasher and disposal, wall to wall carpeting. A good deal at $150 per month. Call 665-4255. Ask for Joe or Paul.

2 bdrm. apt., low rent, negotiable, utils. incl., bus rte., pool, tennis. Cliffside. 665-2847.

TO SUBLET

2 bedroom furnished Brandywine Apt. June 1-Aug. 31. Rent negotiable. 549-6476.

2 rooms, modern house, Shutesbury. Wall to wall, dishwasher, etc. 7 mi. to campus. $70 — rm. 253-5366 eves.

1 bdrm. in 3 bdrm. apt. on N. East St. 5-15 or 6-1 — 8-31 w-opt. $75 mo. 253-7034.

2 bdrm. townhouse. Rolling Green. Furnished. $220. Call Paul 546-6312.

For Rent — 2 bedroom apt. June 1 - Aug. 31 w-option to renew. On bus line. Call after 5. 253-9558.

2 brm. Brandywine. 6-1 — 8-31. Ful. furnished, pool, A.C. Call 549-1564.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt., w-furn., A.C., pool on B.RT. Opt. for Fall. 6-1 — 8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

Available 5-16. 1 bdrm. apt., w-w, a.c., pool. $165 — mo. Call 665-4358 or 665-2203. (Squire Vil.)

2 bdrm. apt., pool, on bus rt. 253-7798.

Pres. Apt. Two bdrm., sunlight, util. incl., furnished. Best offer. 549-4455.

Comfortable rooms to rent in house with large yard, rent negotiable. North Amherst. Anne, 549-0720.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. Jun - Aug. $110 mo. total. Pool, bus rt. 253-9488.

Own bdrm. A.C., 10 min. to UMass. Pres. Apts. 6-1 — 8-31. Renewable. $125 or best offer. 549-5532.

Cambridge — June - Aug. $130 month, utilities incl. Space for 2. Ellen 538-2421.

ENTERTAINMENT

What if they gave a spring concert and nobody came?

Cosmic Wimpout — 2nd annual C.W. Tournament Fri. aft. in The Bluewall. Prize money and fun!

Mostly beige dog, small Terrier-Basset mix, lge. head, paws, no license, ATC Center. Ron 586-5265. Dog's name: Myshkin.

RIDE WANTED

Need ride. Chicago to Amherst or NYC on or about 18 June. 549-6033.

To U. Mass May - Aug. Leaving Boston Fri., returning Sun. Will share $. 253-3446.

Driving to Calif? Earn $100 hauling my UHaul with your car. Berkeley. Mid-May. Call 253-5191, Susan.

SERVICES

Expert typing. Call 549-0813.

Men and trucks for hire. You bot it, we'll haul it. John, 549-6878; Gil, 253-3370.

Women, need career advice? Help writing good resume? Call Peggy 584-2857. Experienced, reasonable rates.

Typing — Prompt reasonable, experienced in all forms of papers, theses, etc. Call 586-2490.

PERSONALS

Lizzy F - (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie, D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

Luxury two bedroom apt. in Sunderland for summer sublet. On UMass bus route, swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low, low rent. Call 665-4729 anytime.

To 219 — Happy Birthday gorgeous and Twinkies! 224.

Need couple on campus to switch room. 546-6762.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF.

$50 reward for return or info leading to recovery of grn. Peugeot U08, ser. no. 236676, stolen from Pierpont. No questions asked. I just want the bike. Barry 246 Pierpont. 546-5212.

LNZ — Finally here's one for you. I'm gonna miss you, but you're my best and original roomie. Love, Judie.

"Tea with Shirley" is drawing to a close. Many thanks to Skip and Lorry.

Hey Marie — Want to let you know it is always a good trip every night. Yr. Luv.

Congrats to Mel, the proud new parent of 12 bouncing boys! Love, bunkers 2 and 3. P.S. — Hope the wait shows its worth!

Bill, thanks for yesterday afternoon. Now we know that malemen are better than milkmen: With great appreciation for all your services. 3 satisfied customers.!!!

BHBWBE, Seven months have been the best. Forever starts today. 4TA. EL.

If I got to be provost, I'd wear my white linen suit every day and try to stop twitching — leader of the "pack."

LOST

Silver bracelet. Lost at Orchard Hl. Initials EAD. Please call 6-8026.

Learn to play the piano — experienced teacher seeking beginning and intermediate students. Call 546-4830 after 8 p.m.

Dial-A-Decision. Call Paul 545-0575. Legal opinions over the phone. No waiting.

TRAVEL

F 24 seeks F travel companion for cross country trip. Call Jan 549-4861.

AUDIO

Quality components. Over 150 lines, reasonable prices. Call Peter, 665-2920.

Pioneer SX-535 20 watts per, BIC form. 4 spkrs., AR-XB with M91ED. $450. Ken 549-1452.

CALCULATORS

End of semester prices! SR-52, $179.95; SR-56, $77.77; SR-51, $49.95; SR-40 and Bus Anal, $29.95; Commodore 1800 Scientific, $34.95; HP-67, $375. And College Calculators services all machines sold for 1 full yr! Before you buy anywhere, call Bob or Linda at 549-1316!

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

Chimps chomped

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

They tried, but they couldn't do it.

Even the inspiration of playing adjacent to the varsity's matchup with Harvard, the UMass junior varsity lacrossemen couldn't pull off the doubleheader sweep and dropped, an 8-6 decision to Harvard's mini-Crimson. It was the Chimp's first loss vs. four wins.

Penalties hurt the Chimps. Pete Stark was off for slashing at the 5:20 mark of the first quarter, when Andy Krouner fired a low drive from Ray McKinney's right into the strings, and Harvard was up, 1-zip. Time of the goal, 5:39.

McKinney made a body save when Mark McGloughlin bounced a shot off the ground.

Harvard's second goal came on the powerplay also (Stark off for slashing again-refs must not have liked him) when Pete Basser wheeled in front of the UMass goal, tossing a shot into the far corner. Harvard JV-2 UMass JV-0.

Anthony Florence put the Chimps on the board in the second period with his one-handed shot, jumping across in front of the Harvard goal. And when a scramble occured in front of the Harvard crease, Bob Munro picked up the loose ball and scooped it into the twine, knotting the score at 2-apiece.

With just over a minute remaining in the half, 'Bat' masterson bounced one past McKinney for the 3-2 halftime score.

Harvard broke it open in the third, outscoring the Chimps 3-1, and led 6-3 going into the fourth (Brad Mitchel, unassisted, for the UM goal).

Harvard advanced the score to 8-3, forcing the Chimps to play catchup. Goals from Mitchel (assist-Mark Schwartz), Carl Leone (assist-Mitchel), and Munro (assist-Steve Collela) weren't enough, and the Chimps undefeated record was blemished.

The Chimps season-ender is Wednesday at Brown University.

Snowflakes stomp Sows in soccer

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

To the victor goes the spoils.

The women's intramural soccer season drew to a close Thursday when the Snowflakes tripped the Sows, last year's champ, 1-0.

The Snowflakes and Sows went through 20 minutes of regulation play, and a 10-minute sudden death overtime period with the score knotted at 0-0.

It wasn't until Carrie Nickerson's blazing penalty shot rifled through goalie Mary Murray's fingertips that a goal was scored. And the game was decided when Allyson Toney's penalty shot bid in an attempt to knot the score rolled into 'Flake goalie Robin Jennings hands, giving the Flakes their first championship.

Don't get the idea that the teams weren't evenly matched. They were. Both had their chances but neither could capitalize on them.

The Sows carried more of the play in the first half, applying pressure in the Snowflakes zone. On one occasion, five minutes into the period, a Sow pass found its way in front of the Flakes goal for what would have been an open net shot, as the goalie had been covering a shot from the right post. No Sow was in the area, and the goal went by the board.

Judy Kennedy fired a direct kick on the Snowflake net from 20 yards, but Jennings was equal to the task. On the rebound a Nancy O'Neal tip snuck by the post, and out of bounds. With seconds remaining, Laura O'Neal and Ginger Bulman worked a two-on-one break, but Bulman's shot streaked over the 'Flake goal.

In the early goings of the second half, the Snowflakes got moving. Pat DeCaire shot wide of Sow goalie Murray. Jody Wickman broke in alone on Murray for an excellent scoring bid, but fanned on the shot from three feet in front.

Sports Calendar

FRIDAY'S RESULTS
VARSITY BASEBALL — UMass 9 Springfield 3
MEN'S GOLF — 6th in New Englands
SATURDAY'S RESULTS
VARSITY BASEBALL — UMass 11 Providence 4
Providence 8 UMass2
VARSITY MEN'S LACROSSE — UMass 13 Harvard 11
VARSITY SOFTBALL — UMass 13 Vermont 2
UMass 11 Vermont 3
MEN'S TRACK — 2nd in Yankee Conference
WOMEN'S TRACK — 4th in Easterns
MEN'S JUNIOR VARSITY LACROSSE — Harvard 8 UMass 6
YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
WOMEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — 3rd in New Englands
TODAY
VARSITY BASEBALL — vs. UConn Home 3:00
VARSITY MEN'S LACROSSE — vs. Springfield Home 3:00

LAST MINUTE
ART SUPPLY SALE
For Your Last Minute Project
25¢ off WITH COUPON AD MARKERS 200 COLORS
35¢ off WITH COUPON DUO COLOR MAT BOARD 32"x40" (different color on Either Side)
50¢ off WITH COUPON University Imprint Sketch Pad 18"x 24"
METAL FRAMES -SECTIONAL TYPE ONLY BLACK & SILVER
AT THE UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER
'THE ART STORE WITHIN A STORE'
SALE ENDS SAT., MAY 21

INVALID AFTER 5/21 25¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE AD MARKER THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5/21 35¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE SHEET DUO COLOR MAT BOARD 32"x 40" THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5/21 50¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE UNIVERSITY IMPRINT SKETCH PAD 18" x 24" THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5/21 50¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE SET OF METAL FRAMES-SECTIONAL ONLY THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER

We got a lot of pipes. (sic)
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

UNIVERSITY
MASSACHUSETTS

WHEREVER YOU GO
DURING VACATION
SHOW 'EM WHERE YOU'RE FROM!!
UMASS imprinted sportswear now in stock in all sizes and colors in your favorite styles.
quality sportswear by Champion
The University Store
Campus Center
UMass
Closed on Sat

We'll give you 10 good reasons to attend Summer Session.

No. 9
Natural highs.

Enjoy the beauty of summer in one of the loveliest settings possible! Summer Session offers a wide variety of physical activities like tennis, swimming and intramurals —take advantage of the warm weather. Going to classes in a relaxed atmosphere can leave you more energy for important course work.

Catalogs are still available at many locations on campus, and more information on the wide variety of courses offered can be had by stopping by the Summer Session Office in 239 Whitmore, or by calling 545-0584.

Summer Session '77
University of Massachusetts/Amherst

But playoff hopes dim

Mittmen grab two weekend wins

By MIKE BERGER
Collegian Staff

The UMass baseball team's playoff chances took a turn for the worse this weekend as it split a key doubleheader with Providence College Saturday after winning Friday afternoon's game with Springfield.

Dick Bergquist's nine, in a must win situation opened up the weekend with a 9-3 win, and continued to pound the opposition with a 11-4 smashing of the Friar's in the first game of Saturday doubleheader. But seven runs scored against UMass pitching in the first two innings in the second game ruined a possible three-game winning streak as UMass lost, 8-2.

"We knew we had to win all of our games after we split with Connecticut last week. The team felt very good going into the second game with Providence as our pitching and hitting came together for two straight games. This loss reduces our playoff chances to remote with the only chance that several teams in New England have the same record as ours," said Bergquist.

The 18-16 Minutemen will face a rematch with number one in New England Connecticut at home Tuesday, and end the season with Amherst Thursday and make-up a doubleheader at home with Maine on Sunday.

Freshmen Doug Welenc, now 2-2 on the season, pitched a complete game Friday in the Minutemen's win over Springfield. Welenc scattered eight hits and struck out five as the tall righthander seems to be all the way back from an earlier back injury.

Welenc gave up a run in the second inning on three consecutive hits and two in the fifth on two singles, an error, and a fielder's choice. Springfield, now 12-7 on the year, could only manage eight hits.

Offensively, Ed Skribiski, Bob Alves, and Mike Stockley each had two hits, and Bill Hendy, substituting for injured first basemen Dale Stone, delivered a big three-run homer in the six-run eighth inning.

With the score tied at three, Mike McEvilly singled and was wild-pitched to second. John Czerapowicz walked and Alves hit a routine fly ball to center-field only have it turn into an error as the centerfielder collided with the leftfielder chasing it.

Neil Lojak and Stockley both walked and scored as Hendy delivered his first home run of the season. Other R.B.I.'s were produced by Stockley (two) and Jim Cullen.

Righthander Jerry Erb pitched the fourth straight complete game for the Minutemen as he posted a seven hit victory for his third win of the season. Erb was shaky in the beginning as he gave up two runs in the second inning on two walks, a single, and a triple.

Erb settled down, though, to finish out the game by giving up two more scattered runs, one of which was unearned. UMass again used the "big inning" offensively as it scored three in the third and iced the game in the sixth with five tallies.

Back-to-back triples by Jim Cullen and Ed Skribiski drove in two runs apiece and Leo Kalinowski added two more insurance runs in the eighth inning with a two-run homer.

Lefthander reliever Chris Kirby (now 3-1) took the loss in the second game as he gave up six hits and four runs in one and ⅓ innings. Kirby struck out the first man in the first inning but surrendered three consecutive hits and a run.

In the second, two walks, three hits, and a sacrifice fly later, Kirby was taken out in favor of Dave Tewhill. After giving up a run in the second Tewhill surrendered another run on a home run as he gs of relief pitching. Providence pitcher Jim MacDonald, now 3-4, pitched a strong game, giving up only four hits. MacDonald, a sophomore, walked seven and was wild throughout but only gave up single runs in the second and the sixth.

Crewmen take first in Worcester race

By BILL CARRINGTON
Collegian Staff

WORCESTER — After two years, the Norton Cup returns to UMass. The Norton Cup is the trophy awarded to the winner of the heavyweight eight race at the Worcester Invitational Regatta.

Suffering the loss of two men, UMass rose to the occasion, and carved out a decisive one and one-quarter length victory out of a field of six crews on Saturday. Racing against UMass for the Norton Cup was Wesleyan, University of New Hampshire, Amherst College, Holy Cross, and Assumpton.

The start of the 2000 meter race went off with some difficulty, as Holy Cross broke a rigger. With a 20 second rule in effect the race was restarted. The 20 second rule stipulates that any equipment failure within 20 seconds of the start of the race contitutes a restart.

Also, there was some confusion about the starting commands which were given in French. UMass has experienced much success with its starts this year, but on Saturday, things did not go off as well as they have in previous races.

After 20 strokes, UMass found itself in fourth place, one length down on UNH, which was leading the field at this point. In the first 500 meters, stroking at a 34, UMass went through Holy Cross, and at the one-quarter mark in the race, it was UNH followed by Wesleyan, with UMass in third.

As the race approached 1000 meters, UMass closed the gap on UNH and Wesleyan. At the 1000 meter mark, coxwain Mark Lyle called a power 20 and took the cadence up to 36 strokes per minute. Everything fell into place for UMass at this point, as it powered its way to a one length lead over UNH, and a slim lead over Wesleyan.

UMass was in command now as it began to move ahead of the pack. The closest crew was Wesleyan, who did all it could to remain close for the remainder of the race. Even this proved to be impossible.

UMass showed its best sprint of the season, increasing its lead to make it open water over Wesleyan. The winning time was 6:02.1. The order of finish was UMass, Wesleyan, UNH, Holy Cross, Amherst, and Assumption finishing last.

In the varsity boat for UMass was, bow through stern: 1. Rick Edwards, 2. Dave Kumlin, 3. Frank Miconi, 4. Jim Clair, 5. Mike Melvin, 6. Dave Rubin, 7. Steve Frankleton, 8. Dick Dunne. Mark Lyle was coxwain.

The junior varsity eight, suffering the loss of two men, finished fourth out of a field of 10 crews. Brad Eveland was out for this race due to a case of the measles. Dave Rubin left JVs to fill a vacated seat in the varsity eight.

The JV line ups, bow through stern, were: 1. Gary Murtagh, 2. Neal Vanaria, 3. Bruce Yetman, 4. Gary Arabak, 5. Bruce Belliveau, 6. Mark Bouzianas, 7. Bob Keaveney, 8. Dave Burke. Bill MacDonald was the coxwain. The winner of the JV race was UNH.

The freshman eight, showing improvement with every race, really came on strong for this one, as it came out of fourth place with three-fourths of the race gone to take second.

Showing the ability to sprint like a varsity crew, the freshmen took the cadence up for the last 500 meters of the race to pass Coast Guard lightweights and finish in second place.

Finishing ahead of UMass was Rhode Island, which defeated UMass two weeks ago in Hartford.

Deserving special merit for their performance on Saturday are Dave Rubin, Dave Burke, and Mike Melvin. Rubin made the adjustment from JVs to varsity with no problem, winning his first race as a varsity oarsman.

Burke, sidelined early in the season before the first race, returned to replace Rubin in the JVs after a one and one-half month layoff. Melvin, rowing with sore knees, continues to be one of the work horses on the team.

This is a very big win for UMass, as next week it travels to Philadelphia for the Dad Vail Championships, its last race of the season.

Crewwomen 4th in race

By LISA MELILLI
Collegian Staff

The UMass women's varsity crew made it to the finals this weekend in the ½orcester Regatta where some of the tops in New England came to compete.

The 13 boats racing in the varsity race were split into two qualifying heats or separate races, the top three from each to compete in a final race. UMass placed third in its heat behind Mt. Holyoke, which placed on top with Connecticut College coming in a close second. The top three of the other heat brought UMass into competition in the final race with Dartmouth, UNH, and Wesleyan.

At the finals, Dartmouth came out on top with Mt. Holyoke in second, Connecticut in third, UMass in fourth and UNH and Wesleyan placing respectively in fifth and sixth.

In its heat, UMass rowed easily, saving its energy for the final race. "Given the competition," said Faye Blumenthal, coxswain of the varsity boat, "we were able to estimate that we could make it easily in the top three and so just made sure we kept our third place."

In the second heat, Dartmouth early made a quick break away and took off while UNH and Wesleyan fought for second keeping most of the race tight until the finish.

In the final race, all six boats were tight in till the half-mark of the 2000 meter race when Dartmouth moved out, Mt. Holyoke moved out behind their lead and Connecticut College soon after moved out in third leaving UMass an easy fourth.

In the junior varsity race UMass placed fifth out of the seven boats competing the winners again being Dartmouth. Doug Frost, coach of the oarswomen, said UMass was "out-classed".

"We were up against some tough competition," said Frost last night, "and were beaten by experience although they rowed a fine race."

Frost said there was a stiff tail wind which pushed the boats harder, giving an advantage to high-stroking crews. Frost said with more experience, UMass could have used this to its advantage.

The qualifying heats will take place Friday and the final race on Saturday. The Dad Vail's for men's crew is considered to be a small college national meet while for women it is considered as a regional invitational although the prestige of the meet is rising with the difference between the slowest and fastest crews widening as the quality in women's crew increases and develops, said Frost.

According to Frost, the According to Frost, the varsity eight has an excellent chance to come on top since he feels that UMass can beat Ithaca, the winning squad at last year's Dad Vail competition. For the varsity four, Frost said they have a good chance for making out well in the races, however their entry is mostly to gain experience.

On Sunday, the oarswomen will race in the Worcester spirits which will bring some of the best crews in the country such as Yale. Frost said UMass' entry is basically to gain experience in racing against some of the finest crews in the country.

Frost said this season has "given the young team a great amount of confidence and experience, but there is still much work to be done. We hold tremendous promise. But the future of the crew team depends on the people in it and how many people come back next fall. And we won't know that until September. One thing we learned from this weekend," Frost continued, "is that if we can tow a fine race in a 2,000 meter race, we can do an excellent job in the normal 1,500 meter course."

Rick Burleson is out at second as the Angels' Jerry Remy tries to complete a double play. California was beaten by the Bosox, 4-3, as Dwight Evans hit a game-winning homer in the sixth inning. Jim Willoughby picked up the win in relief. (UPI photo)

Indians burned by bum deals

While the Cleveland Indians languish in last place, some of their former employees are flourishing with contenders in Chicago and New York.

The Indians, in hopes of mounting their first serious pennant challenge since the early 1960s, invested heavily in free agent pitcher Wayne Garland during the off-season and were among baseball's busiest traders at the annual winter meeting. They might have fared better by never unloading folks like Oscar Gamble, Graig Nettles and Chris Chambliss in recent years.

Gamble, hitting at a .545 clip in his last nine games, belted a two-run homer yesterday to spark the Chicago White Sox to their fifth road victory in seven games, an 8-3 decision over the slumping Indians who are last in the American League East with an 8-16 record.

Meanwhile, Nettles, the defending Al Homer champion, capped a five-run first inning with his fifth of the season to help the New York Yankees to their 13th win in the last 15 games, a 10-5 decision over the Oakland A's. Chambliss had three hits in the game for the Yankees to lift his season's average to .300, which also includes 20 RBI.

"I'm getting good pitches to hit and everybody here is swinging the bat well," said Gamble.

Gazelles place third in NE

By NICK KOTSOPOULOS
Collegian Staff

WILLIAMSTOWN — After winning a pair of opening round games on Saturday afternoon, the UMass women's lacrosse team was knocked off by UNH yesterday morning, 7-2, placing the Gazelles third in the 1977 New England Women's Lacrosse Championship Tournament held at Williams College during the weekend.

The Gazelles finished behind champion UNH and second place Brown.

It was the second time this season that the Gazelles lost to UNH. Last weekend in Durham, N.H., the Wildcats defeated the Minutewomen, 7-5.

UMass reached the third round Sunday morning game after defeating Dartmouth, 10-4 and Middlebury College, 9-1 on Saturday. UNH reached the contest against UMass by virtue of a win over Plymouth St. and a 9-9 tie it had with Brown.

The Gazelles dominated play in the early part of the first half against UNH, as they jumped out to a quick, 2-0 lead. However, the Wildcats struck back with a goal to cut the UMass lead to 2-1.

At that point in the game, the Gazelles went into an offensive and defensive lapse and UNH responded by scoring three goals within the final 10 minutes of play in the first half to take a 4-1 halftime lead.

"We got off to such a good start," said UMass coach Frank Garahan, "but with about 10 minutes to go in the first half, UNH just took the play away from us for the rest of the half."

"They successfully controlled the play and we never got it back together for the rest of the half."

Then in the second half, UNH decided to protect its slim lead, so the Wildcats spread out their offense and went into a stall. The UNH strategy frustrated the Gazelles, as they were unable to play their fastbreaking style of offense.

"During the halftime break," Garahan said, "we planned some new strategy of our own which was designed to get some additional movement in our offense.

"But as soon as UNH got the ball to start the second half, they spread the offense across the field and stalled the ball for the next 10 minutes."

Garahan said that although the stall was a slow painful death for his Gazelles, he thought that it was an excellent bit of counterstrategy on UNH's part.

"Our defense was playing good in terms of stopping their attack," Garahan said. "In a way the stall was a credit to our defense and offense because they were afraid of it.

"However, personally I was a little upset at such strategy not only because we lost, but because they made what could have been a very exciting game a little boring."

The Gazelles did manage to score in the first two minutes of the second half, cutting the UNH lead to 4-2, but the Wildcats stall and three more goals spelled doom for the championship-seeking Gazelles.

"It was funny," Garahan said, "because I thought that we really did outplay them for a good part of the game. We were making a lot of good plays on offense and we were passing the ball very well.

"However, the difference was that we just did not get off that many good shots. If we were able to get the shots we wanted, it might have been a much different game."

Recognized for their fine play in the tournament were Julie Hall who made the second all-star team; Carri Nickerson and Cindy Hartstone who made the third all-star team and Grace Martinelli and Judy Kennedy, who made the fourth team.

"On the whole I thought we did good," Garahan said, "It's just a shame we couldn't bring home the title."

Looking for a lost notebook or book? Check Lost and Foundat the Campus Assistance Center-2nd level of theCampus Center. Unclaimed notebooks will be discarded after Wed. May 11. Open daily 8-11 P.M.

Used Book Sale
20% off our regular price on all paperbacks & hardbacks
Sat. May 7-thru-Sat. May 14
VALLEY BOOK SHOP
Carriage Shops Amherst

Linksters putter to sixth

By BOB HASKELL
Collegian Staff

The UMass men's golf team followed a dismal first round on Thursday with a mediocre one on Friday and watched its promising spring golf season grind to a halt as it settled for a disappointing sixth place finish in the New England Division I golf championships which were held at the Pleasant Valley Country Club in Sutton, Mass.

The Providence College Friars exhibited some steady golf as they won the team championship in convincing fashion. Their 620 aggregate placed them 14 strokes ahead of the runner-up Holy Cross squad.

Peter Teravainen, a Yale University junior from Duxbury, Mass., survived a string of bogies in the final round and won the individual medalist honors with a two-round total of 150.

"We played very poorly out there," said UMass coach Fan Gaudette. "We were prepared for this tournament, and we were well rested. I think the guys just wanted to win this thing too badly. They were nervous, and their nervousness showed up in the quality of play."

The Minutemen finished with a two-day total of 640 strokes, as the entire team seemed to have trouble finding the little hole at the end of each fairway. Senior Bobby Sanderson and freshman Flint Lincoln paced the UMass attack with 159 totals which were more notable for their consistency than for their brilliance.

Providence led after the first day with a 312 total, not an exceptional score in view of the Minutemen's 295 and 306 scores earlier this year. But coach Gaudette's young squad was apparently feeling the pressure as it skied to an uncharacteristic 325. Charlie Dempsey provided the team's only sub-80 score in the first round as he finished with a steady 79.

Friday featured some improved scores for the linksters, as they chopped 10 strokes from their total of the day before. However, the Friars also trimmed down their previous day's scores, as they used only 308 swings on the final round. Providence's Tim Cauley, a freshman from Holyoke, shot an impressive even-par 72 in the final round to grab second place laurels in the medalist sweepstakes. Jim McDermott paced the Minutemen with his final round 77.

"The first day was the key," said Gaudette. "You've gotta be in the ball game, and we just let ourselves get too far behind. We played 16, 17, and 18 poorly. We lost some fairly good rounds on those holes."

Providence wrapped up an invitation to the NCAA championships with this win. Medalist Teravainen will also participate in the National event which will be held at Colgate next month.

For the Minutemen, the season is over. But the team is young. Bob Sanderson is the only departing senior from the regular lineup. The stellar play of such promising freshmen as Lincoln and Mark Powers, along with the steadying influences of veterans McDermott and Dempsey offers considerable reason for optimism for the years ahead of UMass golf.

WANTED
FILTHY DIRTY
BART
REWARD
Fine Quality Auto Body & Glass Work in Amherst Belchertown Area
BART AUTO Paint & Body Specialists
Foreign and Domestic Collision Work
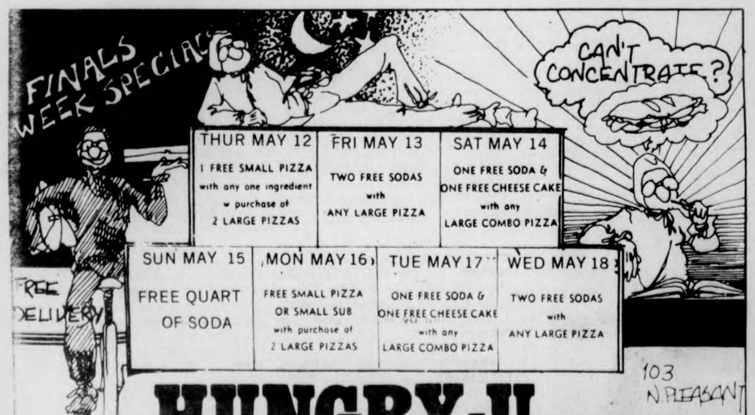
116 Federal St.
Belchertown, MA 323-5010



THUR MAY 12	FRI MAY 13	SAT MAY 14
1 FREE SMALL PIZZA with any one ingredient w purchase of 2 LARGE PIZZAS	TWO FREE SODAS with ANY LARGE PIZZA	ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE with any LARGE COMBO PIZZA

SUN MAY 15	MON MAY 16	TUE MAY 17	WED MAY 18
FREE QUART OF SODA	FREE SMALL PIZZA OR SMALL SUB with purchase of 2 LARGE PIZZAS	ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE with any LARGE COMBO PIZZA	TWO FREE SODAS with ANY LARGE PIZZA

103
N. PLEASANT

HUNGRY-U 256-0474
256-0473

EXAM SCHEDULE — 256-0474 DELIVERIES ONLY!

THURS., DEC. 16th	FRI., DEC. 17th	SAT., DEC. 18th	SUN., DEC. 19th	MON., DEC. 20th	TUE., DEC. 21st	WED., DEC. 22
1 FREE SMALL PIZZA WITH ANY ONE INGREDIENT W/PURCHASE OF 2 LARGE PIZZAS	TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA	ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE WITH ANY LARGE COMBO PIZZA	TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA	FREE SMALL PIZZA OR SMALL SUB WITH PURCHASE OF 2 LARGE PIZZAS	ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE WITH ANY LARGE COMBO PIZZA	TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA

SPRING& SUMMER SALE
Get the most wanted Spring & Summer items now at savings of:
30-50%
BUS STOP
197 N. Pleasant St./Amherst/Mass./256-0140

STUDENT JOBS
SWITZERLAND-AUSTRIA
FRANCE-GERMANY
Resorts - Hotels - Office
Restaurants - Hospitals
SEND 25¢ — APPLICATION INFORMATION
TRANSWORLD OVERSEAS
STUDENT OVERSEAS SERVICES
10 TREMONT STREET
BOSTON, MA. — 617-723-7875
TRANS WORLD

Batswomen fly high twice

By MEL WEBSTER
Collegian Staff

Sue DiRocco had five RBIs in the first game, and Sue Peters and Sally Lunt had four each in the second to lead the UMass softball team to a doubleheader sweep over the University of Vermont at NOPE Field by scores of 13-2 and 11-3.

The Minutewomen, now 16-1, completely dominated both games, smashing 14 hits in the first and 13 in the second.

UMass jumped out to a quick lead in the first game scoring a run in the first inning on Sue DiRocco's single to left. The Catamounts tied it in the second on a long home run over Peters' head in left.

The game remained tied until the bottom of the third thanks mainly to a great diving catch by Peters in left in the top of that inning which robbed the Vermont batter of a home run.

The MInutewomen took the lead for good in the third frame as once again DiRocco singled in a run. Pat Oski also had a run-scoring single.

Vermont scored a run in the fourth on back-to-back doubles, but this would be all the offense the Catamounts could muster in the game. The Minutewomen came up with their biggest inning of the season in the bottom half of the fourth sending eight runners across the plate on a splurge that included five hits, two stolen bases, and two errors by Vermont.

The Minutewomen added two more runs in the sixth as the hot bat of DiRocco came through again with a sizzling two-run single.

Winning pitcher Gail Matthews upped her record to 6-1 with a strong performance. She allowed only four hits while striking out four and walking only one.

The Minutewomen came out of the gate quickly again in the second game scoring two runs in the first inning. DiRocco and Lunt lined back-to-back triples for one run and Rita Riley singled in Lunt for the other.

Winning pitcher Sue Peters held the Catamounts scoreless for the first three innings while her teammates scored four more runs in the second, the big hit being Lunt's three-run double.

Trailing 6-0, Vermont finally got on the board in the fourth, as two runs scored on an error. Catcher Cheryl Meliones made a fine defensive play by picking off a Vermont runner at first base to end the inning.

Peters continued to throw shutout innings after the fourth, and the Minutewomen continued scoring runs. Two came across the plate on a single by Riley in the fourth, and then Peters aided her own cause with a towering three-run blast to left in the fifth for the final UMass runs.

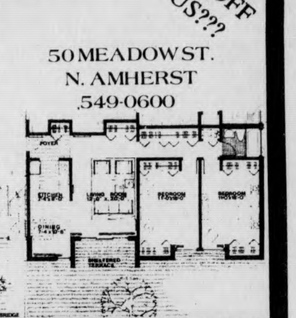
The Catamounts came back to score one in the sixth to make the final 11-3.

Peters, now 6-0, pitched a great game, giving up only three hits. She struck out two, but had a slight control problem allowing four walks and throwing four wild pitches. The win was the ninth in a row for the Minutewomen.

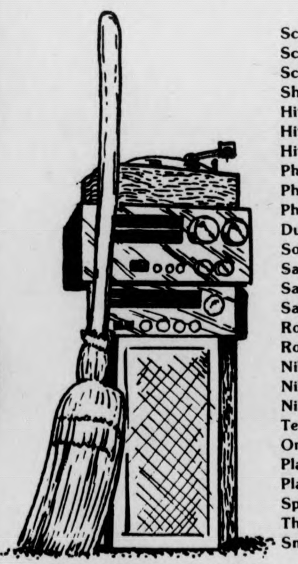
Coach Dianne Thompson said "this was the sharpest the team has been all season. Offensively the bats were alive and defensively we were alert in both games."

After the games, the two umpires who officiated said that UMass "was the best polished collegiate softball team they had seen."

DRAG BUNTS — Peters, DiRocco, and Carol Bruce had three hits each in the first game, while Sandy Lunt had three and Riley and Elaine Howle had two apiece in the second.... The Minutewomen played errorless ball in the first game and made only two errors in the second..... Vermont is one of the teams that will play in the Easterns.... The Minutewomen left 10 on base in the first game and four in the second.... The 14 UMass hits in the first game were a season high..... The two games were the only two games the Catamounts have lost this season.



BRANDYWINE AT AMHERST
MOVING OFF CAMPUS???
● STARTING AT $240 GAS UTILITIES INCLUDED
50 MEADOW ST.
N. AMHERST
549-0600
● RENTAL OFFICE OPEN WEEKDAYS 9-5 WEEKENDS 10-5
● ON UMASS BUS RT. EVERY 10 MIN.



SPRING CLEARANCE means SOUND SAVINGS

Inventory is your time to CLEAN UP!

(N) = New (U) = Used (D) = Demonstrator

	list	NOW
Scott T526 (D)	250	190
Scott A416 Amp (D)	199	140
Scott A436 Amp (D)	299	220
Sharp RT 1155 Cass. (D)	279	200
Hitachi PS-48 Ttbl. (D)	249	200
Hitachi PS-10 Ttbl. (D)	129	100
Hitachi D 2330 Cass. (D)	180	120
Philips 212 Ttbl. (D)	169	150
Philips GA 427 Ttbl. (D)	129	80
Philips GA 406 Ttbl. (N)	200	155
Dual 1219 Ttbl. (U)		70
Sony 1100 Ttbl. (N)	100	80
Sansui 551 Re. (N)	259	210
Sansui 331 Rec. (N)	199	160
Sansui 221 Rec. (N)	169	150
Rotel 102 Rec. (D)	170	135
Rotel 202 Mk II Rec. (D)	230	165
Nikko 7075 Rec. (D)	400	300
Nikko 3035 Rec. (N)	250	160
Nikko 2025 Rec. (N)	200	130
Teac A-170S Cass. (n)	279	180
Onkyo 7055 Amp (D)	250	150
Planar 2100 Rec. (D)	500	350
Planar 2040 Rec. (D)	279	170
Spectro Acoustics 217 Preamp (D)	250	175
Thorens 165 Ttbl. (N)		105
Small Advent Spkrs. (D)		150/pr.

All turntables complete with Base, Dust Cover and Cartridge. Full manufacturer's Warranty on all New and Demo equipment.

the Soundroom
master charge
your BANKAMERICARD welcome
186 Main St., Northampton
584-4478 mon-fri 10-6; sat 10-5
44 Elliot St., Brattleboro, Vt.
mon-fri 9:30-5:30; sat 9:30-4:30

Gorillas rumble past Harvard, 13-11

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

CAMBRIDGE — Garber's Gorillas picked up their ninth win of the season Saturday (against three losses) by dropping the Crimson of Harvard, 13-11.

Sticking to their newly adopted game plan, the Gorillas came out flying in the first half, and ended up coasting in for the victory (this strategy paid off in their recent victory over Syracuse, and seems to have caught on).

A scoreless tie through the opening four minutes of play was broken when Norm Smith's shot on a Mickey Menna pass put UMass up 1-0 on the non-existent scoreboard.

Perhaps inspired by Smitty's goal, Jeff Spooner passed off to Terry Keefe 45 seconds later for a quick 2-0 lead.

UMass' dominance continued, and the game moved to a three-goal spread, when Menna got his first goal of the day with the assist going to attackman Steve Pappas.

The Ivy Leaguers weren't overly impressed and reacted with a score of their own 13 seconds later on an unassisted goal by Chico McKenzie.

Harvard closed to within one midway through period number one, when freshman Mike Ward hit on a pass from teammate Jim Egasti.

Then UMass' big red machine went to work again. Within the next three minutes of play, the Gorillas scored five straight goals (unassisted score by Menna along with a pair of goals from Spooner and Kevin Patterson).

The smoke, as they say, cleared. UMass led now, 8-2.

A token goal by Harvard's Gary Pedroni rounded out the scoring, narrowing UMass' lead to 8-3 as the horn sounded.

The second period saw the Gorillas began their coast offense, as they netted only two shots (an unassisted tally by Spooner and another Norm Smith shot, the assist going to Rudy Krutzler). However, those two goals were a 200 per cent better production compared to Harvard, as the Crimson was held scoreless by the Gorillas and goalie Don Goldstein. Halftime: State School — 10 Ivy League — 3.

On the move in quarter three, Harvard narrowed the gap to 10-5 though the Gorillas were playing good defense, and at one time, contained the Crimsoners in their own end for over two minutes.

Menna passed to Norm Smith, who hit Spooner camping out at the edge of the Crimson crease all alone, for an easy goal. UMass, 11-5.

Harvard got on the stick. Quick passing from Gerry Kelcher to Gordy Nelson made it 11-6. Then Chris Doherty made it 11-7 on a controversial score (ref had blown his whistle indicating a penalty on UMass, an instant before Doherty's shot. Ref got out of the jam by saying he had blown his whistle after the shot).

What turned out to be the game winner came on a good play. After setting up, Norm Smith dropped a pass to Menna, parked to Harvard goalie Jim Michelson's right. Menna handed it off to Patterson who was camping out at the left post. Chief dropped it into the strings and UMass was up 12-7.

Harvard's Egasti attempted to get that one back, but his shot richocheted off the goal post. Steve Moutin grabs the rebound. Shoots. And scores!! UM-12, HU-8.

Harvard won the opening faceoff of the final quarter, came down, shot, but Goldstein made the save. UMass got the ball, raced down field. Dave Martin flipped it to Menna-goal-UMass, at the 32 second mark. UMass-13 Harvard-8.

On that last goal, Harvard goalie Michelson was called for a slash. He was removed for the penalty, but never returned. Replacing him was sophomore goalie Ken First, who had to come up with great saves to hold the Gorillas off the rest of the way (as did UMass' Goldstein late in the game).

SAVES: the Gorillas has two regular season games left — Springfield today (non-powerhouse) and Brown on Wednesday.

Collegian Sports

Gorillas beat Harvard; p. 19

Batswomen keep on rolling; p. 19 20

Trackwomen 4th in East...

By DAVE RODMAN
Collegian Staff

EAST STROUDSBERG, Pa. — Whoa baby!

UMass, which has managed to build up quite a reputation as a school that likes to pah - tay-, went a long way towards establishing its reputation as a first class woman's track power as the Minutewomen placed fourth in the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (EAIAW) Track and Field Championships held Friday and Saturday at East Stroudsberg State College.

UMass piled up 39 points to trail Morgan State (40), U-Maryland (65), and Penn State (120), which successfully defended its team title.

Every individual and relay event record except one, the 100 meter hurdles, was broken in the meet. Three UMass records were broken out right, and one other came within a second of being broken.

Top individual performance was turned in by Chris Perron in the 400 meter hurdles. She ran 67.1 seconds on Friday to qualify for the finals, using 19 steps between each hurdle. This caused problems because it forced her to break strike to switch lead legs going over the hurdles.

Friday night, she decided to run the final at 17 strides between hurdles, which would mean running harder for the whole race, but smoother. The result was an outstanding record breaking time of 64.5 seconds and a fourth place finish. The time broke her own record by 2.5 seconds, and left her only a stride out of third place.

Another record shattering time was turned in by the mile relay quartet of Carolyn Shea, Cathy Contini, Cindi Martin, and Diane Sealy; who ran 4:01.7 to take fourth in Saturday's final event. The team had to qualify on Friday in horrendous weather conditions, as lightning split the sky; and rain, hail, and winds assaulted the runners. UMass' heat was run at the height of the storm, but the women managed to run a time just off the old record of 4:06.5 to qualify.

In the final, the weather was much more pleasant, and while Morgan State (rated second in a friendliness poll - UMass was first) was running away with a meet record (3:49.5), UMass was coming from behind as Sealy smoked a 57.4 second anchor leg to just miss catching arch-rival Rutgers.

A near miss (.63 seconds to be exact) came in the 4 x 880 relay as UMass' time of 9:39.7 was just off the meet record which the Minutewomen set last year. Penn State broke the record as it finished first. Karen Zimmerman, Laurie Wolf, Bonnie Hukowski, and Sue Mulligan combined for second behind the Lady Lions.

Not surprisingly, the big point event for UMass was a distance run — the three mile. Jane Welzel, keying on Roberta Anthes of Villanova, a former nemesis, ran a strong race and left the Wildcat runner far behind on her way to second place. Teammate Sue Swartz went on a late tear and almost caught Welzel, as she ended up second.

Another school record was set in the 880 yard medley relay, which was also won by Morgan State. Sealy (220), Nancy Cominoli (110), Contini (110), and Martin (440) combined to finish third in 1:50.6.

UMass was helped on its way to third at the end of the first day of competition by Johara Chapman's fifth place in the two mile. Chapman ran 11:44 to finish fourth in her heat, but that time was beaten by the first runner in the supposedly slower second heat. The race was highlighted by Chapman's breakneck kick over the last quarter mile to overtake three Rutgers runners.

The 4 x 110 relay team, consisting of the indefatigable four-Sealy, Martin, Contini, and Cominoli, accounted for the last point. Shaky baton passes plagued the team all weekend, and nowhere are they more important than in the quickest of all the relays, the 440. Morgan State (who else?) won the event in record time, with UMass running 51.4, good for sixth.

Julie Lafreniere made the 880 final and ran a good time of 2:17.5, but only finished seventh as she tied up over the last 220. Anne Bradshaw also just missed a scoring spot as she finished seventh in the three mile. Barb Callanan finished eighth in the mile run, and Maggie Crowley and Debbie Farmer were eighth and ninth, respectively in the two mile.

Meet records were the order of the day (both days). Outstanding performers in the meet were Maryland's Carolyn McRoy, who won the 100 and 200, both in record time, and ran on the fourth place 440 relay; Kathy Mills of Penn State, who won the three mile and tied for first in the two mile, along with anchoring Penn's winning two mile relay effort,all of which were records; teammate Kris Bankes, who tied in the two mile, won the mile, and led off the two mile relay; Vermont's Janet Lynch, who won the pentathlon after pulling a hamstring a week ago; and the Morgan State team-five women who took third overall in the meet.

UMass may have been fourth in the meet, but whereas they displayed their quick feet mainly on the track, the Minutewomen didn't miss the chance to show 'em how on the dance floor, either. There, they were number one. The Albany Invitational on Saturday will be their next meet.

Heading into the homestretch is this pack of runners (UMass' Toney Pendleton far left) at the Yankee Conference championships. (Staff photo by Randy Glenn)

...men 2nd in YC

By MIKE BERGER
Collegian Staff

This weekend's Yankee Conference track meet was anticipated as the return of UMass capturing the crown last won in 1972. It was also expected that UConn would finally be dethroned as YanCen champ, having won the title the last four years.

But the Huskies amassed 90 points, winning eight out of 18 events to capture their fifth straight Yankee Conference championship. UMass, with 60 points, was runner-up for the 5th straight year. A rebuilt BU squad was a close third with 52 points, followed by URI, UNH, and UVM.

The Huskies accomplished the victory by outscoring UMass 52-19 in the field events, scoring heavily in the discus (12 points), triple jump (12) and shot put (14). UMass surprisingly outscored the Huskies 41-35 in the 10 running events but being shutout in seven events was a critical factor.

"It was a meet which all of our finishing performances were of high caliber but UConn's strength in the weight events was too much for us," said UMass coach Ken O'Brien.

The opposing coach, Bill Kelleher, figured on paper before the meet that this was the year UConn would be knocked out of first place.

"We haven't really performed in any dual meet action before with our meets consisting of invitational and relay competition. I was worried about our depth. But our weight men pulled us through," said Kelleher.

In analysis, the meet was decided by the fourth event of the sunny, almost perfect afternoon. The Huskies jumped out to a 4-0 lead, taking third and fifth in the hammer. But UMass regained its only lead of the afternoon by capturing 11 points in the long jump.

Senior Toney Pendleton won the event with a best jump of 22'10" while co-captain Ken Adamson and freshman Rick Browne took second and fifth places respectively.

Connecticut retook the lead 19-11 with 12 points gained in the discus while UMass recorded its second shutout of the afternoon.

Bruce Parsons almost brought back the Minutemen entering the final jump of the triple jump with a first place 46'3". However, UConn's Pat Augeri came back in the final try to beat Parsons with a 47'9" jump. Augeri was also captured the high jump later in the afternoon.

"The meet for all purposes was decided there. If Bruce had been able to win it for us there, it might have changed the complexion of the meet. From then on, UConn had the momentum," said O'Brien.

The freshman unit of Bill Conant, Mark Delaney, Mark Dale, and Jerry Herman brought back the deficit to only 16 points — 34-18 — with a second place 43.1 timing in the 440 relay. But Bruce Clark dashed all hopes of a comeback with a 4:10 first place mile performance. Aided by a fifth place finish by UConn's Robert Hintermister, the Huskies extended the lead 41-25 after five events.

The Huskies would then pick up 14 points in the shotput, eight points in the high jump, six points in the javelin and nine points in the three mile to help garner their 90 point total.

UMass was not without good performances as junior Joe Martens captured his second straight Yankee Conference 440 with a 49.2 victory. Freshman Jeff King (2:53) and senior Jim Hunt (1.53.9) came in second and third respectively in the half mile and Mark Healy (54) and John Richards (54.3) did likewise in the 440 intermediate hurdles.

Freshman Bob Martin ran his best mile of the year (4:12) combining with Chris Farmer (4:13) for second and third place. Other Yankee Conference finishes were Bob Fitzgerald third-high jump, Frank Carroll second-mile and Matt Wolff — fourth - three mile. The mile relay of John Richards, Bill Conant, Mark Healy, and Joe Martens took second place with a time of 3:19.1.

O'Brien's ovalteam will finish out the 1977 spring season by hosting the New England Championships this Saturday at Derby Track.

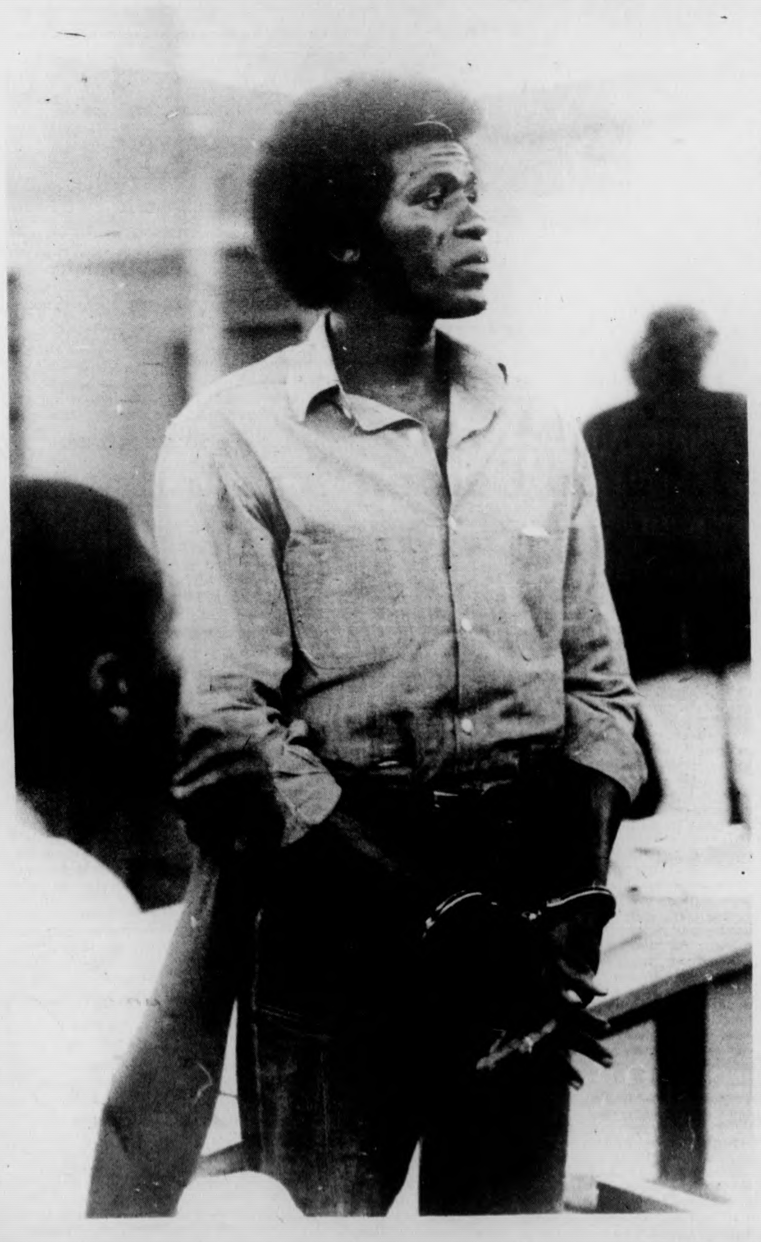
It's up, up, and away for UMass polevaulter Teddy Power, who placed fifth in his event Saturday. (Staff photo by Randy Glenn)

Special Spring Semester Insert ●

NUMMO NEWS
A Black News Service Publication

Craemen Gethers Still Incarcerated

Benefit Concert Held



A concert and fund raiser for the Craeman Gethers Defense Fund opened last Sunday evening with an address given by Earl Brown. Earl, who was recently released from the same charges confronting Craeman, recounted some of his experiences dealing with the situation and reminded us that "It could have been anybody." I personally hope efforts such as the concert continue to be held until the Brother is released from prison.

After Earl spoke, two musical groups were presented: Jade, a group from Brooklyn, and The United Ensemble, whose members include residents from the Valley and Boston.

The Unity Ensemble plays Black Creative music with roots firmly stepped in the jazztradition. The creative, experimental solos of Sulaiman Hakim on sax, Art Mathews, keyboards, the sensitive basslines of Avery Sharpe were solidly backed the rhythyms of Chris Henderssn, traps, Sa Davis and Brandon Guillermo on congos and persussion. Majid Greenlee sat in on trombone.

One of the first things that struck me is that this music was not intellectual; yet it was not 'mindless'. You don't have time to intellectualize, you just felt it; the mixture of earthlywarmth and mystery. The opening piece really awed me; "Eternal" it was called. In the other works that followed there would showers of shimmering cymbals melodic rhythyms from Chris' drums; then Sulaiman would step in and rip the tune with his sax. Art would rock us with his piano and Avery would cool us out with his bass.

As if that was not enough, the percussion ensemble had to take us to Africa. Chris played an African instrument called a Balophone which is like a wooden xylophone that issues beautiful hollow tones and rhythyms like waterfall in a tropical forest. But then Brandon and Sa were communicating with each other in a whole other language; the language of the drums. It was a very intoxicating experience. I noticed that the audience seemed to rock in their seats; feeling the warmth of the music, united by the experience of being open to the collective energies emanating from the stage.

JADE presented another phase to Black music; their music was danceable funky stemming from classic rhythym and blues. The focus was on the vocals of Adrianne and Lelah Ben Jidah. Behind him, playing piano was composer-arranger Shelman Johnson. Taking some pretty men solos were Mike Thornfield on Guitar, Timmy Grant on Bass, Michael Thomas on drums. Prof. Playthell Benjamin, who played percussion with them, also manages the group. It was an enjoyable evening and if this group returns here please be sure to catch them.

By FREIDA JONES

The Third World Organization's Position on the Hampshire College's Occupation

We the Third World students of Hampshire College unequivocably support the revolutionary struggles of the Black peoples of South Africa (Azania). We are also deeply committed to the domestic struggle for self-determination.

Our stand against the occupiers of the Cole Science Center in no way compromises our commitment to the liberation of Third World people. Their struggle is ours!

Our stand against joining the occupation was based on the following reasons:

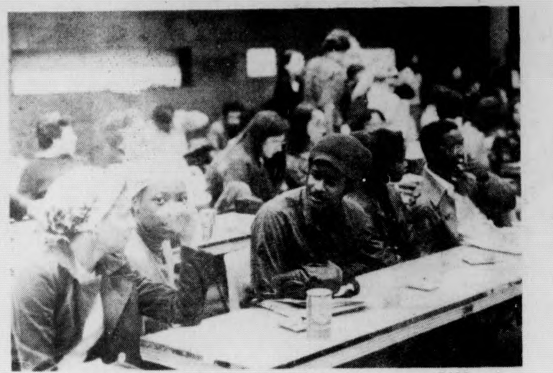
1.) The racism of the predominately white occupiers made it difficult for us, victims of American racism, to join in the solidarity with the beneficiaries of white supremacy in opposing foreign racism. In meetings with the Hampshire College Committee For the Liberation of South Africa, we experienced a paternalistic and politically immature response to our autonomy and we were asked to compromise our stand for the media. We also felt that as a support committee for South Africa, the H.C.C.F.L.S.A. was disrespectful and negligent in the way that they organized the action, and tried to involve us. Our position has been misconstrued by the media in a typically racist reporting. The most slanderous statements have been written by scabs of the Amherst Record.

2.) We all support the Pan-Africanist struggles. We felt that the occupation was a symbolic act because Hampshire College has invest $39,000.00 in the South Africa Regime. Because of the symbolic nature of the action, we believe that the H.C.C.F.L.S.A. should have addressed themselves to Racist policies throughout the world. In not concerning themselves with the seriousness of their own racism, we could not support them.

3.) The Third World Community at Hampshire College is an outpost that has been isolated from the rest of the Third World population in the valley. We have been criticized by certain elements in the valley, but were not approached as a community. The media picked up on this discrepancy and has tried to exploit it divisively.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3

Nummo News FY 1977-1978



(L-R) Sura Long, Annie Carpenter, Padmore O'Mard, Karien Zachery W.J. Wheeler, await decision on Nummo News budget request for FY 1977-78.

By W.J. WHEELER
Nummo News

On Wednesday April 20, 1977 the Student Senate assembled in the Campus Center to discuss general business and student organization (RSO) budget requests. The meeting was scheduled for 7:00 p.m. sharp but was not called to order until 7:25 p.m. by Co-Presidents of the senate Pinky Batiste and Jon Hite.

Before this meeting the Student Government Association (SGA) proposed a 6 per cent cut to RSO group allocations because of the $63,500 deficit in the senate budget. All Recognized Student Organizations were cut across the board, except the RSO office and Area Governments. On May 2 a proposed 2 per cent increase over the existing 6 per cent to RSO group allocations was approved again because of the $63,500 deficit in the senate budget.

In the April 20, meeting Nummo's budget request was not reached because of lengthy pro and con debate by the senate body on issue in budgets of other RSO groups. The meeting was ajourned at 2:35 a.m. April 21 when things developed into a shouting match between the body and members of the Spanish Community over proposed cuts in their organization (O'HORA). The senate meeting was pushed-up too Wednesday April 27, at which time the body would resume business on the budget requests.

On April 27, the meeting resumed and again there was lengthy discussion and pro and con debate but Co-President Pinky Batiste limited debate too 3 minutes per person this time in order to speed-up the meeting and get to the budgets. All RSO groups were cut in accordance with the now 8 per cent proposed to make-up the deficit of $63,500 in the senate budget.

Members of the black senate caucus spoke in support of Third World student organizations to the senate body. All groups were funded for F Y 1977-78. Nummo News had its budget request excepted by the senate for F Y 1977-78 and plans to facilitate the budget in areas that will inhance the newspaper and will better provide more informative service to the University of Massachusetts Amherst community.

CCEBS Graduates

Name, Kathleen R. Allen, Major, Sociology, Degree, B.A., Honors, CL; Glenn P. Cooper, Communication Studies, B.A.; Gregory Joel Derico Duarte, Food & Resource Economics, B.S.; Marc Foman, English Honors, B.A., MCL; Adrian C. Hunte, French, B.A., CL; Billy H. Jones, Afro-Am, B.A.; Georgia M. Kelly, Accounting, B.A.; Arthur Masmanian, Environmental Design, B.S.; Michele V. Reid, Education, B.A.; Reginald Alfred Wilson, History, B.A.; Gerarda M. Wiltz, Home Economics, B.S.

Spring '77

Kenneth Adamson, Psychology, B.A.; Robert B. Adamson, P.E., B.A.; Frank D. Anderson, Enudes, B.A.; Sharon E. Belanger, Educ., B.A.; Frederick O. Brown, Mktg., B.A.; Jacqueline Brown, Sociol., B.A.; Daniel S. Cerro, Psych., B.A.; Russell Chin, Sociol., B.A.; Peter D. Cox, Bdic., B.A.; Lujuane E. Crockett, Sociol., B.A.; Jose R. Darosa, Fer. Ec., B.A.; Larry G. Dunham, Pub. Hl., B.A.; Leroy Elleby, Pol. Sci., B.A.; Broderic A. Grant, Comstu., B.A.; John V. Green, Bdic., B.A.; Debres R. Harris, Psych., B.A.; John D. Jordan, Antu., B.A.; Doris L. Lynch, Mgt., B.A.; Gary M. Lewis, Afro-Am, B.A.; Deborah Lewis, Psych., B.A.; Anthony F. Loving, Gb. Fin., B.A.; Julita A. Milliner, Mktg., B.A.; Timothy Moore, Legal, B.A.; David A. Moyne, Honors, B.A.; Toney C. Pendleton, Educ., B.A.; Dorothy E. Seymour, Educ., B.A.; Darlene M. Smith, Theatr, B.A.; Glenn G. Stafford, M. Ce., B.A.; Glenn E. Taylor, Pol. Sci., B.A.; Judith Thomas, Gb. Fin., B.A.; James Walker, Sociol., B.A.; Melvin Walls, Educ., B.A.; Sandra Wasson, BA, B.A.; Ernest L. West, Comstu.; B.A.; Wesaline Gadson West, Hom. Ec., B.A.; Peggi A. White, Hom. Ec., B.A.; Lawrence R. Whitefield, P.E., B.A.; Judy Yee, Hom. Ec., B.A.

The CCEBS staff would like to congratulate these students on the fine academic records these graduating seniors earned while at the University of Massachusetts.

We also wish them the very best of luck in their future endeavors. Remember, CCEBS will be here when you leave and we'll always be glad to have you visit us and keep us informed of your post-graduation accomplishments. Good luck, we'll miss you!!

Dr. M.L. Jackson
Director CCEBS

Dr. Michael Jackson, contratulating Tim Moore, 1976 recepient of the Shirley Graham DuBois Award.

Infant Care Experimental Center

In September 1975 plans to move the Infant Care Experimental Center (I.C.E.C.) from its Southwest abode to its new home in North Village were set into motion. "But", says Mrs. Terry Harris, the present director of the center, "there were many more problems that we encountered before the move was actually made." It began as a parents co-operative which provided day long care to the infants of mothers who either worked or attended school for which the mothers promised in exchange their support of the school with their money and their time. The contribution made by the parents of ICEC was an important factor in the school's success. It was the seed of cohesiveness which would hold the school together while it grew. The parents shared responsibility for the maintenance of the school, raising funds through tag and bake sales, and building furniture by hand when the money for purchasing it was unavailable from other sources. These were people who meant business. They wanted a school for their kids which offered a warm and supportive Third World environment to encourage their first tottering steps.

They provided more than a diaper changing service too. The teaching of cognitive skills as Mrs. Harris pointed out, began whenever a child was ready. Many children experienced their first sense of mastery over the world in nursery school. And the staff has decided not to let an opportunity like that pass. Good teaching and supervision are provided along with daily hot lunches and toilet training.

The first group of kids were nine strong and their parents strongly believed that they could fashion the sort of place where their children would find strong, positive role models. In the new school this is given by the thoroughly professional and talented teaching staff of Gloria Boyer and Deborah Brown, both of whom have bachelors degrees in education. That original group grew to 15 after the move to North Village. There seems to have been several problems complicating the life of that first school but it looks like two of them, lack of space and inadequate funding, have following it to North Village.

If you walk or drive into North Village and proceed to the back of the complex, where the traffic of 116 is visible you will either be in a swamp or very near the school. It is located in a section surrounded by open fields, which, unfortunately are overgrown with so much vegetation that they are unusable for play. There is a large yard in the front of the school and on any warm day the kids out out and irrepressible. But space is the problem nonetheless. The school occupies a two bedroom apartment which has been transformed by the removal of several walls and the addition of overhead fluorescent lighting. A two bedroom apartment is cramped for a family of four and many who live in North Village right now won't hesitate to tell you that. At nap time the school is a tangle of legs spread across the floor and during periods of activity it is impossible to carry on an exercise with a group of kids in one corner of the room without it being overheard elsewhere.

"That's our biggest problem," said Mrs. Gloria Boyer, "the kids don't mind. They do just fine. But it does limit what you can do." She taught elementary school in Florida before coming here and she knows the difference that additional space could make.

The other problem which has traveled with them is money. The school's funding has always been a patchwork of aid from various sources. They have been forced to operate on a budget without any slack in it for emergencies which made the school dependent on the university for its ultimate support. This aspect of the financial status of the school recently led to an effort to win financial independence by obtaining support from outside the university from various organizations and community groups.

Some of the mothers who received day care services were threatened with the loss of their funding through the welfare department when it stopped funding university day care centers. This was a blow to the school as well as the mothers and children. It didn't want to lose the children and couldn't afford to do without the money. Fortunately, the university came up with something called the Childhoodship to cover the expenses of those children who are eligible. Having been saved one time leaves many parents uneasy about where the money will come from the nnxt time. One parent said that without financial solvency there is nothing to base any kind of growth on. That leaves only a day to day-level of planning and that's what we have to do.

This is a school that will survive. The staff is dedicated and the parents are committed to making it a success. Half way through one of the last parent meetings I attended, one of the mothers spoke about her reasons for putting her son in ICEC. "I don't care," she said, "what everyone else is doing. I just want to know that my son is going to get the kind of cultural setting that will help him. I could have put him in a lot of other places. Places that have new this and new that. But I wanted him to be here with other kids and parents that are culturally like us."

It was a deeply felt idea that she shared, and it seemed that other parents shared it with her. It is the deeply felt concerns of the people at ICEC that make the school as good as it is.

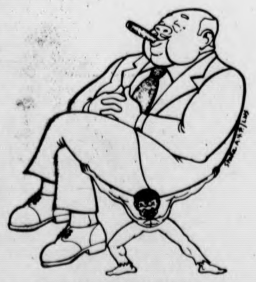
The school is open Monday-Friday for full day and half day sessions. It is still taking applications for the summer session.

CCEBS Pre-registration

Pre-registration for CCEBS Students ends Saturday. The CCEBS advisors' office will be open from 9 a.m. - 12 p.m. and 1 p.m. - p.m. Monday through Friday.

Contact your advisor to make an appointment to meet with him-her during this period. Your pre-registration forms are at the CCEBS offices and can only be obtained after seeing an advisor.

South Africa Today Is Like America Was 100 Years Ago



THE WHITE SOUTH AFRICAN HAS ONE OF THE HIGHEST STANDARDS OF LIVING IN THE WORLD.

Anthony Davis Quartet

Anthony Davis

THE ANTHONY DAVIS QUARTET
Featuring Ed Blackwell
Anthony Davis — piano
Jay Hoggard — Vibes
Mark Helias — Bass
Ed Blackwell — Drums

Friday and Saturday, May 13 and 14 at the Hampshire College Red Barn at 8:30 p.m. Contribution 2:00.

Sponsored by Loft Jazz North, and funded by the New England Touring Program, MEET THE COMPOSER and the Hampshire College Committee on Speakers and Artists

The Creative Music Festival that has been presented over the past two months by LOFT JAZZ NORTH will wind up its Spring program this coming weekend, May 13 and 14, when the Anthony Davis Quartet performs at the Hampshire College Red Barn on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m. The concert is being funded by The New England Touring Program, MEET THE COMPOSER (which has sponsored several previous performances), and the Hampshire College Committee on Speakers and Artists. A donation of $2.00 will be asked, to defray production costs.

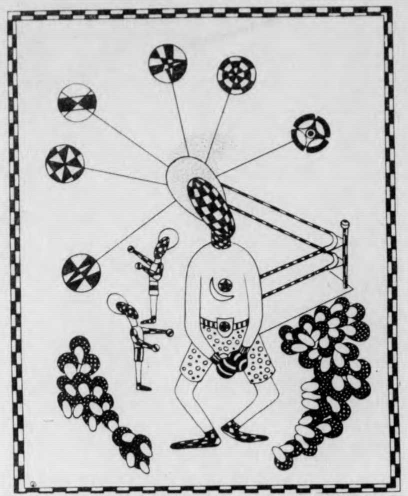
At age twenty-six, most young jazz musicians are just leaving music school. They're either hustling to scrape together enough gigs to survive, or working under an older, more experienced "leader," trying to learn enough about music and the music business so that eventually they'll be in a position to perform their own music. Such is not the case with pianist, composer Anthony Davis. At age twenty-six, Davis has already performed and recorded extensively with contemporary masters like Marion Brown, Leo Smith and Anthony Braxton; he is, along with Leo Smith and Oliver Lake, one of the core members of the critically-acclaimed experimental ensemble New Dalta Ahkri, and is currently the ensemble's principal composer, and he has recorded an album, due to be released soon, on his own Mindspeech label. In short, he has been recognized all over North America and Europe as a piano virtuoso, an emphatic and accomplished sideman, and a prolific composer ascending. Critic Stanley Crouch recently hailed Anthony as "one of our most important players under thirty; he is busy absorbing Cecil Taylor, McCoy Tyner, Ellington and Monk, and is already working more on their conceptions than their licks." Coda editor Bill Smith calls Davis "a truly original piano improviser, in much the same way as Ellington, Monk, Randy Weston, Andrew Hill, Dollar Brand and Cecil Taylor are ... "

With solid credentials like these behind him, Anthony Davis has formed his own Quartet, which in recent months has been gathering critical and popular success. The Quartet includes Jay Hoggard on vibes and bassist Mark Helias, and features the legendary Ed Blackwell on drums and percussion. Their repertoire, which consists mostly of Davis compositions, runs the gamut from vibrant, sparkling post-bop swingouts to delicate, lyrical ballads, from dancing "world music" anthems to sonic explorations of texture and harmony. All Quartet members are currently New Haven, Conn. residents, all are, or have been, associated with Wesleyan University's School of Ethnomusicology. So Pioneer Valley listeners can be assured that the Quartet's music will have that mixture of traditional and original, familiar and as-yet-unheard, that they have so appreciated in past concerts. And they'll have the chance again to hear virtuoso soloists who are given plenty of room to really stretch out and do it.

A special highlight of the Anthony Davis Quartet's performance at the Red Barn will be the appearance of one of the true giants of Black Classical Music, the legendary Ed Blackwell. Blackwell played in the first and most innovative of Ornette Coleman's Quartets in the late 1950s, and performed with Ornette off and on for over fifteen years. He also worked with the famous Eric Dolphy-Booker Little ensemble when they recorded their "Live at The Five Spot" masterpieces. Mal Waldron, Randy Weston, Don Cherry, Dewey Redman — the list of Ed Blackwell's associates and accomplishments is staggering. A New Orleans native, a world traveler and musical ambassador for over three decades, Ed Blackwell has seen and heard a lot of

CONTINUED ON PAGE 6

The Message of Fitz Walker



One of the drawings to be exhibited, "The Fighter".

By FITZ
May 8 thru May 22

Witness an unusual display of Black thought from the Fitz collection, never before seen. These "spiritual" drawings reflect the universal and protracted struggle of a black people, particularly West Indian and West African ancestry. Truly a magnificant and memorable visual experience.

The extraordinary feature of these drawings are exemplified by a technique referred to as chekism, and combined with the comcept of positive vs negative space. Each piece individually captivating and powerful, hard edged and graphically tight. Like a best selling novel they flow smoothly and to the point. Their message, simple and their effect immeasurable.

At a time when the world is in so much controversy in the world, particularly in the so called "developing countries", these Fitz originals are right on time.

Repression in Ethiopia

Ethiopia with a population of 28,000,000 people and located in the strategically important Great Horn of Africa, is a semi-feudal and semi-colonial country where the privileged few aristocrats, bureaucrats, feudalists, etc. have been for years living a life of luxury and affluence at the expense of the working masses. The result of this age-old rule of exploitation and sujugation, like else where in other parts of the world has lead to a great mass resistances and uprisals.

In February 1974, right in the middle of the great famine was in the fundamental socio-economic contradiction of the society, a new chapter was opened holocaust (that wiped out more than 200,000 peasants) and a host of other urban crises whose root in the history of this country. Since then, despite some set backs and sacrifices the situation in Ethiopia has been excellent. The oppressed masses lead by their party The Ethiopian Peoples' Revolutionary Party (EPRP) have been waging a relentless struggle to ones and for all distroy the rules of exploitation and repression and establish a democratic society of the broad masses. The intense repression by the 'Marxist' military junta, the interventionist and hegemonist policy of the two super-powers, and the aggression of Western media has not altered the direction of the struggle of the masses.

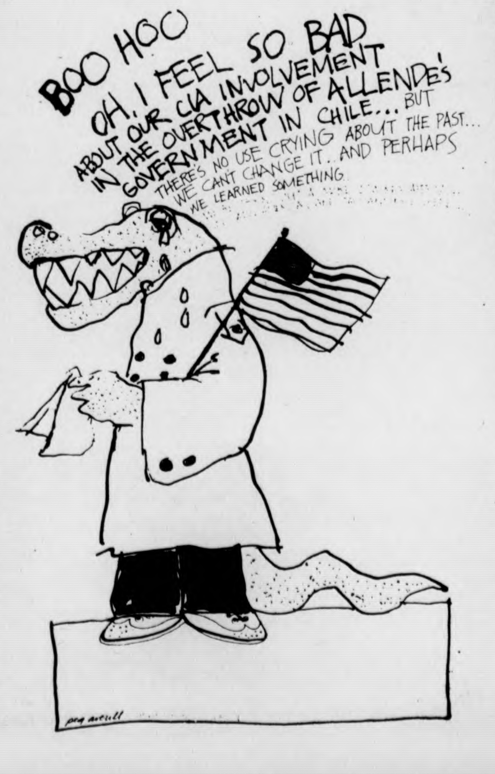
In this attempt to expose the political reality, the Ethiopian students of the valley area conducted a week long campaign of radio talks, publication of articles on the local papers and finally a fund raising forum on Saturday, may 1977, at the Student Union Ball Room.



BOO HOO
OH, I FEEL SO BAD ABOUT OUR CIA INVOLVEMENT IN THE OVERTHROW OF ALLENDE'S GOVERNMENT IN CHILE... BUT THERE'S NO USE CRYING ABOUT THE PAST... WE CAN'T CHANGE IT.. AND PERHAPS WE LEARNED SOMETHING

Hampshire College

CONT. FROM PAGE 1

4.) The Third World Community, also feels that the total lack of respect that was shown to The White Roots of Peace, a continigent of indienous peoples of North, Central, and South America, warrents criticism. Their struggles and perspectives as Third World peoples were not recognized during the planning and occupation of the Cole Science Center.

This statement was prepared to clarify these issues for the Third World Community in the valley and to keep open channels of communication. W hope that in the future the Hampshire College Third World Community will be recognized as a viable entity in the political educational development of the peoples in the valley. This statement is our attempt to initiate such communications.

DARE TO STRUGGLE
DARE TO WIN
Hampshire College
Third World Organization

Spring Semester in Retrospect

U.S. Ambassador to the U.N. and the Media

By Nummo News Service

The United States Ambassador to the United Nations, Andrew Young has been attacked by the News Media for statements he has made regarding U.S. policy towards Africa.

On one occasion Mr. Young remarked that the U.S. should not get paranoid over the few commonist in Africa. Mr. Young believes that when the fighting for power subsides and the process of rebuilding and development ensues, these countries will invariably turn to the West for the necessary technical and financial know-how they will need in order to extricate their peoples out of poverty.

On another occasion, Mr. Young replying to a question by a reporter regarding the legality of the Apartheid, Nazi regime in South Africa he replied that he felt it is an illegal regime.

For these statements the press has unleached a barage of criticisms. One commentator on C.B.S. even questioned Mr. Young's ability to represent the United States.

Under careful analysis U.N. Ambassadors statements are very sound, and from one of the various statements issued by the White House and the State Department, his views seem to be in line with the evolving policy of the Carter administration on Africa.

What then can be said about the alarm that the press is raising over Mr. Young's statements? Tom Wicker, writing in the New York Times remarked that people who speak out, break rules, shake things up, often are required to get things done in face of bureaucratic procedures and conventional wisdom. Mr. Wicker went on to compare the attitude of the press towards Daniel Patrick Moynihan when he was the Ambassador to the United Nations. He noted that the press then lauded Mr. Moynihan for speaking out candidly on the Anti-American attitudes of the Third World Countries.

The media seems to be upset with Mr. Young because he hasn't been uttering the usual Cold War cry of the Imperialist interest in this country, which the media adequately represents.

The statements that got people in the press really upset with Mr. Young was his remarks that the South African regime is illegal. There seems to be an environment evolving in this country where criticism of the Apartheid, Nazi, regime is South Africa isn't tolerated. This is the height of hypocracy at a time when this country is clammoring Russia over human rights violations, represents what people in the media want the people to believe. No government can be morally legal if it denies the majority of its people basic human rights. It is a known fact that the South African government is one of the chief human rights violators in the world community. The south african government prevents by force and other institutional methods 20 million black people in the country basic human rights.

Mr. Young has stood up advisably on the attempts by the media to assassinate him, referring to the constant criticism from the media the U.N. ambassador remarked that he prefers public criticism of what he does before its cost the tax payers money or cost precious American lives.

He prefers to have a full blown debate and decide what are the things for which Americans will fight and die.

Carter's Black Vote

It is within the primary process that the black vote must be properly assessed. A close review of the primary results will clearly show how important the black vote was to the winning Carter coalition.

In the early Massachusetts primary, where the Carter effort was not the best, we first learned that Jimmy Carter was acceptable to northern black voters. In the Massachusetts primary contest, where all the so-called liberals were competing, Jimmy Carter received nearly 40 per cent of the black vote.

A crucial test for the Carter effort came in the much anticipated Florida primary, where we were pitted against George Wallace and Scoop Jackson.

The black vote responded fantastically to a well-organized effort, basically coordinated through the new State Action Council of Florida.

The 73 per cent black vote for Carter was critical to the Carter victory in the Florida primary. After Florida, the Carter train was moving rapidly.

The black voters were clearly the main stars of the Carter coalition, only to be shaken somewhat by the Rizzo machine in Philadelphia and a strong favorite son effort by Congressman Louis Stokes in Cleveland.

The bottom line of this discussion is that black Americans who chose to participate in the process of electing a President, played a major part in determining who the Democratic standard bearer would be; and further went on to give that party nominee an overwhelming vote in the general election.

However, had not blacks so vigorously participated in Democratic primaries, in support of Jimmy Carter, we just might not be discussing a Democratic presidency.

For the first time in the history of American politics, the black voter stepped out front of the traditional forces that make up the old Democratic coalition — the black investment in their Democratic presidency was early and firm.

Consequently, the expectations are very high.

Notwithstanding the role blacks played in the election of Jimmy Carter — there are still too many blacks who don't participate in the political process.

Practically speaking, the two-party system represents an avenue for the eradication of voter apathy, particularly for minorities.

The two-party system offers a system of organization to help voters select candidates who will represent their viewpoints and the two parties offer working teams that can win elections.

If minorities could organize effectively within parties, great influence can be gained — especially in the primary process.

To be on the "outside" of a political party and to grumble about the economy, inflation, unemployment, energy shortages, taxes and other problems that plague our society, only gives those persons "inside" more power to do whatever it is they would like to do.

Sad reality, but true.

It may sound strange to many, but I want the reorganization of the Republican party to be successful — and so does the Democratic party. We believe in a good, strong, two-party system.

— — —

We also believe in full and free participation by the electorate, which translates into universal registration.

There are many reasons why voter turn out is often pitifully low in the black community. But, restrictive and archaic registration laws and practices need to be among the reasons.

It is time both parties focus on an all-out effort on encouraging blacks, and Americans in general, to take part in our system of self-government. We must concentrate on removing all attitudinal and structural barriers, so black people will once again see the significance of their vote.

Denying even one citizen the right to vote because the registration books closed before the voter became interested.

This only adds one more weak link to the chain, and black Americans can not afford such weakness.

— — —

I know first-hand, that President Carter believes in, and wants, a strong and active Democratic party. A party is no better, or no worse, than the kinds of people in it and how actively they work to keep the party honest, effective, responsive and responsible.

The Democratic party has always been made up of individuals. Realistically speaking you can not put all these different people together and expect them to agree on everything. The arguments...or difference of opinions, have lost elections in the past...they probably will again in the future.

But, they have given us ideas...made us grow...into a strong, healthy, political force; a force that blacks used to greatly impact Jimmy Carter, on the election of a President.

The future of both major political parties lies with the people. President Carter realized the significance of the black vote years ago; the Republicans are now becoming aware.

Political parties function year around...not just at election time. The Democratic party is preparing to undertake programs that will encourage participation in our political system.

We will seek new ways to be responsive to the people we represent...and we will continue to maintain a party open to all, with equal opportunity to participate.

Jimmy Carter began giving the government back to the people the day he took office. The Democratic party is encouraging all people to have a voice in the future. The voice of black Americans should also be heard.

Reprinted from The Afro-American

MONDAY, MAY 2, 1977

Black Folk Survival at Salem State College

NUMMO NEWS SERVICE

A K.K.K. inspired incident two (2) weeks ago in the Dormitory prompted us to raise some serious questions about this institutions commitment to Black Folk. For the past two (2) years we have met with the College Administration in an effort to come up with some mutually acceptable solutions to our problems. But we met with roadblocks and callous insensitivity. Thus, we have no other choice but to go public and appeal to the Community for help.

We would appreciate that you write letters to the College Administration expressing your concerns for the safety, well being and the human rights of Black folk in this State system. We believe that Blacks have a right to a decent education in the Massachusetts State College System.

After many months of meetings and trying to be cool, the Black Community here at Salem State College, has met with the callous insensitivity of this administration. The atmosphere here is now so oppressive that Blacks feel unwanted and are afraid to stand up and fight for their BASIC HUMAN RIGHTS.

Every racist incident in the Dormitories and elsewhere on this Campus is swept up under the rug by this administration. Racist attitudes and behaviors are encouraged, since the administration refuses to heed the long overdue needs of the Black Community.

The facts are overwhelming:

1. - Less than fifty (50) Black students out of more than 5,500.

2. - Two (2) Black full-time Faculty out of some 290.

3. - Five Black Administrators out of some 50.

4. - Four Black classified staff out of some 187 positions.

5. - The Afro-American Society's Advisorship is a matter of litigation year after year.

6. - Financial Aid for Blacks is bleak.

7. - Academic Counseling and assistance for Black students are ineffective if not non-existent.

8. - Our Black Studies Program is inadequate. Fundamental courses in Black Studies do not exist and the staffing is embryonic.

9. - Blacks and First World people do not get hired at Salem State College because of an ineffective Affirmative Action Program. Affirmative Action office is not independent from the Administration and the Officer's role and power appear to be severely restricted.

10. - In spite of our protests events resembling the "Slave Auction" are still being held on this Campus. This amounts to a mockery of a poignant episode of our cultural past. NOW WE HAVE TO DEAL WITH A "MOCK TRIAL" AND "K.K.K." INSPIRED BEHAVIORS.

The President's approach is to meet to schedule more meetings and then make a report. That is all!

From meetings to meetings our words and intended actions are misrepresented. We are faced with road blocks, delayed tactics, callous insensitivity and blatant disregard. We have been obliterated from the Administration's list of priorities. We have exhausted all "appropriate" avenues to insure our survival and well being on this Campus.

We will wait no longer. We will meet no more just for the sake of meeting. We want action. We will stand no more VIOLATIONS OF OUR BASIC HUMAN RIGHTS! Our Black Mothers and Fathers built this country with their life, blood, and sweat. No Neo-Eugenist can scare us off. We have a right to a decent education in the Massachusetts State College System and any State College System.

"NEEDS OF THE BLACK COMMUNITY AT SALEM STATE COLLEGE"

1. - More Black students at Salem State College.

2. - More Black Faculty at Salem State College. - No Cutbacks.

3. - More Black Administrators at Salem State College. - No cutbacks.

4. - An Afro-American Studies Department at Salem State College.

5. - One (1) African Culture Course required for all Students at Salem State College.

6. - One Black Coach in the Men's Physical Education Department at Salem State College.

7. - Financial Aid for Black Students and First World Students.

8. - Black Professionals on the staff of the Dormitories at Salem State College.

9. - Permanent salaried position for the Afro-American Society Advisor.

10. - Afro-American orientation for Black and First World Students at Salem State College.

Our ten (10) stated needs must become policy of Salem State College.

Sam Gilliam

May 10

Sam Gilliam the well known Washington based artist will be speaking and showing slides on Tuesday May 10th at 8:00 p.m. in Herter Hall 227. Gilliam has shown all over the United States and in Europe. His Abstract Expressionist paintings and innovative use of the draped canvas have influenced many contemporary painters.

We invite and encourage all members of the community to attend these lectures as they will provide enlightenment and inspiration for all. For further information contact the Herter Gallery 545-0976.

Anthony Davis, cont.

CONT. FROM PAGE 3

music in a lot of places. His "live" appearances these days are infrequent, so don't pass up this rare opportunity to hear the music traditions of several continents speak through the genius of one man.

For those wondering, the Hampshire College Red Barn is just off Route 116, in back of the Admissions Office, just before the main entrance to Hampshire. It's also a two-minute walk from the Five-College bus station there. The location is close, the music is great and the price is reasonable, so get out and support Live Music!

ASK THE PALM TREES AND THE MONKEYS

Ask the palm trees if they saw the squadron beat the convoy and the moon court two stray lovers on the shore after the monkeys went to sleep.
Ask them how old the ocean is.

You darted on the beach and marvelled at the waves and the shrubs and felt with the slave, the chain that did not burst.
The trees, they were too glorious,
the monkeys mute whispering only derisions in the lofty shelters of the palm trees' tower and their own dumbness.

You speculated manacled, on the distance of the sky and the stars and ephemeral wealth which cast slaves to these forlorn shores, while the monkeys on palm trees
in silent speech, revealed obsenities.
And you went home puzzled
why roaches survived on crumbs in the bedlams through the glacier and the fire and landed on the shore and hardened on crusts and outlived us all.

Ask the palm trees and the monkeys whenever they awake if they ever crushed a roach or saw the squadron beat the convoy and the moon court stray lovers on the shore.
If they wept when they saw slaves in chains. Ask them and beg them to talk for, they saw it all.

They saw the ant beat the elephant and sharks dancing with mermaids. They saw the slave learn his prayers by heart and nibble on the crumbs.
They saw men die for gold and whispered secrets and revealed obscenities.
Bheki Langa

What is Revolutionary Nationalism?

What is a Revolutionary Nationalist?

A. A revolutionary nationalist is a brother or sister who has dedicated his total self and life to the liberation of our people the Black Nation — New Africa.

B. A revolutionary nationalist is a person who has submitted his will to the will of the Black Nation — New Africa.

C. A revolutionary nationalist is one who understands that death is another state of existence and has lost fear of it for he knows he will never die because he has dedicated to the liberation of Black People.

D. A revolutionary nationalist is one who has dedicated himself to revolutionary nationalism using (any means necessary) to liberate the Black Nation.

Why Revolutionary Nationalist must undertake self discipline and self development.

An immature revolutionary nationalist has to go through a long process of revolutionary tempering and self-cultivation, a long process of remoulding (rebirth), before he can become a mature and seasoned revolutionary who can grasp and skillfully apply the laws (science) of

The Aim of Political self-discipline and self-development.

The aim of political self discipline and self development by members of the Party is to tune themselves to become stanch and utterly devoted members and cadre of the Party to make constant progress and serve as examples for others. What is required of us is the following:

1. To build up our internationalist world outlook and a revolutionary Black nationalist standpoint through the study of revolutionary nationalism and participation in revolutionary struggle.

2. To examine our own thinking and behavior, to correct erroneous ideas and at the same time to judge, question and judge other brothers and sisters on the basis of our internationalist world outlook and revolutionary nationalist standpoint.

3. Always adopt a correct attitude and appropriate methods in struggle against erroneous political thought in the Party and especially against erroneous political thought which affects the current revolutionary struggle.

4. To keep a firm control over ourselves in thought, speech and action, and especially to take a firm standpoint and adhere to correct principles with regard to political ideas, statements and activities which are related to the current revolutionary struggle. In addition, it is well to be careful over "trifles" (in one's personal life, attitude, etc.) But as for making demands on other sisters, brothers, apart from matters of principle and major political questions we should not be too severe or fault-finding over "trifles".

PAST MISTAKES OF REVOLUTIONARY NATIONALIST LEADERSHIP

What have been the past mistakes of revolutionary nationalist leadership

1. Not having an alternate plan, organizational centralism, organizational leadership, organizational security, organizational theory and philosophy, organizational program.

2. Trying to organize a mass movement before organizing a political cadre.

3. Organizing a cadre for activism before testing and training it.

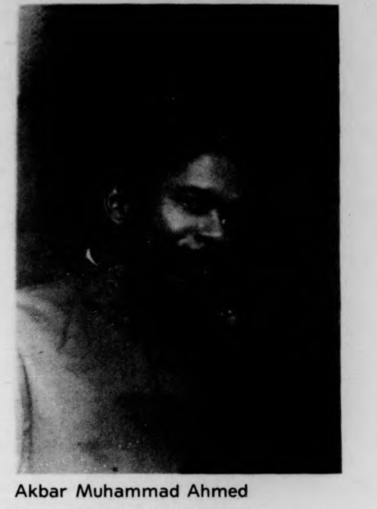
4. To be lead by reformist activism, activity that revolutionary nationalist did not plan nor control.

5. Exposing cadre prior to the cadre's preparation. Falling for the power structure's "trickbag" of publicity.

The Party or elements around the Party have learned from these mistakes in the past. We have learned through real hard experience the past mistakes of revolutionary nationalist leadership.

Learning from these past mistakes, combining with our live links to the masses of our people, we know without a doubt, we will win!

Black Studies and the Black Intelligentsia



Akbar Muhammad Ahmed

by Muhammad Ahmad

The Battle for Black Studies is one that has deep psychological ramifications because it is a struggle for the redefinition of education in relation to African people in the western world. Black Studies leads to the questioning of legitimacy—relevancy of the entire western educational system, which is in essence a questioning of the whole European cultural frame of reference.

Black Studies, if correct, leads Africans into engaging in a Black Cultural Revolution.

"Black education must be education for liberation, or at least for change. In this respect, it was to prepare black students to become the catalysts for a Black cultural revolution. All courses whether history, literature, or mathematics would be taught from a revolutionary ideology or perspective. Black education would become the instrument for change." (1)

Because of the upsurge of the Black Studies Battle and the rise of the Black Panthers in the late 1960's programs such as Project Upward Bound, Project 500 and 300, which gave black working class youth a chance to enter white colleges, have been deluded and almost eliminated.

The power structure hoped to develop a "buffer" group or a petty bourgeoisie from urban black working class youth that would be trained in white universities as the new leaders who would "have it made." These new leaders would contain urban insurrection and would insure the black working class that the white capitalist system can work for them too. But when the San Francisco State rebellion began to spread to other campuses, the power structure realized these black working class students were becoming radicalized in their own campus struggles and had the potential of becoming a revolutionary intelligentsia. Even worse, they had the potential of becoming an intellectual proletariat intelligentsia. "The intellectual proletariat is the element of the mass that comes into consciousness of itself using its intellect in relation to power for the people. The intellectual proletariat does not have to be a university student, but often is self educated writers, artists, musicians, poets, directly coming from the masses. When the intellectual proletariat enters into conscious oppositon with the established order, it makes up the backbone for the social revolution and becomes the professional spokesman for the masses in the struggle." (2)

The greater the threat to the power structure was this potential black intellectual proletariat was radicalizing its future (white college) middle class leading it in mass campus activity helping to transform it into a revolutionary intelligentsia

The basis of our problem is of socio-psychological nature. There is a class correlation between social psychology and revolution. Black revolutionaries should study social psychology. (3) To get off the point briefly, this is why Marcus Garvey, Nobel Drew Ali, Malcolm X and the Honorable Elijah Muhammad have been the ones who have come the closest to providing a solution to our plight and developed a mass following.

Coordinating this mass action movement must be connected with an intense struggle for autonomous Black Studies departments that teach the "history of Black political thought." All Black Studies programs must deal with the ideology of revolutionary Nationalism.

The new black college students are the children of the radicalized black bourgeoisie of the 1950's and early 1960's. (6) When we say the black bourgeoisie is radicalized, we mean they have been badly challenged in their Anglo-Saxon middle class orientation but the radicalization has not fully taken place. The new black college student is a transitory class within the radicalized black bourgeoisie. The late Dr. Martin Luther King and the rise of African independence movements along with the black liberation struggle did much to challenge the Black bourgeoisie in the late 1950's and early '60's. The late E. Franklin Frazier predicted this radicalization or transformation of the Black bourgeoisie in some of his later writings.

The new black college students are living in an era of high inflation, external imperialist war, recession and critical lull in our national democratic revolution. These are some of the environmental factors which will affect his thinking.

With the talk of "Nation Time" coming from most liberation groups, such as the Congress of African People, Nation of Islam, P.U.S.H. and the Black Political Convention, the grapevine has it, "You can have your pie and make it too." Or, in other words, there is a great drive to obtain skills (expertise) get a hog, and a $25,000 crib and be called a nationalist at the same time. Economicism is prevailing everywhere.

So, more than likely the new black college student, being the radicalized sector of the black middle class, will support drives toward black mass voter registration; greater black representation within the Democratic Party and possibly forming a third Black Political Party that demands equality according to population numbers. If the present Pan-African Movement becomes more action prone, black college students may again explode into a mass black students movement. But for this to happen there will have to be a greater degree of clarity as to where our movement is going. The Black Political Convention and African Liberation Day were two very important events in the destiny of African People.

African Liberation Day especially, when 66,000 Africans worldwide showed our support for the total liberation and unification of mother Africa.

The Battle for Black Studies must take a deeper dimension in the 1970's. It must attack the central factor of colonialization. Black students everywhere must move against their campuses' investment in corporations that do business with or invest in Portugal, Union of South Africa, Rhodesia, and Israel.

NUMMO is a Third World Weekly of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. Our offices are located in 103 and 115 New Africa House. Telephone Numbers are (413) 545-0061 and 545-0062. Unsigned editorials represent the views of this paper, they do not necessarily reflect the views of the student body, faculty, or administration. Signed editorials, column, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal views of the authors.

From the Editors of NUMMO

Theory, practice and struggle has been the essence of this paper. We will be honored by the level of consciousness raised.

EDITOR: W. J. WHEELER
CO-EDITOR: KARION ZACHERY
MANAGING EDITOR: TERREL EVANS
NEWS EDITOR: KATHY SANDLER
PHOTO EDITOR: EDWARD COHEN
GRAPHICS EDITOR: FITZ WALKER
THIRD WORLD EDITOR: ANNIE CARPENTER
EDITORS AT LARGE: PADMORE O'MARD (WADADA TZAKE) SURA LONG & RUDOLPH JONES

End of the Semester Notes

The editors and staff of Nummo News wish to express sincerest thanks to all those people who have helped us throughout our first year of publication. Next semester, Nummo will have staff positions open to journalism majors and other students who would enjoy being involved in the production of the paper. The fro-'m dept. has a special problems course dealing with Nummo News, in which students can get three credits in one semester, or six credits in two semesters.

During the summer if you have a bit of free time, you might want to write to Craeman Gethers at Norfolk Prison. His address is: Craeman Gethers, Box 43, MCI Norfolk, Norfolk, MA. 02056. Craeman also needs financial help; inquiries can be directed to either the Student Organizing Project at 5452415 or the Black Cultural Center at 545-0794. Have a good summer.

The Gerald Penny Memorial Black Cultural Center Committee and the Department of Dramatic Arts present

"Ritual Masters"
and
"Harlem Theater"

Documentary Films of Black Drama in the 60's

Discussion to follow with ED BULLINS

7:30 p.m. Monday, May 9th
Octagon, Amherst College

Assata Shakur Gets 33 Years Added to Life Sentence

ASSATA SHAKUR GETS 33 YEARS ADDED TO LIFE SENTENCE

NEW YORK(LNS)--Assata Shakur (Joanne Chesimard) was sentenced to thirty-three years in prison on assault and weapons convictions on April 25. This is to run consecutively to a life sentence imposed on Shakur for her March 25 murder conviction ending a trial that she characterized as "a lynching."

Reflecting the racist hysteria around the New Brunswick, N.J. trial, Middlesex County prosecutor Edward Barone called Shakur "an animal" at the sentencing. "Mrs. Chesimard is a black woman, not an animal," defense attorney Lewis Myers angrily replied.

After her sentencing in March, Shakur was moved from the basement of the men's Middlesex County Jail (where she had been in solitary confinement for over a year), to the Clinton Correctional Facility for women. From Clinton she wrote to her supporters: "Naturally I am disappointed that the jurors in New Brunswick could not overcome their essential racism, but I am far from downhearted. I am already helping to organize the women in my prison, and there are some here who are very political. While my appeal is pending, I expect to make my presence felt."

Shakur also wrote that her presence at Clinton was being used as an excuse to harass the other women prisoners. "Every time the women go out to school or the recreation room or outside, they are forced to strip and squat...The women are locked in every time the door to my cell is opened. The telephone has been cut off, and the women who could previously make as many phone calls as they wanted have no access to phones now.

"All visitors are now more thoroughly searched, and are no longer permitted to carry coats or handbags. There are a constant barrage of floodlights and state trooper cars around North Hall, and the women have complained that they are having a hard time sleeping."

Then on April 7, totally without warning, Shakur was moved from Clinton to Yardville, a men's prison in Trenton, N.J. where she is again in solitary confinement. Prison officials have tried to defend their actions by claiming that they "feared for her safety" at Clinton.

Shakur is currently awaiting a ruling on a motion she has filed to be moved back to Clinton Prison.

Meanwhile the state of New York, not content with the murder conviction in New Jersey, has already begun extradition proceedings to bring Shakur back to face a murder charge in Brooklyn. Charges against Shakur's co-defendant were dismissed in the Brooklyn indictment were dismissed some time ago for lack of evidence.

* * *

Donations are needed for Shakur's appeal and continuing defense work. Send them to Assata Shakur Defense Committee,339 Lafayette St, NY,NY 10012. --30--

Misrepresentation of Third World People

"And to the Republic for which it stands... one nation, under God, indivisible...with liberty and justice for all." This quote obviously taken from the "Pledge of Allegiance" to America, is perhaps better known as"the American dream", as we have so often heard of. For it has yet to even resemble a reality. The mere thought of America distributing true liberty and justice to all, is truly in itself a rather far fetched idea. Not only is it your dream that you would be liberal and just. America. All of us who are not native born Americans wish to God...that you were liberal and just.

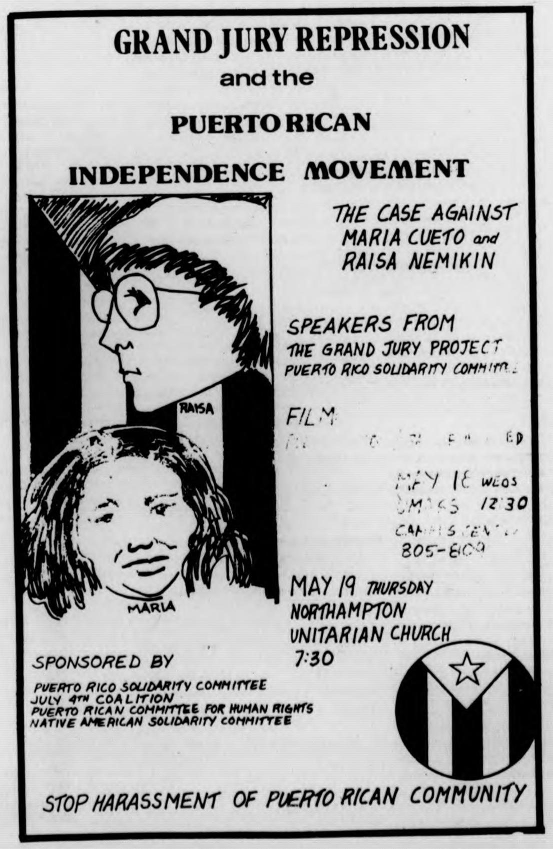
Due to the injustice the American system is built on, over half of its population, who are hot white and not of European heritage, are always either misrepresented or not represented at all.

To the Third World community...this is not your country. And the American system of government was not structured to protect and develope Third World people. If we do not represent ourselves within this country, we will continue to either be misrepresented or not represented as being a "living" body of people. "Living" in the sense that there is definite positive motion within our community. We cannot look to the media of this country to work in our favor, when the oppressed population is the strength of this country.

The media is the most vast and widespread means of communication available. It is America's vital source of control over the masses. In being so, it is crucial that we as Third World oppressed and misrepresented people organize and represent ourselves. If we fail to fulfill our own responsibilities we cannot blame America for our conditions

The media of Third World people on the campus of UMass urges the support of all Third World students. If we don't support ourselves, we will continue to be looked upon as a lifeless, leaderless, powerless, body of people...and we will be treated as such. Our immediate organization is crucial for our survival in this country. In hopes perhaps that we will "crown thy good with brotherhood, from sea to shining sea."

Karien Zachery



GRAND JURY REPRESSION
and the
PUERTO RICAN INDEPENDENCE MOVEMENT

THE CASE AGAINST
MARIA CUETO and RAISA NEMIKIN

SPEAKERS FROM
THE GRAND JURY PROJECT
PUERTO RICO SOLIDARITY COMMITTEE

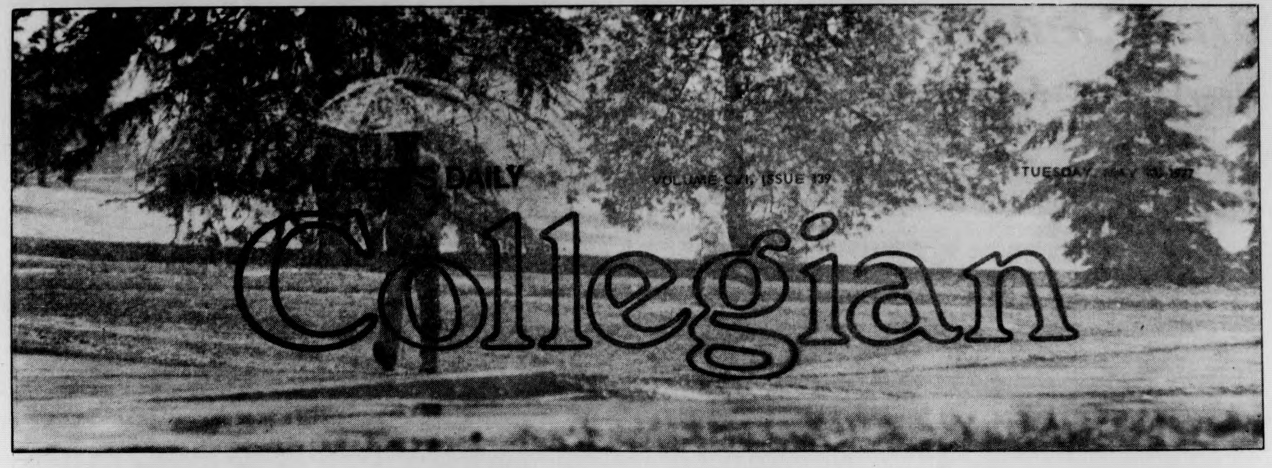
FILM
[illegible]

MAY 18 WEDS
UMASS 12:30
CAMPUS CENTER
805-809

MAY 19 THURSDAY
NORTHAMPTON
UNITARIAN CHURCH
7:30

SPONSORED BY
PUERTO RICO SOLIDARITY COMMITTEE
JULY 4TH COALITION
PUERTO RICAN COMMITTEE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS
NATIVE AMERICAN SOLIDARITY COMMITTEE

STOP HARASSMENT OF PUERTO RICAN COMMUNITY



DAILY Collegian VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 139 TUESDAY, MAY 10, 1977

School of Ed shuffle underway

By JOE MAGLITTA
Collegian Staff

The School of Education will be reorganized by September. Academic programs will be divided into three overlapping "centers" instead of the present five 'cluster" system, according to Dean Mario D. Fantini.

Details of administrative reorganization will be finalized over the summer, Fantini said. The main emphasis of the School will be on Graduate studies and professional training, he added.

"I don't want to give the impression that we're leaving undergraduates out in the cold, though. The reorganization is in line with long range plans to cut back undergraduate enrollment by two-thirds and stabilize it there," Fantini said in a telephone interview last night.

Total graduate and undergraduate enrollment in the School of Education dropped from 2529 in Spring 1975 to 1864 this semester.

Fantini said "unwieldy" undergraduate programs in the past duplicated much of the work done at other Massachusetts state colleges.

"We are the only school in the state offering a doctorate in education. The real cutting edge of our mission is research and development," he added.

Fantini said the reorganization, approved by faculty members and students, allows greater interaction between grads and undergrads.

"Undergraduates can still get what they'd get elsewhere, and more," he said, "but the graduate students will still have the big role."

Fantini cited a poor market for teachers as "one consideration" in developing alternative teacher preparation programs.

Timothy S. Masloski, undergraduate representative to the School of Education Cabinet, last night expressed concern that the quality of academic programs would suffer under the reorganization.

Administration of school-run programs will be more difficult than cluster-run programs, Masloski said, inevitably leading to increased problems.

"Undergraduates at this point are unsure, worried. They have not seen a lot of this enthusiasm turn into action. It's still talk," said Masloski.

Masloski also said undergraduates have not been offered an opportunity in school governance. "it's disturbing," he said.

The reorganization will reduce the five "clusters" to three school-run "centers". Graduates and undergraduates will both participate in the "centers".

Assistant Dean for Teacher Education Richard J. Clark said in a telephone interview yesterday the reorganization would "significantly increase the chances of making subdivisions in the school work effectively and efficiently for the first time."

He said the "center" organization would be more accountable and easier to administrate, provided channels of communication between the three are kept open.

"It's a good plan," said Clark.

Associate Professor Robert L. Sinclair said he felt the reorganization was an "honest attempt" to improve the standards of academics in the school while remaining innovative.

"The focus of any reorganization plan should be to place the student in the center. It must start from the needs of the learners and work from that. When the plan is carried out I hope it takes on the characteristics it was planned to take on," he added.

Town Meeting cuts two NW Road plans

By TERESA M. HANAFIN
Collegian Staff

Merle Howes, chairperson of the Northwest road committee, presents the committee's report at last nights town meeting. (Staff photo by David Olken)

The Amherst Town Meeting last night endorsed five of the seven recommendations of the Northwest Road Committee, eliminating the two most controversial.

Recommendations two and three were axed by the members after long debate as to the relative merits and value of each.

Recommendation two was a plan to extend Commonwealth Ave. to North Village Apts and recommendation three would build a connecting road from this extension to North Pleasant St.

The motion to delete the second proposal was made on the grounds that the extension would bring heavy traffic behind North Village and effect child day care at that apartment complex.

The motion to delete the third recommendation was made by Richard Minear, a UMass Asian Studies professor, on the basis of safety.

Minear, a member of the committee, reiterated his view that the connector, which would pass through the Taylor farm in North Amherst, would mean that an intersection would have to built on North Pleasant St. This intersection, he said, would be hazardous to pedestrians, especially children walking to Marks Meadow School from Puffton, North Village, and Presidential Apartments.

Through the use of diagrams, Minear showed the proposed intersection to be larger than the Main St. — Amity St. intersection in the center of town.

Both recommendations passed by voice vote.

Minear's recommendations were contained in a minority report which he issued along with the committee's majority report. A minority report was also issued by committee member Patricia McLaughlin, who recommended that nothing be built because it was unnecessary.

A third motion, to delete recommendation seven, was defeated.

Recommendation seven proposes the improvement of North Pleasant St. where it passes through the University.

The motion, made by Otto Stein of Precinct Two, would have eliminated that recommendation for monetary reasons.

Merle Howes, chairperson of the Northwest Road Committee, presented the report to the meeting for the committee.

The vote by the selectmen is an advisory to the Board of Selectmen and is not binding.

In other action, the members completed voting on article 18 by voting down the proposed purchase of a school bus for the elementary school but approving the purchase of two police cruisers, a dump truck, a snow loader, a station wagon, two pickup trucks, and a passenger van.

The purchases are capital expenditures which are made every few years on a regular basis to replace equipment in the town as it becomes worn out.

A motion to eliminate a fire pumper truck, Article 19, was defeated.

The Board of Selectmen recommended that the town allocate $35,000 this year and $35,000 next year for the purchase of the truck to replace a 1960 truck.

But Selectmen William C. Atkins once again dissented from the majority and moved that the town instead use a lesser amount of money and buy a new engine for the old truck, which is 27 years old.

Fire Chief John J. Doherty and Selectman Nancy B. Eddy told the meeting members that the average life of a fire truck is 15 years, and that the town fire department sometimes extends it to 20 years.

Doherty said the truck to be replaced by the purchase of a new one is unsafe and is kept as a reserve.

inside

Trout fishing in Amherst. See John Barron's story on page two.

For the latest on the Seabrook demonstrators, see D. A. Clark's story on page three.

Cosmic Wimpout has returned, for better or worse. See story on page four.

weather

Snow? In May?

Grad Senate divvies funds

By ROBIN COSTELLO
Collegian Staff

The last regularly scheduled meeting of the Graduate Student Senate (GSS) for the current academic year took place last night.

The first topic of discussion was the request made at the meeting of April 22, in support of allocating $1750 to the Massachusetts Political Economy Collective; $500 to be spent under category A (salaries), $250 under category B (office) of their budget as presented.

After the proposal was passed by the Finance Committee, it was brought before the Senate body. The point was raised that the funding of $1750 by the committee would also coincide with a $7000 support of federal dollars in work study money. This money would be used to offer interested graduate and undergraduate students, the opportunity to research organizational skills in economic or political fields during the summer.

Questions arising during a two hour discussion were, "Are the grad students on this campus supporting this? Is this a wise investment?"

The overall consensus of the senate appeared in support of the allocation. A motion was finally made to vote on the proposal. The committee voted in favor of allocating $1750 to the Massachusetts Political Economy Collective.

The second matter of interest was the request of $1000 towards the funding of Healthreach. Healthreach provides programs such as information on health and community matters, first aid, children's programs and counseling to families in the married student housing complexes. It has been a great asset to North Village Apartments and is currently attempting to offer some assistance to Lincoln University Apartments.

The main intention of Healthreach is to advocate for constructive change for University apartments. The present conditions of the complexes include leaking roofs, a need for roach control and recreational facilities which must receive direct attention and aid. The group is requesting $1000 to alleviate some of these problems and maintain their counseling throughout the summer.

During the discussion there was a major disagreement as to whether or not the Student Health Advisory Board is capable of allocating money for Health Reach. After the question was tentatively settled — the Student Health Advisory Board did not have the authority to allocate money for this group, for reasons which were not elaborated on — the motion was made to vote on the proposal. The committee voted in favor of allocating $1000 towards Health Reach so that they may continue their program during the summer.

The remainder of the meeting was spent discussing the proposed summer activities of the Senate and consideration of by-law amendments and their formal adoptions.

There was a mean lot of foot stamping, banjo picking, and some real quality fiddle playing at the first annual Amherst College Fiddle Playing Contest Sunday. (Staff photo by Denise Stewart)

Assoc. prof retires after seven years

By PAUL LOGUE, JR.
Collegian Staff

Stanley Lippert, an associate professor in the industrial engineering dept. is retiring after seven years at UMass. Lippert is known throughout the science world as an innovator developing the human side of engineering.

In Costa Rica, Lippert developed a functioning water system made from bamboo pipes. The implications of this development are far reaching as over a billion people in the world have no running water in their homes or villages. These same villages are located close enough to sources of bamboo to make the project economically feasible on a much larger scale.

Another of Lippert's ideas is to use a "technological transfer" via the University computer to provide an education to people in jail. Computer terminals could be set up within the institutions to begin the education needed by young inmates.

"Character and determination are the important features of a student. I feel everyone should have a chance to make it at college. If you muff it — and kid yourself — then nuts to you. I worked for eleven years as a dishwasher to get through school. My hands are still scarred from it. Today there is no need for that," said Lippert.

"Companies should put up money for projects so students can be paid while working on some useful and interesting aspect of their education. At UMass, if you want an education you can't march in every parade. You have got to get your work done," said Lippert.

Lippert has worked and lived in Japan, Israel, France, Holland, Denmark and Sweden.

"The way people conceptualize a problem sometimes depends heavily upon the environment the person grew up in and the people he associated with," said Lippert.

Lippert hopes to provide fundamental answers to cross cultural questions that will help companies working in other countries.

"Our technological society is not using the knowledge which is available to us. Some truly inspirational projects are unfunded because there is not enough profit involved. You've got to fight the system. Not in a nasty way but persistent. If something needs changing you've got to pursue it. I say go ahead and do things. When the value becomes apparent, the changes will begin to occur. I have no desire to work for anyone without having some social concerns. They're bums. I'll tell them to 'stuff it'."

In regards to his future plans, Dr. Lippert said, "I've got to keep working, the cost of living is too high to just sit back."

Trout abundant in local waters

By JOHN BARRON
Collegian Staff

Once again the trout fishing season has arrived but where can the restless student go to satisfy his-her trout fever?

There are several beautiful streams in the Amherst area, and fishing can be rewarding to the patient angler who knows where they are.

The Fort River, which starts in Pelham, winds through Amherst and South Amherst, then finally empties into the Connecticut river, generally offers excellent fishing.

Amethyst brook, located in Pelham, has both native and stocked trout, and is one of the cleanest brooks in the area.

Cushman brook, in North Amherst, has an abundant population of native brown trout. However, the fish are rather wary, and only the most skilled anglers are likely to land them.

The Mill river, which flows out of Puffer's Pond in North Amherst, has a fair amount of trout also. Unfortunately, the water becomes somewhat polluted as it passes behind Puffton Village, so it would not be wise to eat any fish caught downstream from there.

Finally, one can find several other streams in the hills surrounding Amherst, many of which provide excellent native trout fishing. So, if you're looking for some fine trout fishing, you won't have to travel far.

David Olken

Snow? In May? Better believe it

Latest winter since 1940

Compiled from Wire Services

A winter storm moved through Massachusetts several weeks late, yesterday. Heavy snow closed schools and cut off electric power in western sections while rain, sleet, snow and gale winds buffeted the east.

"Limbs are falling on our lines as fast as we can fix them," a spokesman for Massachusetts Electric Co., said in mid-afternoon.

The spokesman said many western Massachusetts communities could expect to be without power until today at least.

In western Massachusetts as many as 7,500 electric customers were without power in Pittsfield, Sandisfield, Becket, Richmond and Otis.

About 800 southern Vermont homes were reported without electricity because of a heavy, wet, snowfall which cracked tree limbs and weighed down power lines.

Northeast Utilities said power outages in northwestern Connecticut affected between 18,000 and 20,000 customers early yesterday.

About 9,000 Connecticut electric customers were without power at 1 p.m. yesterday and a spokesman said full service was expected to be returned by Monday night.

One foot of snow fell in Great Barrington in extreme southwestern Massachusetts and more was reported in the smaller surrounding hill communities.

A tractor-trailer truck loaded with toys jack-knifed on the slippery Southwest Expressway in Boston and slid down an embankment. The speed limit was lowered to 40 miles an hour on sections of the Massachusetts Turnpike.

The Massachusetts Turnpike was closed to wide loads and double trailers because of slippery conditions.

The unseasonable weather also threatened crop damage, but agricultural experts said they would have to wait until today before they could begin to assess the impact of the cold.

Temperatures hovered around the freezing mark in western Massachusetts through much of yesterday, and the National Weather Service predicted overnight temperatures in the low 30s.

"If it stays above freezing we are all right, but if it drops to 31 we are in trouble," said Granville apple grower Edward Hoberts.

Tobacco farmers reported that poles and netting recently erected to shade their crop collapsed under the weight of the snow.

A spokesman for the National Weather Service said the latest snowfall recorded for Boston was May 11, 1940, "but that didn't add up on the ground."

The National Weather Service at Bradley International Airport at Windsor Locks, Conn. said it was the first May storm in the 72-year history of the bureau to drop measurable amounts of snow on the neighboring areas of Hartford, Conn., and Springfield, Mass.

Students to study courses, profs

By MARY BROWN
Collegian Staff

A series of booklets evaluating spring semester courses and professors will be available for the first time to students during the summer and fall, Richard M. Baga, chairperson of the Undergraduate Student Senate Academic Affairs Committee said yesterday.

The evaluations will be compiled from questionnaires printed in today's and tomorrow's Collegian and returned to the senate in bins located next to Collegian distribution points, he said.

In addition, the questionnaires will be mailed to students "in a matter of weeks", Baga said, and the method which generates the most responses will be used in writing the evaluations.

Baga said that the final form of the booklets has not yet been decided, but will probably be a series with one or two departments per booklet.

The booklets will be distributed to central locations such as the library, the student advising office at the College of Arts and Sciences, office for Counseling Assistance for Older Students (CAOS) and at Whitmore, he said. Other booklets could be dropped off at department offices.

Students are being asked to fill out the questionnaires because the senate has been denied access to departmental evaluations, which the University says are personnel documents, he said.

Baga said the Student Senate twice requested the administration to release the data, before appealing to the Commission of Public Records, charged with making decisions regarding the Freedom of Information Act.

The commission ruled in favor of the administration, however, and the students were forced to put out their own questionnaires to get the necessary data.

Any faculty member who wishes to release the departmental evaluations for his or her course to the evaluation guide is free to do so, Baga said, and those evaluations will be used in lieu of the student questionnaires.

The guide, which has been allocated $8750 of student activities fee money, will contain some statistical information and summaries about courses compiled by the two student editors, Baga said.

Courses can only be evaluated if an adequate per cent of students respond, and the editors will have access to spring enrollment figures in making that decision, he said.

According to Baga, the series of booklets if compiled in one printing would be as thick as four course description guides.

Schools which publish one volume, such as Yale or the University of California at Berkeley, usually have to charge for the guides, he said.

Kappa Sigma—Gorman tensions easing

By MIKE BERGER
and NEIL MOELLER
Collegian Staff

The tension between Kappa Sigma fraternity and Gorman House dormitory has eased considerably since last semester but solving the problem is taking a long-range effort, according to the associate director of the Central-Orchard Hill area.

William W. Taylor spoke with the Collegian about the results of an investigation conducted by Dean of Students William F. Field.

After consultation with Edward M. Bowe, Greek Affairs director, Steve MacAulay, former president of the Greek Council, and officers of Kappa Sigma fraternity, Field suspended one Kappa Sigma member who had admitted throwing a beer bottle through a Gorman resident's window last semester.

He was the only one against whom action was taken as a result of the investigation, Field said.

He urged both Taylor and Bowe to develop a plan to reduce tensions between the two houses.

"Gorman and Kappa Sigma must take the initiative in making sure the problems are taken care of. When both houses cannot solve it, I want the problem addressed to me. Any complaints must be dealt with immediately," Field said.

Taylor said there is a continuous need for residents of the houses to communicate and for a clarification of the administration's role in solving problems between the Greek system and the dormitory system.

Taylor said residential life is now crisis-oriented. "There is a tendency, if the fire dampens down, to shift the resources to a more apparent critical problem. This thing may still be smouldering," he said.

He added that the Central residential life staff does not have the time or the personnel to develop a long-range solution.

"The people who live in these houses have collective intelligence and energy. There is potential for people in both houses to do a lot more things in an effective way that no administrator can do," Taylor said.

Kappa Sigma alumni have joined to take a more active interest in the affairs of the house.

"The alumni are concerned with the fraternity maintaining itself for future students taking part in brotherhood. The alumni will be concerned with the behavior of the fraternity and its neighborly relationship with Gorman", said Bruce Cochrane, spokesperson for the alumni.

Stephen Monks, president of Kappa Sigma fraternity, said the alumni board meets every two weeks in the fraternity to discuss activities of the house.

According to Bowe, the national fraternity's headquarters in Virginia is also taking a more active role in maintaining the UMass house. The national organization hopes to have a fraternity representative in graduate school to live at the UMass chapter's house this fall.

"Perhaps being an older more experienced person, he could have an influence on the younger members," said Bowe.

Monks said in an interview he feels the fraternity has changed drastically and anything of a degree that happened last semester could never happen again.

"Last semester's publicity really opened eyes," he said.

"Our fraternity can no longer stand for five per cent of the house who give the rest of the house a bad name. These kids who beat up people or who break windows are no longer accepted here or in the University," Monks said.

"The fraternity has a responsibility to the law as well as anyone else. Just because we are Kappa Siggers, doesn't mean a damn thing anymore," said Monks.

There have been major new policies to control behavior. In the past, the fraternity had a code of silence. "From now on, people who commit the wrongdoing won't be defended. They must admit they did it," Monks said.

George E. Sampson, Gorman head of residence, said there have been no complaints about Kappa Sigma this semester. "It's a very livable situation," he said.

"We plan to keep up communication with the fraternity constantly. I have discussed the situation with the president of Kappa Sigma and we both agree that any problem must be immediately discussed between the houses. If any member of either house is guilty of harassing anyone in the house, they will be dealt with severely," said Sampson.

James G. Wieler, president of Gorman House agreed. He said, "The cooperation between the two houses has been excellent. The problem makers in both houses have left and people are starting to know each other better in the dorm and the fraternity. We even had a party with Kappa Sigma two months ago which went off very smoothly.

"As long as the leaders of both houses take an active part and responsibility in making sure the problems are resolved, this problem will never happen again," Wieler said.

The president of the Greek council, Paul Leahy, said in an interview he does not foresee more serious problems between the houses but that there might be minor conflicts.

"Those problems that do arise should be worked out between both houses as soon as there is a problem. Being so close to each other, it's easy to blame something on the other house if damage occurs," Leahy said

He related the story of a resident Gorman male who broke a window of a female Gorman resident and ran away and hid in a fraternity saying, "Well, they will suspect Kappa Sigma of doing it."

Leahy said that attempts must be made to solve problems of discipline by the area before presenting the problem to the University administration.

TURN TO PAGE 4

Yesterday's surprise storm caused various inconveniences including disabled cars, such as this one at the corner of Route 9 and University Drive. (Staff photo by Jay Saret)

Nuke arrestees remain in limbo

By D. A. CLARK
Collegian Staff

Fast eclipsing the issue of nuclear power at Seabrook is the fate of the demonstrators arrested at the May 1 nuclear power plant occupation.

According to Susan Leehey, a UMass student released on bail, most of the UMass students still incarcerated plan to stay there, either refusing to pay bail or declining to be released on personal recognizance.

Fund raising committees have been organized to collect money for bail and legal fees for those who can't afford the costs, Leehey said. Informational meetings have also been scheduled, she said, to get volunteers to help the cause.

Leehey termed the misdemeanor charge of trespassing, brought against those arrested, "ridiculous."

"To force people to spend this time in jail is just ridiculous," she said.

Trials have been scheduled for the entire week, with the latest trial date scheduled for October, Leehey's trial is scheduled for sometime in July. "I'm scared," she said, "but not scared enough to wish I hadn't done it."

In response to a request of Governor Meldrim Thomson for $678,000 to pay the

TURN TO PAGE 4

TODAY'S STAFF

Issue Editor Phil g Thesten

Important Copy Person	Ann Murphy
Lay Dayout	Sue Zoino
Sports Layout	Well Mebster
Editorial Layout	Debbie Alliegro
Ad Layout	Bobo
Head D.T.	Dave Olken
Ass. Head D.T.	Denise Stewart
Head G.T.O.	Dan Schindler
Grassy Ass	Ware (not the town)
Flag Foto	This could be the last time
Wiseass Remark	Dave Olken

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$9

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusettss, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery to start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst, Massachusetts 01003. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Getting a job means attacking the market

"The Academic Market: How to Attack It" is the title of a day long program for women faculty and women graduate students to be held Friday, May 13.

The program, sponsored by the Graduate Women's Program and Higher Education Resource Services (HERS), will take place on the first floor of the Campus Center.

Participants should take a current resume with them.

Schedule:
9:30-11:00 Plenary Session: THE ACADEMIC MARKET, Lilli S. Hornig, Executive Director, HERS and Martha Tolpin, Associate Director, HERS.
11:00-12:30 Workshop: DEVELOPING A STRATEGY
1:30-3:00 Workshop: NEGOTIATING: FOR THE JOB, ON THE JOB
3:00-4:30 Workshop: DEVELOPING NETWORKS

For more information, contact Arlene Ryan at the Women's Studies Office in Room 508 Goodell Building (545-1922).

★ Frat

CONT. FROM PAGE 3

"When you elect the leader in a fraternity, he should be the most respected person in the house. Money matters and discipline problems should be addressed to either him or the house officers," Leahy said.

"When you can't get it resolved within the house, you should go to the Greek Council, Edward Bowe or Dean Field. But the problem should first be solved within the house as best as possible," he added.

Associate Dean of Students O.C. Bobby Daniels said he cannot say whether the situation could ever happen again but suggested that one way of eliminating the problem would be to involve residents of Gorman and Kappa Sigma in human relationship workshops of community development, racism and sexism.

"The continuous effort to communicate and the sensitivity of the geographical proximity may or may not articulate from one year to the next," said Daniels.

"Greekdom represents a quasi-private residential lifestyle as opposed to a University-operated dormitory. But notwithstanding, the two are sorely in need of ongoing human relationship programs, seminars, lectures, and social activities," Daniels said.

Sampson agreed and said that next semester he will be teaching racism and sexism colloquia for residents of Gorman and will invite any member of the fraternity to attend.

'I cannot lose', winner declares

"I never lose!" said Rob Gilbert, reigning Cosmic Wimpout champion.

"I cannot lose in that game, well 90 to 95 per cent of the time," said Gilbert.

Gilbert defeated Ken Oake Sunday night in a one on one roll off at the Top of the Campus. Gilbert is Head of Residence of Washington Upper and curator of the Button museum which is sometimes located in the Campus Center Concourse. Gilbert won the title last year in the first annual Cosmic Wimpout Tournament.

"It's just a fun little game. It's a weird game and mental control plays a big part in it. It's more complex than playing dice. You have to play the game as though you're competing with yourself. You have to concentrate on yourself. Everybody's good in something. I cannot lose in that game," he said.

Oake won the second annual tournament last Friday night in the Blue Wall by defeating Chris Bourne. Oake then went on to challenge Gilbert and the rest is history.

When Cosmic Wimpout arrived on campus last year no one knew what it was. The only people on campus who knew how to play the game were the three who brought it to Amherst, Snorky Maverick, Gypsy Dave and Dick Tator.

Wimpout is an innovative dice game played with five dice.

Three years ago when Snorky was travelling around the country with a friend, Anonymous Tunami, Anonymous taught him how to play Wimpout. Since then Snorky has continued to travel and introduce the game to people. New rule adaptations were made and eventually a rule book was written.

Snorky arrived at UMass last spring. He taught the game to many people who found it was a fun and relaxing way to pass the time in between study sessions. It became so popular that about 800 games were sold between the University Store and H.L. Childs of Northampton.

Ken Oake (left) and Rob Gilbert square off for a game of Cosmic Wimpout. Gilbert defeated Oake Sunday night to keep his title of Cosmic Wimpout champion. (Staff photo by Chris Bourne) cost of prosecuting Seabrook demonstrators, the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration said yesterday it would be a while before the grant would be decided on. Thomson had the request submitted last Friday by the state crime commission.

★ Nuke arrestees remain in limbo

CONT. FROM PAGE 3

Thomson claimed Sunday that he is winning the "battle of Seabrook" because 562 of the 1,414 arrested decided to pay bail.

Leehey said the argument is with advocates of nuclear power, not with police or the National Guard. She cited the switch from emphasis on nuclear power to the incarcerated as "Thomson's attempt to tie up the activist. They've realized what he's doing and it won't work."

Some of the anti-nuclear power demonstrators testified yesterday in the first day of a hearing in U.S. District Court on a civil suit filed by the demonstrators against Thomson and five other state and county officials.

The suit claims the protesters' constitutional rights against "cruel and unusual punishment" were violated because of the conditions under which they have been held awaiting trial.

Six persons had testified at the close of the first day of the hearing that their makeshift jails were overcrowded, unsanitary, and provided no privacy.

Margaret Anderson, 39, a school teacher and social worker from Putney, Vt., who was being held in the Manchester Armory, said many of the demonstrators "are beginning to crack under the strain" of the crowded conditions.

There were more than 700 persons held in the Manchester armory late last week, but that number has been reduced to about 400 as many accepted bail during the weekend.

"Some people are crawling into boxes to seek privacy... some people are crawling into their sleeping bags to get away from it all," Mrs. Anderson said.

安城中國飯店
AMHERST CHINESE FOOD
62 Main St., Amherst
Tel. 253-7835
EAT IN OR TAKE-OUT.
LUNCH SPECIALS 99c & up

LEGISLATIVE INTERNSHIPS
AVAILABLE PRACTICUMS
INDEPENDENT STUDY

- Monitor Higher Education Bills
- Advocate Student Rights
- Legislature in Boston
- Build Alliances and Multi Campus Coalitions
- Do Legislative Research
- Draft Bills Advocating Student Interests

The program is being coordinated by the Student Center for Educational Research and the Student Organizing Project.

Credit can be attained through various departments. Apply for fall before the end of the semester at the

SCER S OFFICE Room 406 SUB
545-2892

WHAT HAPPENS when the most beautiful girl in the world marries the handsomest prince—and he turns out to be an s-o-b?
WILLIAM GOLDMAN'S
THE PRINCESS BRIDE
A HOT FAIRY TALE
"His swashbuckling fable is nutball funny . . . a 'classic' medieval melodrama that sounds like all the Saturday serials you ever saw feverishly reworked by the Marx Brothers."—Newsweek
$1.95 wherever paperbacks are sold
BB BALLANTINE BOOKS

GENEVA: President Jimmy Carter and President Haffez Assad of Syria, an interpreter between them, work through their private dinner at the Intercontinental Hotel in Geneva. Their meeting was expected to run more than an hour later than scheduled. (UPI)

Carter to discuss defense at alliance summit meeting

LONDON (AP) — President Carter attends a North Atlantic alliance summit meeting today that will deal with a new topic — civil defense — as well as the usual concerns of military strength and coordination.

Joseph Luns, the Dutch secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), told a news conference yesterday the Western allies have been "disagreeably impressed" by the Soviet Union's new program of building bomb shelters and otherwise bolstering defense of the populace against nuclear attack.

The West has lagged behind in civil defense preparations, Luns said.

Some NATO analysts find the Soviet civil defense program ominous. They speculate the Kremlin might be emboldened in its dealings with the West if it can guarantee a high survival rate for its civilian population in the event of nuclear attack.

Arab-Israeli relations concern Carter, Assad

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — President Carter met yesterday with Syrian President Hafez Assad to search for ways to end the decade-old Arab-Israeli conflict. A Syrian source said Assad presented Carter with an Arab consensus plan for creation of a Palestinian state.

A government source in Damascus, Syria, told reporters the plan had the approval of Egypt, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasir Arafet.

The source indicated the proposal called for a Palestinian homeland on the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip, Israeli-occupied territories. He said Arab leaders had resolved their differences over the links the new state have with Jordan, but he gave no details. There was no immediate comment from the Carter party.

Carter and Assad were both optimistic on their arrival here, but Israel viewed their talks uneasily.

"I believe it is the year of hope for substantial progress," Carter said as he and Assad met each other for the first time and spoke briefly with reporters before their talks.

The Syrian leader said he saw no "magic wand" at hand but that he hoped the meeting would prove to be a "turning point in the history" of efforts to reach a settlement in the Middle East.

Carter flew here from London after a weekend summit conference with the leaders of six other major industrial nations.

He was scheduled to return to London last night to attend today's ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, after which he will fly back to Washington.

Carter met with the leaders of Britain, France and West Germany in London before leaving for Geneva Monday, and the four issued a statement reaffirming their commitment to the security of Berlin and warning against Communist efforts to weaken four-power control of the divided city.

On arriving in Geneva, the President reiterated his support for establishment of a Palestinian state, a core issue in the Middle East.

"There must be a resolution of the Palestine problem and a homeland for the Palestinians," he said. "There must be some resolution of border disputes, and there also must be an assurance of permanent and real peace with guarantees for the future security of these countries which all can trust."

Carter said Assad, who has emerged as the key Arab leader in the negotiations, "has a great role to play" in the quest for peace.

But in Tel Aviv, acting Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres accused Assad of intransigence in the Mideast stalemate.

Israel's ITIM national news agency quoted Peres as saying Assad's declaration Uundaq that "not one inch" of Syrian territory on the Golan Heights could be left in Israeli hands amounted to a refusal to make any concessions leading toward a settlement.

Senior Israeli officials have expressed concern that Carter might try to force Israel to accept his own terms for a Middle East settlement. As a sign of pressure, they point to a State Department proposal to end Israel's preferential status in arms purchases from the United States.

Assad yesterday called the Arab-Israeli differences "pernicious, difficult and complicated," citing in particular Israel's continued occupation of Arab territories and its "denial of the legitimate recognition of the various ... Arab people of Palestine."

Carter said two weeks ago it might be pointless to reconvene the dormant Geneva peace conference on the Midwest without a strong indication progress could be made. On arriving in Geneva Monday, he said he had come with the "hope that later on this year we might come back" to work out a resolution in the long-troubled region.

Assad was the fourth Mideast leader to meet with Carter, who had previously conferred with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin of Israel, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and King Hussein of Jordan.

A senior American official who asked not to be identified said Carter would meet with Peres if, as expected, he becomes prime minister as a result of Israel's May 17 national elections. That meeting would take place soon after the elections, the official said.

SHIRTS
$5.00
Famous Name Factory Returns and Irregulars
Originally $14-$20.
NOW $5.00
Excellent Condition
Faces of Earth
Next to the Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Moving Sale
25% off all canvas bags, accessories & gift items - lots of Mother's day & graduation gift ideas!
Kaleidoscope Handprints
16 Main St. Amherst

Third World Women Center
Positions Open
$ Coordinator
Vice President
Treasurer
Secretary (Work Study) $
Call Anika
546-4538
No later than Friday, May 5

SALT renewal anticipated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chief U.S. negotiator said yesterday he detects promising signs in the renewal of strategic arms talks this week with the Soviet Union, but warned dramatic breakthroughs are unlikely.

Paul Warnke, who leaves today to meet his Soviet counterpart Vladimir Semyonov in Geneva, said he expected a discussion of various secondary matters and perhaps some progress on core issues.

But he said it would be too much to expect the three-day Geneva meeting between Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko starting May 18 to result in more than a "general framework" to guide subsequent negotiations.

"You can't anticipate a couple of days in Geneva is going to produce a breakthrough," Warnke told a news conference. "But it could set the framework which could be used by the two delegations."

He said Vance and Gromyko also will be signing a U.S.-Soviet agreement prohibiting weather modification for military purposes.

Warnke meets with Semyonov tomorrow to discuss such issues as how to verify that a strategic missile is equipped with a multiple warhead.

Another secondary issue is the U.S. request to establish an official "data base" — information about strategic arsenals that both sides pledge is correct.

Warnke confirmed recent reports that the Russians have said they might be willing to reduce the strategic weapons ceilings agreed upon in Vladivostok in 1974 by then-President Gerald Ford and Soviet Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev.

A report from Moscow by William Beecher of The Boston Globe quoted Georgi Sviatov of the influential Soviet Institute of the U.S.A. and Canada, that the Russians might contemplate the following compromise proposal:

Reduce the Vlsadivostok ceilings; place limitations on the Soviet Backfire bomber; ban U.S. Cruise missiles on submarines, surface ships, and land launchers but permit them on bombers; and accept some limitations on flight tests of new strategic missiles.

"I thought this was quite a positive article," Warnke said. "If it does indicate the Soviet attitude, that would be a very good sign indeed."

Other "promising signs" noted by Warnke were a recent editorial in the Communist newspaper Pravda, which he said suggested the Russians have been rethinking their disarmament position, and contacts between Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin and Vance prior to the formal Geneva talks.

Author dies

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (UPI) — James Jones, author of "From Here to Eternity", and other best-selling novels, died yesterday evening at Southampton Hospital. He was 55.

Jones had entered the hospital May 1 for treatment of congestive heart failure. Doctors said the author appeared to be rallying from the heart ailment when his condition deteriorated.

Jones, an avid outdoorsman, was hospitalized for about a month in January. He then left to recuperate in his Sagaponack home on Long Island.

He was working on the last novel in his World War II trilogy at the time of his death.

Jones once told the Paris Review, "The quality which makes a man want to write and to be read is essentially a desire for self-exposure and is masochistic."

Several years later, in another interview, he said, "I'm a writer by personality. If I couldn't write, I'd probably kill myself."

Jones, who lived in Paris for 16 years before returning to the United States in 1974, was a highly disciplined writer who prided himself on an ability to write "conversation."

"In life, conversation is more often likely to be an attempt at deliberate evasion, deliberate confusion, rather than communication," he once said. "We're all cheats and liars, really. And the novelist can show just how and why we are."

Jones was born Nov. 6, 1921, in Robinson, Ill., the son of Ramon Jones and Ada Blessing.

He joined the regular Army after high school in 1939 and served until 1944, receiving the Purple Heart and Bronze Star for combat in World War II.

His first novel, "From Here To Eternity," was published in 1951 and was the first of a World War II trilogy.

2nd ANNUAL MOLSON NIGHT
COMING WEDNESDAY

Plus
Jim Blunkett and Fireball Fanigan
and the
"GONG SHOW"

THE PUB
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST

We'll give you 10 good reasons to attend Summer Session.

No. 10
The sky's the limit.

Summer Session is deliberately lively—concerts, movies and outdoor extravaganzas will keep you on your toes, socially. The second annual Toward Tomorrow Fair brings the future to the present on the UMass campus in June, and the traditional Preservation Hall Jazz Band appearance highlights the summer. Add these events to the amazing array of courses offered both day and evening, and the convenience of two different six-week sessions, and there's more happening than you thought!

Catalogs are still available at many locations on campus, and more information on the wide variety of courses offered can be had by stopping by the Summer Session Office in 239 Whitmore, or by calling 545-0584.

Summer Session '77
University of Massachusetts/Amherst

FOR CENTURIES THEY WERE HUNTED FOR BOUNTY, FUN AND FOOD...
NOW IT'S THEIR TURN!
DAY OF THE ANIMALS

EDWARD L. MONTORO Presents a WILLIAM GIRDLER Film DAY OF THE ANIMALS Starring CHRISTOPHER GEORGE
LESLIE NIELSEN • LYNDA DAY GEORGE • RICHARD JAECKEL • MICHAEL ANSARA and RUTH ROMAN as SHIRLEY
Music by LALO SCHIFRIN • Written by WILLIAM NORTON & ELEANOR E. NORTON • Directed by WILLIAM GIRDLER Produced by EDWARD L. MONTORO • A FILM VENTURES INTERNATIONAL RELEASE
Now a terrifying paperback from BALLANTINE BOOKS ©1977, FVI, INC.
Filmed in TODD-AO 35 • COLOR BY DELUXE PG PARENTAL GUIDANCE SUGGESTED

OPENING MAY 25th
at a theatre or drive-in near you.
Look for this ad in your local newspaper for theatre and time.

WASHINGTON: U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young met with members of the Black Caucus on Capitol Hill before leaving for his second tour of Black Africa and perhaps a controversial visit to South Africa later. Talking with Ambassador Young are (L-R) Rep. Walter E. Fauntroy, D-D.C.; Rep. Ralph H. Motoalfe, D-Ill. and Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y. (UPI)

White-ruled Africa may thwart Young's visit

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The State Department said yesterday it has not received permission from South Africa for U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, who embarks on a 12-day tour of black Africa, to visit the white-ruled country.

"We are still working on that and have requested from the South African government permission for the visit of Ambassador Young," said State Department spokesman Frederick Z. Brown. "We are awaiting their reply."

Young's spokesman at the United Nations said the Ambassador would get final word today on his visit to Johannesburg.

Young's first stop on the trip starting last night is Abidjan, the Ivory Coast, for a briefing session with U.S. ambassadors stationed in the African continent. He will visit Ghana, Nigeria and Gabon for talks with "high government officials," then fly to Lisbon for a meeting with Vice President Walter Mondale who oversees the Carter Administration's African policy.

The principal destination of Young's trip is Maputo, Mozambique, where he will attend on May 16-21 a U.N.-sponsored conference in support of black majority rules in Rhodesia and Namibia South West Africa.

From Maputo, Young planned to fly May 20 for a private visit to Johannesburg, where he had been invited to speak before the city's business community and students of Witwatersrand University.

Brown said he was not aware of any Young plans to meet with South African officials and black leaders there — if he goes.

Young's plans to meet with black leaders during the Johannesburg visit and his earlier remarks that the South African government is "illegitimate" drew angry reaction from South Africa. Foreign Minister Roelof "Pik" Botha expressed Young's visit would not be "convenient."

But after being contacted by the State Department, Botha modified the position said Young's visit request would have to go through "normal channels."

Brown said the visit is still considered "private," although he conceded there is "a fine line" between public and private visit "given the connotations and since a high public official Young is involved."

Brown said that if Young does go to South Africa, he will not be travelling aboard the official U.S. aircraft he is using for his current African tour.

Advertising
in the Summer Collegian.

The best way to reach your market this summer.

Call the Collegian
Business Department
at 545-3500 for details.

THE MASSACHUSETTS SUMMER
Collegian

School of Ed

State-wide lobby

Fine Arts Center

Summer Sounds

Resident Summer
Camp Jobs:

enjoy your summer at a peaceful summer camp in Mass. while you share your skills with youth. Instructor-Counselors for Waterfront, Crafts, Barnyard and Programming are needed. Ask for Michael at 5-2646.

BOSTON: Gov. Michael Dukakis swears in five women, all experts on the problems of working women, as members of the State Manpower Services Council at the State House Cabinet Room, are (L-R Mary Rose, Cambridge; Juliet Brudney, Cambridge; Awilda Artau, Brookline; Cecile H. Gordon, Boston and Esther A. E. Hopkins, Framingham. (UPI)

'High enough price for oil' is Alaskan Sen.'s concern

WASHINGTON [UPI] — Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, said yesterday if the new oil scheduled to start flowing from his state later this year is not priced high enough he will try to "prevent its being produced."

Stevens' warning came at a Senate energy subcommittee hearing at which Federal Energy Administrator John O'Leary proposed that Alaskan oil be priced at about $7.50 a barrel at the point of production.

High pipeline and shipping costs would put the oil at $13.50 at the refinery, he said. Oil from long-established domestic wells costs $5.25, with some at $11.28. Foreign oil sells for about $13.50.

O'Leary said the $7.50 price is a good incentive for producers but not enough to provide a windfall.

"I'd prefer to pay the world price at the refinery for Alaskan crude oil than for imported crude," O'Leary said. "I really don't think we are reaching for an over-compensation."

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, disagreed.

"Following your line of reasoning, should we just take the price of oil to $20?" he asked. "Should we just let it go up and up?"

O'Leary replied, "We will not follow the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries price wherever OPEC goes."

But Stevens, invited to the hearing although he is not a member of the panel, said if Alaska does not get enough money for its oil, "I will do all in my power... to prevent its being produced. It is our capital base.

"... If you want Alaskan oil, Alaskan gas, you are going to have to pay the same rate as you pay those sheikhs over there in Saudi Arabia."

Rep. Stewart McKinney, R-Conn., asked the House Monday to instruct its conferees in a conference committee that will work out differences on an export bill to demand retention of a ban on shipping the Alaskan oil to Japan.

A House amendment to the Export Administration Act would prohibit an administration proposal to ship Alaskan oil to Japan in exchange for Middle East oil purchased by Japan but shipped directly to U.S. Atlantic ports.

If the swap is allowed, McKinney said, "it means that the availability of 47 per cent of the petroleum consumed in the United States will continue to depend on the unpredictable good will of the Arab sheikhs.

Beat the high price of PRECISION HAIRCUTS

Personal Hair Styling for Him & Her

Includes:

FIRST: a professional consultation on what haircut would be best for your facial structure and hair texture.

SECOND: a precision style cut selected individually just for you.

THIRD: our stylists will show you how to take care of your hair and what professional products you should use on your hair and skin.

All For $7.50
with this coupon
Tuesday & Wednesday Only

Styles by Deborah
Call for appt. 549-5610

Mass. workfare program insufficient in cost-cutting

BOSTON [UPI] — A memo prepared by two top Dukakis administration officials concludes a workfare program involving 10,000 recipients would cost at least $25 million annually and would be ineffective in cutting welfare rolls.

Though the memo was sent last December to Gov. Michael S. Dukakis by Human Services Secretary Jerald Stevens and Manpower Affairs Secretary Howard N. Smith, it had not previously been made public.

It predicts a program to put 10,000 welfare recipients to work would require $7.5 million for materials and equipment and $4.8 million for work related expenses.

An additional $13 million would be needed for day care services, since a program involving 10,000 Aid to Families with Dependent Children recipients would have to include mothers of school age children.

At the time the memorandum was written, Dec. 3, 1976, Dukakis was considering a large scale workfare program to put both welfare mothers and unemployed fathers in state jobs.

The plan has since been scaled down, at least temporarily, to include only unemployed fathers on welfare. In a late memo, Stevens and Smith said the smaller program would "reduce if not eliminate" the $25 million, but they decline to give any exact figures.

The two secretaries also told Dukakis in the December letter the state could lose an additional $5 million because of time needed by regular state workers to supervise the welfare workers.

APPLY NOW
FOR WORK STUDY JOBS
in the Summer.

Help organize department councils.

Help organize the Campus Communication Network — write and layout the news, letters, pamphlets, design posters, do research, write articles.

Apply at the
STUDENT ORGANIZING PROJECT
before the end of the semester.

426 SUB 545-2415

Poor Richards

Super Bull Party

Tuesday

24 oz. can Schlitz Malt Liquor

75¢

Have an interest in childhood education?

Summer Work-Study:

People wanted to work in Drop In Recreation Center at Pufton Village — June 1-Aug. 20. The Day Care Center provides play activities for children in Pufton - N. Village area. Call Joanne 545-0865 or David 268-3660 for more info. Internships for credit are also available.

Sponsored by

Off Campus Housing—Commuters

EXPLORE YOUR FUTURE TODAY

AT THE

TOWARD TOMORROW FAIR

June 24 to 26, 1977

The Fair is designed to educate the public to the numerous possibilities for America's future in the areas of energy use, environmental protection and social policy.

About 200 alternative energy and social action exhibitors and many prominent speakers will present their ideas for the future. Musicians, puppet shows, jugglers, food and beverage concessions and play areas will provide a festive tone to the fair.

Working windmills, solar collectors and hot water heaters, wood-burning stoves, and electric cars will be displayed, and visitors to the fair can talk to owners and builders of alternative energy devices at user workshops.

Agriculture, aquaculture, land use and conservation, home building and design, health, nutrition and education are among the options for the future to be presented by social action groups. Workshops, panels, debates and films will be ongoing during the fair.

SPEAKERS INCLUDE: Consumer advocate Ralph Nader; R. Buckminster Fuller, futurist and designer of the geodesic dome at Expo '67 in Montreal; biologist Barry Commoner; and human rights crusader Dick Gregory.

A number of solar, wood and wind energy advocates including William E. Heronemus, Hazel Henderson, Jay Shelton, Steve Baer and Christine Sullivan will also speak.

Other speakers include journalists and editors Scott Burns, Robert Healey, Irwin Silber and the journalist My; prison reform activist Yuri Kochiyama; environmentalist Murray Bookchin; educator Barbara Sizemore; New England Council president Edward J. King; community health experts John Froines and Sandra McLanahan; Massachusetts State Congresswoman Elaine Noble; and authors and leaders of the back to the land movement, Helen and Scott Nearing.

A Saturday evening concert with Pete Seeger and Guy Davis has also been planned.

Admission to the fair is $3/day for adults, $2/day for students, and $1/day for senior citizens. Children under twelve accompanied by an adult are admitted free. OPENING DAY TICKETS ARE REDUCED $1.

For information on advance tickets, and the Pete Seeger concert, please send a postcard to:

Toward Tomorrow Fair
110 Hills House North
University of Massachusetts
Amherst MA 01003

Summer Session '77
University of Massachusetts/Amherst

Carter aims to 'fatten' Social Security fund

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter yesterday proposed using $14.1 billion in general tax revenues to keep the Social Security fund solvent, and will seek increased contributions to the system from both employers and workers.

Faced with a report showing Social Security's cash reserves could be depleted by the early 1980s, Carter suggested the unprecedented use of general revenues to ensure the nation's 33.4 million elderly and disabled continue receiving payments.

Carter, in a message sent Congress by aides while he is in London, also proposed that employers pay Social Security taxes on all worker wages beginning in 1979. They now are taxed only on the first $16,500 of an individual's pay.

That would cost business and industry an estimated $30.4 billion by 1982, the White House said, but HEW Secretary Joseph Califano told reporters "There's plenty of money on the corporate side to bear this."

Califano said Carter also plans to ask Congress to increase Social Security taxes on workers.

He said Carter would ask for a $2,400 hike in the tax base by 1985 — $600 each in 1979, 1981, 1983 and 1985 — beyond increases already scheduled.

Workers now pay Social Security taxes on the first $16,500. That base already is scheduled to rise to $18,900 in 1979, and Carter's proposal would increase it to $19,500. These employe tax increases would raise $4 billion.

Social Security payments are financed entirely by payroll taxes, but the system had a $5.7 billion deficit this year, and a report released Monday showed the deficit will rise to $14.9 billion by 1982 unless new revenues are obtained.

Part of the problem, Carter said, is that payroll tax revenues are reduced during high unemployment. So he proposed compensating the Social Security fund for lost revenues whenever unemployment exceeds 6 per cent.

The plan would be retroactive to 1975, and produce an estimated $14.1 billion for the Social Security fund between now and 1980.

"General revenues would be used only in these carefully limited situations," Carter said. "Because this is an innovative measure, the legislation we submit will provide this feature only through 1982."

Califano said if the economy improves enough, general revenues would not be used.

Both House Speaker Thomas O'Neill and Senate Republican leader Howard Baker said they approved of the plan to use general use for Social Security, and Senate Finance Committee Chairman Russell Long said the proposals "make good sense." The U.S. Chamber of Commerce said it would oppose the plan.

Other legislation Carter will propose later would:

— Shift revenues from the Medicare hospital insurance trust fund to the old age, survivors and disability trust funds to raise $7 billion, in part because of savings anticipated from the administration's hospital cost control legislation.

— Increase the tax rate on the self-employed from 7 to 7.5 per cent, bringing in $1 billion.

— Eliminate benefit distinctions based on sex, providing $3 billion.

Ford receives Truman Award

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Former President Gerald Ford received the fifth Harry S. Truman Good Neighbor Award at a traditional birthday celebration yesterday honoring the late president, a man Ford has called his personal hero and political idol.

Ford told the luncheon he often thought of Truman's 1948 presidential campaign and upset victory during his own campaign last fall, especially when polls showed him more than 30 points behind Jimmy Carter.

"I told my aides, 'Remember Harry Truman. He did it in 1948 and we can do it in 1976," Ford said. "And sure enough just like 1948 we got a Democrat elected president."

About 400 persons attended the luncheon celebrating Truman's 93rd birthday anniversary, which was Sunday. Ford was seatad next to another unsuccessful GOP presidential candidate, former Kansas Gov. Alf Landon, who ran against Franklin Roosevelt in 1936.

It was the first time Ford had visited Kansas City since the Republican National Convention in August.

"Obviously I have many fond memories of Kansas City. If I have anything to say about it, Kansas City will be a nice place to come in 1980," said Ford, who has indicated many times he was considering running in the next presidential election.

The former GOP president presently has compared his administration to Truman's pointing out that both he and Truman assumed office after service as vice president for less than a year and with little preparation.

"I remember his fiesty, competitive spirit that made him a folk hero," Ford said of the 33rd president. "He believed in being a good neighbor in Independence and around the world."

The annual birthday party for Truman was started by a group of his friends and neighbors in 1953 after Truman left the White House and returned to Independence. Since Truman's death, Dec. 26, 1972, his friends have selected one person each year to honor at the celebration.

Three of the previous Good Neighbor Award honorees were at the celebration Monday; Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo.; Retired Lt. Ven. Louis W. Truman, a first cousin of Truman; and FBI Director Clarence Kelley. The late Chief Justice Earl Warren was presented the first award in 1973.

U.S., Panama resume talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Panama reopened Canal Zone treaty negotiations yesterday after 2½ months' recess with both sides claiming the initial session represented a "positive" beginning.

There was no report of movement in the negotiations but the cordial atmosphere reported by both negotiating teams contrasted sharply with threatening talk over the weekend by Panamanian head of government Omar Torrijos.

Torrijos told a news conference in Mexico that unless a new treaty is negotiated, the Canal Zone will be "without water, without lights, without a canal and without gringos."

The Carter administration began formal negotiations with Panama within three weeks after taking office, pledging a sustained effort to conclude a new treaty. Following yesterday's initial meeting here at the Panamanian Embassy, the U.S. co-negotiator, Sol Linowitz, said the two sides exchanged "suggestions" and planned to cover all remaining unresolved issues during the current round. The talks will resume this afternoon.

Salaried Positions Available at the

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI ISSUE 136 THURSDAY MAY 1977

weather
It will be so rainy that the mice will be hunchback

Collegian

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

NEXT SEMESTER

PRODUCTION/NEWS

ISSUE EDITORS — Responsible for layout and headline pages. Layout experience helpful, but not necessary. (3-5 positions)

WIRE LAYOUT Responsible for laying out and writing headlines for wire pages (New England, national, and international news from wire services). Layout experience preferred. (5 positions)

DAY LAYOUT To lay out What's Happening, Notices, etc. writing for the news pages once a week. Layout experience a necessity. (5 positions)

PASTE-UP PERSONS To paste up Collegian pages at the printer. Experience an absolute necessity. (3-5 positions)

ASSISTANT NEWS EDITOR two positions open — assigns and edits news stories.

EDITORIAL LAYOUT two positions. Responsible for laying out the editorial pages two nights a week.

PROOFREADERS To proof Collegian copy for typing errors at printer. No experience necessary. (5 positions)

BUSINESS

FINANCE MANAGER Responsible for collection of Collegian accounts receivable.

CIRCULATION MANAGER Responsible for Collegian daily distribution ® subscribtions.

CLERICAL — 3 work-study student clerk positions for general office work.

PLEASE SEE BOB HIGGINS MANAGING EDITOR OR PLEASE SEE TONY ARMELIN BUSINESS MANAGER

ALL MUST BE AVAILABLE TO BEGIN SATURDAY AUGUST 26, 1977 FOR TRAINING & ORIENTATION

CALL 545-3500

PARKING LOT SALE

From May 10 to May 21, 1977

SUMMER PANTS
By A Smile and Levi in assorted styles and colors,
Reg. 14.00 to 18.00 $4.95

WOMEN'S TOPS
By Banana's, Byer, and Hukapoo.
Reg. $5.00 to $18.00
$.95—$7.95

JUMPSUITS
By Male and Landlubber in pre-washed denim for Men and Women.
Reg. $23.00 to $45.00
$6.98 - $7.99

MEN'S SHIRTS
Long sleeve dress shirts by H.I.S., Levi, Golden Vee
Reg. $11.00 to $18.00
$2.95 and up

SHORTS
For Men and Women
$4.95—$5.95

GAUCHOS
$4.99—$12.99

DRESSES
By Byer and Plain Jane
Reg. $24.00 to $34.00
$3.95—$13.95

SKIRTS
In assorted fabrics
Reg. $12.00 to $24.00
$3.95 and up

AND MANY, MANY, MORE GREAT BUYS!

Monday to Friday 10—9 Saturday 10—6

The Basic and Contemporary Clothing and Shoe store for Men, Women, and Children.

Massachusetts: Harvard Sq., Cambridge; Newbury St., Boston; Belmont St., Brockton; No. Shore Shopping Center, Peabody; Eastfield Mall, Springfield; Route 9, Amherst; Burlington Mall. Connecticut: Bishops Corner Shopping Center, W. Hartford. New Jersey: Paramus Park, Woodbridge Shopping Center, Echelon Mall, Voorhees. Pennsylvania: Plymouth Meeting Mall, Lehigh Valley Mall, Allentown.

THE LODGE at harvard square ®
Amherst, Rt. 9
Next to McDonald's, 584-9690

DUE TO THE WEATHER

UNIVERSITY FOOD SERVICES' 11th ANNUAL

ALL-CAMPUS BARBEQUE

WILL BE HELD WED. MAY 11th

4:30-7:00 P.M. SOUTHWEST PLAYING FIELDS

UNIVERSITY MEAL TICKET OR $2.75 ADMISSION

FEATURING SPERM WHALE

Patty Hearst sentenced to 5 years probation

LOS ANGELES: Patricia Hearst, newspaper heiress, is held by the hand by a personal bodyguard as she arrives to hear sentencing for her role in a shooting incident by the Symbionese Liberation Army 3 years ago. (UPI)

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst was sentenced yesterday to five years probation for two charges stemming from a 1974 crime spree. The Superior Court judge said it was the hardest decision of his judicial career.

Miss Hearst, 23, flanked by her two attorneys, stood and faced the judge to hear the sentence that could have been life in prison.

She had pleaded "no contest" April 18 to charges of assault with a deadly weapon and robbery while a member of the Symbionese Liberation Army. Nine other charges including assault, robbery and kidnaping, were dismissed at the time of sentencing.

Judge E. Talbot Callister sentenced her to five years probation on each of two counts with several conditions, including financial restitution to the owner of a sporting goods store she peppered with machine gun fire.

Other conditions were that she seek training or schooling and maintain a residence under the direction of the probation officer.

"I have been a criminal judge for nearly seven years," Judge E. Talbot Callister said.

"During the time, I don't remember how many people I have sentenced, but it must be several thousand. None of those decisions has been more difficult than the one that faces me today."

He said he was convinced that Miss Hearst would be in physical danger if she were to be jailed.

"She is not a present or a future law enforcement risk," Callister said, adding that all law enforcement agencies involved in the case agreed that further confinement was not recommended.

Dressed modestly in a long tan skirt and brown sweater, Miss Hearst sat quietly through the court proceeding Monday and arose to say only, "Yes, your honor," when asked if she was ready for sentencing.

Albert Johnson, who has defended Miss Hearst here, said he decided on the "no contest" plea because he was convinced she could not get a fair trial in Los Angeles as a result of her conviction in San Francisco.

F. Lee Bailey, who led the defense team in the San Francisco trial, told the court that Miss Hearst was "punished before she was tried."

He said she had no record of criminal or anti-social behavior before she was kidnaped by the SLA in February 1974. "She was brutalized and sexually attacked" by her captors, Bailey said.

"She was punished by the SLA in ways that society would not condone."

Prosecutor Samuel Mayerson also requested leniency and, as did Bailey, noted the uniqueness of the case. But unlike the defense, he requested probation with supervision.

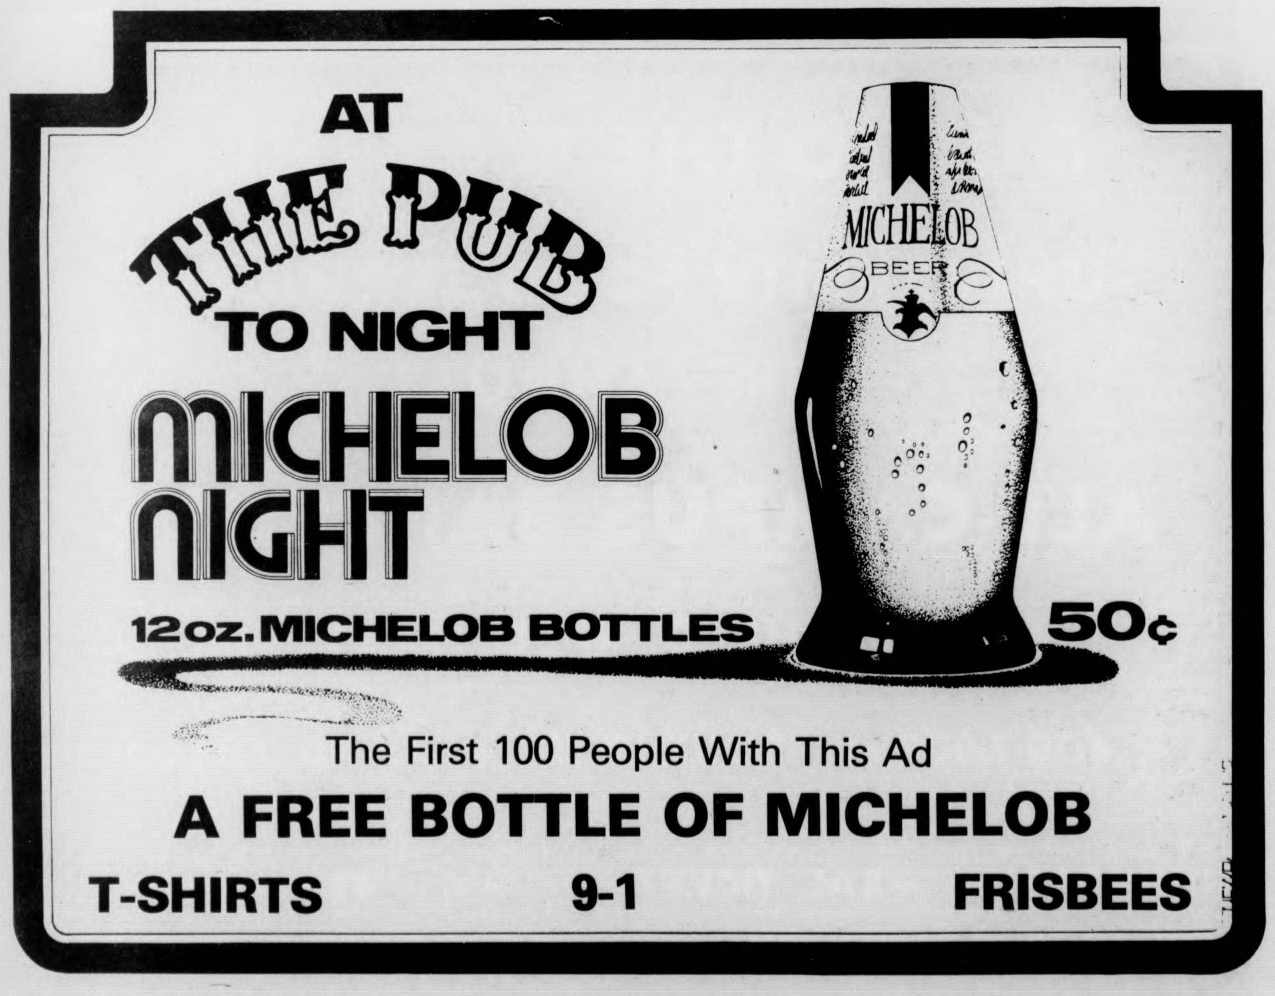
Miss Hearst is free on $1.2 million bond while appealing a federal court conviction in San Francisco for bank robbery. She was sentenced to seven years for that offense.

She has served 371 days in jail since her arrest in San Francisco in September of 1975. Over a period of time, she has repudiated her SLA connections and her companions during the 1974 incident, William and Emily Harris.

The Harrises were tried separately and convicted on the same 11 counts in the original indictment against Miss Hearst and are serving 11 years to life sentence.

The indictment arose from a May 16, 1974, robbery of Mel's Sports Goods in Inglewood during which Miss Hearst sprayed the store front with machine gun fire to permit the Harrises to escape.

They subsequently commandeered several cars, abducted two persons and took money from them.



AT
THE PUB
TO NIGHT
MICHELOB NIGHT
12oz. MICHELOB BOTTLES 50¢
The First 100 People With This Ad
A FREE BOTTLE OF MICHELOB
T-SHIRTS 9-1 FRISBEES

TEACHER AND COURSE EVALUATION FORM

The Student Senate thinks it's about time students get to see evaluations of teachers and courses. We are asking your help in this. Spend the next few minutes and fill out the evaluation below. Put it in the boxes provided next to all Collegian distribution areas, or turn it in to the Student Senate office in room 420 Student Union Building.

These will be used to put together a Teacher and Course Evaluation booklet to be distributed free to all students. Give yourself and others a chance to know what's really going on in the classrooms at UMass.

PLEASE RATE YOUR TEACHERS AND COURSES ACCORDING TO THE FOLLOWING SCALE

1. strongly agree	3. disagree
2. agree	4. strongly disagree

A. The instructor was tolerant of students differing opinions and ideas, and was cooperative in answering questions.

B. The instructor is available to students and has a genuine interest in them.

C. The instructor gives exams and papers that give a fair indication of mastery of the material.

D. The amount of work and time spent in this course for the number of credits and expected grade received was fair.

E. The seminar and/or labs were a useful aid and related to the lecture material.

F. This course was useful and stimulating, and I would recommend it to a friend.

Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______ A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4 B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4 C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4 Comments______	Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______ A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4 B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4 C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4 Comments______
Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______ A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4 B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4 C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4 Comments______	Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______ A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4 B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4 C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4 Comments______
Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______ A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4 B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4 C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4 Comments______	Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______ A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4 B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4 C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4 Comments______

Any instructor who wishes to see their evaluation may do so by contacting Richard M. Baga at the Student Senate office. If you wish to supply us with the evaluations filled out in class by your students we will publish them for you.

mark wilding

Diary of a Spring Wonder

APRIL 19th — Spring Day. The long month's journey into oblivion has begun. Today I rushed, frenzied, down to the stadium and bolted my first Spring drafts. The next three weeks look to be blissful ones. Finals seem a long way off.

APRIL 20th — Spring Mania. Feel like death warmed over as I stand looking into the mirror at the blood-red apertures that once served me as eyes. It is the price one pays for playing "Bongs away" from eight 'til midnight. At midnight I recollect turning into a pumpkin and rolling away from the beery frat that had sponsored my sudden triple vision.

APRIL 30th — Schlitz-o-rama, Quad Day. Up until now the bladder hadn't had a really good work-out. I worried lest it should shrink to the size of a marble and prayed nightly that it might expand to Hindenberg proportions. She held up well.

I had my first final exam qualms today. Luckily they were spaced well apart. Just as I have plotted out my drinking schedule so have I plotted out my "study for exams" schedule. Mind you I have missed my first two study periods but find that I can fit one in tomorrow afternoon and find a slot in mid-week for the other one. No sweat.

MAY 1st — I almost forgot, it's May Day on the Hill. This afternoon's study period will have to be moved up to a mid-late week slot.

MAY 2nd — The day on the hill has done me ill. My body feels mummified. I'm sure that a small creature has entered my mouth, let go its offensive fluid, and died. My head lies torpid on the pillow and the rest of me writhes in agony as a dull-edged guillotine drops onto my neck every ten seconds. Who had forgotten to sharpen the blade? Mr. Guillotine had promised all of France that death by his instrument was painless. He lied.

I remember at about 10 o'clock assuring my friends that it really was right for me to go on drinking as I'd hardly made a dent in my second half-gallon of Carlo Rossi Red Burgundy ('49 — which was the price incidentally, not the year). Like Lear I was tied to the stake and had to stay the course.

MAY 7th — Spring Concert. Bed-ridden for the better (or rather worse) part of the week I have fallen seven study periods behind. This is hardly inconsequential, however the day has dawned a pumpkin orange scattering its seeds of clear blue o'er the horizon. It's 4:30 in the morning and I'm off to pitch camp in the station.

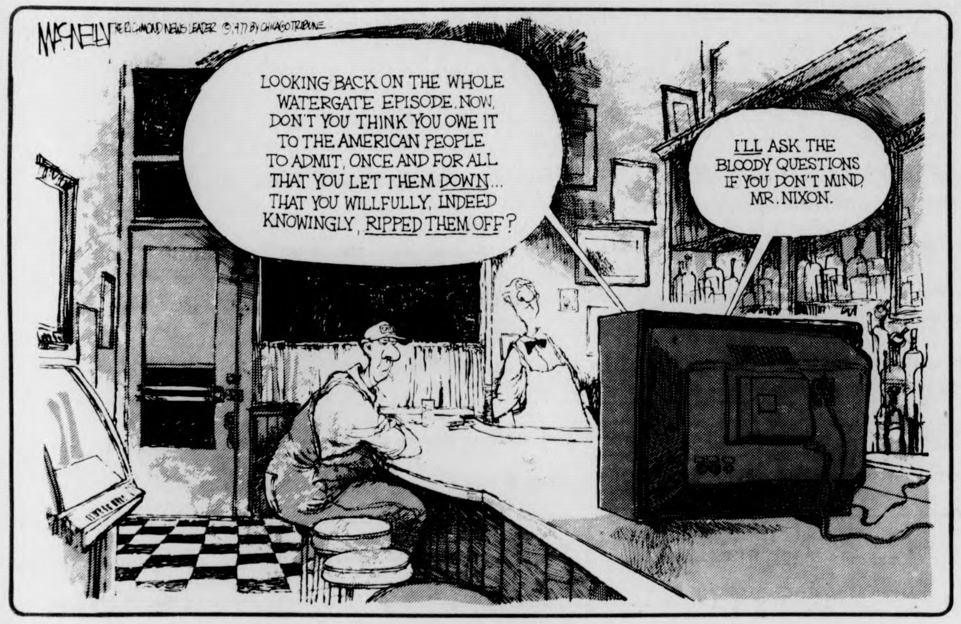
MAY 8th — It is evening and I have fallen nine study periods behind. Can't discuss yesterday, as I don't remember it.

MAY 11th — Have pulled three straight all-nighters but I'm primed and rarin' to attack my two exams tomorrow and my two on Friday. Call me the spring wonder.

MAY 14th — Have slept through all four exams.

MAY 29th — Have become a Mormon.

Mark Wilding is a Collegian Columnist and Future Collegian Paris Bureau Chief.



MAC NELLY THE RICHMOND NEWS LEADER © 1977 BY CHICAGO TRIBUNE
LOOKING BACK ON THE WHOLE WATERGATE EPISODE, NOW, DON'T YOU THINK YOU OWE IT TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE TO ADMIT, ONCE AND FOR ALL THAT YOU LET THEM DOWN... THAT YOU WILLFULLY, INDEED KNOWINGLY, RIPPED THEM OFF?
I'LL ASK THE BLOODY QUESTIONS IF YOU DON'T MIND, MR. NIXON.

letters

Seabrook occupiers appeal to Bromery

Editor's Note: The following letter was recently sent to UMass Chancellor Randolph Bromery.

To Chancellor Bromery:

This is a clarification of the following "we". We have separated ourselves from all non-UMass students involved in the occupation of the Seabrook Nuclear Power Site and its direct support in this petition, only because it addresses a particular need we have in common. We still maintain our solidarity with all those involved.

We are a number of UMass students who feel concerned about the proliferation of nuclear power in this country and the world. We think that there are numerous health, safety and economic factors that make nuclear power not only unfeasible but a definite hazard to all forms of life. Therefore we took action on our moral convictions and participated in the non-violent civil disobedient act of occupying the Seabrook Nuclear Power Plant Construction Site. We occupied along with two thousand other concerned citizens on April 30. We did so in an attempt to block further construction of the plant and to bring the issue of Nuclear Power to the public.

We are presently incarcerated in the Manchester Armory, in Manchester, New Hampshire, for acting on those moral convictions. We have subscribed to a higher law than the common law of criminal trespass, the reason for which we were arrested and jailed.

Some of our number had pressing commitments and were released on $100 bail. Some of us are unable to pay bail and some of us are refusing to pay bail on the grounds that we think the bail-bond system is unjust and discriminates against the poor. We are maintaining bail solidarity to express our concern of this system and also to keep the urgent issue of nuclear power in the public's eye.

Many of us who are here now and those who were here and have participated in the occupation or were involved in its direct support, have taken time away from their work to take direct action on their convictions. Consequently we have been unable to keep up or complete our studies at the university.

In light of these circumstances we are asking that the University give each individual the leniency and opportunity to work with their professors toward a mutual and just completion of their courses.

We the undersigned University of Massachusetts students, presently incarcerated in the Manchester Armory, make this appeal on behalf of ourselves and all University of Massachusetts students incarcerated in other armories in New Hampshire, all those students released on bail for occupying, and all those students who were directly involved with support activities, but were not arrested.

Linda Rachman
and 17 others

Attention Design students

To the Editor:

As you may know, the Design students have just elected new officers for next year. These new people are:

Linda Cairns, President, UMass Chapter A.S.I.D.
Jane Myers, Vice, President, UMass Chapter A.S.I.D.
Jeanne Ponte, Treasurer, UMass Chapter A.S.I.D.
Sara Anderson, Secretary, UMass Chapter A.S.I.D.
Jean Amerault, R.S.O. Liaison
Steve Mehrtens, Assistant R.S.O. Liaison

While speaking for the group, I want to encourage all Design Students to get involved this coming fall. The calender is already full of many different events, the highlight being the IDEC conference to be held here at UMass in November. There are many possible good times here at UMass in November. There are many possible good times ahead but only if you help out. The officers are willing to do more than their share but there must be general student input and enthusiasm. A party-meeting is planned first thing for next semester to get things going. Hope to see you there!

Linda Cairns
President, UMass Student
Chapter A.S.I.D.

jerry rogers

Assessing the semesterly

In less than two weeks the University will have lost the great majority of its nine month residents who will begin scurrying away Thursday as fast as their little feet can take them. A few weeks later it will begin grooming the incoming crop of recruits and educating those students that remain for the hot, quiet summer months in the Pioneer Valley.

In the lull professors, administrators and staff people will pause to reflect on the semester past. Many assessments of the knowledge offered and the means by which it was offered will be conducted.

Students, however, never have the chance to sit back and assess the semester and what we've learned, both inside the classroom and out. Exams and papers cram our brains almost until the minute before we leave for parts known or otherwise, and summer jobs or, for seniors, establishing some sort of direction for years to come are the things that rush in immediately after the exams and papers are behind us.

So let's take a minute and see what we've accomplished.

Well, we've shown great adaptability. We've endured extreme cold and extreme heat so interspliced and quick to change that while one day frostbite was the rule, the next it was time for sunglasses and sunburn.

And then there's perserverance. Despite a dry period last summer and a slow return to peak production last fall, and the post-drought price increase, students have continued to fill their lungs with the pungent product of burning pot. Of course, we still plug away at the old frosties, as anyone who made the round of the spring party tour can attest to, assuming they survived. Perserverance must be a quality we display in other areas, but it's just extremely evident that we now play hard and, presumedly, work hard.

The trend away from protest toward the more traditional means of expressing our desires and needs has continued. We all still fail to see the power we could have as a collective unit. We question increasingly less the actions of the rest of the world and tend to think about our own relationship to the world at large, as the concept of being involved with groups of people has paled next to the struggle to lead a life independently and assertively. Our politics have become more traditional and partisan and our concerns are ourselves. We don't find any answers, but that's o.k. because we just stop asking the questions.

Graduating seniors will be told that they graduate as a class of cynics, and it's certainly more evident than ever before that, whether humans are social animals or not, the strong individual is the one who withstands the buffeting of society.

That society is increasingly complete and technical, and if the provost has his way many of us will no longer have the opportunity to engage in philosophical discourse or major in something we like that is not useful. If it can not be scientifically applied it's useless to learn because it will not enhance your value any on the marketplace.

Have we as human beings simply become a variable in capitalist theory? Something to be evaluated and defined so that our effect on the system can be nullified or enhanced, depending on the monolithic system's needs? Will our society begin to point out a niche that we must fill or we will maintain enough independence to carve out our own niche? Are awareness and opportunity illusory and archaic ideas?

Nah, don't worry. Take it easy — smoke a number and have a draft. Next semester and the semester after that the ten semesters after will all, in a very real sense, be just like the past semester.

Human spirit is indefatigable; curiousity is ever present. Cynics or optimists, introverts or extroverts, we'll always ponder, work, play, struggle through, march on. Won't we?

Jerry Rogers is a Collegian Columnist

letters

Seabrook: How you can help

Here is some information for support people back from New Hampshire, and anyone who would like to help. If you've been wondering what you can do:

WHAT	WHO	NUMBER
Bail	Ipek	584-7642
Gen. Info.	MassPIRG	256-6434
Info. Sessions	Adam Auster	546-6617
Media	Chris Block	584-0549
Student Occupiers	Gregg Tucker	545-2881 or 549-0064
Personnel	Carmie Valiantie	546-5360
Petitions	Elaine Hartman	665-4968 or 545-0878
Supplies	Judy Epstein	367-2047 or 545-2191
Transport	Joan Bartlett	253-7198
W. Mass. Coor.	David Kimball	546-9479

Any time you can give us would be a big help. We need solicitors of bail funds, people to personally request amnesty for student occupiers, and in New Hampshire we need support relief, transportation, and vigiling outside the jails and the Governor's mansion. Call the numbers above; for general information use the MassPIRG number on campus: 549-0199. Thank you. (Source: Chris Block)

Bad taste in TMS advertising

To the Editor:

The Transcendental Meditation Society shows bad taste in their recent advertising poster that uses as a come-on "super-normal abilities" which can be gained through mastery of the mind-body via meditation-levitation, flying and invisibility. Such hype is not worthy of an otherwise admirable organization. Perhaps such powers may be had through certain disciplines of mind and body but a system of meditation that advertises them like parlor tricks raises doubts in my mind-body.

A true spiritual master doesn't harp on that side of transcendence. If through meditation I can better perform the normal activities of everyday life then you can leave the supernormal stuff for Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey.

Francis Larvey

Cheap talent wanted

This is my semi-annual appeal to cr people and frustrated politicians, alc
with anyone else, who are interested becoming involved in the Collegian edito department next semester. The edito pages are a highly visible forum offer writers and illustrators an unparalle chance to air their opinions. I am especi in search of investigative writers v would like to rake a little muck on camp and poltical cartoonists.

As there will be openings for we columnists, I urge interested writers to send me a couple of samples of their work over the summer: the address is Bill Sundstrom, The Daily Collegian, Campus Center, UMass, Amherst, MA 01003. If you have any questions, please contact me or Judy Kritzman (Assistant Exec. Editor) as soon as possible, at 545-3500 (home: 546-8444, 546-6196). Y'all have a good summer.

Bill Sundstrom
Executive Editor

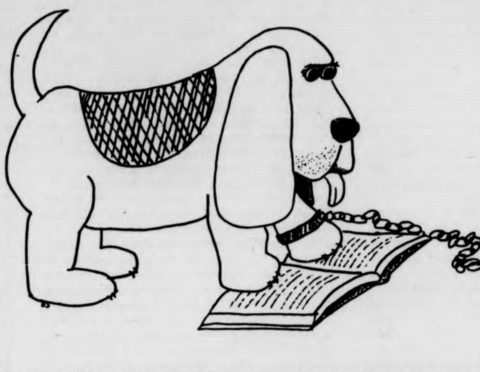
Did you know that...

By BOB GOLDSMITH

Did you know that UMass has the tallest library in the world? Of course you knew that; everyone east of the San Andreas fault knows that. What then, makes our archives special? There are hundreds of distinctions which separate our libraries from the rest. Here are a few.

1. The main library was engineered to harbor hypnotic power. On any given day, between 80 and 90 per cent of all undergraduate students passing the tower on the east side have the uncontrollable urge to yawn. Results from the west side are not as conclusive, probably since most people exert too much energy fighting the gales to look tired.

2. There is exactly one good seat for studying in Morrill library. Unfortunately, the grad student who found it in 1963 has not budged since, for fear of losing it.



3. If one looks hard enough in the Physical Science library he will find not less than six current journals written in English. This compares with 18 Polish, eight Mandarin Chinese, and three Latin periodicals.

4. The university has been awarded the ironic distinction of having the second hardest to find map library in New England. UMass placed just behind the University of Maine, whose guadrangle collection lies in a cave, two miles outside of Orono. Our map library, by the way, is on the second floor of Morrill. (Hang a right just before "UMass weather central.")

5. UMass has the strictest library abuse penalties on record. It is true that the two basset hounds continuously seen tied up in the main library vestibule are serving penalties for major violations. One was found guilty of trying to steal volume VIII (Piranha-Scurfy), of the Encyclopedia Britannica, while the other was reportedly apprehended when ripping a Hinsdale racing chart from a recent Berkshire Eagle.

6. Finally, I'd like to document a personal triumph, which although not a record, was quite gratifying. Last week I somehow managed to go down 19 floors in a non-express elevator with only Four stops. The fact that it was 8:15 on Saturday morning, did not matter in the least. At UMass, distinction knows no limits.

commentary

From Chaucer to Maidenform

By JACK MURPHY

For some time I've been waiting for academics to cease passively bemoaning the "Ph.D. -glut". Influenced by my "humanistic" education, I believed that something should be done about a system of distribution which treats people like an overproduction of toasters. Hence I waited for the legions of professional philosophers, historians and literati to cry out that, if the "market" cannot support the thousands of Ph.D.'s who are thrown upon it each year, the course of the market should be changed. Lately I had begun to suspect that these humanists had been dehumanized themselves since their silence seemed to imply a deference to the Gods of Supply and Demand.

After reading "Ph.D.'s Look Beyond the Ivory Tower" in the New York Times (Sunday, May 1, Sec. 12), I realized that I was one of little faith. At last the assault on the market has commenced! Ernest May, Chairman of the History Department at Harvard, and Dorothy Harrison, coordinator of New York State's doctoral program, have mounted an aggressive pilot project to convince corporate executives that graduate training can provide "insight, perspective and skills" to industry. Thanks to the efforts of these professional humanists, the growing number of PH.D.'s who are joining the ranks of the new "educated lumpen-proletariat" will no longer be ignored. Soon they can take off their aprons, step out from behind the bars, and turn in their cab licenses to manage production lines at G.M., market toothpaste, and resolve personnel problems in the coal mines. Refusing to relinquish the grand old tradition, academic professors of the humanities are once again proving that it is people, not the "iron" laws of the market, who count.

Of course the future is not yet certain. Corporate executives still have the antiquated suspicion that there is something about graduate study in the humanities which militates against big business efficiency. However, judging from the performance of those Ph.D.'s already placed, these lingering doubts will soon lose their force. How could anyone question the colleagues of a man like Dr. Robert Brawer who has discovered that "there is no difference in principle between analyzing a literary problem in the Wife of Bath or a marketing problem for Maidenform"?

Thus the beachhead is secured. In a decade experts in Chaucer, Hegel and George Eliot will have established themselves in the sanctums of Wall Street to the mutual benefit of both new Ph.D.'s and their professors. The new Ph. D.'s will have earned marketable degrees; their mentors will be able to continue their mass production of doctorates, since the "buddy system" will now extend from Yale to Pepsi-Cola. Everyone will be satisfied.

Well, almost everyone. While many Ph.D.'s will move from academe to industry with all the grace of believers in the metaphysics of interchangeable parts, inevitably, there will be a few cranks around. These malcontents will begin to murmur that new Ph.D.'s should remember what most of their well paid professors, if they ever knew it, have long since forgotten: namely, some Ph.D.'s are not simply "scholars" but also "intellectuals" or social critics who should use their skills to argue that the short road from the academy to the corporation is the long road to Hell.

No cause for panic though. Even the most exacting assembly line manager realizes that there are a few loose nuts in any machine.

Jack Murphy is a doctoral student in the UMass History Department.

More atrocities

To the Editor:

Three letters have appeared in the Collegian challenging our report of March 10 on the Israeli Government's systematic denial of the human and political rights of Arabs under Israeli occupation, including the Arabs of East Jerusalem. We stand by our original statement. Israel's oppression of Arabs under its occupation, its mass destruction to their homes, its wholesale obliteration of Arab villages, and its expulsion across the border through terrorist tactics of traditional Palestinian Bedouin tribes and Arab villagers have been documented by Amnesty International, the International Red Cross, and the World Peace Council.

It is significant that Israeli Jews have protested their government's repression of Arabs as a violation of humane standards and an outrage against the humanistic traditions of Judaism. On March 3, 1968, in an open letter of the Israeli press, 85 Israeli intellectuals and professionals protested the government's repressive measures in the Occupied Territories, and noted that "the domination of another people exposes the subduing people itself to moral

TURN TO PAGE 16

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Dorothy A. Clark, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson, Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

★Atrocities

CONT. FROM PAGE 15

degeneration and undermines democracy." Earlier, on November 10, 1967, the London-based periodical Private Eye published a report by Israeli journalist-soldier Amos Kenan describing the Israeli occupation army's deliberate destruction of three West Bank villages, Yalu, Nuba and the Biblical Emmaus.

Ten years later the repression continues. On March 11, 1977, The Christian Science Monitor published a letter from Nadav Carmel-Katz congratulating the paper "for breaking the unholy silence that has prevailed for a long time in the American press regarding violations of human rights by the Israeli authorities. The torture that Omar Abd al-Ghani Salameh went through while in an Israeli prison," Carmel-Katz wrote, "was certainly not an isolated case. As an Israeli citizen (presently resident in the U.S.) and in my capacity of an Israeli soldier serving in the conquered territories on the West Bank and the Sinai peninsula I witnessed with my own eyes, similar and even worse cases of Israeli violations of human rights." Carmel-Katz was referring to a report on Salameh by correspondent Daniel Southerland published in the Monitor on March 1. The Israeli League for Civil and Human Rights has raised its voice time and again against the Israeli government's repression of Israeli Arabs and dissident Israeli Jews, and of Arabs under occupation. In careful documentation the League President, Professor Israel Shahak of Hebrew University, a survivor of a Nazi concentration camp, shows that of 475 Arab villages existing in pre-partition Palestine, 385 were completely destroyed by the Israeli authorities.

Israeli policies in the Occupied Territories duplicate policies carried out by the state within its borders before the 1967 occupation. The policies have been an unfolding of Zionist plans from the time of Theodor Herzl for the occupation and Judaization of Palestine that was over 90 per cent Arab in population before and alliance of Zionism with British imperialism was cemented in the Balfour Declaration of 1917. Judaization of an Arab majority country could not have been done without the process of repression of Arabs and their expulsion from their homeland. By constituting itself as the "sovereign state of the Jewish people," Israel has denied to Israeli Arabs political equality with Israeli Jews. Books such as Sabri Jiryis's The Arabs in Israel, Fouzi Asmar's To Be An Arab in Israel, Moshe Menuhin's The Decadence of Judaism in Our Time, and Maxim Ghilan's How Israel Lost Its Soul tell us how Arab lands have been usurped and Arab political rights denied in the twin programs of de-Arabization and Judaization. The Arab riots in the Galilee of last Spring in which a number of Arabs were shot dead by Israeli troops were in protest against measures taken to expropriate Arab land for Jewish colonization in the northern Galilee, the last area in Israel where without its further dilution the Arab population could become a majority.

Neither can Isreal claim an unblemished record with regard to the treatment of Christian and Muslim Holy Places. Catholic, Greek Orthodox, Armenian and Muslim places of worship and cemeteries have been desecrated, and some destroyed, both in Israel proper and in the Occupied Territories. As an example, when Israel occupied East Jerusalem in 1967, Arabs visiting West Jerusalem found that the Catholic Churches and cemetery on Mount Zion has been vandalized and desecrated, and the historic Mamillah Muslim cemetery had been transformed into a public park with rest rooms.

In British mandated Palestine, Zionist underground groups such as the Irgun Zvai Leumi and the Stern Gang used terrorism against Arabs, Jews, the British, and against public institutions and government offices. Since the end of the mandate the Israeli government has practiced terrorism against the Palestinian people. For example, in terroristic air raids on Palestinian refugee camps the Israeli government has not hesitated to use napalm, fragmentation bombs, and delayed reaction bombs, and to drop toy and doll bombs booby trapped to explode when children touched them.

Despite the continued automatic defense of Israel by some groups in the United States, Israel can no longer escape public censure in this country. In fact, the United States Government has added its voice to that of the international community in censuring Israeli transgression of human rights. At the U.N. Security Council meeting on Jerusalem in March 1976, Ambassador William Scranton censured Israel for establishing Jewish settlements in the Occupied Territories and for its Judaization program in East Jerusalem. He added that the United States Government did not recognize unilateral action by any state in the area altering the status of Jerusalem. In a consensus statement issued by the U.N. Security Council last November 11, the United States joined the other member nations in deploring Israeli repression in the Occupied Territories. In addition, an increasing number of Jewish voices in the United States and in Europe have been raised in protest against Israeli's policies towards the Palestinian Arabs and against its claims on non-Israeli Jews. In a recent advertisement in The Guardian of London the British Anti-Zionist Organization scored Israel for its repressive policies, then concluded:

> Being anti-Zionist does not mean that we are anti-Jewish. Nor are we what the Zionists idiotically term 'self-haters.' Indeed, we would hate ourselves if, knowing the truth, we chose to remain silent. Far from being 'anti-Semitic' we are aware that it is the anti-Semites who have often lent support to Zionism. Zionist political ideology has resulted in some Jews — yesterday's victims — becoming today's oppressors.

Organization of Arab Students

Thanks, Doc Clydesdale

To the Editor:

The members of Kennedy middle dorm would like to publicly thank 'Doc.' Clydesdale for taking time out of his busy schedule to come to speak to us. It was a fascinating talk and we really appreciated it.

The Members of Kennedy Middle Dorm

Letters Policy

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian welcomes all letters to the editor. They must be signed and include the author's address and phone number. Also, all letters must be typed, double-spaced, at sixty spaces per line, and no more than two pages.

Organizations may submit letters, but they must include a name and phone number for reference purposes.

All letters are subject to editing, for either content or space, according to the judgement of the editors. Due to space limitations, there is no guarantee that all letters received will be printed.

EUROPE
[illegible] 1/2 [illegible] fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500

We've lowered our Kodak film prices for spring!!
FOR EXAMPLE:
FX.PX. OR TX 135-20 99¢
FX.PX OR TX 135-36 $1.38
C135-20 $1.40
KR 135
20 exposure $1.86
36 exposure $2.67
PLUS MANY MORE
tripod CAMERA SHOPS

SUMMER WORK
EARN $278.80 per week

EAST GO WEST

NO CAR NECESSARY
INTERVIEWS TODAY
11:00, 1:00, 3:00, 5:00, 7:00
CAMPUS CENTER ROOM 811-815
MUST BE HARD WORKER AND INDEPENDENT
Please be prompt

From April 1 through June 14, you can fly roundtrip from New York to Luxembourg for only $410.

That's $89 less than the youth fare you'd pay on any other scheduled airline. (From Chicago you pay $458 thru April 30 and $430 from May 1 thru June 14.) All you have to do is be under the age of 26.

There are no booking restrictions. We give you the same service you'd get from other airlines, without the same high costs. So, if you're not flying Icelandic to Europe, you're spending more than you have to. We'll give you the best deal on fares and on our New Horizon Escorted Tours, too.

Save $89 on jet fares to Europe and book anytime you want.

Icelandic Airlines, Dept. #CN
P.O. Box 105, West Hempstead, N.Y. 11552
See your travel agent. Or call toll free: (800) 555-1212.
Please send information on Icelandic's low-cost fares and New Horizon Escorted Tours of Europe.

Name
Address
City State Zip
Fares subject to change and gov't. approval.

Icelandic
Lowest Jet fares to Europe of any scheduled airline.

News in Brief

Newspaper company changes its name

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Shareholders of Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., voted yesterday to change the company's name to Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc., in September.

Robert G. Marbut, president and chief executive officer of the group, said the name was changed because, "We believe that having the word 'communications' in our name is important in order to reflect the overall business of the company and the increasing role of its broadcasting operations."

Stamp collection stolen from N.Y. library

NEW YORK (UPI) — Burglars who apparently had "detailed information" that may have been supplied by insiders stole part of a $1 million stamp collection from the New York Public Library yesterday, police said.

Although detectives would not say whether they believe the burglary was actually "an inside job", Lt. Harold Smith of the Manhattan Burglary Squad said, "I would say they, the burglars, were not totally unfamiliar with what they were doing."

'Bully tactics' defied workers return to jobs

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Northern Ireland workers yesterday defied "bully tactics" by Protestant gangs and reported to their jobs by the hundreds of thousands, virtually breaking the back of a week-long general strike.

Pro-strike militants, in a stepped up campaign of violence and intimidation, formed human chains across roadways, clashed with police, burned vehicles and dragged at least one truck driver from his cab.

But a spokesman for both business and labor said a "substantial percentage" of the province's work force of 600,000 was on the job.

Truck hijacked; silver stolen

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (UPI) — Four men yesterday hijacked a truck carrying an undisclosed amount of silver after kidnaping the driver and leaving him tied to a vacant building.

Police said the delivery was bound for the Tole Manufacturing Co. in Newburyport, a sterling silverware firm. The shipment was owned by Handy and Harmon Co. of North Attleboro, a principal supplier for silverware companies nationwide.

Bartender burned in explosion

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UPI) — A bartender at a downtown lounge was critically burned yesterday when an explosion and general alarm fire destroyed the four-story building housing the lounge and other businesses.

Lewis Boynton, 31, of Springfield was in critical condition at Providence Hospital with burns on his face and body. He told police he was cleaning up in the Brothers lounge when he heard a noise from an upper floor.

Network officials against 'equal time'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The broadcast networks should be permitted to arrange presidential debates without worrying about equal time provisions, and television voluntarily is toning down violence, network executives said yesterday.

The Copper Lantern
TONIGHT IS SENIOR NIGHT
64-Oz PITCHER OF MILLER $1.95
AMORETTO SOMBEROS 75¢
ALL BAR GIN 75¢
DAILY HAPPY HOUR 4-7
ALL THE SPAGHETTI YOU CAN EAT $2.25
FISH & CHIPS $1.75
WEDNESDAY
¼lb. hamburger special, french fries, cole slaw.
hamburger has lettuce tomato & mayonnaise
buy one get one FREE $1.95
ALSO 64-oz PITCHERS OF MILLER $1.95
1 PRAY ST. AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
549-5403

There IS a difference!!! Our 39th Year
NEW PREPARE FOR
MCAT • DAT • LSAT • SAT
GRE • GMAT • OCAT • VAT
Our broad range of programs provides an umbrella of testing know-how that enables us to offer the best preparation available, no matter which course is taken. Over 38 years of experience and success. Small classes. Voluminous home study materials. Courses that are constantly updated. Permanent centers, open days, evenings and weekends all year. Complete tape facilities for review of class lessons and for use of supplementary materials. Makeups for missed lessons at our centers.
In Boston & Amherst. Enrolling now Early Bird classes for July LSAT & Summer course for Fall MCAT. And in September local LSAT class starts for Oct. exam! Call or write:
25 HUNTINGTON AVENUE
BOSTON, MASS. 02116
617-261-5150
Outside NY State Only CALL Toll Free 800-221-9840
Centers in Major U.S. Cities and Lugano, Switzerland
Stanley H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER
TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL ROUTE 9 - HADLEY, MASS
The first major motion picture to challenge two thousand years of history! the Passover Plot Did Jesus really die on the cross?
1 PG Mon. & Tues. 6:00, 8:00 Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00
An epic fantasy of peace and magic. A RALPH BAKSHI FILM WIZARDS
2 PG Mon. & Tues. 6:15, 8:15 Twi-Liter 5:45-6:15
Carney's back and Tomlin's got him! The Late Show
3 PG Mon. & Tues. 6:00, 8:15 Twi-Liter 5:30-6:00
4 WINNER OF ACADEMY AWARDS! Prepare yourself for a perfectly outrageous motion picture. MGM presents NETWORK FAYE DUNAWAY WILLIAM HOLDEN PETER FINCH ROBERT DUVALL
4 R Mon. & Tues. 5:45, 8:00 Twi-Liter 5:15-5:45
★ REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI LITE SHOW TICKETS LIMITED TO SEATING ★

ACADEMY of MUSIC
Northampton

Ends TUE — 7:00-9:10

4 Academy Awards!

NETWORK

FAYE DUNAWAY
WILLIAM HOLDEN
PETER FINCH
ROBERT DUVALL
"NETWORK"
By PADDY CHAYEFSKY
Directed by SIDNEY LUMET Produced by HOWARD GOTTFRIED
METROCOLOR PANAVISION
R MGM United Artists

(NO DOLLAR Nights!)

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

WHAT'S HAPPENING

Play by Woody Allen to be presented

A special presentation of Woody Allen's play "Don't Drink The Water", will be staged for area students Thursday, at the Academy of Music in Northampton at the discount price of $3 per person. Profits from the fundraiser will go to the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Foundation to be used in Western Massachusetts to aid the area's underprivileged youth. Honorary chairperson for the event is Bill Cosby.

The preview of "Don't Drink The Water" will be followed by gala performances on Friday and Saturday. Highlights of these two nights will be the appearance of members of the Kennedy family including the widow of the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Ethel Kennedy, as well as some surprise celebrity guests, at champagne receptions preceding the performances and open to patrons who have donated $25 to the fundraiser.

Tickets for both the $3 student discount night and the $25 gala performances can be purchased at the UMass University Store.

Juilliard grad student to give recital tonight

Arthur Greene, a graduate student at Juilliard in New York, is giving a recital in the Bezanson Recital Hall in the Fine Arts Center tomorrow at 3 p.m. Greene will perform works by Hayden, Beethoven, Chopin, and Skriabin.

Union Stereo Co-op open during summer

Union Stereo Co-op will close May 20, but will reopen June 1 until mid August for business as usual. The summer hours will be Mondays 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Thursdays 12 p.m. to 6 p.m. The phone number is 545-1594.

Attention seniors: Index needs addresses

Seniors whose permanent mailing address (where your semester bill is sent) will be different in the fall should contact the INDEX office at 102 Campus Center, 545-2874. If your mailing address is or will be in the fall to pick up your yearbook.

Choir and Chorus to perform tomorrow

The University Women's Choir and the University Chorus will perform tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Hall, free.

European collective to hold discussion

The Actions Analysis Organization (AAO), a European collective, will present a film and discussion Friday at 7 p.m. in 163 Campus Center.

The group is based on principles of common property, collective work and production, free sexuality, collective child rearing, direct democracy, and spontaneous emotional self-expression. Call 323-7323 for more information.

People's Market open during summer

The People's Market Food Co-op will be open this summer. Beginning the first day of Summer Session May 24, the market will open at 8:30 a.m. and close at 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The market, on the ground floor of the Student Union behind the ballroom, will also be open during finals week.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Clam Roll, meatloaf; Basics: Clam Roll, Soybean and Corn and Tomato Casserole

DINNER — ALL CAMPUS BARBEQUE AT SOUTHWEST PLAYING FIELDS; (Indoor menu at Franklin D.C. only): Barbequed Chicken Half, Macaroni and Cheese; Basics: Barbequed Chicken Half, Macaroni and Cheese

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Hamburgers, Cheese Ravioli; Basics: Vegetable Hot Pot, Cheese Ravioli

DINNER — Roast Pork-Gravy-Scalloped Apples, Braised Beef and Onions, Tuna Salad Plate; Basics: Vegetable Chow Mein, Baked Fish with Creole Sauce

Whalen Stationery
AND
Office Supply Co.
HEADQUARTERS
FOR
- Furniture
- Filing Supplies
- School Supplies
- Business Forms

Complete Zerox
Copy Center

141 MAIN ST.
NORTHAMPTON
584-3794

Schedule for Refrigerator Pickup

Look for Red or White Van

THURSDAY, MAY 12

Creative Conveniences

9-11 a.m.	"The Bowl" at Orchard Hill
11-12 noon	VAN METER front entrance
12:30-1:30 p.m.	CASHIN service entrance
1:30-2:15 p.m.	McNAMARA service entrance
2:15-3:30 p.m.	BROWN service entrance
3:30-4:00	JOHNSON service entrance
4:00-4:15	LEWIS service entrance
4:30-5:00	MARY LYON service entrance
5:00-5:30	KNOWLTON service entrance
5:30-5:45	HAMLIN
5:45-6:00	LEACH
6:00-6:15	DWIGHT
6:30-7:00	between BAKER and CHADBOURNE
7:00-7:30	between BROOKS and BRETT
7:30-8:00	WHEELER
8:00-8:30	GORMAN

FRIDAY, MAY 13

9-11 a.m.	between JQA and John Adams
11-12 a.m.	Prince
1-2:30 p.m.	between JFK and Coolidge
2:30-3:00 p.m.	Washington
3:00-3:30	Mackimmie
3:30-4:15	Crampton
4:15-5:00	Cance

Those who are unable to be present at those times are asked to call 253-5384.

A $2.50 fine for unclean refrigerator.

Notices

ALL OH-CENTRAL CCN DORM GROUP MEMBERS

Our final meeting will be Tues. at 6 in Dickinson Main Lounge. Please come with ideas and concerns, a pencil and the names of other students who are interested in the Communications Network. Please consider your presence mandatory.

ALL UNIVERSITY WOMEN

Are you sick of dorm living.... but you don't want to move off campus. WE HAVE THE ANSWER TO YOUR PROBLEM!!! Sigma Delta Tau Sorority is accepting borders for fall semester. The price is right, the accommodations beautiful, the meals are great, and we are situated right on North Pleasant St. (seconds from campus), If you would like to find out more about it, call Jane at 545-0527.

COSMIC WIMPOUT PLAYERS

Winner of the 2nd Annual Cosmic Wimpout Tournament and the $40 first prize was Dan Oke (Okie). Rob Gilbert, curator of the Button Museum of Amherst and defending champion from last year's tournament kept the title though in a one on one play off Sunday night. Play loose and have fun! See you next year.

FINAL EXAM CHANGE

Nursing 330 Section 2 (ULIN) Final exam will be on Monday, May 16 at 9 a.m. in 406 Morrill North.

LOST

Blue NTBK-GHSE prod 549-4833 Fri. 5-6 in Hatch.

LOST

A set of keys, gold ring with one red stone missing. Lost by Fine Arts Center Gallery a week ago. Please call 256-8658. Very important, so keep trying.

NORTHAMPTON VOLUNTEERS

Papers may be picked up in Room 535 Tobin and grades will be posted on bulletin board outside 535. Thanks to all and have a nice summer.

PIANO POPS PROGRAM

The piano pops program by Phiphty Phantastic Phingers scheduled for Monday (May 9) at Sage Hall at Smith College has been cancelled.

PRE-MEDS

Dr. Brian O'Connor will be speaking about the new MCAT exam format as well as a Health Care meeting he attended in Philadelphia. The meeting will be Tues. May 10 in CC 165, from 8-10 p.m.

SHAB

Last meeting of the Student Health Advisory Board today at 5:30 p.m. in CC 162. Guidelines for the board will be discussed. Please attend.

UNDERGRADUATES OF APPS CLUSTER

This will be the last meeting of the year of the Juvenile Justice, Exploration, and Human Services programs to discuss the reorganization of the school of Educ. and other policies in the cluster. We need people for various committees, tonight at 6 p.m. fourth floor lounge, Hills South.

UNIVERSITY CHORUS AND WOMEN'S CHOIR

Performing Bach and others. Conductor: Wayne Abercrombie. Wed. May 11 at 8 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall. Free admission. It's a nice show, worth listening to.

Dr. Brian O'Connor, the Pre-Med advisor, will be speaking on the new MCAT exam format, as well as on a Health Care conference on University Health Services held in Philadelphia three weeks ago, tonight from 8 to 10 p.m. in 165 Campus Center.

Used Book Sale
20% off our regular price on all paperbacks & hardbacks
Sat. May 7-thru-Sat. May 14
VALLEY BOOK SHOP
Carriage Shops Amherst

Amherst Auto Parts
Used car parts
Junk Car?
We pay $10 and up.
Replace Glass
Buy and Sell Cars
Located ½ mile past the Rusty Scupper on Rt. 9, behind Amherst landfill.
Phone 256-6409

AIM leader fears death in So. Dakota

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9 (PCS) — A full-scale political and legal confrontation between two states is brewing over the extradition case of American Indian Movement (AIM) leader Dennis Banks.

South Dakota wants Banks returned for sentencing in his 1975 conviction on riot and assault charges. But Banks claims he will be killed if he is sent back to South Dakota from California, where he has been a college instructor since last year. He recently resigned as a national director of AIM.

AIM Is the organization responsible for the 71-day occupation of Wounded Knee in 1973.

California Gov. Jerry Brown has indicated he is seriously investigating Banks' fears but maintains he needs more time before making a decision.

On April 25, however, a California state appeals court, acting on a petition from South Dakota, ordered Brown to extradite Banks — an historic ruling without precedent in U.S. law. Only once before, in 1861, did a state seek judicial intervention in an extradition case, but the court ruled against it.

California plans to press the appeal. "We will first seek a rehearing from the Appeals Court," said Deputy Attorney General Greg Baugher. "Then we are prepared to take it to the state Supreme Court. After that, if necessary, we will try to find a Constitutional basis for going to the U.S. Supreme Court."

On behalf of South Dakota, outspoken Attorney General William Janklow has assumed an extraordinary personal role in the extradition battle. Political observers in South Dakota believe Janklow is gearing up for the governor's race next year — a prospect Janklow neither confirms nor denies.

Tensions between Indians and whites ran high in the sparsely populated plains state. Janklow has staked his political reputation on his hard-line position against AIM.

During the extradition battle Janklow has dismissed Banks' fears for his life as "nonsense." Janklow has offered to personally pay the expenses for two official investigators from the West Coast to visit South Dakota's federal penitentiary in Sioux Falls to determine whether Banks would be in danger there.

Banks left South Dakota in August, 1975, prior to sentencing after his conviction for taking part in the 1973 Custer County Courthouse riot protesting legal inaction in the murder of an Indian youth. Janklow personally prosecuted Banks in the case.

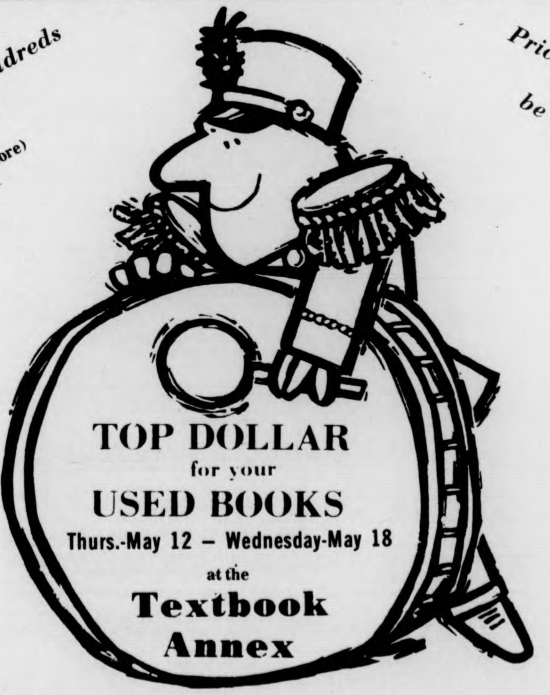
In January, 1976, Banks was arrested in Berkeley, California. Because he faced charges (which were subsequently dropped) in Oregon, he was taken to that state. Janklow immediately filed for extradition.

In a letter to Oregon Gov. Robert Straub, he noted that Banks proposed to become a teacher on the West Coast if he was not extradited.

"I look forward with anxiety to the progress reports of his teachings," Janklow wrote. "Violence, hate, rumor, slander, contempt and physical injury have been his teachings for the past several years. Thank God if he is going to teach it in another state. He has taught our citizens enough."

An Oregon court dismissed Janklow's extradition request when Gov. Straub failed to act. Banks, cleared of the Oregon charges, moved to California and began to teach near Davis, at a small college for Chicanos and Indians. Janklow's extradition demand was now before Gov. Brown.

Half Price For Hundreds of Titles (some even more)
Prices will never be better!



TOP DOLLAR for your USED BOOKS
Thurs.-May 12 – Wednesday-May 18
at the
Textbook Annex

Fall orders are coming in and WE NEED USED BOOKS. Paying 50% for titles we need. Quantities we buy at ½ price are limited according to our needs.
COME EARLY FOR THE BEST PRICES—MONDAY-FRIDAY 9-4
Another Service Of THE UNIVERSITY STORE

Appearing
TONITE
FAT
CLEAN LIVING
MITCH CHAKOUR
HOT CALYPSO KEY
in
A benefit for Kamp for Kids
at rusty nail
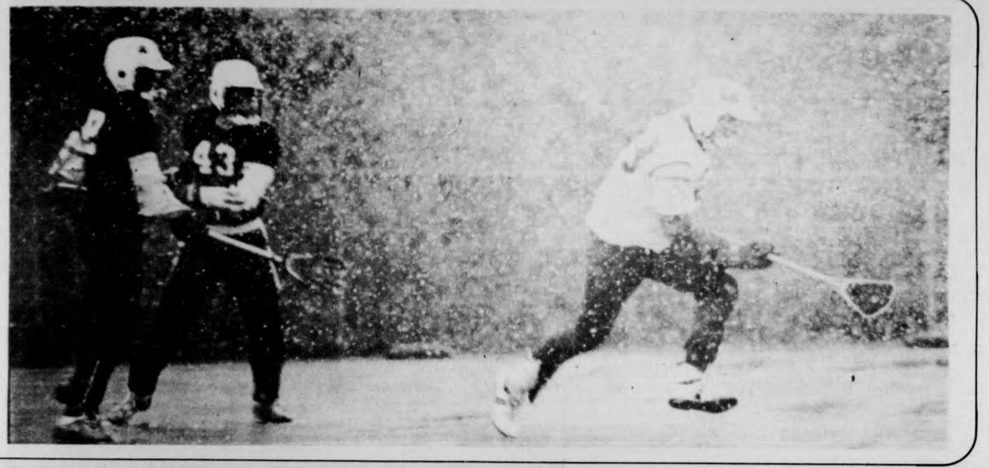
Rte. 47, Sunderland
665-4937



UMass midfielder David Reed runs through the blizzard and away from two Springfield defenders in yesterday's action. The Gorillas stormed the Chiefs 16-9. (Staff photo by Jay Saret)

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

TO SUBLET

A top-notch 2 bedroom apartment for summer lease in Brandywine. Furnished! AC, pool, bus route. Call for a deal — 549-0691.

3 bdrm. Apt., Puffton. Call 549-6948.

Drastic reduction forced by buyers market! Two bedroom apartment — cheap! On bus route, swimming pool, air conditioning. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729.

4 bdrm. townhouse on bus rte., furnished, air cond., pool. June 1st to Aug. 31st. 256-0337.

Cheap, 4 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. All utl. included. Furnished, AC, pool. 253-9957.

QUIET AMH. CTR. 1 bdrm., AC, pkg, near bus, stores. $180 w-optn. 253-3516.

Little house in country, furnished, pine interior, 2 bedrooms, streams, 3 acres. Must see 1-628-3931 or 527-5420. $225—month.

Summer Sublet. 2 bdrm. apt. Dates and rent negotiable. Call 256-0338.

Sublet — quiet, clean, sunny, 1 bedroom apt. Available June 1. Option to renew. On bus route, pool, laundry facilities. Utilities included. 253-5588 after 5.

With rent option, 3 rm. apt., furnished, bus route, laundry, all util. included. Colonial Vlg., excellent cond. $210 per. 253-7865.

2 bdrm. apt., Squire Vill., Sund. A.C., pool, bus rte. Avail. June 1. Phone 665-4891.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. Brandywine apt. Bus rt., furn. Pets OK. Pool. 5-22—8-31. Rent negot. Call 549-1405.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. June 1 - Aug. 31. Opt. renew, pool, bus rte. Rent neg. 253-7798.

Breezy 2 bdrm. apt. in C.V. on bs rt., pool. 5-23—8-31. Rent vy neg. incl. util. 253-9401.

Summer Sublet. Townehouse apt., A.C., bus route, croquet set!! $55—mo. 549-6033.

1-4 brooms in house, start 6-1—8-31. Pelham. 7 mi. from Amherst, across the st. from Quabbin. $65.00 a month. 253-2757.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt. A.C., pool, furn., on bus rt. Fall opt. 6-1—8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

2 bdrm. apt., Colonial Vlg. Apts., on bus rte, prtly furn. upstairs. Jun - Aug. Opt. to renew. $165. neg. Call 5-7 p.m., 253-9559.

3 bdrm. twnhs. Jun - Aug., util. incl. Pool, air cond., cheap. 546-9671; 546-5670.

4 br. Rolling Green twnhse. Part furn. $250—mo., June - Aug. Leave message. Days 5-1552; eves., 253-3755.

Spacious 2 bdrm. apt. at Colonial Village. Includes utilities, pool and option to renew. Available May 29. $150. Call Paul 546-6312.

With rent option, 3 rm. apt., furnished, bus route, laundry, all util. included. Colonial Vlg. Excel. cond. $210 per. 253-7865.

2 bdrm. twnhse., bus rt., A.C., pool. $190. Sq. Vlg. 665-4789.

Two bedroom apt. at Cliffside in Sunderland, on bus route. Swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729 and keep trying.

2 br. Col. Vil. Jn 1 - Aug. 31. Option to renew. Garden plots avail., pool, bus rt., cool in summer. $220 inc. 253-2874, after 6.

Riverglade 2 bdrm. 6-1—8-31. Price neg. Call 256-0638.

4 bdrm. Rolling Green Townhse. June — Aug. cheap $280 a month. Call 546-7161.

Sublet — June 1 - Aug. 31. 3 bdrm. apt. in So. Amherst on bus route, pool, air cond., veg. garden, large yard, quiet atmos. $220—mo. 253-5136 anytime.

Sublet—2 bed. apt. Beaut. Squire Vlg., Sund. 7 min. from campus. 6-1—8-31 w-opt. for fall. Rent neg., A.C., pool, on bus rt! Call 665-3619.

Sublet — room ideal for couple or single. Opp. for Fall. $65 mo plus. Pets OK. Garden, off road, on UM bus. 323-5536.

2 bedrm. in 3 bedrm. Twnhse. Squire Vlg., Sunderland. Jun to Sep (w-opt to renew), bus rte., pool, A.C., 7 min. to UMass. 665-2303.

1 rm for male in 2 bdrm. apt. $70 incl. all util. Call 549-1816. Keep trying.

2 bdrm. apt., Brandywine, on bus rt. A.C., pool, exc. view, semi-furn. 6-1—8-31. $250 or best offer. 549-4766.

Fully furnished 2 bdrm. on bus rt., pet, pool, rent negotiable. 6-1—8-30. 256-0501.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. 1 bdrm. June, both July - Aug. Pool, bus, semi-furn. $220—mo. incl. util. Rent negot. 256-0465.

3 bdrm. townhouse. $200—mo. Opt. to renew. Includes hot water, A.C., pool, on bus rt. 1½ baths. 549-2616. Avail. May 18.

1 lrge bdrm. S. Amherst. $65. June - Sept. Option to renew. 256-6602. Larry.

Sublet, 2 bdrm. apt. June 1 to Aug. 31. 106 Colonial, util. $185—mo. 253-7760.

3 bdrm. 2nd floor, semi-furn. After May 21. Just off campus. 24 Nutting Ave. 549-1862, util. inc.

Low rent, 3 bdr. twnhse, ½ m campus. Furn., priv. bkyd., 2 bus rt., residential. 549-4855.

Opt to renew. 2 bdrm. Cliffside apt. June-Aug. $200—mo. Call 665-7188, 545-2820, or 545-0881.

$105 Free. 1 bedrm. apt. - Pool 665-2886.

1 br. A.C. July and Aug. Dates flexible. Poss. Fall option. Presidential Apts., Amherst. 549-2812. Nice airy place.

$100 — 2 bdrm. twnhse. June - Aug. 256-6205.

2 rooms, modern house, Shutesbury. Wall to wall, dishwasher, etc. 7 mi. to campus. $70—rm. 253-5366 eves.

2 brm. Brandywine. 6-1—8-31. Ful. furnished, pool, A.C. Call 549-1564.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt., w-furn., A.C., pool on B.RT. Opt. for Fall. 6-1—8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

1 bdrm. apt., walk to campus. June - Sept., renew opt. Call 253-7234.

Puffton, 3 bdrm., furn. Mid-May - Aug. 549-1317.

Sunny 1 bdrm. apt., screened porch, quiet street, NHamp. Mid June. to Mid Aug. $145—mo. 586-0585, eves. No smokers.

Best offer takes it. 2 bdrm. sublet w-opt., furn. or not. Lots extra. 665-3637.

Great for plants. 2 bdrm. Lant. Ct. Air cond., utl inc., bus rt., some furn. op. to renew. $195. 665-4298.

Available 5-16. 1 bdrm. apt., w-w, a.c., pool. $165—mo. Call 665-4358 or 665-2203. (Squire Vil.).

2 bdrm. apt., pool, on bus rt. 253-7798.

Pres. Apt. Two bdrm., sunlight, util. incl., furnished. Best offer. 549-4455.

Comfortable rooms to rent in house with large yard, rent negotiable. North Amherst. Anne, 549-0720.

2 bdrm. semi-furn. apt. Bus rt., pool. 3-3684, Colonial Village.

3 DESPERATE FEMALES need you to sublet 2 bdrm. twnhse. in Rolling Green. Avail June 1 - Aug. 31. Air cond., on bus rte., pool. $220—mo., or best offer. Call 546-9544 or 253-7537.

2 bdrm. apt. $190—mo., incl. util. Good loc., pool. Call 253-2841.

Puffton — 1 lg. bdrm. to sublet. Pool, bus route, quiet. Rent neg. 549-1603.

2 bdrm. apt. Furn. Lantern Ct. Bus rt - $200. incl. A.C. and util. Avail. 20 May. Fall opt. 665-3931.

Cheap. By Puffers Pond. 2 bdrm., all util. incl. $180. Steve 367-2048.

2 bdrm., comp. furn. Coll. Vill. $175. Bus route, pool. 256-6042.

Sublet — Riverglade. 1 of 2 bdrms. June - Aug. $60 plus. Call Zen 253-3373 after 11.

3 bdr. twnhse. Roll. Green, util. incld. A.C., pool, on bus rt. Pr. negot. Jun - Aug. 546-9668, 546-9670.

Sublet — 1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt. Puffton Vill. Rent neg. Ask for Dan. 549-3809.

2 singles, 1 double at Rolling Green. 100 yds. from bus, util., appl., prt. furn. $75—mo. or best. 6-1—8-31. 256-0340.

Spacious So. Deerfield apt. on bus route. Very unique so must be seen. Please call after 6:00 p.m. 665-7193.

Large apt. w-2 lg. bdrms. on N. Pleasant. $260—mo. 253-5298.

3 big bdrms. apt., A.C., close to cmps., nice view, util. inc. $290. Dishwasher. 549-1387.

1 bdrm. in 4 bdrm. house. June 1 - Aug. 1. Reasonable rent, excellent location. 253-9458. Female preferred.

Free — 1 mo. rent, Jn. - Ag. Subl. Rol. Grn. Twnhse. 2 br. Opt. to renew. All util. incl. A.C., bus rt. 256-8120.

Summer in the country. Sublet apartment in Sunderland. 6-1 to 8-31. Air conditioning, dishwasher and disposal, wall to wall carpeting. A good deal at $150 per month. Call 665-4255. Ask for Joe or Paul.

2 bdrm. apt., low rent, negotiable, utils. incl., bus rte., pool, tennis. Cliffside. 665-2847.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. Jun - Aug. $110 mo. total. Pool, bus rt. 253-9488.

Own bdrm. A.C., 10 min. to UMass. Pres. Apts. 6-1 — 8-31. Renewable. $125 or best offer. 549-5532.

Cambridge — June - Aug. $130 month, utilities incl. Space for 2. Ellen 538-2421.

1 bdrm. apt. on bus route to sublet w-option. $150 and negotiable. Call 256-8172.

1 bdrm. apt. in Amh. Ctr. $160. 549-5426.

1 bdrm. Crestview Apt. June 1. Opt. to renew. Rent neg. On bus route. 549-6135.

So. East St., Amherst. 4 bedroom house. June 1. Bus route. $265 plus utilities. 256-0452.

Sub. w-opt. June - Aug. 2 br. Cliffside Apt. overlkg. pool, util. incl. in rent. 665-4370, eves.

2 bedroom apt. on campus. All utilities. June 1- Aug. 30. 549-5147 nights.

Manhattan sublet. Jul. 1 - Aug. 30. E80's: Lg. mod. studio, kit., furnished. $265—mo. Call 212-472-9582.

1 bdrm. apt., Cliffside. All util. $127 a month on bus route. Call 665-3986.

Furnished, 1 bdrm., Squire Vlg. Jun - Aug. Pool, air cond., bus route. CATV. 665-3904.

Spacious townhouse apt. in N. Amherst to sublet for summer. Fall option. $185—mo. Call Fritz or Roland at tel. 549-0921.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt., A.C., pool, bus rte. $210. Call 549-2718.

One bedroom apt. at Cliffside, on bus rt., A.C., dishwasher, cable, pool. $120—mo., util. incl. 665-4764. Rent negotiable.

Mill Hollow Apts. Next to Puffer's Pond, 2 bdrm., rent neg. incl. util. June - Aug., avail. Mid-May. 549-6109.

Beautiful 2 bdrm. townhouse completely furnished. Includes air cond., pool, wall to wall and all utilities. Rolling Green Apts. $200. Call Paul 546-6312. June - August.

Sunny 3 bdrm. twnhse, full kitchen, A.C., 1½ bath, cable TV, bus rte. $250. 549-0436.

SERVICES

Typing — expert work. 549-0813.

Dial-A-Decision. Call Paul 545-0575. Legal opinions over the phone. No waiting.

Men and trucks for hire. You bot it, we'll haul it. John, 549-6878; Gil, 253-3370.

Typing — Prompt reasonable, experienced in all forms of papers, theses, etc. Call 586-2490.

AUDIO

Quality components. Over 150 lines, reasonable prices. Call Peter, 665-2920.

Pioneer SX-535 20 watts per, BIC form. 4 spkrs., AR-XB with M91ED. $450. Ken 549-1452.

PERSONALS

Lizzy F - (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie, D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

Luxury two bedroom apt. in Sunderland for summer sublet. On UMass bus route, swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low, low rent. Call 665-4729 anytime.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF.

$50 reward for return or info leading to recovery of grn. Peugeot U08, ser. no. 236676, stolen from Pierpont. No questions asked. I just want the bike. Barry 246 Pierpont. 546-5212.

My Dear — Happy 5th. Love you, Munchkin.

Fred — one last personal. Love, Shirl.

BiBIM's triWF's invited to an Evening of Music with the Univ. Chorus and Women Choir — Wed., May 11, 8 p.m. in FAC Concert Hall — FREE. Discretion assured.

Moje — Here's to the year round tan. Good Luck — We'll miss you.

To the two best coaches I've ever had. Thanks for the greatest season of my life. ---Oh to be a fresh person. Good Luck, Matt.

It has been an honor representing the best softball team this university has ever had! UMass is now on the board — let's keep her there. — Crush the Springfield Strutters again! Good Luck to you all, Heidi and Matt.

L'il brother — Thanks for everything — Love, Big Sis.

RWGF — This game of ours is at a close, it's for the better, I suppose. Another time, another place — this whirl of yours I'd love to face. But as you know, we are good friends. See you as the summer ends. Rob.

Duck: Thanx for being you. You're the berries. Love, Susan.

Thank you Randy Thank you Randy Thank you Randy Thank you Randy Happy Birthday Randy Thank you Randy. You may be two days inferior than I, but congratulations on the graduation anyhow. Love, (not really but maybe), Hobbit. P.S. Your birthday present is two lbs. of fig newtons and a bottle of kaopectate.

Hope to see you on candid camera. Look forward to meet you.

To: KC, TH, PB, MJ, KT, AM Mel, TC and others who are leaving 113 Campus Center too soon for me, Thank, you've taught a lot to me. Signed JQ.

To the sexy blone woman who said she was 'Staff' at Boston Day — Let's get together and disco down again — Lightfoot.

RIDE WANTED

Need ride. Chicago to Amherst or NYC on or about 18 June. 549-6033.

CALCULATORS

End of semester prices! SR-52, $179.95; SR-56, $77.77; SR-51, $49.95; SR-40 and Bus Anal, $29.95; Commodore 1800 Scientific, $34.95; HP-67, $375. And College Calculators services all machines sold for 1 full yr! Before you buy anywhere, call Bob or Linda at 549-1316!

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

Sports Calendar

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

MEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — UMass 16 Springfield 9
VARSITY BASEBALL — Cancelled

TODAY

WOMEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — vs. Springfield Home 4:00
WOMEN'S JUNIOR VARSITY LACROSSE — vs. Worcester Home 3:00
VARSITY SOFTBALL — vs. Springfield Home 2:30
JUNIOR VARSITY SOFTBALL — vs. Springfield Home 4:15

TOMORROW

VARSITY BASEBALL — vs. Amherst Away 3:00
MEN'S VARSITY LACROSSE — vs. Brown Away 3:00
MEN'S JUNIOR VARSITY LACROSSE — vs. Brown Away 3:00

NCAA reorganization in works, says comm.

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (UPI) — A new plan for reorganizing the NCAA may resolve the issue that each member of the top division compete in eight sports, according to Boyd McWhorter, Commissioner of the Southeastern Conference.

McWhorter told the Knoxville News-Sentinel he believes a plan has been worked out which meets objections that killed reorganization during the NCAA's convention in January.

"We think it will be more acceptable to more schools," McWhorter said of the new proposal. "One of the objections to the previous plan was the requirement for each top division school to have eight sports.

"This plan still calls for eight, but the definition of a team has been changed. No longer must a school give a certain number of scholarships or have a required number of athletes on the travel squad."

The top division, which would be called 1-A, would have 80 to 85 of the nation's top football schools in it. The rest of the current division I schools would be in a new division called 1-AA.

Prospective 1-A schools would be required to play at least 60 per cent of their games against similar schools.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

FOR SALE

Peugeot Men's 10 spd. A1 cond. B.O. 25 inch frm. 665-3025 a.m. or late p.m. Must see.

Golf clubs, Chi Chi Rodriguez signature, pro-registered and bag - 9 irons, 4 woods and putter. List $350 - used only 2 times - have lost interest and need cash. $175 or B.O. Call Steve 6-5420.

Gift idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

Furniture for sale. 256-0401.

Multi-wide tires, M-50, 14 inch. $50 or best offer. Bill 546-7060.

Calculators! End of semester prices! See classified ad under Calculators!

Pioneer car cassette tape deck with speakers. Total retail value $140. Will sell for $60 or B.O. Call 584-8324 or 549-0616.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap 256-8732.

Gibson ES, 330TD guitar, mid '60's, perfect cond. $325 or B.O. Call Bob 6-9432.

9x12 bl shag rug, $40; toaster oven $8; rotating Schlitz lamp, $6; wall lamp $3; all exc. cond. 6-8991.

Kitchen sz. fridge. Neg. $75. 546-8207.

H70X14 tires on Cragar SS mags X4, balanced. Steve 253-5692 afternoon.

Genuine porcelain, china from Peking. Cups and saucers. Very nice, cheap. 253-3750.

Yamaha six-string folk guitar: like new, case included. $60 or best offer. Call 549-2781.

5 cu. ft. fridge, $80 or best offer. Call 546-8432.

Water bed, queen sz., w-frame complete, $150. Will neg. Janet 545-2627.

If you're subletting for summer, you'll need some furniture cheap. Mine's for sale. Chairs, couch, etc. Call 549-0506.

Minolta 101 f17, like new, $150. Accessories, very cheap with camera. 253-7844.

For Sale: Melody 12 string guitar, excellent condition, asking $200. EKO 6 string guitar, like new, asking $60. Call 323-4249.

Super Tag Sale. Everything must go. Sat. and Sun. No. 2 Cedarwood Apts., Rt. 9, Belch. More info. 323-5157.

'66 Key electric piano by Cordovox. Must sell, $650 new, asking $375. Let's deal. Steve 323-5157.

12 inch RCA TV, good cond. $25. 323-6979.

5 cu. ft. refrigerator. $75 or B. O. Call 6-6523.

Queen size water bed with frame, $125 or best offer. 549-4833.

Pair of yr. around tires H15, 4 mos. old. Dan 549-1867. $40 negotiable.

Philco 7 cu. ft. fridge and freeze. $35 or B. O. Call Mike 546-9677.

Apt. sz. refridge. Roomy. Must sell. $50 or B.O. Call Nancy 6-4051.

Full size refrig. $40. Call 543-9409.

One and one-half cu. ft. refrig. Excellent condition. $80 or best offer. Eves. 6-1216. Keep trying!

Stereo sys., Pioneer 525 receiver, PL10 turntable, w-Empire cartridge, Sml Advents, Panasonic cassette deck, Koss phones. Asking $350. Call 546-7022.

Couch for sale, good cond. $25. 256-6408.

AUTO FOR SALE

'70 Dodge Van, 6 cyl., stnd, 8 trk, cust. int. Must see! Asking $1150. Call 546-4550 eves.

'68 VW Bug, good body, tires, runs well. $500 or B.O. 5-2370 days; 549-5147 nt.

'68 VW, run. cond. Gd. tires. $350. Mike 546-5346.

1971 Toyota Mark II, 4 door, automatic, gd. cond. $550 or best offer. 369-4429.

1975 Toyota Celico GT., ex. condition. New Michelins and brakes. Best offer. 546-5297.

'65 Rambler, runs good, new starter, tires, radiator, $250. Call Jay, 546-5347.

1963 Chevy Impala, very dependable, 2nd owner. $175 or B. O. Call Steve 546-5065.

'71 Vega, 4 speed, good cond. Must sell. $700. Paul, 546-5494.

65 Mustang std. runs good, needs work. B.O. call Mary, 549-6476.

'69 Opel GT. Best of. 546-9857.

1972 Pinto, 2000cc, automatic. Body good, runs well, good mileage, Spring sticker. Asking $850.00. Call Paul 256-0235.

'70 VW Sqbk. Exc. mech., body needs some work. 28mpg. $700 neg. Tom 549-4600, x325.

Must sell: Tan while you drive in a 1974 VW Bug with sunroof. Standard, new brakes, tape player and speakers. Exc. cond. $2,000. Call 665-3569 or 624-3654.

Toyota MKII '74, 2 dr., 4 spd., AM—FM, lo mi., rust proof. Must sell. Evenings 6-4580.

1951 Plymouth, 4 dr., 38,000 original miles. Excellent condition. B. O. over $1200. 586-2213.

Saab 1967 station wagon. $400. Call John 545-0192.

1969 VW, runs great. 77,000 miles. Asking $550. Call 665-2159. Ask for Bob.

I have a beautiful Ford van for sale. Excellent interior, carpeted and paneled. Needs some mechanical work. $450.00. Call David at 253-3776.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

1973 Honda CB350, 5,800 mi., ex. cond. Rack & trunk, $640. Call Pat 253-9233.

1969 Jawa 175cc only 1400 miles. $275. 253-7844.

1975 Honda 550 - 4, 8,000 mi., exc. cond., great touring bike. 256-0665 after 5 p.m.

INSTRUCTION

Tennis lessons. All-American sports tennis instructor. Reasonable rates. Call 6-4567 morning or evenings.

RIDERS WANTED

Riders wanted Fri. 13 and—or Fri. 20 to Philadelphia or Wash., D.C. One way or round trip. Leaving Fridays at 10 a.m., returning Mondays at 2 p.m. Call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Men from North Shore who want to play for a team in M-Head Softball League, call Dave 549-4885 eves.

Addresser wanted immediately! Work at home — no experience — excellent pay. Write American Service, 8350 Park Lane, Suite 269, Dallas, TX. 75231.

Hard workers needed for entire summer. If you qualify, you could earn $2770 for 13 wks. Call 253-2598.

Caretakers for 4 bdroom house. N. Amherst. Garden, flowers, bus route, walk to Roosters, Mikes. After 6 p.m., 549-6702. Option Fall. Cheap!

Dishwashers wanted for next semester. For info call 549-1321 or 545-0070.

Be youth leader, Boy's Camp (49th yr.) Beautiful N.E. — Lenox, Ma. Historical and cultural area. Staff from all parts of U.S., overseas. Specialists for water sports, tennis, overnight camping, naturalist, ceramics, leather craft, golf, softball, baseball, basketball. Full details, inc. phone, to Camp Mah-Kee-Nac, 20 Allen Court, South Orange, N.J. 07079.

3 older students looking for sublet. 6-1 — 8-31. 2 bdr., furn.—semi-furn. prefer. $150 incl. utils. 586-5477. 6 p.m. on. John, Steve, Chris.

Fm. roommate to share large furn. apt. in Amh. On bus rt. Summer—Fall. $85. 546-7660.

$250...Stuffing 1000 envelopes: HOMEWORK: GUARANTEED! COMPANIES NEED YOU. Details: $1, self-addressed, stamped envelope: Mobile 42-193, 258 Atwood, Pittsburg, PA. 15213.

WANTED

Members for weekly poker club! Call Bob 549-1316 for info.

Young, professional couple seeks house to rent. Will sub lease, lease or take care of someone's home. Please call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

Car trouble? I want manual-shift, 4 or 6 cylinder. 546-7096.

Greedy people wanted. Set own hours. Mucho Lucre, May 9 in CC. Hotel Vitamin Business Enterprise.

18 or 15 ft. alum. canoe in gd. cond. Reas. priced. Old Town or Applebee w-paddles. Also — need gar. space nr. Amherst. Call Jim aft. 7 p.m. at 6-4156.

Used albums in good condition wanted. I'll buy whole collections. 323-4249.

Need a place down the Cape? There's one in Dennis with good times waiting for you. $400. Call 6-5096 or 6-5138.

Looking for house to rent year round in Amherst. June 1st. Please call 567-7779 or 1-800-332-9555 and ask for Paul.

Wanted — would like to buy a second hand refrigerator. 3-5 cu. ft. Call Maria 546-8072.

Pr. gd. 14" tires w-rims. 253-2980.

Bicycle, 3 speed, used, in good cond. Call Bobby 253-9040.

ROOM WANTED

M stu seeks rm to rent for Fall. Pref. house in or nr Amherst. Call Richard nights 323-4362.

Fairly quiet fem. Sr. looking for room in apt. or house for Fall. 546-4879.

FOR RENT

I own a very private ski chalet with a breathtaking view of Echo Lake in Tyson, Vermont. Lake front privileges, canoe, fireplace, loft. Interested in renting it to a faculty member or responsible grad student. 203-875-6306 after 5 p.m.

3-4 Bedrooms for June & September. Call between 6-7 p.m. Skibiski, Realtors Northampton. 584-3428.

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 plus sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Looking for summer residence? Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is offering rooms at $150 per single, and $200 per double or $100 ea.. Call 545-0070, 549-6999 or 549-1321.

1 lge. bdrm. in Sunderland hse on bus rte. Vegetable gdn. in bk. Call Debbi 665-2367.

3 housemates, 1 5-15 and 2 5-15 all year, 24 plus for great house on Bay Rd., S. Amherst. $90 plus. 253-7935.

1 or 2 room in 3 bedroom apart. Furnished, Puff. Vil. $60-mo. 549-5892.

1 bdrm. apt., Cliffside, on bus rt., tennis, pool, kitchen. Avail. May. $145—mo., util. inc. Call 665-2886 after 5.

Available rooms in big old house on bus rt. in Sundr. Cheap and spacious. Call Susan 665-4367 nights. Leave message.

2 rm. apt., util., furn. May 23 — Aug. 31. Call 5-0189, 10-2. Ask - Mike.

Nice house, big garden, woods, bus line, summer or all year. Grads pref. 665-3938.

Seconds from campus, minutes from Amherst Ctr. We need roommates to fill 2 bedrooms in our house on Fearing St. $70 and $100—mo. Call 6-9708 or 6-9694. For the Summer.

1 rm., lg. house, sumr. Br. $70 but will neg. 546-1138 or 6-1139.

1 lg. bdrm. twnhse apt., bus rte. $100—mo. neg. 545-1927 or nites 549-6761.

Own room on bus line with pool - summer housemate needed desperately. Call 665-4364.

Small 3 bedroom apartment, S. Amherst. Quiet, 1 yr. lease. Available Sept. 1. $225 includes electricity. Call 253-9354.

Cape Cod — 3 bedroom ranch in secluded W. Barnstable, 10 minutes from Hyannis and Craigville beach area, June 1 - Sept. 7. $2,000 plus. Call Bill 256-0313.

Looking for summer residence? Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is offering rooms at $150 per single and $200 per double or $100 each. Call 545-0070, 549-6999 or 549-1321 for info.

Room available. June 1 on McClellan St. Call 256-6215.

ROOMMATE WANTED

Fmle rmmate wanted to share bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. in Fall. Call 546-6797.

2 bedroom apt. 5-21 — 8-31, gdn plot, pets allowed. On bus route. Price neg. 256-8864.

2 rooms for rent in Shutesbury. $95 plus. 253-7608. Keep trying. Avail. immed.

2 bdrms. avail. in twnhs., pool, air cond., rent very nego. 256-8885.

For house on Craigville Beach, near Hyannis. Call Steve 253-7976.

ROOMMATE WANTED

2 female roommates for 3 bedrm. house in Amherst. On bus route. Call 253-3953.

$60. Own lg. rm. in 3 bdrm. twnhse. Furn. or not, pool, bus. Puffton. 549-1033.

Own room, furn. hse., laundry, kitchen, wooded lot: So. Amh. Jun-Aug. Neg. 256-6224.

Put your head down. 2 comfortable bdrms. avail. for summer sessions! Quiet, condo living. A.C. 256-6992 eve.

Fourth roommate wanted to share 2 bedroom house in Hyannis with 3 males. Call Jay 5-3500.

2 rms. in frnshed Br. Mnr. Apt. Pool, tennis, bus rt. $60—month. 256-0677.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125—mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

F rmmate needed for next Fall to share 3 bdr. Puffton apt. $95 plus utils., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun-loving, too. Call Carol 256-0325.

Looking for a place in Hyannis This summer? One roomate wanted. Call Jay 5-3500.

Fall on Fearing St. We need 2 bedrooms filled in our house for the Summer. $70 and $100 - mo. Call 546-9694 or 6-9708.

Own rm., 5 bdrm. house, Amhst. $80 plus. 253-5275.

F rmmate needed for nxt fall to share 3 bdrm. Puffton Apt. $95 plus utls., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun loving too! Call Carol 256-0325.

1 bdrm. in 2 bed Brandywine apt. for 1 or 2 people. Cheap! 549-1375.

2 rms. in co-op hse. Rt. 9, Belch. 4 mi. to Amh., bus rte., no lease. $62. 256-0573.

Rmmate for 1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for summer months. Pool, tennis, air cond., buses. All util., rent negot. Call Dave 665-4210. Keep trying.

Available May 15. Nice room, good people. N. Amherst. Call 549-4712.

Large sunny bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for 1 or 2 females. Pets OK, dishwasher, laundry fac. Summer with Fall option 253-7076.

Room for rent. Hse. Amh. Bus. 6698.

Professional female seeks same to share 2 bedroom, mostly furnished apartment in Northampton. Nice location. $100—mo plus. Beginning June or July 1st. References req'd. If not at home, leave message. 584-2508.

M — F's. Yarmouth. Lg. house near beach. Up. class. pref. Call 256-0309 - 665-3670.

Own bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt., bus rt., pool, rent neg. 256-8012.

3F for house appar. Amherst Center loc. Sum — Fall option. Rent negot. 253-5403.

1 or 2 female roommates. June - August. $50 mth. Call 549-2804. Ask for Joanne, Jean.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. From June 1 to Aug. 31. $90—mo. plus utilities. Bus route. Call soon. 665-7019, after 5 p.m. Sunderland area.

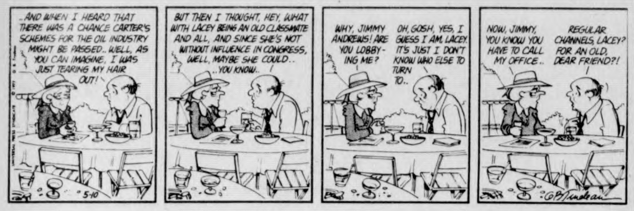
2 bdrm. in 4 bdrm. apt. $55. Bus rt., pool, non-smokers. Call evenings 253-5206.

Looking for a good time this summer? We need a roommate for Townehouse Apts., North Amherst. A steal at $46 per month (approx. May 20 until August 31), plus utilities. Call Joe Q or Phil, 545-3500.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

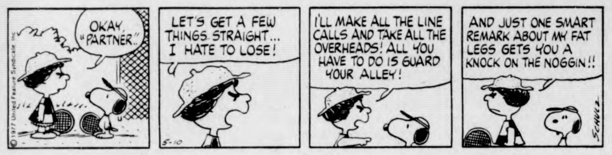
29 S. Pleasant St.
Call 256-6736
TERM PAPERS !
RESERVE EARLY
M-F 10-6, S 10-2



..AND WHEN I HEARD THAT THERE WAS A CHANCE CARTER'S SCHEMES FOR THE OIL INDUSTRY MIGHT BE PASSED.. WELL, AS YOU CAN IMAGINE, I WAS JUST TEARING MY HAIR OUT!
BUT THEN I THOUGHT, HEY, WHAT WITH LACEY BEING AN OLD CLASSMATE AND ALL, AND SINCE SHE'S NOT WITHOUT INFLUENCE IN CONGRESS, WELL, MAYBE SHE COULD.. ..YOU KNOW..
WHY, JIMMY ANDREWS! ARE YOU LOBBYING ME?
OH, GOSH, YES, I GUESS I AM, LACEY. IT'S JUST I DON'T KNOW WHO ELSE TO TURN TO..
NOW, JIMMY, YOU KNOW YOU HAVE TO CALL MY OFFICE..
REGULAR CHANNELS, LACEY? FOR AN OLD, DEAR FRIEND?!
5-10
G.B.Trudeau

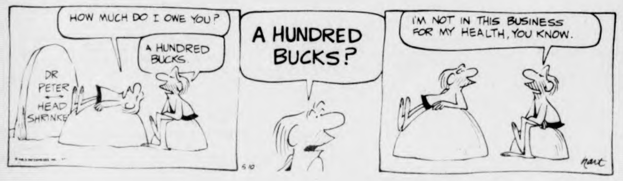
PEANUTS by Charles Schulz

Styles By Deborah
His & Hers
Design Haircuts
Tel. 549-5610



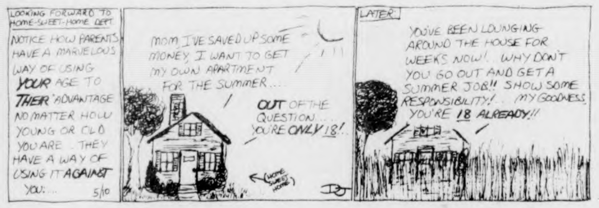
OKAY, "PARTNER."
LET'S GET A FEW THINGS STRAIGHT... I HATE TO LOSE!
I'LL MAKE ALL THE LINE CALLS AND TAKE ALL THE OVERHEADS! ALL YOU HAVE TO DO IS GUARD YOUR ALLEY!
AND JUST ONE SMART REMARK ABOUT MY FAT LEGS GETS YOU A KNOCK ON THE NOGGIN!!
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
5-10
SCHULZ

B.C. by Johnny Hart



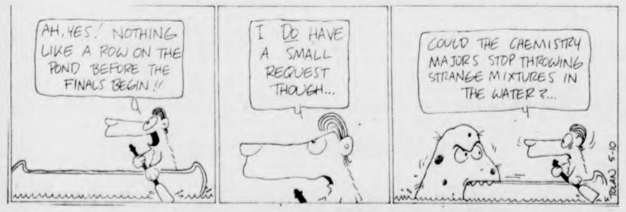
HOW MUCH DO I OWE YOU?
A HUNDRED BUCKS.
DR PETER HEAD SHRINKER
A HUNDRED BUCKS?
I'M NOT IN THIS BUSINESS FOR MY HEALTH, YOU KNOW.
5-10
hart

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



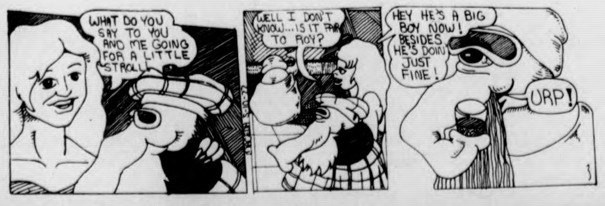
LOOKING FORWARD TO HOME-SWEET-HOME DEPT
NOTICE HOW PARENTS HAVE A MARVELOUS WAY OF USING YOUR AGE TO THEIR ADVANTAGE NO MATTER HOW YOUNG OR OLD YOU ARE. THEY HAVE A WAY OF USING IT AGAINST YOU:...
5/10
MOM, I'VE SAVED UP SOME MONEY, I WANT TO GET MY OWN APARTMENT FOR THE SUMMER...
OUT OF THE QUESTION... YOU'RE ONLY 18!..
(HOME SWEET HOME)
LATER:
YOU'VE BEEN LOUNGING AROUND THE HOUSE FOR WEEKS NOW!.. WHY DON'T YOU GO OUT AND GET A SUMMER JOB!! SHOW SOME RESPONSIBILITY!.. MY GOODNESS, YOU'RE 18 ALREADY!!

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



AH, YES! NOTHING LIKE A ROW ON THE POND BEFORE THE FINALS BEGIN!!
I DO HAVE A SMALL REQUEST THOUGH...
COULD THE CHEMISTRY MAJORS STOP THROWING STRANGE MIXTURES IN THE WATER?...
TOLAN 5-10

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



WHAT DO YOU SAY TO YOU AND ME GOING FOR A LITTLE STROLL!
WELL I DON'T KNOW...IS IT FAIR TO ROY?
HEY HE'S A BIG BOY NOW! BESIDES HE'S DOIN' JUST FINE!
URP!

Local Television

7:00 3 8 22 30 32 40 NEWS
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 THE FBI "The Camel's Nose"
30 THE CROSS-WITS
38 THE ODD COUPLE
56 STAR TREK
57 IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
7:30 3 JUNGLE BOOK
8 THE TEN PIN PICK-UP
22 30 $100,000 NAME THAT TUNE
24 CONNECTICUT
32 FEATURE FILM "Maybe I'll Come In The Spring"
38 THE DICK VAN DYKE SHOW
40 THE GONG SHOW
57 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
8:00 3 WHATEVER HAPPENED TO BOBIE GILLIS
8 40 HAPPY DAYS "The Muckrakers"
22 30 NBC TUESDAY NIGHT AT THE MOVIES "Jeremiah Johnson"
24 57 THE AMERICAN SHORT STORY "The Music School"
27 MOVIE "Wichita"
38 IRONSIDE "A Drug On The Market"
56 MOVIE "Prescription Murder"
8:30 3 MOBILE MEDICS
8 40 LAVERNE AND SHIRLEY "Angels Of Mercy"
9:00 3 MASH
8 40 RICH MAN, POOR MAN BOOK I
24 THE PICNIC
32 FEATURE FILM "Roaring Twenties"
38 MOVIE "Titanic"
57 THE WORLD OF FRANKLIN AND JEFFERSON
9:30 3 ONE DAY AT A TIME
24 57 THE BEST OF ERNIE KOVACS
10:00 3 THE CABOTS CONNECTION
22 30 THE BEST OF POLICE STORY "Little Boy Lost"
27 NEWS
57 LOWELL THOMAS REMEMBERS
10:30 24 THE GOODIES
24 THE JOE HYDER SHOW
57 CONSUMER SURVIVAL KIT
11:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
24 WORLD IN ACTION
27 MOVIE "The Return Of Frank James"
32 ALFRED HITCHCOCK PRESENTS "Santa Clause-10th Ave. Kid"
38 THE HONEYMOONERS "Better Living Through TV"
56 ALL THAT GLITTERS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "Scream Of The Wolf"
8 40 TUESDAY MOVIE OF THE WEEK "Journey Into Fear"
22 30 32 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
38 THE BOLD ONES "A Standard For Manhood"
56 NIGHT GALLERY
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
1:00 22 30 32 TOMORROW

Your Birthday by Stella Wilder

Tuesday, May 10 — Born today, you are a person of great integrity and personal courage. You never act in haste --but once you have committed yourself to a particular course, to a kind of response, you do not deviate from moves that will fall within the limits of that commitment. You are guided often by your friendships. Indeed, nothing in life means more to you than your good relationships -- your own standards, your own principles. You believe in compromise when what is at stake is not of such a nature that it has a bearing upon your own code of ethics, and in such cases you will cooperate to the best of your ability.

You will all your life feel the power of strong family ties. At times, such ties will bring you strength; at other times, however, you may find that you must suffer through actions that cause you to go against those ties -- actions which are necessary, however, if you are to maintain your own personal integrity.

Whether man or woman, you will take great satisfaction out of work carried out in the midst of the domestic circle. Indeed, though men and women born on this date may both create important careers for themselves outside the home, they will find an essential happiness waiting for them within the home.

***

Wednesday, May 11

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — A personal ambition must not be allowed to come between you and career success today. Small matters bear heavily upon progress at evening.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Financial matters may cause you more concern today than you can handle easily. Consult one who has known your precise difficulty.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — If you insist upon keeping your nose to the grindstone, you may not be able to grasp a new opportunity late in the day. Relax!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — If a friend asks permission to come to your aid, allow him to do so. Accepting a favor, you will grant one!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Expansion in business or profession may be difficult -- but it may also be just the shot in the arm your finances require.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Merchandising pays well today. Don't allow another to persuade you into the kind of activity that will cause you material loss in the long run.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Take seriously the suggestions of others where your personal habits are concerned. You may be in need of professional advice, too, however.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — An interchange of ideas between you and one in authority on the employment scene could create an opportunity for advancement. Proceed!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Personal recognition is important tpoyou at this time. Make an effort to gain some through the exercise of a new talent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You should be able to profit by another's mistakes. Don't, however, gloat over the situation, rather, sympathize -- loudly.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — If you give the work at hand your undivided attention, you will soon be able to move on to other, more interesting things.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Should you be offered a place in the limelight today, take it. Make sure you give an appearance of humility as well as pride, however.

Copyright 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

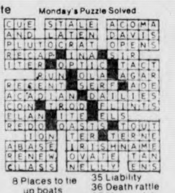
UNITED Feature Syndicate

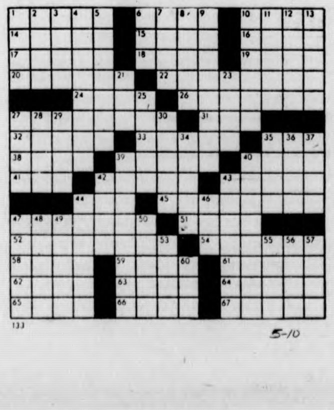
For release TUESDAY, May 10 1977

ACROSS
1 Vegetable
6 Horned vipers
10 Kind of palm tree
14 Sweetheart
15 Darting movement
16 Cain's father
17 Wed on the run
18 Stratum
19 Molten rock
20 Existing in the mind
22 Pen. inmate
24 "-- -- sure as I can be"
26 Groups of fish
27 Fruit seed: 2 words
31 One's relatives
32 Less frequent
33 Seaport on Cape Ann
35 Meds
38 Cards
39 Art gallery
40 Aquatic mammal
41 Ottoman Empire governor
42 Dales
43 U.S.S.R. coin
44 54, in ancient Rome
45 Told the details
47 ---- --- cottage
51 Kyle ---- NFL star
52 Abstruse
54 Floated
58 Location
59 Actor ---- Novello
61 Crownlike headpiece
62 Snag
63 Call by some epithet
64 Mistake
65 Unsightly mark
66 Winged insect
67 Not smart

DOWN
1 Mr. Kaddidlehopper
2 Cavity
3 Bath's river
4 Snakes, e.g.
5 Visionary
6 Sailor's direction
7 Make a mistake
8 Places to tie up boats
9 Afflicted
10 Tavern
11 "A Bell for -----"
12 Stonemason's maul
13 Bradley and Khayyam
21 Once around
23 Tapered leveling piece
25 Mexican fleshy plant
27 Horse
28 Measure by steps
29 Creature caught for food
30 Less colorful
34 Failure
35 Liability
36 Death rattle
37 Malamute's tow
39 Enjoying much
40 Dependable
42 Deputy
43 Turned on an axis
44 Literal meaning
46 Cartoonist's "word"
47 Women's belts of old
48 Meat jelly
49 City of India
50 Furniture piece
53 Stupor
55 French river
56 Greek god
57 Venture
60 Pensioned. Abbr.

Monday's Puzzle Solved





5-10

Misc.

DID YOU KNOW

Elizabeth Gray, 1748-1856, of Scotland died at the age of 108, 130 years after the death of her oldest brother.

CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means: a super place to do your food shopping.

FIND IT
AND YOU
COULD BE OUR
$5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner.

LAURIE McGEE

Yesterday's word:

INSULATION

CONTEST....CONTEST..

UNIVERSITY PIZZA
WANTS TO THANK EVERYONE
FOR THEIR PATRONNAGE
HAVE A GOOD SUMMER
SEE YOU NEXT YEAR!

Spirit Haus
PACKAGE STORE
253-5384
Open Nites 'Till 11 p.m.
We Specialize in Quality Wines
Come in and browse through the largest selection of wine in town. We welcome your questions on wine selection and cheerfully give advice
THANKS FOR YOUR BUSINESS
IMPORTED BEER
TOBY ALE $2.99 SIX
O'VIENNA BEER $2.39 SIX
O'KEEFE ALE $2.39 SIX
STEFFL BEER $3.39 SIX
SCHLITZ 6.49 CASE CANS
BUD 6.49 NR BOTTLES
SCHAFFER 5.59 CASE CANS
TUBORG 5.89 CASE CANS
FALSTAFF 5.25 CASE CAN
GOOD LUCK GRADUATES
SODA 4.39# case Pepsi, Cott, Ginger Club & Tonic
338 College St (Rt 9)
Next to Poor Richards

Braves losing streak becomes laughing matter

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta baseball fans are beginning to find the Braves' losing streak humorous.

In the past, when the Braves were doing poorly, the club was besieged with irate telephone calls and letters. Now, the mail is filled with get-well cards.

Any bedraggled team can stagger along losing twice as often as it wins. But the Braves have a 14-game losing streak going and not many major league baseball teams have ever been able to make that claim.

Only four have had longer losing streaks in the past 18 years. The Philadelphia Phillies set the all-time record when they dropped 23 in a row in 1961; the New York Mets lost 17 straight in 1962; the Montreal Expos 20 in 1969; and the Detroit Tigers 19 in 1975.

If the red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates sweep their current four-game series against Atlanta (they play a doubleheader tonight), the Braves come home Friday night to open a home stand against St. Louis only one game shy of the club record set in 1906 when the Boston Braves lost 19 in a row.

One gets the feeling that's what the fans are looking for. The Braves reported yesterday they had already sold 20,000 tickets for Friday's game.

"We don't know that the losing streak is the reason," a club spokesman said wistfully. "Maybe, they just want to see a baseball game."

Braves' owner Ted Turner feels the fans are taking the right approach.

"The only consolation (to the way things have been going) is it looks like it's going to be so bad it'll be a laugher," Turner told Atlanta Journal sportswriter Ron Hudspeth. "Maybe that's better than coming close and losing and having a tragedy."

Turner is one of the most optimistic men you are likely to meet. He really felt the Braves would have a good team this season. After all, he paid out a bundle to sign Andy Messersmith, Mike Marshall, Gary Matthews and Jeff Burroughs and those four figured to be a pretty good nucleus for any team.

Injuries sidelined Messersmith, Matthews and a half dozen others and Marshall was dropped at his own request.

"I don't know how to pull lineups out of a hat," frustrated manager Dave Bristol replied the other day to the question of what could be done to stop the Braves' skid.

"We spent money and we tried," said Turner. "We're doing the best we can."

Atlanta has been cool to major league baseball the past few years because of the Braves' poor showing. The Braves were 40 games off the pace in the National League West in '75 and 32 last year and attendance has reflected that play.

But, one gets the feeling that maybe the city will show interest in this year's "bad news Braves," that the fans may take to this team the same way those in New York responded to the Mets back in the early '60s and they were losing more than 100 games a season.

Braves' coach Chris Cannizzaro played for the Mets in those days and insists that the big difference between the Mets then and the Braves now is attitude.

"That one didn't care whether it won or lost," said Cannizzaro. "This one does."

★Bosox names from past

CONT. FROM PAGE 24

Another trade that dismantled the '67 Red Sox sent second-baseman Mike Andrews (and Luis Alvarado) to the White Sox for aging shortstop Luis Aparicio, who played three seasons for the Sox before being cut by manager Darrell Johnson prior to the start of the 1974 season.

Mike Andrews wound up in an Oakland uniform and played under his old Boston manager, Dick Williams, in the 1973 World Series.

Andrews made two costly errors in the second game of the series that allowed the New York Mets to win the game. Oakland owner Charlie Finley was engaged by Andrews' poor play and allegedly tried to force him out of the World Series immediately after the game by placing him on the disabled list. The event made national headlines and baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn stepped in and ordered Finley to reinstate Andrews.

Mike Andrews now works for an insurance company in the Boston area and is also involved with a summer baseball camp.

When Dick O'Connell traded outfielder Tony Conigliaro to the California Angels shortly after the 1970 season, Boston fans wanted to imprison the Red Sox General Manager. In 1964, "Conig", or "T.C." (as George Scott always called him) had been a 19-year-old rookie sensation. He won the American League's home run title in 1965.

When Conigliaro was struck in the eye by a Jack Hamilton pitch on August 17, 1967 it was thought that his career would be over, but his return to the Red Sox lineup in the spring of 1969 is still one of the most dramatic comebacks in baseball history.

Conigliaro batted only .222 in 74 games with the Angels. Claiming that his left eye was again bothering him, he retired from baseball.

In 1975 he staged a second comeback bid, and even earned the designated hitter job for the Red Sox. After more than three years out of baseball, Conigliaro was unable to regain his old hitting style as he hit only .123 during the first month of the season. The Sox demoted Conig to their Pawtucket minor league club.

While playing in Rhode Island, Conigliaro became interested in broadcasting and left baseball to take a sportscasting job for a Providence television station. Tony Conigliaro now covers sports for a television station in Los Angeles.

Conigliaro's return to the Red Sox in 1969 forced the team into another blockbusting trade. Ken Harrelson had joined the team during the 1967 season and he became the starting rightfielder when it was announced that Conigliaro would miss the entire 1968 season.

Harrelson suddenly became one of the top offensive stars in the American League. The 'Hawk' led the league in runs batted in, hit 35 homers, and batted .275. He also had a flawless 1.000 fielding average.

With Conigliaro back the Sox were in a situation where they had four starting outfielders: Conigliaro, Harrelson, Yastremski, and Reggie Smith. Since somebody had to go, Harrelson was dealt to Cleveland.

Harrelson's bat died in Cleveland, and the Hawk retired into the 1971 season with a .239 lifetime batting average. He attempted a career as a professional volfer, but had little success. Today, Harrelson is a color analyist during Red Sox telecasts.

Nobody was surprised when Reggie Smith was traded. Smith fell into great disfavor with Boston fans during the 1973 season, and his feud with catcher Carlton Fisk was no secret. Many argue that the Red Sox were 'getting rid' of Smith and when Rick Wise, the main player that the Cardinals gave up in the trade, suffered a dismal 3-4 season with the Sox the "I told you so's" were flying from Kenmore Square to the Berkshires.

Boston fans forgot who Reggie Smith was in 1975 as the new Sox outfielder, Fred Lynn, won the MVP award and the rookie of the year $ward. Also, Rick Wise upped his record from 3-4 in 1974 to 19-12 in 1975 to help lead the Sox to the World Series.

These are the big trades that changed the old Red Sox. Trades, after all, are what keeps baseball alive during those cold winter months. Even a small trade can make headlines on a cold February morning.

TOMORROW: The former major leaguers.

1967 Bosox—where have they gone?

By STEVE BUCKLEY
Collegian Staff

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a two-part series on the present lives of the 1967 'Impossible Dream' Boston Red Sox.

It hardly seems possible that ten years have passed since the 100-1 longshot Boston Red Sox brought honor to the New England sports scene by capturing the American League pennant. It was the team's first trip to that post-season classic known as the World Series in 21 seasons.

When the 1977 version of the Red Sox was unfolded this Spring, however, it could easily be observed that the Smiths, Conigliaros, and Lonborgs — all heroes of the '67 campaign, were gone. For that matter, several important members recent 1975 pennant winning team have become Fenway memories, too — Cooper, Moret, Drago, Beniquez, Petrocelli ...

But getting back to the '67 Sox, where have they gone?

Through a thousand different trades, waivers, cuts, pick-ups, acquisitions, promotions, demotions, and signings, the Boston Red Sox have changed considerably in recent years. In fact, only two members of the Sox, Carl Yastrzemski and George Scott, played on the '67 team; and even Scott has not played with the Sox during all that time, having suffered a five-year sentence with the Milwaukee Brewers.

Scott was traded to the Brewers after the 1971 season along with Ken Brett, Jim Lonborg, and Billy Conigliaro for Marty Pattin, Tommy Harper, Don Pavletich, and somebody named Pat Skrable. He was returned to Boston last autumn along with Bernie Carbo for Cecil Cooper.

The aforementioned Lonborg was also a member of the '67 cast and as the American League's Cy Young Award winner, he was the Sox' top hurler, too. After only one season with the Brewers, Lonborg was involved in an interleague trade and now pitches for the Philadelphia Phillies.

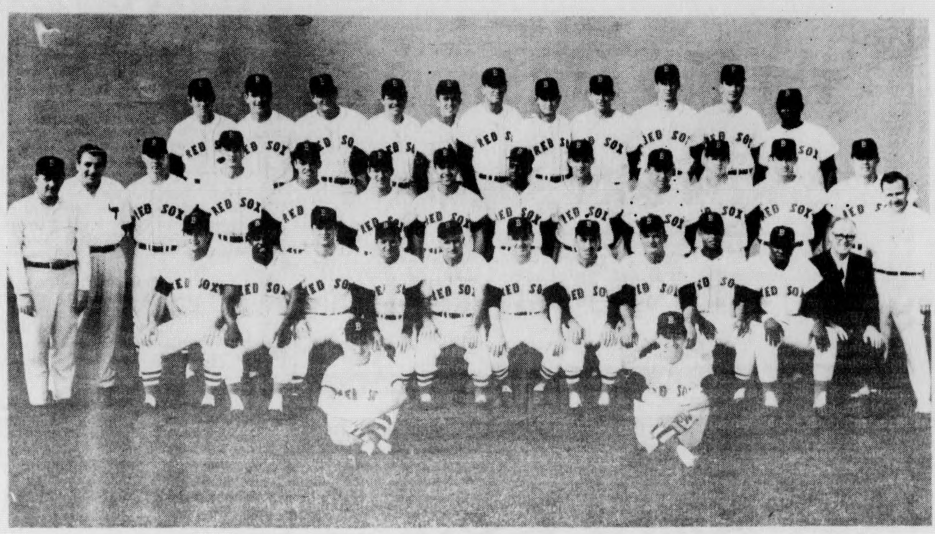
Ken Brett played briefly for the Red Sox in 1967, and the rookie became one of the youngest pitchers ever to appear in a World Series game. Brett was never able to reach his expected potential with Boston or Milwaukee, and drifted also to the Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and the New York Yankees. Ken Brett is now in his 10th big league season and plays for the Chicago White Sox.

Other big trades have taken players away from Boston's championship team of the '60's. The Sox sent Reggie Smith to St. Louis for Rick Wise, Tony Conigliaro to the California Angels for Ken Tatum, Jarvis Tatum, and Doug Griffin; and Ken Harrelson to Cleveland along with Dick Ellsworth for Sonny Siebert, Vincente Romo, and Joe Azcue.

And who can forget the great Sparky Lyle mistake? The Sox thought they were robbing the New York Yankees when they traded the overweight relief pitcher for Danny Cater and a player to be named later (Mario Guerrero).

the result: Lyle became, and still is, one of baseball's top relief specialists and Cater, who was supposed to hit 150 home runs in Fenway Park alone, was a dismal failure for the Red Sox. Mario Guerrero could not handle the Red Sox shortstop position and was sold to the St. Louis Cardinals.

TURN TO PAGE 23



1967 BOSTON RED SOX

BACK ROW: Bill Landis, Russ Gibson, Dennis Bennett, Gary Bell, Dalton Jones, Bob Tillman, Jose Santiago, Darrell Brandon, Jim Lonborg, Gary Waslewski, John Wyatt

MIDDLE ROW: Equipment Managers Don Fitzpatrick and Vince Orlando, Jerry Adair, George Thomas, Hank Fischer, Lee Stange, Rico Petrocelli, Jose Tartabull, Dan Osinski, Galen Cisco, Mike Andrews, Bill Rohr, Mike Ryan

FRONT ROW: Carl Yastrzemski, Joe Foy, Tony Conigliaro, Coach Eddie Popowski, Coach Bobby Doerr, Manager Dick Williams, Coach Sal Maglie, Coach Al Lakeman, Reggie Smith, George Scott, Traveling Secretary Tom Dowd, Trainer Buddy LeRoux

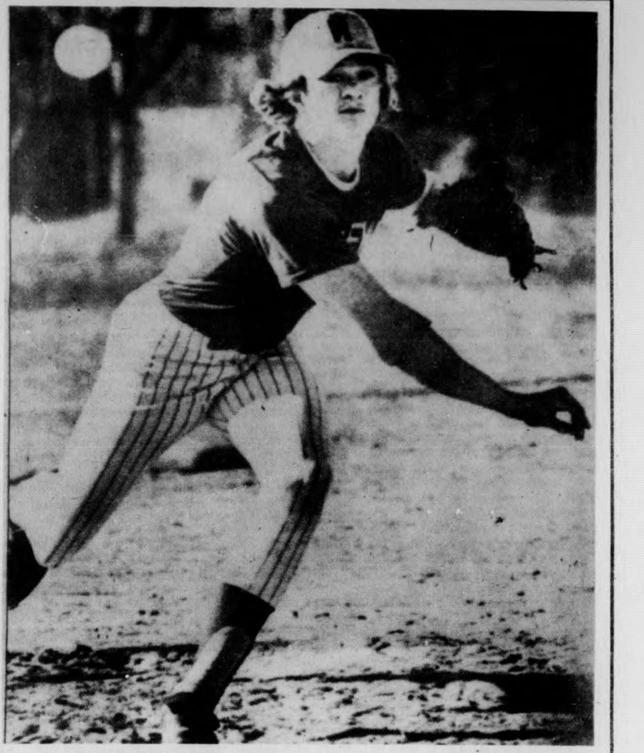
BATBOYS: Keith Rosenfield, Jimmy Jackson

FINALS WEEK SPECIALS
CAN'T CONCENTRATE?
FREE DELIVERY
THUR MAY 12 1 FREE SMALL PIZZA with any one ingredient w purchase of 2 LARGE PIZZAS
FRI MAY 13 TWO FREE SODAS with ANY LARGE PIZZA
SAT MAY 14 ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE with any LARGE COMBO PIZZA
SUN MAY 15 FREE QUART OF SODA
MON MAY 16 FREE SMALL PIZZA OR SMALL SUB with purchase of 2 LARGE PIZZAS
TUE MAY 17 ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE with any LARGE COMBO PIZZA
WED MAY 18 TWO FREE SODAS with ANY LARGE PIZZA
HUNGRY-U
103 N. Pleasant
256-0474
FINALS WEEK SPECIALS
DELIVERIES ONLY! 256-0473
THURS., MAY 12 1 FREE SMALL PIZZA WITH ANY ONE INGREDIENT W/PURCHASE OF 2 LARGE PIZZAS
FRI., MAY 13 TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA
SAT., MAY 14 ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE WITH ANY LARGE COMBO PIZZA
SUN., MAY 15 TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA
MON., MAY 16 FREE SMALL PIZZA OR SMALL SUB WITH PURCHASE OF 2 LARGE PIZZAS
TUE., MAY 17 ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE WITH ANY LARGE COMBO PIZZA
WED., MAY 18 TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA

Looking for a lost notebook or book? Check Lost and Found at the Campus Assistance Center-2nd level of the Campus Center. Unclaimed notebooks will be discarded after Wed. May 11. Open daily 8-11 P.M.

SPRING & SUMMER SALE

Get the most wanted Spring & Summer items now at savings of:
30-50%
BUS STOP
197 N. Pleasant St./Amherst/Mass./256-0140



Keith Atherton, 6'2" junior from Mathews, Va. is the ace pitcher on the undefeated Mathews High School team. The righthander has pitched four consecutive no-hitters, including a perfect game. Atherton has struck out 135 of the 198 batters he has faced this season in addition to his 44 and one third innings of consecutive no-hit pitching. Mathews High principal Harry Ward says they have received phone calls from everywhere inquiring about Atherton. (UPI photo)

Howard feels at home in Milwaukee uniform

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — For Frank Howard, his new coaching position with the Milwaukee Brewers is not only a return to the major leagues, where he was a star for 15 years, but a return to the state he calls home.

"My home is in Green Bay and this is ideal — I'm only two hours from home," Howard said in a recent interview. "I have a lot of friends in the state of Wisconsin, and if a guy had to have a hand chosen opportunity, I would say this is it."

Howard, the mammoth 6-foot-7 coach who was a hitting star for years in both leagues, is a long time resident of Green Bay, the football hotbed to the north of Milwaukee. He visited Milwaukee many times in his years with Los Angeles, Washington and Detroit, but always as an "enemy" player and he admits he likes listening to the hometown cheers.

He finished his career in 1973 with 382 home runs, a lifetime .273 average and the memories of 1970 when he led the American League in home runs (44), RBI (126) and total bases (132). He became a minor league manager with the Brewers and last year guided the Brewers Triple A Spokane, Wash., team to third place in the Pacific Coast League.

When Howard lumbers out to his first base coaching spot, it isn't too hard to spot him — he towers over everyone and looks more like a football tackle than a baseball player. And when he waves his huge arms in the baseball ritual of giving signals to base-runners, the players don't have any excuses for missing them.

He coaches the outfielders, works a bit with the hitters and coaches first base where he tries to help the players run bases, a seeming anomaly for someone who probably never stole a base in his life.

"My job is to forewarn players of baserunning situations they might run into — what outfielders can throw, how many outs, what's the score," Howard said. "You warn them to be alert. And if there's a doubt as to the sign you help them out."

Howard is happy to be home and he is happy to be on the coaching staff of Alex Grammas, someone who he has gotten to know well only recently.

"I played against him for years (Grammas was a shortstop in the majors) and they played against clubs he coached on. But last year was my first chance to get to know him as a person, at spring training, and that didn't last long," Howard said.

"But I was delighted and, quite frankly, flattered when he offered me the position."

Howard is also happy to be back in the majors, where he labored for so many years, and he has the same ambition of most former players to become a manager. But, he says, first things first.

"I better find out right now if I can do this job," Howard says. "But ideally that (managing) is what I would like to do some day."

Top Russian official blasts hockey squad

MOSCOW (UPI) — A top Soviet hockey coach and commentator yesterday blamed a lack of aggressiveness and imagination for the Soviet Union's disastrous upset by Sweden in the World Ice Hockey Championships.

The 3-1 loss to Sweden Sunday night gave Czechoslovakia its fifth world title and left the Soviets in third place, behind Sweden, their worst showing since 1961.

The favored Soviet team had needed only a draw to win the championship.

Writing for the Tass News Agency, Coach Anatoly Tarasov said that with Sweden entering the match after defeats by Canada and Czechoslovakia, "the first period was the decisive one."

"Go all out, even at the risk of weakening the defense, use the potential of every player, rush the opponents, cut into their territory and hold it and with it the vital initiative for a long time — such, in our opinion should have been the approach to this match," Tarasov said.

"Indeed, the opponents were playing exclusively from the defense," he said. "In attack too they were using a different tactic. Knowing that the match would be a long and difficult one they limited their offensive forces, thus bolstering their defense."

Women linksters third in tourney; McCulloch, Smith among top ten

By JUDY VAN HANDLE
Collegian Staff

The UMass women's golf team finished its abbreviated spring season this weekend with a third place finish in Penn State's Lady Lion Invitational Golf Tournament.

As expected defending champion and Eastern powerhouse Penn State grabbed the top spot in the six team field with a two-day total of 685. Mount Holyoke came in second, 16 strokes back, at 701.

UMass finished another 28 strokes behind the Lyons as the Minutewomen carded a 729. Penn State's junior varsity team was fourth, with Indiana University (Pa.) fifth and Rutgers sixth.

Cortland State, which UMass coach Jane McGahan had expected to see, did not send a team. McGahan said that Cortland State probably did not have enough golfers to field a unit, a common problem with spring collegiate women's spring squads.

Individually, Mount Holyoke's Jan Van Munching took low honors with a total of 160. Two strokes back was Penn State's Renie Kelleher, while Anne Marie Locke (sister of UMass golfer Bill) had a 163 two-day total for third spot.

UMass was represented in the top ten individuals by Deb McCulloch, who carded a 165, and Jo Smith, who shot a 174. They finished in fifth and seventh sports, respectively.

McCulloch, UMass' top golfer, had rounds of 82 and 83 in the two-day tourney, while Smith had scores of 88 and 86.

"All in all, I was pretty pleased with our showing," McGahan said. "Penn State has a lot of depth. I would match Deb against any of their golfers, but their team would be a lot stronger than ours."

While shooting her 82, McCulloch had trouble on the last five holes. On a par 72 course, she came off the front nine just three over, and lowered it to two over after 13 holes. But McCulloch slumped on the last four holes. Her short game faltered, and thus her score ballooned.

"She missed a lot of putts and hit a lot of sand shots," McGahan explained.

Smith, meanwhile, although shooting an eight on one hole, recovered on the back nine in her first round to improve her score.

"She played well except for that one hole," McGahan said.

The two low Mount Holyoke golfers, Van Munching and Locke, both had sub-80 rounds in the competition. Van Munching shot an 82 and 78, while Locke had an 86 and a 77, which was the best round of the tourney.

"From what I heard," McGahan said, "Anne Marie played super on the second day. She was hitting her chip shots closer to the hole and making more shots."

The other two UMass golfers in the tourney, Meg Groden and Anne Morrison, trailed McCulloch and Smith individually. Groden had rounds of 99 and 90, and Morrison carded a 96 and 105.

"Meg showed me a lot of improvement over the year," McGahan reflected. "Anne, meanwhile, in her first year of competition, also improved considerably in the first round.

"We were pretty consistent in the tourney," McGahan continued. "We had a first day score of 365 and a second day one of 364."

UMass will have an interesting fall season ahead of it, to say the least. McCulloch, Smith, and Groden will all be graduating, so McGahan will be forced with a major rebuilding job.

In addition to these losses, undergraduate Joy Little may be transferring. As a result that leaves just Elisa Romano, who was unable to compete in the Lady Lions, and Morrison as returning veterans.

"It'll sure be interesting," McGahan said. "Hopefully we'll have some incoming freshman who will want to play golf for us."

But things could be worse for the Minutewomen. McGahan said that the fall EAIAW tournament, which was originally scheduled to be held at an upstate New York State college, had to be transferred to Penn State's course because the state school was dropping eight (count 'em) eight sports.

CHIP SHOTS — McGahan was surprised to see, along with Cortland State, Salisbury State (Md.), and Ohio State among the missing ... She had expected them to be among the competing schools ... The top five individual finishers were extremely close, all being separated by just a stroke apiece ... And how about this, sports fans?

Ruggers win two of three frays; primed for weekend NE tourney

By RICHARD MOORE
Collegian Staff

The UMass rugby football club A side was outplayed and outscored, 14-10, Saturday by arch rival Amherst College, but the B and C sides both rolled to wins, making it two UMass wins in three tries for the weekend.

The A game is always the big one, though, and the Minutemen stumbled through this traditional match with their crosstown foe.

Amherst drew first blood when Russ Isaccs picked the ball up out of a scrummage and barreled through two would-be tacklers for a 4-0 lead. UMass forward Rick Fioravanti tied the game at 4-4, scoring a try off a scrummage near the Amherst goal line. After that score both sides shifted into low gear offensively and the half ended 4-4.

"It was a little strange for our boys going up against Amherst," UMass coach "Doc" Laurence said, "because a week ago they were playing side by side as buddies in Virginia."

Last week an all-star team of UMass and Amherst College A side players, known as the Bar Sinisters, competed in the Commonwealth Cup Tournament in Charlotsville, Virginia.

UMass took its first lead of the game, 7-4, on an Andy Middleton penalty kick, but Amherst came right back on a broken play near the Minutemen goal line. Doug Moses scooped up a loose ball and scooted in for an 8-7 Amherst lead, but Middleton's booming 45-yard penalty kick put the Minutemen back on top, 10-8.

Amherst started to carry the play and UMass, playing without captain Rick Lopes, wing John Mulray and fullback Jeff Stefani, crawled into a defensive shell and tried to hold the slim lead. The "D" held until two minutes were left and then Isaccs scored the winning try through a crowd of defenders at the UMass goal line.

"We just couldn't move the ball without Lopes, Mulray and Stefani," Laurence said, "and our forwards couldn't carry the offense."

"We played good defensive rugby, but over all they just out played us," Laurence added.

The UMass B side, led by two trys apiece by halfback Chuck Momney and scrumhalf Alistair Lammond, rolled over Trinity College's A side, 28-13. Momney and Lammond ran free all day and the UMass forwards pushed Trinity all over the field.

"Our forwards were smaller than theirs," Laurence said, "but they knew the game so much better they blew Trinity's forwards out."

Trys by number 8 Paul Chakoian and forward Glen "The sleeper" Conway and two conversions by Jim D'amico rounded out the Minutemen scoring.

The UMass C side avenged the earlier A side loss to Amherst, beating the Jeff B side, 10-9, in a hard fought defensive battle.

This weekend, May 14 and 15, UMass hosts the New England Rugby Football Tournament. There will be 30 sides competing and the tournament will run all day Saturday and Sunday at the two rugby fields west of the Boyden intramural fields and on two of the adjoining intramural fields. The championship game is Sunday at 2:30.

The Minutemen have their first contest Saturday morning at 9 a.m. against Mystic, a club that beat UMass, 11-0, last fall.

"We have a stronger side than we did then," Laurence said, and we've learned how to handle intimidation, which is what they did to us last time."

The Minutemen are in the unenviable position of playing pre-tournament favorite Beacon Hill if they get by the Mystic match.

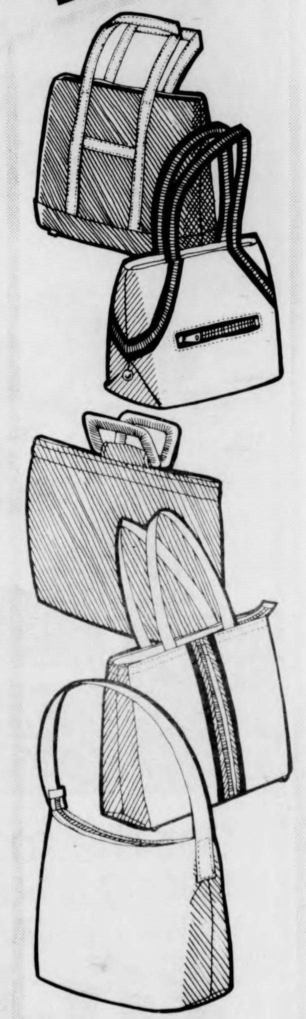
SCRUM SCRAPS — UMass is going into tournament injury free — The tournament is single elimination, so the champion earns it — MIT is the only college side to ever take the tourney and that was three years ago — Naturally there will be much beer and much partying throughout the tournament — "This event gives UMass students who don't know rugby a chance to see a fast and exciting sport with plenty of contact," Laurence said — If that sounds good check it out this weekend.

Summer
Work Study Positions:
Many opportunities throughout Mass. Some residential positions, some youthwork. Ask for Michael at 5-2646.

Work—Study Job Available
A 20 hour per week work-study secretary-research assistant position is available at $3.50 per hour starting May 15th and running through summer and next academic year. Position is to work on the UMass campus with the ELEMR Project. ELEMR is a research program which is examining the effects of the living environment on residents and staff of Belchertown State School. Although considerable typing and office chores are involved, this job has a variety of tasks and entails exposure to varied data gathering, analytic and statistical techniques. Applicants must be good typists and must be eligible for work-study funds.
Apply Mon.-Fri. 9:00-12:30 p.m. at 208 Middlesex House, UMass, or call 545-1981.

COFFEE SPECIAL
FOR EXAM WEEK
OPEN 24 HOURS * MAY 11-MAY 20
Exam Studiers & Other Night Owls:
We will be open 24 hrs. a day, from May 11-May 20. During this time, from 12 midnight to 7 a.m., fresh coffee will be only 15¢ a cup. Hungry too? Try our: Hot Dogs, Pastry, Tony's Hot Sandwiches, Cold Cut Grinders, Candy, Donuts, Cold Soda, Peanuts, Popcorn & assorted other munchies as well as our groceries and dairy products.
ALL STAR DAIRY FOODS
AMHERST ALL-STAR
"Not just a Milk Store"
87 MAIN STREET • AMHERST
Town Hall Bus Stop - SN-BR Bus Route

CANVAS BAGS



A variety of shapes and sizes. Zippers, snaps, outside pockets, inside pockets.
Red, yellow, natural, cocoa, navy, rust, black. $5. to $13.
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

Gazelles close out season today

By NICK KOTSOPOULOS
Collegian Staff

Providing that the skies clear and we return to more spring-like weather that we are accustomed to at this time of the year, the UMass women's lacrosse team will close its 1977 season out this afternoon when the Gazelles host Springfield College in 4 p.m. contest at NOPE field.

The Gazelles, who are coming off of a third place finish in the New England Women's Lacrosse Association Tournament during the weekend, are currently 9-2-1 on the season. Today they will be seeking their 10th season victory against the Chiefs, the most wins the Minutewomen have had in one season.

Although his Gazelles failed to bring back a New England Championship title from the weekend tournament like he had hoped for, UMass coach Frank Garahan was quite pleased with the performance of the women.

"You know," Garahan said, "we just about dominated the play in all three of our games we played and still we fell short of a title.

"In our first two games against Dartmouth and Middlebury, we started off rather slow, but we picked it up and blew them out in the second half.

"Then against UNH, we dominated the play in the first 15 minutes of the first half, but they took the play away from us in the late stages of the half. When we came out in the second half and they threw that stall at us, that took our offensive fastbreak play away."

Garahan also said that he was particularly proud of the play of the defense as a whole, a defense which has yet to allow a team score more than seven goals in one game.

"When you really get down to it," he said, "you have to say that we were inexperienced defensively when the season started. We had Chris Basile and Deb Ames returning from last year's team, but this was only their second year of competition.

"Then we have Lu-Ann Fletcher and Grace Martinelli, two people who had little experience at all, and yet our whole defensive unit not only did the job in the tournament, but they have done the job all season."

As for today's game, the fact that the Gazelles are playing Springfield should be more than enough to get them up for the game. For some reason, in women's sports here at UMass, whenever the Minutewomen play Springfield, it always provides for an interesting encounter.

Offensively, the Gazelles will be led as usual by the high-scoring frontliners: Nancy O'Neil, Julie Hall, Evie Sneeden and Carri Nickerson.

The condition of the field should be an important factor in the game because a wet, heavy field may slow down the Gazelles fastbreaking style of play which could be a disadvantage for them.

UMass' Nancy O'Neil fires a shot on goal against Mt. Holyoke while Julie Hall (back to camera) awaits in back of the net. The Gazelles close out their season today against Springfield. (Staff photo by Pat Dobbs)

Intramural softball reaches semi-round

By RUSS SMITH
Collegian Staff

Men's intramural softball has reached the semifinal round of playoff action. The semis were to be played yesterday, but New England prevailed with its seasonal snow-rain storms, and is threatening further action. What will happen now is anybody's guess since I don't know either.

I did get to talk to the managers of games played in the quarterfinal round (played last Thursday when the weather was normal) and here is an account of those games.

Bucs' coach Willy Huntress: "The Buc's defeated Les Boricas 2-1, advancing the Bucs to the semis. Brian 'P-nut' Vlash, who had hit a grand slam earlier in the playoffs, led the game off with a single. Kurt VanRiper followed with a double, scoring P-nut, and sacrifice fly by Rich 'Pud' Moore enabled Van Riper to score what turned out to be the winning run. Polish Power Pitcher, Joe Leonczyk pitched a two-hitter, and has now given up only three earned runs in the past four games. Pete 'Super sub' Smith (great last name) has been doing a fine job filling in as catcher, etc." F-Troop 7 Brewers-5.

John Thompson's Troop scored five runs in the first inning in what started out to look like a rout in their contest with the Brewers. The Brewers kept clawing back however, and in the fourth inning tied the game up.

The game went into extra innings, with neither team able to go ahead in the sixth. But in the seventh inning, shortstop Jim Boris got a hit and hustled around the bases for a double. His determination paid off, as eventually he scored the winning run. Just to be safe F-Troop added an insurance run also, and held off the B's in the bottom of the inning to clinch the game.

The win keeps the 'Troop undefeated with an 8-0 record. MacKimmie Movers-5 Mushrooms-0.

Sam Hilario pitched his first major league no-hitter as the Movers eliminated the Mushrooms from playoff action.

Hilario walked the first man to face him in the game, but didn't allow any other Mushroom to get on base (except for a Mover error-two outfielders collided.)

It was Hilario's third shutout of the year.

"We like being the underdog," commented manager Ed Saav.

The winning run came in the first inning, when a base hit by Julian Pina scored Saav, who had walked earlier.

MacKimmie added three more runs in the second. Greg John tripled in Ray Drew, who had retained a base on balls (walks'll kill you). Drew crossed home when Mike Delaney singled. And Delaney imitated Drew's action by scoring on a Saav basehit.

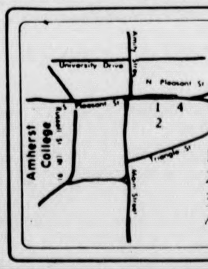
Another run in the fourth inning iced the issue.

And Kappa Sig remains alive in playoff action via its quarterfinal round victory.

That is, if the playoff can continue, weather permitting.

They should've doomed the intramural fields years ago!

Olof Daughters of Sweden, Inc.
Clogs, Boots, Shoes
350 Fifth Ave. New York, N.Y. 10001
Write for free catalogue
Name____________________
Street____________________
City__________ State__________ Zip__________



IF you are a serious student or educator, you're probably just as serious about your appearance. For the best in dry cleaning or related services....
1) Braff's
2) Hungry U
3) Fire Station
4) Post Office
Braff's Royl
Cleaners
103 N. Pleasant Street
256-8288
We're your "KNOW IT ALL" DRY CLEANER!

Bruins to get down to 'serious business' in tonight's playoffs

MONTREAL (AP) — Boston Bruins' coach Don Cherry says he believes that his team was adversely affected by the long layoff before the Stanley Cup Finals but that they will get down to serious business against the Montreal Canadiens tonight.

Boston lost the first of the best-of-seven series 7-3 Saturday.

"The layoff didn't do us any good," Cherry said. "Sure we also had a layoff before beating the Los Angeles Kings in the quarter-finals but this isn't Los Angeles — these are the Canadiens."

Cherry added, "With that layoff out of the way we'll be a lot stronger on today."

Wayne Cashman, Boston's acting captain, said he thinks that the outcome of tonight's game depends on what happens in the corners of the rink.

"We know what we did wrong on Saturday night," he said. "We didn't play our game, we have to be physical in the corners and we weren't, period. The Canadiens beat us at our game. There has to be more bumping today.

Montreal coach Scotty Bowman, obviously pleased with his team's performance in the opener, welcomed the two full days' rest. He told several players to take the day off from Sunday's practice before conducting a full dress rehearsal on Monday.

"We need a bit of rest," Bowman said. "Granted we still had the momentum from Thursday's win over the (New York) Islanders going for us on Saturday night but we have a lot of hurts that will be better tonight."

One player that Bowman can count on is defenseman Bill Nyrop, who injured rib muscles midway through the Canadiens' 6-0 victory over the Islanders in the semifinals.

Nyrop has been taking part in the heavy scrimmaging and appears fit to return to the lineup.

Nyrop's return could mean Montreal will sit out another defenseman or rookie forward Mike Polich. Bowman could use defenseman Rick Chartraw as a forward. Chartraw scored a goal from right wing Saturday night.

Gorillas stick it to Chiefs

By JAY SARET
Collegian Staff

Springfield — When David Bowie wrote the song 'Changes' he didn't have yesterday's lacrosse game in mind, but the lyrics were there.

First the change in weather, from summer temperatures to a wintry blizzard which caused the change in playing site from the originally scheduled home game on the grassy fields of Boyden to the astroturf of Springfield College. Then there was the change in the game ball from snow-camouflaged white to flake-resistant orange.

Still yet another change was in the starting line-up. From Goldstein to Cohen (in goal), from the Red and White lines to names like O'Brien, Yung, and Lautmen.

The only change that didn't occur was the expected outcome, as UMass trounced Springfield College, 16-9.

Norm Smith dodged the puddles and Springfield defenders to lead the Gorillas with five goals and three assists. Midfielder Dave Martin helped out with four goals and one assist.

"We figured them (Springfield) to be a normal Division Two team," said coach Dick Garber, indicating that the Division One Gorillas would have a fairly easy time of it.

And that they did, as they opened up a 10-4 lead late in the first half, before Springfield scored two quick ones in the last two minutes of the half to cut the lead to four.

Leading the way for UMass in the first half was Smith, who scored four of his five goals. Most of the playing time, however, went to the part-timers. Freshman net-minder Jeff Cohen played the entire first half, gaining his first start.

The midfielders' spots were taken by two major lines. One consisted of Fran Yung, David Lautman, and John O'Brien. The other was Billy Coke, David Reed, and Harry Conforti.

"They did a good job for us at Harvard," said Garber. "We felt they deserved the playing time."

At defense, Tim Murphy and Dick Carnall assumed most of the duties, as Richard Donovan worked his way back from an earlier injury.

The second half saw much of the same. Springfield never showed signs of challenging the Gorillas, as the score increased to 13-8 at the end of the third quarter.

Sophomore Eric Banhazl replaced Cohen in the nets for the second half, making five saves and yielding three goals.

At attack Garber chose to have one of the 'regulars' in most of the time.

Micky Menna grabbed six assists and Jeff Spooner two, as the senior attackmen passed up many a scoring opportunity in trying to feed fellow teammates.

Kevin Patterson, Michael Lettera, Terry Keefe, Steve Pappas, Wayne Ament, Chuck Smith, Ken Michaud and Toby Rice all received well-deserved rests.

Tomorrow the Gorillas travel to Providence, to take on the once-powerful Brown Bruins, who have run into some hard luck this year, losing many of their stars to graduation.

UMass has already clinched the New England Championship, having only one loss compared to the two losses all other New England teams have.

The game will be the sixth in the last 11 days for the Gorillas, and the last regular season game.

This Sunday, UMass will find out whether or not its season will continue, when the post-season tournament pairings are released.

"If we take Brown, we'll be 11-3, and we should get serious consideration for the tournament," Garber mused.

NET KNOTS.... Last year, the Gorillas faced Johns Hopkins in the first round of the NCAA tournament and gave it a scare, dropping the game in the final minutes, 11-9... Vin LoBello missed yesterday's game, and will sit out the Brown game because of two deep muscle pulls... UMass is currently ranked 10th but only eight teams are picked for the tournament.

UMass attackman Norm Smith (26) goes fishing for a ground ball at Springfield. (Staff photo by Jay Saret)

Batswomen end; host Springfield

By MEL WEBSTER
Collegian Staff

The most successful season in UMass softball history will come to an end today when the Minutewomen host Springfield College in a 2:30 game.

The 16-1 Minutewomen defeated the Chiefs in an earlier game this season 7-6. Springfield has lost only one other game, that to Bridgewater State, and the Chiefs sport a record of 11-2. They have been seeded number two in the Easterns behind Bridgewater.

Co-captain Gail Matthews will get her final start today as a Minutewoman. Matthews went 4 and two-thirds innings in the first Springfield game and was touched up for eight hits. She has a 6-1 record and a 2.70 ERA. Coach Dianne Thompson says Matthews' last two starts have been "very impressive."

The winning pitcher in the first Springfield game was freshman Gail Carter, who pitched 2 one-third innings of hitless ball. Carter has a spotless 4-0 slate, and a stellar ERA of 2.35. Carter will be used for relief again today if Matthews falters.

UMass enters today's game with some impressive statistics. In piling up their 16 victories, the Minutewomen have outscored their opponents 128 to 50, and outhit them 148 to 102. UMass has whiffed only once a game while the pitchers have struck out the opposition on the average of three per game.

Speed has been another factor in the impressive won-loss record. UMass has stolen three bases per game while the rifle arms of the Minutewomen catchers have help opposing runners to one a game.

Sue DiRocco, who has been on a torrid hitting pace, leads the team with an average of .413. She is also tops in RBI's with 19. Sue Peters is the second leading batter with a .392 average and 16 RBI's. She also leads in runs scored — 22 and stolen bases — 11. Carol Bruce has been doing a good job all year as leadoff batter and is second in runs scored with 21.

Thompson expects a tough game against the Chiefs, but feels her team has a great deal of momentum coming off its double victory against Vermont and will be ready for the game.

Summing up the season, Thompson said the most important aspect of the team was the strategies it used. "My game is a game of taking chances and the team adapted to this style very quickly and very well."

"The hitters also were very patient in waiting for their pitches to hit which is the reason why we received so many walks this season, four a game," she continued.

Besides Matthews, first baseman Heidi Dickson is the only other graduating member of the team. Dickson has been a stalwart at first base all season and her defensive play has been superb.

The eight teams have been selected for the Easterns and four of them have been victims of the Minutewomen. The only team in the tournament with a better record than UMass is Bridgewater which is undefeated this year and is seeded number one.

Coach Thompson cleared up the reason why the Minutewomen will not appear in the Easterns.

"The application for the tournament was due March 15, but I didn't submit it because I was told by the administration that the team would not be allowed to participate because one of the days of the tournament was during finals," Thompson said.

Thompson then rechecked on the situation and found that the team would have been able to play, but it was too late for the application to be submitted.

Thompson also checked on the possibility of being invited to play in the College World Series on an at-large berth, but found that the only way to play in the series was to win the regional titles.

"I really feel bad for the team, especially for Heidi and Gail," Thompson said. "The team had a great season and it's too bad they won't be able to show their talents in post season play."

The 1977 UMass softball season will come to an end late this afternoon, but somehow an injustice is being done.

Judy Van Handle

Random thoughts on a school year and sports

Ah, the end of the semester and the end of the school year.

It is mixed with bittersweet memories. Glad to be ending a hectic year of editing, writing, and somehow, schoolwork wedged in there somewhere; but sad to be leaving friends and a newspaper I have grown attached to over the year.

And as the bizarre May snow storm continues to swirl otuside in the night air, thoughts drift back to the beginning of the year.....

What promise it held.

—A football team which seemed primed for an outstanding season, after an 8-2 record the season before.

—A men's basketball team with all five starters back and ready to meet a challenge in a brand-new league.

—A baseball team shooting for a berth in the District I playoffs, hoping to avenge a final round loss to Maine from the previous year.

—And finally, a lacrosse team rated among the sixth in the nation the season past and hoping for another NCAA playoff berth.

But somehow, things just didn't pan out. The football team stumbled its way through a mediocre 5-5 campaign.

The basketball team was racked by dissension, and although it did upset Rutgers twice, it lost several games that it should have won, including the semifinal contest in the ECBL tourney.

The baseball team lost so many one-run games, its pitchers should sue for non-support. Its playoff hopes are almost non-existent.

Only the lacrosse team has succeeded. If it can win its final game and get some help from some other powers, perhaps it can sneak back into the top eight in the country and grab a tourney berth.

Reviewing the past year, it seems somewhat strange that sports which received little publicity when I was a freshman (three years back) are now among the top UMass powers.

The women's gymnastics team, aided by a couple of super recruits, finished the season strongly and came in fourth in the country. Two of the gymwomen may also qualify for the World Games.

The women's basketball team. Ah, what a squad it was. It exceeded everyone's expectations by recording a 15-4 regular season mark, and upset a former nationally ranked power in the process. Although a two-point upset to a team it had beaten twice previously ruined its national tournament aspirations, the Minutewomen will be back next season.

And, lo and behold, the softball team. Entering its season with a new coach, the Minutewomen have compiled a 16-1 regular record. But, irony of ironies, it will be unable to compete in the Eastern tournament due to a silly rule about finals interfering with the tourney.

Hey now, wait a minute. Is that really fair? Is it right to deprive a team of a well-deserved shot at the playoffs?

Perhaps it is a university policy, but I have to wonder whether or not the rule would be invoked if, say, the football team were to make a regional playoff, or the basketball team. Some little voice in me cries out that it probably wouldn't. But, the matter still remains. A group of deserving athletes is being cheated out of the chance to prove that it is the best team in its region. Is that true sport?

All right, maybe there's no point in being a dead horse or crying over spilled milk or using any of those tired, wornout cliches. But it is just not fair to these women who have worked so hard to get relatively nothing for their efforts.

And so it goes. Nothing ever seems right or fair at UMass, for some reason. Whether it be the absence of a hockey rink, or tuition increase, a faculty cutback, or a curriculum elimination, the student always seems to get the shaft.

Hark, though. There are a lot of success stories in the athletic department. Like the women's basketball team. Like the women's gymnastics team. Like the softball team. Like the men's and women's lacrosse teams. Like the men's track team.

But who out there knows it? The Springfield newspapers and the Boston Globe run stories ad infinitum about other schools, yet hardly mention UMass. But, of course, they can't print information they don't get.

It's about time certain members of the Athletic Department got off their respective haunches and started publicizing these teams, instead of sending out reams of garbage about a so-so football team which couldn't sell out if its life depended on it.

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 140 WEDNESDAY, MAY 11, 1977

Final ★ ★ ★ Collegian edition ★ ★ ★ ★

Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst, MA. 01003/ (413) 545-3500

And now, the end is near...

By KEVIN J. CLAFFEY
Collegian Staff

The end.

Something we, as UMass students, have sought since at least January 24. Today, we are forced to come to grips with the realities of separation from friends, places and a way of life.

For most, the summer vacation will be a three-month postponement from life at UMass. Seniors realize that this is the day they've been striving for since grade school and dreading since January.

"Stay in touch" becomes the phrase of the week. But they become hollow words which sidestep the inevitable or obvious. Phone messages lie unanswered, to avoid saying, 'goodbye' or 'stay in touch.'

Certainly there are relationships and friendships begun here which will be strengthened by time, but only thoughts of those you'll never see again are foremost.

They guy who lived on your floor when you lived in JA is someone you still see every Tuesday...but maybe no more. These are the harsh realities shunted by conversations about jobs and final exams.

UMass...the place where the last two or three years of our lives were spent. It became home, sometimes loved and often despised, but nevertheless it was home. After June and July with parents, brothers and sisters, August made us yearn for Amherst.

Critics of the college lifestyle say we live on a hill, far removed from "real" life. We know nothing of day-to-day, hand-to-mouth existence, and spout our liberal, idealistic philosophies about things we have no first-hand knowledge of. Others claim that UMass is a microcosm of the world. Things that go on here happen on a substantially larger scale in the outside world. And, it is said, we are a proving ground for new, innovative modes of thought and operation.

"I don't expect I'll see groups like the Student Revolutionary Brigade when I leave here," said senior Helen Aderhold. "But who knows what other kinds of things I'll have to deal with." We have grown accustomed to the luxuries or experimentation and trial and error in our lives at UMass.

This isn't the first time we've been thrust into an entirely unfamiliar environment. Eons ago, when we arrived at the concrete jungle called Southwest, we were in what we thought was the most uncomfortable of situations. We had to learn about things like dining commons, living on coed floors and assuming the responsibility for doing things ourselves.

The difference in transition from high school to college and from college to a career is the absence of a common bond. When we started here we were in this together, there was a camaraderie almost to the extent of it being a joint effort. When living in a campus atmosphere there is a mutuality of interests, but for seniors a new struggle is emerging.

We were children with our parents to guide us, both morally and financially. Summers were a whirl of hard work, hard play and all profit. There was always something or someone to rely on and one would rarely be bored. Classes, parties and vacations comprised the entire cycle of our lives.

"I suppose I could stay around and find a job," mused senior David C. Devine, "but too many people don't realize that this is just a jumping-off point. I've got my start, I've learned, and, God knows, I've had a great time, but it's time to move on."

Some will review their careers and exploits at UMass with regret that they didn't accomplish more, yet some will remember the things done and look back with pride on their endeavors. Nonetheless, neither group can languish and merely reflect on UMass. We have learned to proceed, to [illegible] forward and not dwell on [illegible] achievements.

This is the pinnacle [illegible] a semester, a year and, [illegible] the end of a way of life.

inside

Commencement speakers have been chosen for graduation. See Nikki Aronson's story on page 3.

Sleeping in the library when you're supposed to be studying? It won't do you any good unless you get enough dream sleep and deep sleep. Richard Barrell reports on Page 3.

A review of the past year's events was compiled by News Editor Bernard Davidow and runs on Page 5 of today's paper.

Southwest Assembly held its last meeting of the semester last night, and, as usual, didn't do much. See the story by Larry Cohen on Page 2.

Thanks to the Bluewall for their indulgence in letting us put the last issue out amidst beer and song. And Mr. Policeman — Judy is out to get you.

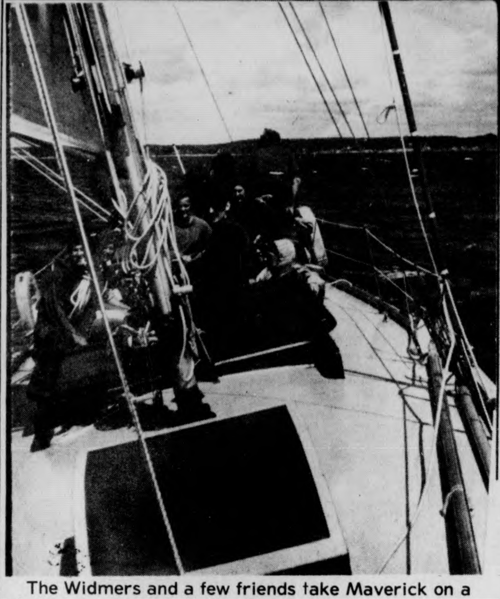
THANKS

Thank you Collegian staff! You've all been great and we love you.

The girls in Ware

weather

Thank God! It's going to be partly sunny today with highs in the 60's. It will be fair tonight. It's a marked improvement over Monday. I wish spring would get here!



The Widmers and a few friends take Maverick on a shakedown cruise off the Massachusetts coast. (Al Slisky photo).

Students to sail

Atlantic cruise planned

By DUKE SIMONEAU
Collegian Staff

Many New England tales of adventure spring from the days of "wooden ships and iron men", when stalwart Massachusetts men wandered the world in their crafts hewed from the Maine forests.

On June 11, 25-year-old Pat Widmer, an engineering junior here, his brother Jim, a 22-year-old polisci senior, their parents Thomas and Monabelle, and two friends will set out in the Widmer's 42-foot wooden sloop. Their destination — Europe and the Mediterranean, then back across the Atlantic to knock around the Caribbean for the winter, and back up the coast next spring.

With the Widmers will be physics major Al Slisky, 22, and former UMie Bob Manus, 21. The Widmers, Slisky, and Manus are all from Lexington.

Thomas Widmer, 45, was the seed for the dream trip. "It's been in my mind for several years," he said. "Five years ago, I bought the Maverick. It was a stripped down racing boat. We redesigned the entire interior. Now it's totally self-supporting."

"It was a mess," said Pat. "Words do not describe the amount of work, time, money and engineering skills poured into her." The talent was readily available. The elder Widmer is vice president of Marketing and Research at Thermo Electron in Waltham. Besides Pat's engineering training at UMass, Slisky contributed considerable skills from his background working in UMass' physics machine shop.

Slisky is also the main photographer for the expedition. "He's set up with a complete Nikon outfit and waterproof cases he made himself," said Pat. "He makes a lot of stuff himself. That's exactly why he's part of the crew."

The Maverick is 42-feet long, with oak ribs and a cedar hull. Widmer said the only concession to technology is the 60-foot aluminum mast.

"It'll carry three sails at once. We have 10 different sails in Maverick's inventory, to use according to weather and other conditions," explained Pat. He added that the ship will comfortably sleep eight to 10 persons, so space won't be a real problem.

Curiously, none of the adventurers had done any serious sailing before Widmer bought this boat. Since buying her, the senior Widmer has taken courses in ham radio operation and celestial navigation.

"He's pretty good at it too," smiled Pat. "He can tell you where you are within 2½ to 5 miles in the open ocean. That's not too shabby."

The boat is equipped with a self-steering vane, electrical generators, ice maker and other comforts, all designed by Widmer senior.

"Most of these things could have been commercially bought," admitted Widmer. "But there are advantages to building your own. If you design it yourself, you can fix it yourself. Also, you can design it to do exactly what you want it to. Many of these things wouldn't be made by a manufacturer the way we've made them. It just wouldn't be practical, cost-wise."

What are the things some of the sailors want most out of a trip like this? Thomas Widmer said he wanted to "Explore some of the more mystical aspects of the Morroccan culture." Each of the others has their own place and things to see.

The only concern Pat expressed was about the possibility of piracy. "Piracy is a very real thing," he said. "Especially with a boat like this. They'll slit your throat, take your boat, make a couple drug runs and send the whole thing to the bottom. That's why we're carrying lots of radio gear."

The trip isn't entirely pleasure. Jim Widmer and Slisky are definitely getting UMass internship credits for various projects, including analysis' of foreign harbors. Pat may or may not get credit as yet. Widmer is writing a book on industrial energy, when not on one of the twice a day, two person 4 hour watches the crew will serve, 24 hours a day.

The only Widmer not going along is Tom and Monabelle's daughter Monica, who is getting married a week before the launch.

"Otherwise she'd be coming too, I'm sure," said Pat.

When asked about the almost all-male crew, Pat grinned. "We're still looking for a young, nubile shipswoman who's slightly promiscuous. She'd only have four of us to serve. Of course, my father hasn't been consulted on that and he's still the boss. But if he gets outta hand, we'll keel-haul the blighter."

UMass junior Pat Widmer checks the bow of the Maverick in her dock in Manchester, Mass. (Al Slisky photo)

Southwest approves result of recent election

By LARRY COHEN
Collegian Staff

The Southwest Assembly (SWA) voted last night to approve the election results of April 22, despite objections by Donald Bishop, one of the candidates.

The election results had been challenged by Southwest residents Ed Bachelder and Peter Clinch for alleged violations of campaign regulations and misuse of campaign funds by some of the candidates. The charges against the candidates were dismissed last Thursday by the Student Judiciary.

Bishop objected to the elections on the grounds that the assembly never approved the election rules and therefore, the rules were invalid.

"If there are no rules," said Bishop, "how can we have a fair and just election?"

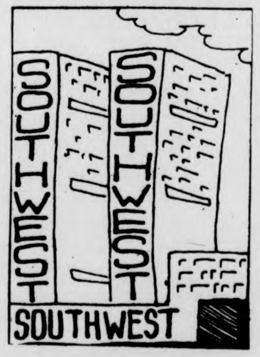
In other business last night, the assembly approved a $25,192 budget request for Southwest Programming. The money, down almost $2,000 from last year, will go towards course fees, academic program support, and staff payment.

In its final action of this semester, SWA passed the following motion:

Whereas: We, in the Southwest Assembly are fully aware of his hard work and appreciate his efforts:

Be it resolved: That the Southwest Assembly make Christopher Durkin an honorary president of the Southwest Assembly.

The motion was passed unanimously.



UMass bill bigger next fall

By ANN TRENEMAN
and NIKKI ARONSON
Collegian Staff

Students returning for the fall semester will be paying $249 dollars more to complete their education at UMass as an inflated economy takes its toll on student fees.

"Tuition will be up $135.00 over last year's rate of $480.50" according to Student Government Association co-President Marion L. Batiste yesterday. Batiste added the figures of a $56 increase for board over last semester's fee of $795 and a Health increase of $16 over the current $108 fee.

She attributed these increases to "the required cost of living adjustments and general inflationary costs." The Campus Center fee will be $79, a $15 increase for next semester. Student Activities Tax Fee, as approved by all Recognized Student Organization (RSO) groups this semester, will be increased from $57 to $64, a $7 increase.

Athletic Fee and Fine Arts Fee will not be increased and will remain at $30 and $6 respectively.

Students who pay a meal fee will be given a $45 average increase over current meal ticket charges.

The gap will widen next year between student fees and tuition fee hikes, and the maximum financial aid allotments available to students.

Student fees will increase 14 per cent for Fiscal Year (FY) '77-'78 while the maximum financial aid allotment will rise only 10 per cent.

All fee increases, except for $27 where caused directly by cost of living adjustments for state employes, there will be no requests for more money due to program changes or additions.

The two exceptions were board and the student government increases. The $45 meal increase relates the rising cost of food. The $7 Student Activities Tax Fee is a direct result of lowering enrollment forcing the increase to supply the same facilities for students.

"The increase due to the cost of living is mandated by the legislature and therefore justified," said Undergraduate Student Senate Speaker Brian DeLima yesterday.

"The problem," said DeLima, "associated with faculty unionization producing a collective bargained contract is that it will have a direct and immediate influence on the student pocketbook."

This, the last issue of the semester, was prepared almost entirely by seniors graduating with majors in the Collegian and other departments.

Issue Editor Thomas M. Crowley

Assistant Issue Editor	Paula J. Prokop
Night Manager	Kevin J. Claffey
News Desk	Teresa M. Hanafin
Copy Desk	Paul R. Bradley
Sports Desk	Francis A. Sypek, Nicholas C. Kotsopoulos, Scott W. Hayes, Russell D. Smith
Editorial Layout	Melanie J. Johnson
Screaming Boohoo	William B. Parent
Day Layout	Charles F. O'Connor
Head Darkroom Rechs	Christopher J. Bourne, Daniel R. Smith
Graphics Techs	Susan Dvorachek, Cynthia McLeod, Douglas Surette
Flag Photo	Chuck the Kidd
Advertising Layout	Ellyn B. Faber
Wire Layout	Paul J. Blumberh
Miss Lillian Layout	William P. Edelstein

Aloha.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

	Semester	Year
Off-campus	$9	$15
On-campus delivery	$5	$9

Mail delivery to Amherst area same day of business day publication. In Massachusettss, the following day. Outside Massachusetts, no delivery guarantee. Send check or money order to The Daily Collegian. Allow two weeks for delivery to start.

The office of The Daily Collegian is in Room 113 of the Campus Center on the campus of the University of Massachusetts. Telephone 545-3500.

Second class postage is paid in Amherst, Massachusetts 01003. The Daily Collegian publishes Monday through Friday during the academic year, except during vacation, exam periods, and holidays. Accepted for mailing under the authority of an act of March 8, 1879; as amended by an act of June 11, 1943.

Funeral service held for UMass professor

Funeral services were held yesterday for Dr. James E. Lynch, 54, professor of communications at UMass, who died Saturday at the Boston University)Medical Center.

Lynch produced and directed more than 350 educational radio and television programs and contributed to textbooks and journals in the communications field. He was an editor of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters Journal, and an officer in the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Born in Medina, N.Y., Lynch was chairman of the UMass Communications Studies department from 1970 to 1975 before returning to his professorship. Previously he had taught at the University of Iowa, Indiana University, and Ohio State University.

Lynch received his bachelors and masters degrees and a doctorate from the University of Michigan, and was a recipient of the distinguished service award of the Ohio Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

He was a veteran of World War II, and served in the Korean conflict.

Lynch is survived by his wife, Eleanor, and three daughters, Katherine D., Nancy K., and Julie A.

A funeral Mass was held yesterday in St. Brigid's Church in Amherst. Burial was in Medina, N.Y.

Speakers chosen for commencement

By NIKKI ARONSON
Collegian Staff

Bryan A. Harvey and William B. Parent have been chosen to speak at the 107th Commencement of UMass.

Harvey and Parent were selected from 17 candidates who applied for the speakership positions.

Harvey, a political science major, was a member of the Undergraduate Student Senate for three years as a senator from Northeast Area government and as a commuter representative. He has held the position of communications director for the senate and has served on the senate Coordinating Committee.

"I think people should leave UMass being told what they already know," Harvey said yesterday.

Parent, an education major, was a counselor in MacKimmie dormitory in Southwest for one year. He was elected to the position of Editor-in-Chief of the Massachusetts Daily Collegian in his sophomore year. A member of Delta Chi fraternity, Parent is currently a teaching assistant in the journalism department.

Ruth Green, assistant to the Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, said yesterday that two speakers were chosen "to appeal to a greater group of students. Both speakers chosen are well-qualified."

"I refuse to be cynical about the future," said Parent. "I've met too many talented, concerned people here to believe all that garbage about the seventies."

Parent said he feels it is a great honor. "I hope that people find my talk worthwhile."

Four distinguished individuals are scheduled to receive honorary degrees during commencement.

Prof. Chinua Achebe, a leading novelist who writes primarily about modern Africa, will be given a degree of Doctor of Humane Letters. Ada Louise Huxtable, architectural editor of The New York Times, will receive a Doctor of Fine Arts degree; Rae Cecilia Kipp, former chairperson of the Mass Board of Education will receive the degree of Doctor of Law; and Francis P. Lucier, president of Black and Decker Manufacturing will receive the degree of Doctor of Law.

University President Robert C. Wood and Amherst Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery will address the graduating class of more than 5,000 seniors.

The ceremony will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the south end of the stadium. The procession starts at 10 a.m. The Commencement ceremony is scheduled to end at noon.

There is no alternative site for commencement in the event of inclement weather.

Gregg Finn, public relations liaison for the Mass. Farm Bureau, has been chosen as the main speaker for the 55th Commencement of the Stockbridge School of Agriculture which will be held Friday, May 20 at 1:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

Stockbridge Student President for the class of 1977, Edward Pearson, and Stockbridge Senate President Brian Kelly will deliver the invocation along with Student Ronald Shillady.

Paul Parks, secretary of Educational Affairs, has been invited to be a member of the platform party. Other members of the platform party include Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery, Vice-Chancellor Robert L. Woodbury, Dean Ross S. Whaley of the College of Food and Natural Resources, Director John W. Denison of the Stockbridge School, and Ioan Mae Reynolds, associate director.

Music will be provided by the UMass Faculty Brass Ensemble.

Faculty, Whitmore resume labor talks

By MARY BROWN
Collegian Staff

Negotiations are expected to begin shortly between the UMass faculty union and administration after nearly a month of informal discussions to resolve disagreements over certain groups included in the union, the UMass president's office announced yesterday.

An agreement which would allow the two groups to meet at the bargaining table was ratified yesterday at a general membership meeting of the Amherst branch of the union, the Massachusetts Society of Professors (MSP), chapter President Larry S. Roberts said yesterday.

The University trustees will vote on the agreement at a special meeting of the board May 18, according to the press release announcing the agreement.

Under the agreement, department chairpersons, one of the four groups the University objected to, will hold an election to determine whether their group should be included in the bargaining unit, Roberts said in a telephone interview.

The chairpersons will be able to decide if they want to remain part of the faculty union, as they currently are under the Massachusetts Labor Relations Commission ruling, form a separate unit or not be associated with the faculty unit, he said.

The administrators and the union also agreed that visiting professors be reclassified from those who have taught at UMass at least two years to those who have taught at least three years, according to Roberts.

He said the disagreement over part-time faculty was resolved by including only those listed as teaching half-time or more, or those who have taught a total of five courses in three consecutive semesters.

The fourth disputed group, professors paid out of "soft money" grants or non-state monies, will abide by any limitations and restrictions in the grants in the way they would be paid, he said.

In the press release, Wood said the trustees "look forward" to resolving the conflicts which have held up negotiations thus far.

Sleep cures man's ills

By RICHARD E. BARRELL
Collegian Staff

Dream sleep has evolved into some sort of antidote to the negative effects of so-called deep sleep.

This is one of the conclusions of UMass doctoral candidate Bruce E. Rideout, who will complete today a two-year research project on sleep.

In his laboratory in Tobin Hall, amid mice and mazes, Rideout has spent the past six years as a post-graduate at UMass — four years were spent as a graduate student in Psychology, and the past two were spent doing the sleep research.

According to Rideout, an interesting fact about sleep is that it is made up of more than one state.

Rapid eye movement sleep, or REM sleep, involves an extremely high level of brain activity and is not necessarily "restful." Energy is not conserved. It is in this "active brain state" that most dreams occur.

The other type of sleep, commonly called "slow wave sleep", or non-REM sleep (N-REM), is deep sleep which seems to have an energy conserving and restorative effect, he said.

Rideout said his investigations concern REM sleep, or more accurately, the effects of REM sleep deprivation on the ability of mice to learn a task. Through his research, Rideout said he hoped to understand better what functions this very active state serves.

According to Rideout, some research has suggested that in humans, REM sleep is important in emotional adjustment.

Selective deprivation of REM sleep is associated with "learning deficits" in animals, he said. "Learning deficits" are a temporary impairment of the ability to learn a specific task. But, according to Rideout, there are many conflicting studies, and REM deprivation has different effects on different kinds of tasks.

In his study Rideout said he is looking at the effects of REM deprivation on mice measured by their ability to learn a maze.

To deprive his mice of REM sleep, Rideout said he places them on a small pedestal in a cage partially filled with water for three hours each day, following a trial on the maze.

During their time on the pedestal, mice can go into non-REM sleep because muscle tone is retained in this state. REM sleep is not possible on the pedestal, however, due to a dramatic loss of muscle tone which occurs in this state, he said.

According to Rideout, some mice do not sleep at all while on the pedestal. They remain active grooming themselves and climbing on the inside of the cage cover.

The performance on the maze by mice that stay awake is measured against "sleepers".

Rideout said his results have shown that learning deficits associated with REM deprivation occur only in those mice which have shown periods of isolated N-REM sleep while on the pedestal.

Rideout said his research indicates that N-REM sleep in isolation, without the REM sleep that normally follows, appears to be the specific cause of the learning deficit.

In his research, he has also found that the learning deficit is not due to the stress of the procedure, or due to the sleepers being less bright, he said.

Rideout said his research shows that one cannot draw the simplest conclusion from REM deprivation studies.

Doctoral candidate Bruce E. Rideout prepares the maze for his mice. Rideout is finishing a two year sleep research project at Tobin hall today. (Staff photo by Richard E. Barrell)

Stooges violent (nyuk, nyuk..)

By DALE M. HALON
Collegian Staff

If you watch the Three Stooges, you are watching anywhere between one and three violent acts per minute.

A study was recently spawned by the Communication Studies (ComStu) Department to determine the extent of violence in Three Stooges short features.

The ComStu research group viewed 23 short features from WSBK-TV (channel 38) in Boston, and tabulated the contents of programs on two levels; those starring Curley, and those starring Shemp (Moe, Curley, and Shemp are all brothers).

It was discovered that the average 20-minute short feature with the original Curley has 31 violent acts. In contrast, shorts featuring Shemp contain two-thirds more, or over 50 violent acts per 20-minutes.

Almost every violent act was accompanied by a sound effect. Slaps, punches, falls, and flying objects all have their distinct sounds. Drums, bells, and whistles are the most frequent sounds.

Other results of the study showed women always portrayed in subservient roles and an average of only one and one-half female actresses in each program.

The Three Stooges also commit many crimes in their routines. They evade police, steam submarines, cheat on taxes, and even assault an army officer.

A department spokesperson, concerned about the harmful effects that "unrealism" has on children said "People don't act like that. Unfortunately," he added, "There is no statistical data yet available to prove harmful effects."

The spokesperson also said another study will be conducted soon to measure these effects on a short-term basis.

'Journey' relates everyman's growth

By CINDY YOUNG
Collegian Staff

Is your work load getting you down? Do you need a break? Tonight through Friday night, "The Journey: A Mythical Musical will be presented in Bowker Auditorium."

"The Journey", an "everyman's story" is a musical dance drama; an integration of the arts. It relates the story of a man's journey into himself, and how he experiences loneliness, sexuality, hope, and despair."

The lead is played by music major, Peter Boynton. Boynton is a strong performer, with a masterful voice. He has also performed on campus in the University productions "Guys and Dolls" and "Hollow Crown".

What seems to make this production so special is perhaps the fact that it is a total undergraduate, original work. It is the final result of four University student's senior honor projects. Through the University's B.D.I.C. program, these students were able to collaborate their various talents into the final production.

"The Journey" began as an idea in the mind of Daniel R. Cain, the playwright and producer. Last summer Stephen Greeley, a music-theatre major, added the music, and in December, Amy J. Swanson and Deborah Carlton joined the group as choreographer and costume designer. It is the first time that any such project, has been accomplished through B.D.I.C. program.

The project will all come together tonight at 8:00 p.m. For undergraduate director Ralph H. Anderson, it has been a long haul but the results are quite rewarding. "It is very rare indeed, that an undergraduate director has the chance to work with a composer, choreographer and playwright with complete original material."

To help handicapped

UMass to get more $

By LAURY ROBERTS
Collegian Staff

Paul Appleby has accomplished a feat rarely heard of in Massachusetts. He convinced the state that his office needed three times the amount of money it was originally granted.

Appleby, director of Handicapped Student Affairs at UMass will oversee expenditure of a $120,000 state award which must be used to reduce "architectural barriers" on campus this summer.

The office at first requested $40,000 when it was notified that money was available for such renovations in state-owned buildings. When Appleby found out that representatives of the Architectural Barrier Board were going to tour the campus, he bolstered the list of already proposed projects, a move which resulted in a much larger allocation. This is the first project the state has undertaken.

"I'm sure the state will get every inch of publicity it can out of this," says Appleby.

Renovations will include bathroom and shower modifications in Boyden and North Physical Education, Herter, Bartlett, Tobin, Boutage and Marston Halls. Curb cutouts will be constructed near Hasbrouck, Farley, Boutage and Morrill Halls, as well as the School of Ed. Internal and external ramping will be installed in the same buildings, along with Bartlett and Herter Halls. Handrails will be placed along the Whitmore ramp, in the Fine Arts Center, the Old Chapel, Curry Hicks, Munson and Machmer Halls.

And there's still more to do. "It really didn't go that far," says Appleby. "We can't do over the number of bathrooms around campus that we'd like to."

The money can only be used for projects in state buildings, which eliminates most of the dorms and all of the dining commons, which are owned by bond holders. So, the primary concern will be the academic buildings. "It makes sense to start with those buildings, anyways," says Appleby. "If a handicapped student can't get to class why should he come here at all?"

Twelve wheelchair-bound students do attend UMass, double last year's enrollment. Five of those students each have a single room along one corridor in Patterson House.

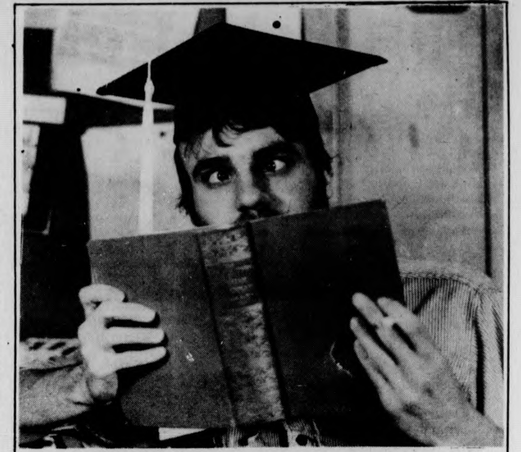
"Physical barriers are one thing — you can get rid of them. The main thing is to make people aware of the needs of handicapped students," says 19-year-old Sandy Cohen, a freshman from Wakefield. The walls of her room are decorated with posters of a swimmer and a board beam gymnist. Sandy is a quadraplegic, paralyzed from the waist down since birth.

"Handicapped students don't want pity; they can be your friend. They have to be treated like every other student. Sure, maybe we need more physical help, but we're still human," says Cohen.

"Once you start talking about the perceptions of handicapped students, it's manipulative," says Brad Brigham, 21, an English major from Colrain. "People don't know how to react, but they're open. They're just not familiar with the situation." Brigham is a paraplegic as a result of a spinal injury received in a motorcycle accident five years ago.

Brigham says that by having one dorm renovated for handicapped students tends to group them just because there is no other place to live. "I'm aware that I'm part of a group," says Cohen, "but I try to think of myself as an individual."

"When there's only one corridor for handicapped students on campus, it's hard not to be a group," says Appleby. "It can create isolation and inhibit interaction between handicapped and non-handicapped students. Interaction can dispel rumors and enhance self-concept. I'd like to see complete integration and you can't do that in one dorm."



Gary S. Kaplan, the "4.0 kid," will be graduating summa cum laude from the English Honors Department next Saturday. His advice to freshmen? "Don't do what I did unless you can remain a normal human being." Kaplan claims he pulled an average of two all-nighters a week to achieve his 3.99 overall cum. (Staff photo by John Silletto)

UMass to research NE female lit

By FIFI BALL
Collegian Staff

Funds are expected to support student research for a course in women's literature of the New England region.

Prof. Margo Culley has been selected by the Modern Language Association's Commission on the Status of Women to teach the course for the Women's Studies Program and the English Department.

Fifteen campuses across the country have been chosen as centers for undergraduate research projects in regional women's literature.

Students enrolled in the two-semester course will investigate published materials of little known writers; diaries, letters, and other archival materials; as well as oral literature.

The Commission is waiting to be awarded money by the Fund for the Improvement of Post-secondary Education.

The course will be open to all undergraduate students, with priority given to Women's Studies students in case of overcrowding.

The course will be the equivalent of an advanced seminar, a requirement for Women's Studies students. An alternative seminar will also be offered next semester.

Students interested in taking the course should contact the Women's Studies office, Room 508 Goodell, at 545-1922, or Prof. Culley at 272 Bartlett Hall.

In addition, this summer the Women's Studies Program will offer two courses.

"Lives in Tension" will be taught May 24-July 6, Monday-Friday from 11:15 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. by Arlene Ryan and Dale Melcher. Using the autobiographical writings of Emma Goldman, Ida B. Wells, and Agnes Smedley, the course examines their reasons for becoming activists in a particular movement. This will be the last time this course is offered.

"Women in Society" will be taught July 11-August 18, at the same time, by Patricia Murphy. This course will investigate "the effects of sexism on women's lives and on the studies of women's lives, the functions of sexism for the social system, and the relationships among racial, ethnic, and social class distinctions."

To sign up for either of these summer courses, contact the Summer Session office, Room 239 Whitmore (545-0584), by Friday.

Administrators urge check cashing return

By JEAN CONLEY
and SAM HASSAN
Collegian Staff

Four University administrators will urge a continuance of limited check cashing services in the Bursar's office for next fall when they meet with Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery this Friday, May 13.

Bromery will press for the elimination of check cashing at the meeting, he said last night. "I don't know yet what my reaction to the recommendation will be," said Bromery, "because I haven't seen the scheme yet."

Vice-Chancellor for Student Affairs Robert L. Woodbury, one of the administrators who will report to Bromery, said, "We ought to maintain some sort of check cashing service." Asked what type of limited service will be offered, Woodbury said, "I don't really know, possibly cashing University checks one day and personal checks another. It's a loser either way."

All four administrators involved in the decision process for the services, and Bromery have said they favor the establishment of a commercial branch bank on campus. Bromery says a commercial bank on campus will become a reality "when the Campus Center Board of Governors says it would like to entertain bids for a bank."

Board of Governors member Michael Pill said the board wants to come up with an alternative to a commercial bank.

Such an alternative would be a student-run service of some kind.

The board is presently investigating such a possibility.

DC menu

TODAY

LUNCH — Hamburgers, Cheese Ravioli; Basics: Vegetable Hot Pot, Cheese Ravioli

DINNER — ALL — CAMPUS BARBEQUE AT SOUTHWEST PLAYING FIELDS; (Indoor menu at Franklin D.C. only), Barbequed Chicken Half, Macaroni and Cheese; Basics: Barbequed Chicken Half, Macaroni and Cheese

TOMORROW

LUNCH — Deli Ham Sandwich, Broccoli Cauliflower Casserole; Basics: Salmon Patties-Egg Sauce, Broccoli Cauliflower Cass.

DINNER — Chopped Beefsteak Special, Chicken Cutlet with Supreme Sauce; Basics: Chicken Cutlet with Supreme Sauce, Soybean Souffle

Seabrook occupiers need affidavits

MassPIRG has announced that occupiers who were arrested and have returned on bail need to make a written statement of the events that occurred from the time they were arrested until the time they were released on bail.

These statements, when notarized, become affidavits for court use in the class action suit being filed by the American Civil Liberties Union against the state of New Hampshire. Affidavit forms will be available at the MassPIRG office, Rm 413C in the Student Union.

Seabrook program slated for video

A video program of the recent May Day occupation of the Seabrook Nuclear Power Plant site at Seabrook, New Hampshire, will be shown Friday at 1 and 3 p.m. in 165 Campus Center, and at 7 and 9 p.m. in the Student Union.

Coverage will include the previous occupation in August of 1976, and interviews with Gov. Meldrim Thomson, State Police, National Guard and key nuclear power opponents. Donation is one dollar, which will go to the Clamshell Alliance to help with legal fees and bail.

JOBS AVAILABLE

Applications now being accepted for the following positions in the SGA:

1. Assistants to the SGA Officers
2. Inventory
3. Secretary
4. Orientation and Consulting
5. Course and Teacher

Applications and job descriptions in Rm. 420 Student Union. Deadline, Thursday, 4 p.m.
The Student Government Association is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer.

APPLY NOW
FOR WORK STUDY JOBS
in the Summer & Fall

Help organize the Campus Communication Network — write and layout the newsletters, pamphlets, design posters, do research, write articles.

Apply at the
STUDENT ORGANIZING PROJECT
426 SUB 545-2415
before the end of the semester.

Third World Women Center

Positions Open

Coordinator
Vice President
Treasurer
Secretary (Work Study)

$ Call Anika $
546-4538

No later than Friday, May 5

It's been real

UMass year in review

By BERNIE DAVIDOW
Collegian Staff

Here are some of the more important events that have made headlines in the Collegian since last September:

SEPTEMBER

—Mao Tse-tung dies at 82.

—A Southwest student is suspended for allegedly throwing a cinderblock from the ninth floor lounge of George Washington Tower. One student had been hit on the head with a roll of toilet paper tossed from one of the Southwest high-rises. A weight had also been thrown. 1,000 Southwest students ask that offenders be suspended.

—Columnist Art Buchwald tells 1,250 that America "can't be all bad."

—Paul L. Puryear, 42, provost at Florida State University in Tallahassee, confirms he will become new provost and vice chancellor for academic affairs here.

—First Carter and Ford debate seen by 100 million.

—A group of students involved with the Student Health Advisory Board charge some UMass Health Service employes with "illegal or improper conduct," indicating possible corrupt financial practices.

OCTOBER

More than 2,000 students sign petition to block efforts to place a commercial bank in the space currently used as a study room and music lounge, although administrators repeatedly deny they have any current plans to do so. "Two years ago we went out for some bids, and several banks submitted bids," Bromery said, but that "the project would have to be rebid." The commercial bank would replace the Student Union check cashing facilities, cited as too small.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader, speaking at a campus anti-nuclear teach-in, tells 900 "Only the United States can raise questions and do something to stop nuclear power plants in the world."

David R. Clark announces his resignation as chairperson of the English dept. after a 14-month stint.

Charlotte Allen, the Collegian women's coordinator, and Allen Sparks, head of Baroque-Enterprises, debate the issue of pornography on radio. The WMUA broadcast drew the station's largest telephone response in history.

The Board of Trustees approve a $16 million increase in its FY '78 budget request for UMass, bringing the total to $128 million.

Rent control is defeated by Amherst Town Meeting for the third time in two years. It also rules it is still unlawful for more than four unrelated persons to live together in Amherst, and sends the Northwest Road issue to committee to report back in the spring.

Former Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver talks to 1,000 often hostile persons, declaring "With all its faults, (the U.S. is) the freeset nation on the face of the planet Earth."

NOVEMBER

Jimmy Carter wins the presidency in one of the tightest faces in modern political history. Olver, Conte and Kennedy win their respective races. In the referendum questions, the bottle bill is defeated by less than 15,000 votes and a proposed ban on the private ownership of handguns is also defeated.

Mel Blanc speaks before 15000 students: "I couldn't decide which was tougher, the Bronx or the Brooklyn accent, so I added them both together and Bugs was born."

Southwest student is aquitted of charges that he threw a cinderblock from Washington Tower.

Fire at Crown Point destroys 11 apartments.

Rent control is defeated by Amherst residents after it is brought to a town referendum. "I feel it's a clear indication that the residents of the town don't want rent control," says Amherst Selectman Diana Romer.

The Student Senate calls for a student boycott of teacher and course evaluation forms in departments that refuse to make the info public.

Dean of Students and acting director of the Campus Center William F. Field says the Student Union check cashing facility must move because of inadequate security and poor working conditions.

Swine flu vaccines begin for students on Nov. 11.

DECEMBER

No decision is reached in faculty vote for a collective bargaining agent. The American Association of University Professors, which received the least votes, is eliminated.

Gary Gilmore is sentenced to death by the Utah Board of Pardons. Gilmore told the board chairperson, "Thank you."

SWA establishes a board to review possible "sexist and oppressive" content of films shown in Hampden Student Center. Later in the month Student Judiciary rules that SWA cannot ban porn films from the center.

UMass junior commits suicide in his Sylvan dorm room.

Seventeen persons are arrested on charges of "disturbing the peace" and "disorderly persons" after trying to block a forced eviction at Puffton Village Apartemtns in North Amherst.

Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Robert L. Woodbury orders investigation of alleged "dangering behavior" by Kappa Sigma fraternity members on Gorman House dormitory residents.

The Journalism formally requests it become a separate department.

Hampshire County Superior Court judge Earl Tamburello denies Earl Brown's request for bail pending a new trial.

JANUARY

BROMERY says UMass-Amherst is "very close to the threshold of disaster" if it is level funded.

The Student Senate Transit Service buses are taken off the roads for intersession because of the administration's inability to obtain liability insurance.

Puffton Village 17 given continuances without findings for six months and assessed $50 each.

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis releases bare bones state proposal budget of $4.1 billion for FY '78. It includes $8 million less for UMass-Amherst than the $76.4 million requested.

January temperatures in Boston average 23.3 degrees.

A Collegian editor-in-chief, who shall remain unnamed, pleads with three campus lovelies to subject him to brutal tortures inspired by C.M. Manson. Ronald J. Arena pleads with (l to r) Patrice J. Amero, Aris Daskalakis and Tessie M. Hanafin to subject him to nasty goings-on. (Photo Courtesy of Westfield Evening News, j.h.)

FEBRUARY

Dukakis orders all state buildings thermostats lowered to 65 degrees because of frigid temperatures on the eastern United States.

Wood again urges faculty to vote against a union and in favor of existing University governance.

The University bursar says Whitmore will not be able to handle the overflow of students trying to cash checks after the Student Union facility closes during spring break.

SWA defeats another proposal to ban porn films from Hampden Student Center.

Dukakis visits campus Feb. 23 and 24 and suggests the University cut administrative fat, noting Wood's One Washington Mall office.

The controversial Student Activities Tax Fund $7 increase is vetoed by the SGA co-presidents, Paul M. Cronin and Jay A. Martus. A motion to impeach the two officers is dropped and the student senate overrides the veto.

Faculty elect the Massachusetts Society of Professors as their union.

MARCH

Security in women's locker rooms tightens as a result of complaints about male intruders harassing females using those facilities.

The trustees vote to challenge the composition of the newly elected faculty union. MSP circulates a petition urging Wood to "obey the law" and recognize the union.

Wood appoints Bromery acting Executive Vice President of the University, in charge of policies concerning collective bargaining with the faculty union.

Pinky Batiste and Jon A. Hite are elected co-presidents of the SGA over two other teams. 5,000 vote. The team of Herb Tyson and John Foley are aquitted of charges of plagiarism on Batiste-Hite campaign poster.

Dean Field stops Baroque from showing an X-rated film at the Public Health Building.

The SATF $7 increase is approved in a campus referendum.

George S. Odiorne announces his resignation as dean of the School of Business Administration.

Bella Abzug begins International Women's Week on campus by speaking to 800 in the Student Union Ballroom.

The UMass South African Support Committee asks the University to sell stocks it holds in corporations with major investments in South Africa.

Provost Puryear releases his long-range plan to reallocate resources of the University.

APRIL

The Massachusetts Senate ousts J.C. DiCarlo, one of two senators facing one-year prison sentences on federal extortion charges.

Earl Brown is granted probation effective April 19.

It rains as 175 students march to Whitmore in protest of University investments in corporations that operate in South Africa. The University trustees vote to review its investment policies to be certain they do not further apartheid in South Africa.

Wood defends UMass' budget request before the Massachusetts House Ways and Means Committee. The committee's chairperson says "the committee will not be able to make much use of the governor's budget."

Spring Concert talent set after trouble in obtaining performers.

Puryear's five-year plan angers faculty. Bromery says Faculty Senate disagreement to the plan is due to "minor differences of language and procedures." Three hundred faculty and students march through Whitmore in protest of the proposed elimination of Asian and Slavic studies. Many faculty claim the plan is "not in accordance with governance procedures." The College of Arts and Sciences in a meeting of 700 faculty, vote to ask for Puryear and Wood's resignation. The Faculty Senate asks the trustees to examine University governance procedures.

Six hundred students rally on the Student Union steps against level funding. Latin students protest Ahora's proposed budget cut by the Undergraduate Student Senate.

The senate overextends its budget by $55,000. Ahora gets the $8,600 it requested.

Ira Trail, director of the UMass Division of Nursing, announces her resignation.

MSP members demonstrate in front of Whitmore, but later begin talks with the administration.

Dukakis files a bill that would take authority from the trustee boards governing 30 state colleges and give it to a 15-member Board of Overseers.

MAY

UMass faculty vote to remove Wood and Puryear from office in a meeting attended by 400 of the University's 1300 faculty. Wood said, "The frustration of the faculty is not directed to the real world."

Seabrook, N.H., site of proposed nuclear power plant, is occupied by 2,000 protesters, 1400 of whom are arrested on their second day there.

More than 20,000 attend the free Spring Concert at Alumni Stadium.

Hampshire College announces it will sell $19,000 worth of stock in firms with interests in South Africa after Hampshire students occupy the college administration building for four days. UMass trustees acknowledge an additional $20,000 investment in such corporations.

Nixon talks on TV about his reign 1,000 days after he left office in disgrace.

Amherst Town Meeting decides to can two of the seven recommendations of the Northwest Road Committee.

Resident Summer Camp Jobs:

enjoy your summer at a peaceful summer camp in Mass. while you share your skills with youth. Instructor-Counselors for Waterfront, Crafts, Barnyard and Programming are needed. Ask for Michael at 5-2646.

Vision Showcase
(formerly House of Vision)
Kent Whalen - Licensed Optician

We are Specialists in:
- Fashion Eyewear
- Contact Lenses
- Emergency Replacements
- Free Adjustments Anytime
- We Clean & Polish contact lenses on the premises.

We also carry fashion styles by Diane Von Furstenberg & Oscar Dela Renta

Mt. Farms Mall, Hadley 584-8324

Pioneer Valley moped

introduces the next great step in the evolution of the wheel.

BATAVUS & MOTOBECANE MOPEDS....

Up to 150 MPG
Save $10.00 with this cupon
Come in for a great experience
4 Conz St. Northampton
(behind City Hall)

586-1054

ACADEMY of MUSIC
Northampton

SUN., MON., TUE. only at 7:15 and 9:00
(only area showing)

If you were SWEPT AWAY by her SEVEN BEAUTIES now you'll be talking about

LINA WERTMULLER'S
"LET'S TALK ABOUT MEN"

Starring
Nino Manfredi and Luciana Paluzz
Directed by Lina Wertmuller

AT THE GATES OF SMITH COLLEGE

Somerville rep netted 12-15 thou at dinner

BOSTON (UPI) — The House Chairman of the legislature's Taxation Committee, says he netted somewhere between $12,000 and $15,000 on a testimonial dinner held at the same time his panel was considering several major bills.

Rep. Vincent J. Piro, D-Somerville, House chairman of the Taxation Committee, said he held the May 5 fundraiser in a nonelection year because "I just wanted to get it out of the way."

The Somerville legislator does not face an election challenge until 1978 and he still has more than $4,500 left over from the 1976 elections.

Several major bills still are pending before Piro's committee after the normal reporting deadline including one to reduce taxes on Massachusetts-based life insurance companies by amounts ranging from $45 million to $90 million over the next five years.

Other measures, for which the committee has been granted an extension, include tax breaks for dog and harness racing tracks and investment credit extensions for businesses. "We have a bundle of bills," Piro said.

He said he did not recall that there were any life insurance lobbyists at the fundraiser at a Boston hotel, but sources confirmed "several" were on hand. He described the 150 persons who attended the event as "some personal friends."

The chairman did say he sees no reason why the life insurance industry proposal, which was submitted to his panel by the industry about two weeks ago, cannot be approved by the legislature in its present form.

"I don't see any major amendments," he said. "It's one hell of a bill."

But Dukakis administration officials said Monday they have not agreed to the industry proposal since it fails to include several key provisions worked out in a prior agreement with the industry.

"We think we can work it out," said Assistant Administration Secretary Robert H. McLain, "but it's not acceptable in its present form."

He said the industry bill fails to provide adequate provisions to ensure the insurance firms follow through on promises to invest in so-called marginal businesses in return for the tax cuts.

MONTGOMERY, Mass. — Special Police Officer Jack Green holds out a lantern for election workers Emily Cranson, Joyce Dupelle, Diana Schelle, Roger Leonard and Andrea Barnikow as they tally votes in Monday's annual town elections in this during Monday's freak snowstorm which cut power lines causing a blackout that lasted more than 30 hours. (UPI)

Seniors urged to correct addresses

Seniors whose permanent mailing address (where your semester bill is sent) will be different in the fall should contact the Index office at 102 Campus Center or at 545-2874. If your mailing address is-will be in the Northampton-Amherst area, stop by the office in the fall to pick up the yearbook. If you have any questions, stop by or call the INDEX.

Notices

AMATEUR RADIO
Thanks to all for a fulfilling semester We'll do even better next year. '73's. Rich the Bitch.

BDIC STUDENTS
End of term report with sponsor statement is due no later than May 18.

BIG MEETING COMING UP?
Hotel headaches? Scheduling woes? Upset tum-tum? Let us help! University Conference Services can help you plan a successful meeting for 12 to 6 million. Coffee breaks served in meeting rooms; luncheons and banquets arranged. Call Anet Dunne at 5-2591 or stop by Room 920 at the Campus Center. Bring a pillow.

BUDDHIST MEDITATION
Sitting meditation followed by study and discussion of Buddhist psychology with students of Chogyam Trungpa Rinpoche tonight at 7:30 in Rm 915 CC. For further information, please call John Gorman at 549-5663.

CHEM ENG SENIORS
Congrats. Was nice knowing all of you. All the very best. Krish.

W. GEILICH'S INTERPERSONAL CLASS
This year's fun and games will be culminated at the Rusty Nail on Sun. at 8 p.m. Professors N. Maki and N. Rogal wish the best of luck to our graduates, especially Wendy. We love you!

LOST
Reward for gold signet ring with initials J.R. Please phone 665-7006 evenings.

LOST
Very hungry and furocious doberman dog last Sat. of Spring concert from 46 High St. Amherst. Black-tan female about 1¼ years, answers to "Nicardeema", a much-loved pet. Call John 256-6940. Reward.

LOST
Pair of men's glasses at Alumni Stadium during Spring concert Sat. Please contact Bob 317 Brett, 546-6260.

PARACHUTE CLUB
Parachute Club meeting tonight. All members urged to jump. Election of officers and summer jumping are the topics. Meeting will be in CC 811 at 7:30 p.m.

BAD LUCK DINNER
Friday May 13 at 7 p.m. There will be a women's bad luck dinner-dance at Farley Lodge sponsored by the Lesbian Union. One dollar donation for me is requested. Come celebrate the end of the semester!

SEABROOK FILM
Great footage of Joe Quinlan, the August and most recent April occupations. Showings 1 and 3 p.m. in CC 162, 7 and 9 p.m. in SUB. $1 donation to the Clamshell Alliance is requested.

SKYDIVE!
There will be a first jump course tomorrow night in CC 811 at 7 p.m. Window opens at 8:30, you jump the next day, weather permitting.

STRATEGY GAMES CLUB
All summer Weds. 3-12; Sun. 12-12 in the CC. Re-enact the past or future in stimulating games. Join us at your leisure or your apartment.

THE TOY LENDING LIBRARY ON CAMPUS
Located in 207 Berkshire House will be open through the summer for those students over 21, interested in borrowing toys, etc.

UMASS HANGGLIDING CLUB
There will be a meeting tonight at 7:30 in CC 903. This meeting is for anyone interested in Hang Gliding over the library. For information about the club during summer vacation call two well hung gliders: Josh, 665-4918 or Bob 253-5852.

PREPARE NOW FOR JOBS IN WHICH BUSINESS SKILLS ARE NECESSARY. SPRING AND SUMMER PROGRAMS NOW BEING PLANNED AT

Skills

Typing, Shorthand and General Transcription Programs
Specialized Programs in Medical and Legal Transcription
Additional Services: Résumé Planning and typing
Secretarial services for typing term papers, manuscripts and dissertations.
SKILLS, 24 So. Prospect Street, Amherst
Telephone: 253-9500
Licensed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Department of Education

C & C LIQUORS
NEXT TO THE TOWN HALL, AMHERST

National $1.25 six
Bohemian $4.99 case

DONELLI LAMBRUSCO $1.79 5th

SEAGRAMS GIN $5.85 qt
$10.99 ½ Gal

LIEBFRAUMILCH 5th $1.49

Amherst Auto Parts
Used car parts
Junk Car?
We pay $10 and up.
Replace Glass
Buy and Sell Cars
Located ½ mile past the Rusty Scupper on Rt. 9, behind Amherst landfill.
Phone 256-6409

THE SALT BOX
16 Main Street
Amherst
Bankamericard
Mastercharge
Cash Check
All Sales Final
On the Sidewalk
Wednesday- Saturday
Spring Shirt Dresses $34 were $42 Knit Tops $5,$6,$7 were $8-$12 (Monogrammed While You Wait)
Pants $13-$16 were$20-$26 Shorts $10-$12 were$14-$16
$5,$10,$15,,$20,$25 Sale Rack Values to $90
Table of Jewelry 50% Off and More
Inside the Store
Everything Is 10% Off
Wednesday-Saturday Only

Oven Bake Shop
Next to Spirit Haus
339 College St., Amherst
Tel. 256-0284
Graduation Day
Order Your Graduation Cakes Early!
Cakes Made To Order
Pastry Beef Pies
Pastry Pork Pies
Eclairs & Brownies
Napoleans
Cookies
Cream Puffs
Pies
Coffee, Tea, Cocoa

What Goes Into An ALTERNATIVE LIFESTYLE?
- Women's Liberation
- Men's Liberation
- Children's Liberation
- Freedom From Exploitation, Aggression, and Violence
- Humanistic Education
- Equal Opportunity and Participation in Decisions
- Equitable Distribution of Wealth and Resources
- Technology for Humans Including Alternative Energy and Ecological Responsibility
- Proper Food and Nutrition for Each Individual
- Opportunity for Personal and Emotional Growth of Each Person
- Freedom for both Men and Women to Realize a Completely Fulfilling and Healthy Sex Life.

The above issues are becoming increasingly relevent as American social problems continue to grow. Actions Analysis Organizations (AAO) is an experimental collective in Europe whose lifestyle speaks of these concerns. They have developed these principles out of practical living experience. A film and discussion dealing with the AAO as a social model will be presented on FRIDAY, MAY 13 at 7:00 p.m. in room 163, CAMPUS CENTER, UNIVERSITY OF MASS.
323-7323 for information

Carter warns NATO to toughen its stance

LONDON (AP) — President Carter warned the North Atlantic alliance yesterday it should toughen up to match Communist buildup of an offensive force in Europe and then flew home from his first round of summitry.

Carter said the North Atlantic Treaty Organization should make "high priority improvements" in the European forces, report on progress in December and submit a full program to a NATO summit next spring in Washington.

The President spoke to a NATO ministerial meeting in gilded, red-carpeted Lancaster House near Parliament. He spent the rest of the day talking privately with individual prime ministers of NATO countries.

Carter was blunt in his speech.

"The threat facing the alliance has grown steadily in recent years," he said. "The Soviet Union has achieved essential nuclear equivalence. Its theater nuclear forces have been strengthened.

"The Warsaw Pact's conventional forces in Europe emphasize an offensive posture. These forces are much stronger than needed for any defense purpose.

"Since 1965, new ground and air weapons have been introduced in most major categories: self-propelled artillery, mobile tactical missiles, mobile air defense guns, armored personnel carriers, tactical aircraft and tanks."

Finast Italian Food Festival

Finast SUPERMARKETS
Finast Welcomes FOOD STAMP CUSTOMERS
The food stamp program helps smooth the edges of inflation and put more and better food on the tables of many families You may qualify. The best way to find out if food stamps are for you is to call toll free 1-800-842-1508

gallon ctn. Wesson Oil
Pure Vegetable Oil 3.49 gallon ctn
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one coupon per family. Valid May 8-14 H-796

Hunt's Reg., Meat, Mushroom Prima Salsa
Spaghetti Sauce 32 oz jar 89¢
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one coupon per family. Valid May 8-14 H-797

Finast Regular or Thin Spaghetti
or Elbow Macaroni 4 1 lb pkgs $1
With this coupon & purchase of $7.50 or more. Limit one coupon per family. Valid May 8-14 H-798

Marval Fresh Turkey Breast
SAVE 30¢ lb
"New" from Marval Fresh Never Frozen 98¢ lb

Italian Style Peeled Tomatoes
Montini 35 oz can 59¢

Penn Dutch Mushrooms
Stems & Pieces 4 oz can 39¢

Whole Veal Leg or Rump
SAVE 20¢ lb 1.08 lb

Italian Style Sausage 5 lb box Marco
SAVE 40¢ lb 88¢ lb
lesser amount 98¢ lb

Ken's Great for Salads or for Marinating
Italian Dressing 16 oz btl 69¢
Mac & Bean, Lentil, Minestrone, Escarole, Gr.Pea
Progresso Soups 2 20 oz cans 79¢
Pope Tomato Puree 35 oz can 59¢
Tomato Paste Pope 4 6 oz cans 99¢
Trailer Sweet Peas 8½ oz can or
Trellis Corn Whole Kernel 7 oz Cream Style 8½ oz 9 cans $1
Ronzoni Mostaccioli Rigati Cavatelli Rotelle 1 lb pkg 49¢
Parmesan Finast Grated 8 oz jar 1.39
Lasagna Muellers 16 oz pkg 59¢
Zucchini Del Monte 16 oz can 39¢
Tesori Italian Tomatoes 35 oz can 65¢
Bread Crumbs Finast Regular 15 oz ctn 49¢

Lean Ground Beef 4 lbs or more 98¢ lb (lesser amt 1.08 lb)
Ground Beef 4 lbs or more (lesser amounts 88¢ lb) 78¢ lb
Boneless Underblade USDA Choice
Beef Chuck Steak 1.28 lb
USDA Choice Beef for your favorite recipe
Boneless Stew Beef 1.28 lb
Whole or Half Boston Butt
Fresh Pork Butts 88¢ lb

Italian Finast fresh Bread 1-lb Loaf 49¢
baker street at Finast
Big Sandwich White Bread 21 oz lv 49¢
English Muffins 2 pkgs 6 69¢
Hot Dog or Hamburg Rolls Finast Fresh 2 pkgs 8 69¢
Junior Pies 4 4 oz pkgs 1.00
Cinnamon Buns pkg 8 85¢
Baked Fresh Available Tues. to Sat.!
Grinder Rolls 10 oz pkg 39¢

Tender, Young Milk-fed Veal!
Veal Chops Fresh Rib or Shoulder lb 1.18
Veal for Stew Boneless lb 1.28
Loin Veal Chops lb 1.38
FreshVeal for Scalloppini Thin Sliced from the Leg lb 2.68
Veal Hearts Fresh for Soffritto lb 68¢
Veal Shank Sliced for Osso Boco lb 68¢

Fresh Chicken Parts for your favorite Cacciatore Recipe!
Chicken Legs 68¢ lb
Fresh Thighs 78¢ lb
FreshBreasts 98¢ lb
Drumsticks 98¢ lb

A Meat Street U.S.A. Value!
Beef Chuck Pot Roast
USDA CHOICE Boneless 1.18 lb

Frozen Food Values!
Tony's Frozen Sausage Pizza
or Cheese Pizza 13¼ oz pkg w/ Regular or Thick Crust 15 oz pkg 99¢
Louise Round Ravioli 13 oz pkg 69¢
Louise Gnocchi 16 oz pkg 89¢
Biagio Spaghetti Sauce with Meat Balls 30 oz pkg 1.49
Garlic Bread Tintis 6 oz pkg 49¢
Banquet Spaghetti and Meatballs Dinner 11 oz pkg 49¢

Sunrise fresh Dairy Values!
Minute Maid Orange Juice
100% Pure Orange Juice half gal 79¢
Parkay Quarters Margarine 2 1 lb pkgs $1
Ricotta Cheese Finast Whole or Skim Milk 15 oz pkg 79¢
Mozzarella Finast Shredded 8 oz pkg 89¢
Cheddar Finast Shredded 8 oz pkg 89¢
Provolone or Mozzarella Finast Sliced 6 oz pkg 79¢

More Values from Finast on Meat Street U.S.A.!
Calves Liver Whole Fresh (Sliced 1.28 lb) lb 1.08
Blade Steaks Fresh Pork Bone-In lb 1.08
Shaved Steak Lovitt's Frozen lb 1.79
Sausage Perri Italian Hot or Sweet where available lb 1.28
Hot Dogs Weaver's Chicken lb 89¢
Salami Franks or Knockwurst American Kosher Brand 12 oz pkg 1.19
Mortadella Gallo 4½ oz pkg 89¢
Gallo Salami and Provolone 4½ oz pkg 1.09
Swift's Pepperoni, Genoa or Hard Salami, Whole or Half lb 1.58
Shoulders Colonial Master Smoked water added lb 89¢
Briskets Mosey Corned Beef all Thin Cuts lb 1.19
Hens Rock Cornish 1½ to 2 lbs average lb 69¢
Ducklings Young Fresh or Frozen lb 98¢
Pies Fresh Mrs. Budd's all White Meat Chicken 36 oz pkg 2.19
Sliced Bacon Oscar Mayer 1-lb pkg 1.59
Bologna Oscar Mayer Meat or Beef 12 oz pkg 99¢
VarietyPak Oscar Mayer Round or Square 12 oz pkg 1.49
Pickles Kosher Claussen Whole or Icicle qt jar 1.09

Quality Produce the Finast Way!
Strawberries Fresh Calif. quart 99¢
FIRST O THE FRESH
Tomatoes Family Pack 1½ lb pkg 69¢
Cucumbers Long Green 6 for $1
Chicory or Escarole lb 29¢
Artichokes Fresh Large 6 for 1.00
Fresh Squash Green Zucchini or Yellow lb 29¢
Purple Eggplant 3 lbs 1.00
Scallions Green Onions bunch 19¢
Italian Red Onions lb 39¢

Shop Finast for all your Lawn & garden needs!
Azalea Plants beautiful flowering, hardy, outside plants poly bag 99¢ ea
Peat Pots 2½ & 3 inch Sleeve of 8 sleeve 39¢
Vigaro Rose Food, Tomato Food All Purpose Plant Food 5 lb bag 1.29
Top Soil 40 lb bag 1.59
Marble Chips 50 lb bag 1.99

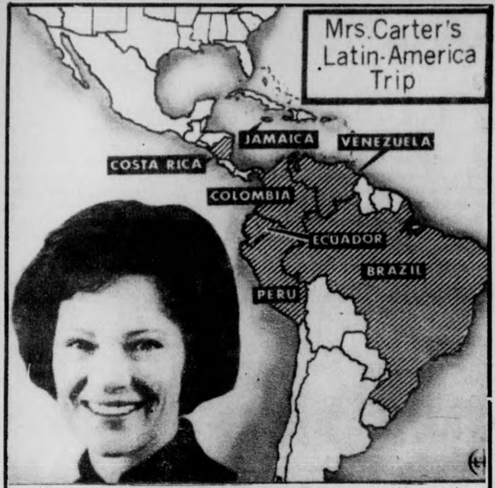
Treat your Family to Mr. Deli Favorites!
Mr. Deli
Virginia Style Freshly Sliced to Order
FreshBakedHam 1.19 ½ lb
Italian Hot Ham 1.99 lb
Genoa Salami or Pepperoni Carando's lb 1.99
Provolone Domestic Slicing lb 1.89
Hard Salami B.C. lb 1.89
Olive Salad Italian 1-lb ctn 99¢
Fresh Salad Potato, Macaroni and Cole Slaw 1-lb ctn 39¢
Dandy Loaf Carando's lb 89¢
Available Only in Finast Stores with Mr. Deli Depts

Beer & Wine Shoppe!
Tuborg Gold Beer case of 24-12 oz cans or N.R. btls 5.49
Giacobazzi Red, White Rose Wine 24 oz btl 2.29
Martini&Rossi Sweet or Dry Vermouth 25 oz btl 2.79
Almaden Nectar Rose, Rhine or Chablis Wine magnum 3.79
Labrusca Henri Marchant 24 oz btl 1.99
Available Only in Finast of Hadley

In-Store Bake Shop!
FreshItalianBread 4 7 oz lvs 1.00
Cake Donuts Plain, Sugar Cinnamon doz 69¢
Home-style Rolls doz 79¢
Available Only in Finast Stores with In-Store Bake Shops

10¢ off with this coupon on (1) 24 oz btl Log Cabin Honey Flavor Maple Syrup Valid May 8-14, 1977 H-799 MFG
20¢ off with this coupon on (1) pkg 36 Cling Free Fabric Softener Valid May 8-14, 1977 H-800 MFG TX
$1.00 off with this coupon on (1) 50 lb bag Purina Dog Chow Valid May 8-14, 1977 H-801 MFG TX
8¢ off with this coupon on (1) 8 oz pkg General Mills Trix Cereal Valid May 8-14, 1977 H-802 MFG

Prices effective Sunday May 8 thru Saturday May 14, 1977
We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities
Not Responsible for Typographical Errors



WASHINGTON: Rosalynn Carter will make Jamaica her first stop on her high-level political trip which begins on May 30. (UPI)

Mrs. Carter to tour Latin America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rosalynn Carter, assuming an unprecedented policy-making role, will tour seven Latin American nations beginning May 30 for "substantive" diplomatic talks with national leaders.

While previous first ladies have travelled abroad as ceremonial "goodwill" envoys, U.S. officials said Mrs. Carter will hold in-depth political talks on the key issues of President Carter's hemispheric policies — human rights, trade and non-intervention in the affairs of neighboring countries.

Hunger & sitdown strikes delay Seabrook hearings

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Antinuclear demonstrators staged a sitdown to avoid appearing in one court yesterday, testified in another court to gain freedom and continued hunger strikes in one of five armories where they are locked up.

But the number of demonstrators in jail continued to decline as many bailed themselves out to return to work or school or just to get out of the crowded armories.

Col. Leon Parker of the National Guard said yesterday 695 demonstrators remained in custody of the 1,400 originally jailed.

Demonstrators are charged with criminal trespass for the May 1 occupation of the construction site at the $2 billion Seabrook nuclear power plant.

Most out-of-state demonstrators were held on cash bail ranging from $100 to $500. Only a handful have appeared at hearings to face charges.

Thirty-three demonstrators in the Manchester armory had been scheduled to appear in Exeter District Court Tuesday morning. But the session was canceled when they sat in a circle and refused to leave, saying they were notified of their hearings late Monday night and did not have time to obtain lawyers.

Meanwhile, Rockingham County Attorney Carleton Eldredge, who said he was unaware of the demonstration, canceled court appearances to confer about trial procedures with leaders of the Clamshell Alliance, which organized the Seabrook demonstration.

Labor Dept. suggests plan for new public service jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department yesterday announced plans for allocating some $6.6 billion in new public service jobs money among state and local recipients, promising the biggest share of more than $785 million to jobless workers in California.

Labor Secretary Ray Marshall said the money will be distributed just as soon as Congress completes action on the legislation and President Carter signs it. The allocations were determined under a complicated, legally-mandated formula.

The new legislation promises $6.503 billion will be spent directly to create or maintain an estimated 720,000 jobs over the next one and one-half fiscal years. Some 310,000 of those jobs already exist under an earlier $1.78 billion appropriation for the current fiscal year.

The Labor Department will not immediately disburse the remaining $100 million provided in the legislation. That sum will be used later for final adjustments in the allocations.

The new money will be distributed to some 445 state and local agencies which currently sponsor public service jobs. Although most of the existing federally funded jobs exist in regular government institutions, Marshall has encouraged these sponsors to create new employment tasks with the additional funds.

Remember . . .
the University Store is open all year except during May 31-June 3 we close for inventory.

SUMMER HOURS
Mon.-Fri. 8:30-4:30
Sat. — open occassionally
Open — Commencement Sat., May 21
Alumni Weekend Sat., June 4
Summer Hours start May 23

The University Store
Campus Center

This summer study in a relaxed
collegiate environment.

Day & Evening Courses in
The Liberal Arts
Physical Sciences & Math
Social Sciences
Data Processing
Business

Also Many Non-Credit Workshops
REGISTER JUNE 14 & 15

For More Information and a Catalog
Call or Write Summerterm

Greenfield Community College
Greenfield, Massachusetts 01301 — (413) 774-3131
We Are Completely Air Conditioned

Passport & Application Points
all work retouched
-fast service-
Mitchell Koldy Studio
35 Northampton
Rd. RT 9. Amherst Center
253-5373

CONGRATULATIONS
AND BEST WISHES TO
THE CLASS OF 1977
Mathews SHOES
39 S. Pleasant St.
Amherst

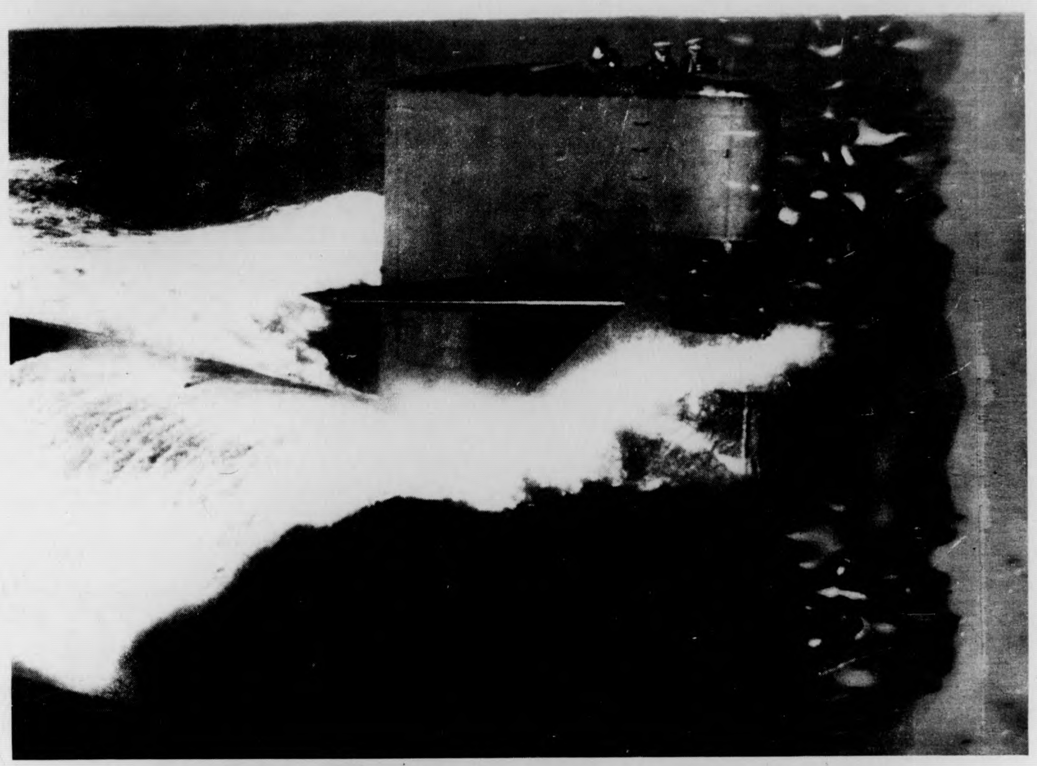
TEST PREP SERVICES
358 N. Pleasant St. Amherst 549-5136

LSAT	MCAT
6, 4-Hr. meetings covering cases & principles, practical judgement, evaluation of facts, various logic sections, data comparison, writing ability, new question types.	6, 4 Hr. meetings covering biology, chemistry & physics as well as the new MCAT skills analysis question types.
Meeting times:	Meeting days and times
Thurs. 1:30-5:30, 6:00-10:00	Wed., Thurs. 6:00-10:00 p.m. Sat. classes scheduled for April

TPS' flexible programs permit you to arrange classes around your schedule, not vice versa. Most courses are held continuously throughout the year and all make-up sessions are LIVE. Weekend crash courses scheduled the two weekends prior to each exam. You can always count on a TPS program to meet your needs. Our 24-Hr. courses, plus 11 hrs. of extras lets you take advantage of 35 hours of live instruction with a top-scoring specialist.

Call to reserve a place in our weekly

FREE INTRODUCTORY CLASS
Held every Tues. evening 6:30 to 9:30



IF YOU'RE THINKING ABOUT THE NUCLEAR NAVY, THE SHIP SAILS ON MAY 15.

One of the best ways to get into engineering is to get into the nuclear Navy. But you'd better get moving fast. May 15th is the deadline for this year's Navy Nuclear Propulsion Candidate Program.

The Navy can give you the most comprehensive nuclear training possible. Because we operate over half the nuclear reactors in America. We start by giving you a year of advanced engineering technology. This would cost you thousands in graduate school, but in the Navy, we pay you.

Once you're commissioned as a Navy Nuclear Officer, you'll earn a top salary. Over $24,000 a year after four years. And you'll get practical experience on the most advanced nuclear equipment devised by man. All the Navy asks in return is that you serve for 3 years on active duty upon completion of your training.

But remember, May 15th is the deadline for this year's class. If you are majoring in engineering, math or physical sciences, find out from your local placement office when a Navy recruiter will be on campus. Or call toll free, 800-841-8000 (in Georgia, 800-342-5855) for more information. If you're still a junior, ask about the Navy's NUPOC Collegiate Program, which pays you up to $6,000 during your senior year. And hurry. Time and tide wait for no man.

NAVY OFFICER.
IT'S NOT JUST A JOB, IT'S AN ADVENTURE.

News in Brief

Senate OK's exports to Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a move to improve U.S.-Cuban relations, voted yesterday to permit the export of U.S. medical supplies and agricultural commodities to the island.

The 10-6 approval followed two hours of heated debate during which Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., substantially rewrote an original motion which would have allowed two-way trade in the two items, thus partially lifting the American trade embargo.

Irish strike leader detained

BALLYMENA, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Rev. Ian Paisley, firebrand leader of a faltering eight-day-old Protestant strike in Northern Ireland, was detained by police yesterday after he refused to order a tractor barricade dismantled.

The burly preacher-politician, a member of the British Parliament, was held for two hours along with another strike leader, Ernest Baird, and 10 of their supporters.

Teamsters charged - fund misuse

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamster dissidents charged yesterday the union's scandal-ridden $1.4 billion Central States pension fund has spend thousands of dollars illegally on a campaign to improve its public image.

Arthur L. Fox II, counsel for the dissident group known as PROD Inc., called on Labor Secretary Ray Marshall to investigate these charges as part of the government's 20-month-old inquiry into management of the fund.

Postal Service to sue AMA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service said yesterday it is asking the Justice Department to sue the American Medical Association for more than a million dollars in back postage on its weekly journal.

U.S. aids solar energy projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government announced yesterday it has selected 80 projects in 33 states to help demonstrate how solar energy can heat and cool commercial buildings.

The Energy Research and Development Administration said it will spend $12.6 million to partially fund the projects, with the average assistance being about $156,000.

Student jobs open

The Office to Coordinate Energy Research and Education is presently hiring students with work study and-or interested in credit for the summer. There are between five and 10 positions available with varying skills required. People will be asked to work between 20 and 40 hours per week.

The office is looking for people with many different skills. The basic qualities desired are that the person be interested in the area of energy and that they be self-directed to handle responsibilities without constant supervision. Some of the specific skills desired are in researching assigned energy topics; writing, particularly proposals; graphic skills; or ability to handle public relations.

Students interested in these positions should send a brief resume and list of three references from past employers to Malcolm Quint, Office to Coordinate Energy Research and Education, Grad. Research Center, Room A239. For further information, contact Malcolm or Andrea at 545-0666.

OLE'

We have 40 International Beers, and we feature

Fine Mexican & American Food

Dinners from $2.75
(also a la carte items from 75¢)

Complete line of sandwiches, side orders, & snacks

The Drake Village Inn
85 Amity St., Amherst 253-2548

Academy Award Winner Best Documentary Feature

HEARTS AND MINDS

"Excruciatingly brilliant."
Paul Zimmerman, Newsweek

"Should be seen by every American."
Charles Champlin, Los Angeles Times

"A brutal mind-blowing experience that shattered every American who saw it."
Rex Reed

"...an extraordinary movie which may well be the true film for America's bicentennial."
Vincent Canby, New York Times

"...a film about why we went to Vietnam, what we did there, and what the doing has in turn done to America."
Peter Davis, Director/Co-Producer

Produced by Bert Schneider and Peter Davis
Directed by Peter Davis
A Touchstone-Audjeff Production for BBS
A Howard Zuker/Henry Jaglom Rainbow Pictures Presentation

Thurs. May 12 S.U.B.
7 - 9 - 11

$1.00

A release from rbc films

House wary of program to revamp Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's plan to pump income tax revenues into the ailing Social Security system was characterized by skeptical congressmen yesterday as dangerous, a grave error, and politically motivated hocus-pocus.

Even some House members who appeared inclined to support parts of the Carter plan questioned whether it has been thoroughly thought out. And one Republican, William M. Ketchum of California, came close to accusing the President of lying.

Ketchum, while questioning Joseph A. Califano Jr., secretary of health, education and welfare, about the Social Security plan, recalled Carter's campaign promise that he would never lie to the American people.

"Well, maybe that didn't include Congress," Ketchum said. He quoted Carter as telling a group of congressmen only six days earlier that his administration would oppose any effort to use general income tax revenues for Social Security.

Califano ran into the wall of criticism as he spelled out the Carter proposals to the House Ways and Means subcommittees on Social Security. Despite the criticism, a subcommittee aide predicted the Carter plan would be approved by the panel.

Carter offered his eight-point plan for helping Social Security out of a financial bind in a message to Congress on Monday.

He proposed to feed some income tax revenues into the fund during times of high unemployment, gradually raise Social Security taxes on employers and employes, and to correct a 1972 error that could result in many future retirees getting pensions larger than the paychecks they earned in the last year on the job.

Carter asked that about $14.1 billion in income tax revenue be turned over to Social Security between now and 1980 to compensate for Social Security taxes that were lost because of high unemployment in 1975-78. If such a step were renewed in future years, the Social Security system would get income taxes anytime the national unemployment rate exceed 6 per cent. The rate now is 7 per cent.

Belfast bomb kills man

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A bomb packed in an automobile exploded in a gas station yesterday killing one man and injuring at least 12 other persons.

"About a dozen men and women were lying about with horrible injuries," said a witness to the explosion.

Looking for a lost notebook or book? Check Lost and Found at the Campus Assistance Center-2nd level of the Campus Center. Unclaimed notebooks will be discarded after Wed. May 11. Open daily 8-11 P.M.

BACKPACKING THIS SUMMER?

First visit EMS, the SPECIALIST IN QUALITY, LIGHTWEIGHT CAMPING & MOUNTAINEERING EQUIPMENT. Choose from a wide selection of packs for your next wilderness adventure—or just around town.

EMS ADJUSTABLE
Undivided packbag & adjustable frame—a great buy for the growing beginner. 29.50

KELTY TIOGA
The most popular pack & frame from the leader in pack design. 89.00

WILDERNESS EXPERIENCE KLETTER SACK
An excellent value in a quality medium-sized rucksack. Constructed from nylon ccrdura. 26.50

SIERRA DESIGNS SERENDIPITY
A day pack with zippered openings—super for a hike or school books. 19.50

EMS BOOK PACK
An economical, well-made day pack with zippered compartments. 10.00

JAN SPORT CASCADE II
Super comfortable flexible aluminum frame with large panel loading packbag. 58.00

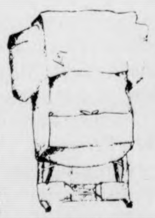
PLUS MUCH MORE . . .

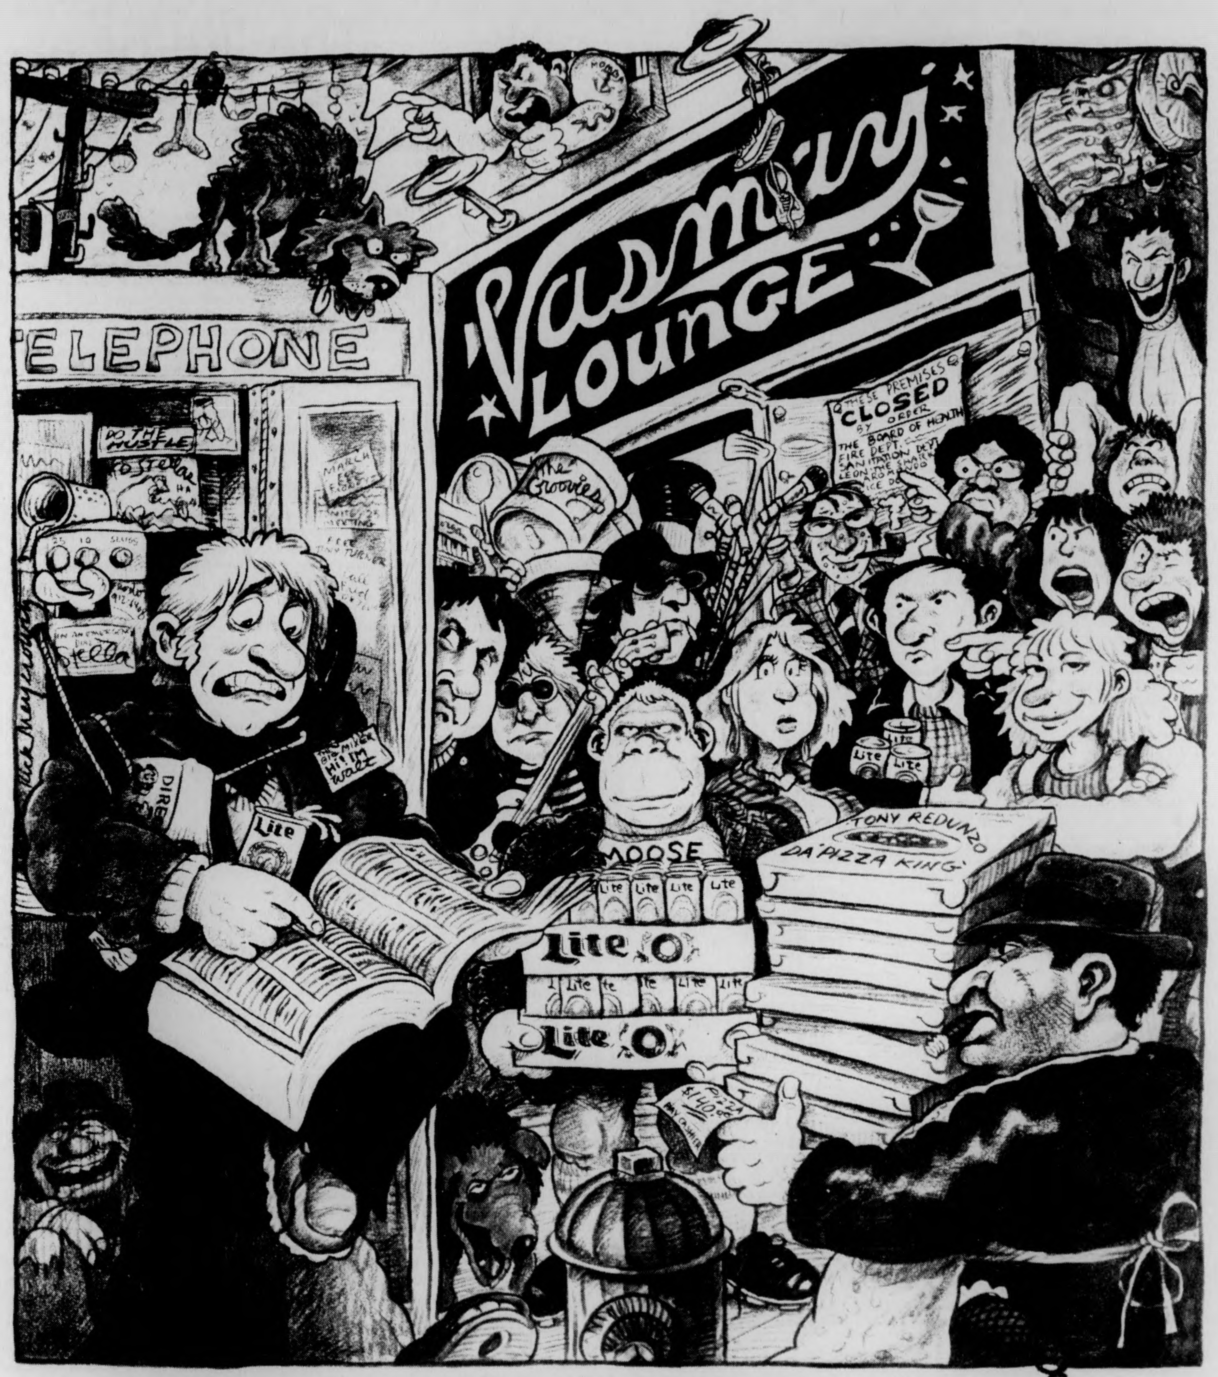
Sleeping Bags • Hiking Boots • Tents • Maps • Books • Rentals • Knives • Rain & Wind Gear • Compasses • Freeze-Dried Food • Rock Climbing Gear

EASTERN MOUNTAIN SPORTS

Rte. 9, Amherst/
Hadley Town Line
253-9504
Mon.-Fri. 9:30-9 Sat. 9:30-5:30

"Good Luck to the Class of '77"





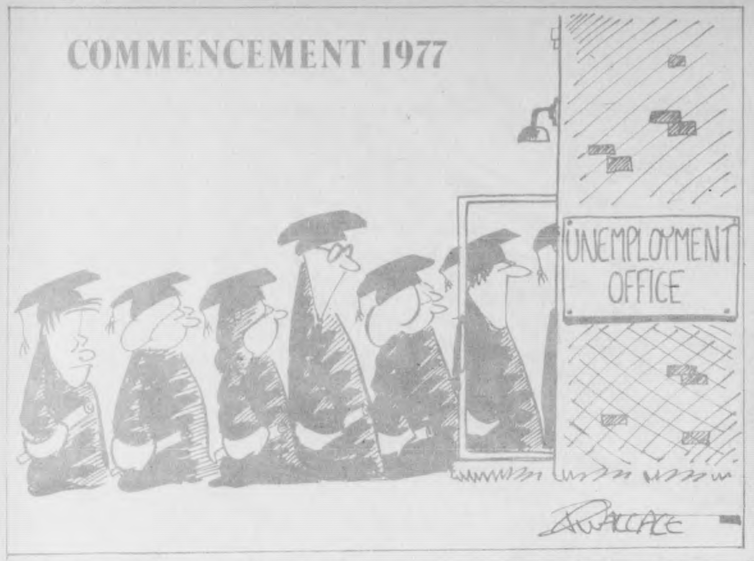
Vasmin Lounge
TELEPHONE
DO THE HUSTLE
The Groovies
THESE PREMISES CLOSED BY ORDER THE BOARD OF HEALTH FIRE DEPT. SANITATION DEPT.
HI! I'M Walt
Lite
MOOSE
TONY REDUNZO DA' PIZZA KING
Lite

When you've just found out that the place you booked 2 months ago for the biggest bash of the year went out of business 2 weeks ago ...it's no time to get filled up.

Lite® Beer from Miller.
Everything you always wanted in a beer. And less.

© 1977 Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, Wis

Lite
A FINE PILSNER BEER



— commentary

Struggle for African liberation

By ELLIOT KASS

On Wednesday, May 4th, students at Hampshire College seized and occupied the administrative offices at their school, demanding that Hampshire abandon their support for white supremist rule in Southern Africa, and sell the stock they own in corporations that prop up apartheid. Saturday, 4 days later, the Board of Trustees announced they would sell much of the College's holdings in these corporations.

The same day that students at Hampshire staged their occupation, the Board of Trustees here at U.Mass. voted to purchase an additional $20,000 worth of stock in corporations that invest in South Africa. The University already owns over half a million dollars worth of such stocks.

The students at Hampshire had worked long and hard to win this victory — the ramifications of which are much greater than the $30,000 which their school's stocks represent. This is one of the first times a school has actually been forced to dump such investments, and it is an important precedent. Their success will undoubtedly spur on even greater efforts on the part of students around the country who are engaged in similar struggles.

Even more important is the political effect that their victory will have in exposing the nature and role of U.S. involvement in Southern Africa; in demonstrating that we can have an impact in support of the on-going struggle of the African People; and help spark even broader participation in such a movement of support on the part of the American People.

But meanwhile at UMass, the Trustees have proceeded to slap us in the face while they spit on the struggle and aspirations of the African People. For an entire semester we have fought to get rid of University investments in southern Africa. We have petitioned (several thousand people signed it) to this end, we have formally presented our case to the Trustees, we wrote letters, held a teach-in, engaged in many other educational activities, and we marched and rallied — holding two very successful demonstrations. And through it all, we informed a great many people about the struggle going down in South Africa and Rhodesia, created quite a bit of controversy, and were able to involve quite a few people in actively working to support the liberation movements there.

Still, we were unsuccessful in forcing the University to sell its stock. As events at Hampshire College demonstrate quite clearly, it is decisive actions that bring decisive results — and in short order. The struggle of the people of Southern Africa is not over and will not be over until they succeed in utterly destroying the barbaric system of apartheid and tearing up its roots — foreign (especially U.S.) imperialist domination of their countries.

The African struggle for liberation and independence is a struggle for all who want to see freedom replace tyranny, and equality replace discrimination. The movement of solidarity with this struggle that is developing throughout America is not limited to divesting university stock holdings, but is directed squarely at the capitalist rulers of this country who are the benefactors, and at this point in time, the principle backers of the white minority governments of Africa. Even as this semester ends this movement continues to surge forward, as thousands of people of all nationalities plan to march on the White House on African Liberation Day, Saturday, May 28th.

African Liberation Day is a day set aside for people world-wide to rally in support of the African people. This year the day takes on a special significance, as the storm of struggle that is raging in southern Africa continues to shake the apartheid governments to their foundations. It is a crucial time for us in the U.S. to add our strength to that of the African People. It is a key opportunity to hit at and expose our rulers, who so coldbloodedly work to maintain apartheid in order to swell their profit margins.

The class of bankers and businessmen who run this country have chosen their side. The side of the white minority governments. The side on which they have $1.6 billion invested. The side that would change the color of the rulers but continue to rob the African people of their labor and resources. The side that says exploitation and discrimination are the natural order of things.

On African Liberation Day, we too choose our side. The side of the African people. The side that stands for Africans taking complete control of their own countries. The side which is striking blows at the very forces who oppress the American people. The side that will never accept the so-called "natural order".

On African Liberation Day we'll be making it clear that the American people are part of the international movement for the liberation of southern Africa. We'll be militant and serious, and we'll be going right up to the doorstep of Jimmy Carter. ON TO WASHINGTON!

Eliot Kass is a member of the Revolutionary Student Brigade.

— lisa melilli

The life of a Collegian Columnist

It's a hard life, you know. I mean we have such a mean and terrible red-headed monstrous editor who gives us harsh deadlines and scrutinizes our pieces with such a skeptical eye blurring his felt pen over words we so carefully chose. We slip into the Collegian office so that no one will notice us and turn to us with their criticism, we four women and ten men who lead the lives of Collegian columnists. Once a week on "our day" we have to bear that awful tingle in the pit of our stomachs when we see our name in print and reading along expecting the worst, we see a word mispelled that was our fault, we see a word mispelled that was the printer's fault, and we read along until we hit "I am a Collegian columnist" and we wonder if the life of a Collegian columnist is all worth it.

It's easy for you, I mean, it's easy for you to just pick up the Collegian and flip to the centerfold to see what crazy things we have to say and then tear us apart and say our names in vain. But if you only knew, if you only knew ...

I became a Collegian columnist last fall after working on the rag for a full year as a newsreporter and sort of had been envying those editorial writers who had their names up in lights and could write their own views without worrying about the nonsensical thing called "objectivity" and write any old way they wanted, able to go away from that boring, mechanical inverted pyramid style of newswriting. And sometimes, thinking back, I wonder, just sometimes I wonder ...

It's a hard life because here I am now a panic-stricken person every Wednesday — biting my nails, looking around to see if anyone's looking at me — the whole bit. And I've taken to riding to Boston with the School of Ed to do a little project in the Boston school system so as not to be on campus on "my day". But my roommate torments me by bringing the damn Collegian home and tears out my article and places it on my desk and ... I just crumble it up and throw it out and take a look at what Rich Caplan had to say that day.

Not only are we all nervous and self-conscious on "our day", but also all week long trying to think of something to say. And that's the hardest thing of this life — finding something to say. The very beginning and very end of our "season" is the worst. I mean it's impossible!!! I mean — heh — I'm only a student; I'm only nineteen. How can anything I can think of be of interest to be an audience of 24,000 students in this Five-college community!?!?!?

I mean — oh gosh! — if you only knew how short my nails are, how I've rung my hands red, how many strands of hair I've pulled out of my head trying to think of something — anything!!!! How many mornings I've laid in bed — thinking! How many nights I've lain in bed awake — thinking! How many times I've felt insecure, I mean wondering if anyone really appreciated anything I've had to say. And gosh, the despair when someone in the library reads my name on my I.D. card or someone in the University store reads my name on my check and says, "Oh, you're that Collegian columnist!" And they say no more and I wonder "Oh gosh, what must they be thinking!"

And it's not just me, but everyone who is a Collegian columnist that has these symptoms. So, I guess I'm speaking for everyone of us when I say the life of a Collegian columnist in all its despairing and aggravating moments, is just like every student's life — a time to find yourself and find your own way of thinking. I'm probably the most obvious of anyone, but really all of us put ourselves there, put our own personalities there, put all our confusion and realizations there on the editorial pages.

And that's the despairing thing in this life of being a Collegian columnist, for criticism is criticism of such a personal thing, our own beings. And that's why mine and everyone else's day is made when someone says "Heh, I liked your column" because you feel like you had something to think about and figure out that meant something to someone else. We're only human, so be nice to the Collegian columnist. They have a hard enough life.

Well, I guess I'm really looking forward to a nice vacation away from all of this and I'll be thinking about you this summer as I sit in a newspaper office in Southern Connecticut writing news articles, able to hide myself in my "objectivity" and "inverted pyramid style." And I suppose you're looking forward to a nice vacation, too. So have a great one, be good, and we'll be seeing each other in the fall again.

I am a Collegian Columnist, so don't ask me again. And I also lead the life of Lisa Melilli on the side.

commentary

If you can't beat 'em... buy 'em

By STEVE ZISSON

With the permission of Psychopath, an extraordinary literary endeavor published by students of psychology, an expose of student conflicts of interest reprinted here for at least 25,000 readers to contemplate.

Student senators were elected to maintain and expand the rights of and services of their constituency — us. Since administration officials were appointed to dampen budgetary expenditures, the interests of Whitmore and the student body necessarily conflict. Therefore a student senate which diminished its constant pressure upon "Wood and Company" would actively erode our role in the workings of this institution.

When Whitmore can hire former-current student senators the problem of credibility surfaces. Are our representatives serving us or compromising their votes so as not to endanger future employment within the academic bureaucracy? We deserve no less than total commitment from the senate. And senators need to be relieved of the bothersome temptation. Of course, many students are dependent upon workstudy including Jon Hite and Matt Burns. Yet surely it is just to require that those who voluntarily run for elected positions delegate their workstudy hours to non-administration jobs....

Some of these names may be newsworthy:

JON HITE — currently S.G.A. co-president, former speaker of the student senate, recently resigned from work-study position at the Office of Resource Management.

KEN SOMERS — former speaker of the student senate, now on a graduate assistanceship in Whitmore's Budgeting Office.

JACK LEADER — former member of the student senate's academic affairs committee, now administrative assistant at the provost's office.

ALAN GRUBER — former academic affairs chairperson, later a workstudy research assistant for Student Activities.

KAREN KELLY — presently a student senator, clerk in Residential Resource Managment.

MATT BURNS — former student finance committee chairperson, now workstudy administrative assistant in the budgeting office.

PAUL HAMEL — former student treasurer, was staff assistant in the R.S.O.

STEVEN SADDLER — former student budgets committee chairperson, now at Alumni Hall.

PATTY ASACK — former senator, now working for the administration.

JOSEPH CARTER — former senate Matters committee chairperson, now at Alumni Hall.

MARK BENNETT — former Board of Governors chairperson, now working in the Dean of Students office (Dean Field, interestingly, is acting campus center director;

WILLIAM STATEN — former senator, now working in Registrar's office.....

One added piece of information — Jay Martus (former S.G.A. co-president) recently applied for an administrative post.

Steve Zisson is a Collegian Commentator.

— richard caplan

Famous lost words

The adventures of Mic Name, his partner, Nick Neckinwork and their secretary, Caren Maintenence.

My name is Mic Name but my nic name is Mic. We were working the day shift in the sadness division when the call came in:

"Yea ... "
"Is this Mic or Nick?"
"This is Mic, Mac."
"Pollywack give your dog a bone?"
"Just Mic."
"I'm Mike, Mic and we've got trouble here."
"What's the matter Mike?"
"Everyone's saying goodbye."
"So?"
"SO!? We're sad."
"Why do you want to be sad?"
"Because everyone's leaving."
"I think I know what you need."
"What's that?"
"The Jo Wellins "So What?" theory.
(and now for the first time, Jo Wellins' famous "So What" theory.)

First correlate: So (add your own expletive) What?
Second correlate: It's all bullshit anyway.
Third Correlate: It doesn't make any difference.

Conversations I hate:

"What happened the first time you got stoned?"

I'd like to see prostitution legalized just so I could see their commercials on television.

I believe I have the largest collection of Warner Brothers' jelly glasses in the Pioneer Valley. (Why the hell do they call this place the Pioneer Valley anyway?)

By now I'm sure you've had your fill of teacher and class evaluations. But now I'm going to give you a chance to fill out a self-evaluation (just like last year).

1) I feel that during this semester I have:
  a) grown quite a bit
  b) shrunk
  c) forgotten who I am
  d) remembered who I am

2) The one thing I love most about UMass is:
  a) The close relationships I have with teachers and students.
  b) The close relationship I have with my cat
  c) the close relationship I have with myself
  d) What's a relationship?

3) When I think about leaving UMass I feel:
  a) good to the very last drop
  b) I'm going to miss the old place, but not for long.
  c) relieved, but not for long
  d) like I better find another place to live, fast
  e) pretty, oh so pretty, it's alarming how charming I am

4) Who's the leader of the club that's faithful you and me?
  a) M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E
  b) R-O-B-E-R-T W-O-O-D
  c) M-I-C-H-A-E-L D-U-K-A-K-I-S
5) What weekly supplement to the Collegian is comprised of a small clique of people having the illusion of talent?
  a) above the salt
  b) around the salt
  c) pass the salt
  d) spill the salt
  e) where's the salt?
6) Since coming to UMass, the biggest problem I've had to overcome was:
  a) learning to spell my name
  b) trying to keep D.C. food down
  c) trying to find my classes
  d) trying to lose my classes
7) The most famous landmark affiliated with this campus is:
  a) The Anthony Loafaskelli memorial clock
  b) the pond that time forgot
  c) the Sunderland Bus
8) After graduating from UMass, I will probably:
  a) get a job
  b) What's a job?
  c) Where's a job?
  d) pretend I'm a creature from outer space invading another planet
  e) all of the above

By the way, for a much less price than what it costs to subscribe to the Collegian, you can get my column sent directly to your house once a week. If interested write the Collegian.

Finally, to Seal (I'm sorry you don't like my beard), to all the crazy and beautiful people at physical therapy, to all my friends, lovers, enemies, helpers, teachers, Martha Newcomb and Lisa Melilli, (my two favorite writers), and you, too, Bill,) thank you for making my life here a little easier and thanks for making me feel important.

Since this is my last column for the Collegian, I want you all to remember something my Uncle Ralph used to always tell me: "You gotta be an acorn before you can be a tree".

Promise me you'll write ....

Richard Caplan is (was) a Collegian Columnist.

— commentary

Our strength lies with you

By ROB THAYER

We at the Manchester National Guard Armory in New Hampshire, imprisoned for our opposition to nuclear power have created our own community. Physical conditions are terrible, overcrowding, sanitation, and lack of adequate medical care are problems — but our spirits are high. Never have I seen anything like this: hundreds and hundreds of us confined to one concrete floor, co-existing not only without major problems, but with a sense of shared growth, of love and community. We have our own barbershop, a masseuse, a book exchange, a health food collective, a bulletin board, an art studio, an information table, lots of workshops, even a town crier. We sing, we dance and we hold regular town meetings.

But we have not forgotten why we are here. We oppose the proliferation of nuclear power as an alternative energy source, especially when motivated by profit for a few. We understand that nuclear power is not being developed with our future energy needs in mind. If this has been the motivation of its proponents, why have other sources of energy been ignored? We understand that the direction of research and development is dictated not by our needs, but by profit. Along with the tremendous hazards of nuclear power without safeguards — from the marine life off Seabrook to the existence of life on this planet — that is why we are here.

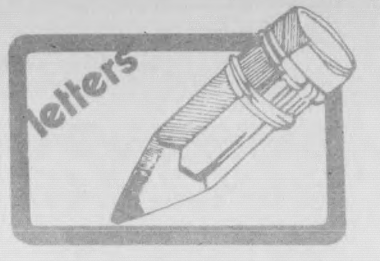
When this movement began, it was directed at one corporation in particular — the Public Service Company of New Hampshire, major investors in the proposed facility at Seabrook. Since then, however, other interests have arisen. We now find ourselves standing face to face with much, much, larger concerns than one corporation: the governor of New Hampshire, the state and federal court system, and a wide spectrum of governmental and corporate interests. We have always understood the connection between big business and government, but it has previously been more subtle. They have been holding hands under the table for years; we have made them stand and lock arms, for we are stronger than they ever would have believed. In light of the nature of the opposition — the most powerful men on earth with the most dangerous substance ever known in their hands — our sense of unity has been absolutely essential. And we all know it. That is why, out of 1414 individuals arrested, not one single incident occurred. The five hours of non-violent training each of us received beforehand has proved tremendously valuable. Since we marched onto the site on Saturday, April 30, I have not seen one joint of marijuana or one can of beer. This is not "another Woodstock," as many newspapers would have led you to believe. Nor is it a "terrorist invasion," as Governor Meldrim Thompson would have led you to believe.

It is extremely important to emphasize that our strength could not exist without the tremendous support and energy we have been getting from people around the world; it could not exist without you. Many who once felt removed from the particular issue of the Seabrook construction, have now been exposed to the larger connection of our opposition and their twisted intentions.

We at the Manchester Armory and at four other armories around New Hampshire, are growing in our strength and convictions every minute we are here. And we will remain here until we are released on the personal recognizance, so commonly granted to serious criminals every day.

We are strong, but you make us strong. Power to the people. We love you.

Rob Thayer is presently being held in the Manchester, N.H. National Guard Armory for his participation in the Seabrook occupation.



CC Director search closes

To the Editor:

The search for the director of the Campus Center is coming to an end. Now that interviewing of the five finalists is over, the committee will meet to recommend three names to the Vice-Chancellor for Administration and Finance. However, since this new administrator has not yet been officially hired, it is our feeling that Vice-Chancellor Woodbury will make the final decision.

As student representatives on the search committee, we are coming out in full support of William Harris as our first choice. Mr. Harris is more than adequately experienced as far as the financial and administrative functions that he will be responsible for. We feel he would be a good liaison between the administration of the Campus Center, the UMass administration and the student body, especially the BOG. He has spoken in favor of student input at the preliminary thought stage of decision making. More importantly, he has expressed the desire for students to PARTICIPATE in the input they will have.

Aside from his generally positive views towards student input, we feel that Mr. Harris' attitude towards perceiving the Campus Center-Student Union Complex as a facility for providing services within an educational institution is exemplary. Too often, in the history of the Campus Center the aspect of "education" seemed to be missing.

We urge that each, and as many student groups would act, in whichever way they feel is appropriate, (e.g. a letter of support to the Vice-Chancellor Woodbury) to ensure that Mr. Harris will be the new director of the Campus Center-Student Union Complex.

Shelly Gordon
Stephen Latter
Board of Governors

Fond memories

To the Editor:

We believe Dr. Robert Livingston, professor in the Botany Department, to be one of the finest instructors in the University. Because he is retiring after this semester, we feel we should know how much we have enjoyed his class and the warmth and enthusiasm that have characterized his teaching and have earned him the highest attendance record on campus.

On field trips we puffed behind as he lead us, "lickety-split", through bogs, up cold mountain sides, and along winding streams.

Although at one time suspected of conducting Russian espionage in cow pastures, the research he has done has made him a pre-eminent authority on New England plants and environment.

Accordingly, we wish him all the happiness and success that the future can bring.

Signed, the Botany 121 Class

more letters page 14

MASSACHUSETTS DAILY
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst MA 01003 (413) 545-3500

BOARD OF EDITORS — RONALD J. ARENA, Editor-in-Chief; ROBERT J. HIGGINS, Managing Editor; ANTHONY P. ARMELIN, Business Manager; BERNARD T. DAVIDOW, News Editor; WILLIAM A. SUNDSTROM, Executive Editor; NASSER H. EGA, Black Affairs Editor; JUDITH M. VAN HANDLE, Sports Editor; JAY A. SARET, Photo Editor; MARK A. LECCESE, Fine Arts Editor.

ASSOCIATE EDITORS — Christopher J. Bourne, Teresa M. Hanafin, Night Managers; Paula Strollo, Wire Editor; Judy Kritzman, Assistant Executive Editor; Dorothy A. Clark, Kevin C. Turcotte, Stephanie H. Aronson, Ann C. Treneman, Assistant News Editors; Angela P. Thomas, Assistant Black Affairs Editor; Michael A. Berger, Richard W. Eckel, Assistant Sports Editors; E. Patrick McQuaid, Deborah S. Schafer, Assistant Fine Arts Editors; Melanie J. Johnson, Women's Coordinator; Heidi S. Berenson Feature Coordinator.

BUSINESS — Steve N. Lesser, Advertising Manager; Leslie Nearman, Finance Manager; Laurie Wood, Assistant Business Manager; Heath C. Wheeler, Jr., Linda Crowell, Assistant Advertising Managers; Randy Glenn, Graphics Manager; Ann Emanuelli, Doug Surette, Assistant Graphics Managers; Steve Polansky, Circulation Manager; Linda S. Vene, National Advertising Manager.

The Collegian is the student newspaper of the University of Massachusetts. The staff is responsible for its content and no faculty member or administrators read it for accuracy or approval prior to publication.

Unsigned editorials represent the view of this paper. They do not necessarily reflect the views of the faculty, administration, or student body as a whole. Signed editorials, columns, reviews, cartoons, and letters represent the personal view of the authors.

The Collegian is a member of the Associated Press and subscribes to United Press International. Publication of their material does not constitute endorsement.

The Collegian is a member of Columbia Scholastic Press Association, The College Press Service, The Pacific News Service and the Christian Science Monitor News Service.

The Collegian strives to print only advertising which is truthful and complete, but final responsibility for all advertising lies with the individual advertisers.

letter

C.A.O.S. needs space!

To the Editor:

C.A.O.S. is running out of space. Counselling Assistance for Older Students, currently occupying little more than closet space in the Student Union, is being squeezed, sliced and relegated to office space small enough to make even the most confident non-claustrophobic feel intimidated. For an organization which addresses itself to 49 per cent of the student population (aged 25 and over) at UMass, space to sit, stand, and walk around is extremely important.

Last year, C.A.O.S. saw 2700 students walk into its office seeking either academic or personal counseling. In addition, its research and publication units developed a needs assessment booklet and the book, If Only I Had Known, now running to 15,000 copies. The student staff at C.A.O.S. also helped develop the Math Skills Program and the Academic-Life Planning and Career Counseling programs.

C.A.O.S. is currently working on a Community Profile booklet, and developing the "SHOTS" program (Students Helping Others Through the System), designed to aid and befriend older, incoming students at UMass.

The C.A.O.S. office has been a distribution center for Course Description Guides. C.A.O.S. cannot continue to meet many of the needs of older students at the university without adequate space.

At a recent Board of Governors' meeting (April 28th), the board irresponsibly voted to reduce office space for C.A.O.S. Practicing irregular parliamentary procedures, the vote was hastily taken at a point when many of the members were understandably weary from a lengthy three-hour meeting. Ironically, one of the members of the board thought it polite to ask what the anagram "CAOS" signified. Another member of the board answered his query, and space allocation for C.A.O.S. was put to vote. We, as students working for C.A.O.S., feel that this action is typical of the naivete and irresponsibility of the Board of Governors, many of whom are new members.

One question we would like to pose at this time is how can the Board justifiably reduce the space of C.A.O.S. and continue to collect the $36 fee from each of the 8,212 students at UMass who are aged 25 and over? 2700 students used the services of C.A.O.S. last year, and many more are expected to turn to us for academic and personal counseling this year.

As the only counseling organization designed on campus to provide a voice for older students, we are demanding more space to suit many of our collective needs. We are also recommending that, in the future, the Board of Governors be informed of the issues and response to the needs of the older students at UMass.

Jack Downing and 16 other
CAOS staff members

YES!
The People's Market will be open for the summer
(and we'll be open during finals)

summer opening date: May 24

Sorry, we won't be hiring for the summer. Fall hiring will take place the first week in Sept. If you're interested find out about us now.

545-2060

The Student Senate Concert Committee would like to thank the following who made this year's Spring Concert a success.

Capt. Joyce and the UMass police,
Physical Plant Workers,
the student marshalls,
Amateur Radio Club,
Room to Move,
food service, campus center,
fine arts center, RSO office,
and the Athletic Dept.

Again Thank you
Student Senate
Spring Concert Committee

LAST MINUTE
ART SUPPLY SALE
For Your Last Minute Project

25¢ off WITH COUPON — AD MARKERS 200 COLORS
35¢ off WITH COUPON — DUO COLOR MAT BOARD 32"x40" (different color on Either Side)
50¢ off WITH COUPON — University Imprint Sketch Pad 18"x 24"; METAL FRAMES -SECTIONAL TYPE ONLY BLACK & SILVER

AT THE UNIVERSITY STORE
CAMPUS CENTER
'THE ART STORE WITHIN A STORE'

SALE ENDS SAT., MAY 21

INVALID AFTER 5 21 — 25¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE AD MARKER — THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5 21 — 35¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE SHEET DUO COLOR MAT BOARD 32" x 40" — THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5 21 — 50¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE UNIVERSITY IMPRINT SKETCH PAD 18" x 24" — THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER
INVALID AFTER 5 21 — 50¢ TOWARDS PURCHASE OF ONE SET OF METAL FRAMES-SECTIONAL ONLY — THE UNIVERSITY STORE CAMPUS CENTER

LABORATORY IN COUNSELING SKILLS
H290U

WILL BE OFFERED THIS SUMMER THROUGH THE DIVISION OF CONTINUING ED. AND THE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

F SESSION MAY 24 - JULY 5
EVERY TUESDAY AND THURSDAY FROM 9 TO 12
WITH ONE SATURDAY MEETING JUNE 25TH

S SESSION JULY 12 - AUGUST 18
EVERY TUESDAY AND THURSDAY FROM 9 TO 12
WITH ONE SATURDAY MEETING AUGUST 13TH

REGISTER NOW AT CONT. ED. HILLS NORTH
MON - THURS 830-700 FRI 830-500 SAT 1000-100

THIS COURSE IS DESIGNED TO PROVIDE STUDENTS WITH A THEORETICAL BACKROUND IN COUNSELING TECHNIQUES AS WELL AS PRACTICAL SUPERVISED COUNSELING EXPERIENCE, ESPECIALLY FOR THOSE INTERESTED IN PARA-PROFESSIONAL COUNSELING AND HUMAN SERVICE PROGRAMS. ACADEMIC COUNSELING CERTIFICATION MAY BE OBTAINED. COURSE INCLUDES LECTURES, GUEST SPEAKERS, VIDEO TAPING, GROUP DYNAMIC AND SIMULATION GAMES. IT IS A PREREQUISITE FOR ALL INSERVICE CAOS PERSONNEL.

CALL 545-3430 CONT. ED OR 545-0057 CAOS FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

J18 — With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase — Lipton Tea Bags — 100 count box 99¢ — Good through Sat., May 14. Limit one box per customer. 232 — Grocery — Stop & Shop
J15 — With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase — General Mills Cheerios — 15 ounce pkg. 49¢ — Good through Sat., May 14. Limit one pkg. per customer. 229 — Grocery — Stop & Shop
J16 — With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase — Charmin Toilet Tissue — 4 pack 500 sheet 1 ply rolls 49¢ — Good through Sat., May 14. Limit one pkg. per customer. 230 — Grocery — Stop & Shop
J17 — With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase — Kraft American Cheese Food Singles — White or Yellow 16 oz. pkg. 99¢ — Good through Sat., May 14. Limit one pkg. per customer. 231 — Dairy — Stop & Shop
J21 — With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase — Free! Stop & Shop Orange Juice — 6 oz. can-frozen — Good through Sat., May 14. Limit one can per customer. — Frozen — Stop & Shop
J22 — With this coupon and a $7.50 purchase — Free! Stop & Shop 5lb Bag Sugar — Good through Sat., May 14. Limit one bag per customer. — Grocery — Stop & Shop

ONE OF THE STOP & SHOP COMPANIES
Stop & Shop
SUPERMARKETS

It's 'my store' to more people.
because of the many ways you save at Stop & Shop.

2 for 1 SALE
Two prints for the price of one
Bring your exposed roll of "Mothers Day" film to any Stop & Shop this week and we'll print you an extra set of pictures for the price of one! We'll turn the film you shoot into beautiful, full-size prints ... and what's more, if your pictures don't turn out perfect, you don't pay for them! Just drop off your roll when you come in to shop, and pick it up on your next shopping trip.
Offer expires May 14, 1977
Kodak paper. For a Good Look at the Times of Your Life

frozen meat department
NEW Delicious For Steak Sandwiches!
Lovitt's Shaved Steak 1 pound pkg. $1.89
Prepared From Thinly Sliced Beef and Frozen
Boneless Turkey Roast 2 lb pkg $3.19 — Jennie O Brand - White Meat - frozen
Boneless Turkey Roast 2 lb pkg $2.79 — Jennie O Brand - White & Dark Meat - frozen
Sold in our Meat Department corner deli ... quality and service at our deli. Avail. at stores with corner deli.

Cooked Ham Domestic Sectioned and Formed $1.99 lb.
Cooked Chicken Roll Weaver $1.99
White American Cheese Land O Lakes $1.49
Cameco Danish Salami 8 oz 99¢
Roast Beef Our Best Quality Oven Roasted 89¢
Roasted Turkey Breast 89¢
Stop & Shop Cole Slaw 55¢
Stop & Shop Ham Salad $1.00
Vanilla Tapioca Pudding Stop & Shop 59¢
Deli Sandwich Rye Bread Corner Deli 1 lb loaf 59¢

kitchen Our chefs turn out quality meals.
"White Gem" - Whole Cooked Chicken Roasted or Barbeque Style 89¢ lb.
Stop & Shop Cole Slaw 15 oz pkg 55¢
Tapioca Pudding Vanilla, Chocolate or Banana 2 13 oz pkgs 89¢
Macaroni & Cheese 5 lb pkg Frozen $2.00

seafood All week values for your budget.
Fresh Flounder Fillets $1.99 lb.
Pollock Fillets Frozen 89¢
Matlaw's Stuffed Clams Frozen $1.79
Fried Clams Americal Original Frozen $1.99
Cooked Fish Cakes Stop & Shop Frozen 89¢
Haddock Fillets Cooked Taste O'Sea Frozen $1.29
Flounder Fillets Cooked Taste O'Sea Frozen $1.29

Stop & Shop "Great Beef" USDA Choice
Sirloin Steak — Shell Beef Loin $1.39 lb — Most families go for steak ... and sirloin is great for the grill.
Stop & Shop GREAT BEEF Quality Protected — USDA CHOICE
Underblade Roast Beef Chuck USDA Choice (Bone in) $1.09 lb.
Chuck Roast Boneless Beef Chuck USDA Choice $1.19 lb.
Stewing Beef Chuck Beef Chuck USDA Choice $1.39 lb.
Beef Round Tip Roast "Great Beef" USDA Choice $1.39 lb
Beef Round Tip Steak "Great Beef" USDA Choice $1.79 lb
Beef Chuck Steak 7 Bone "Great Beef" USDA Choice 89¢ lb
Stop & Shop Corned Beef Brisket Point Cut 89¢ lb. Flat Cut $1.09

You'll end up with more meat to eat with ...
26% Ground Beef 79¢ lb. Contains not more than 26% fat - Any size pkg.
20% Lean Ground Beef Any Size pkg. $1.09 lb. Lean contains not more than 20% fat.
14% Extra Lean Ground Beef $1.29 lb. Extra Lean contains not more than 14% fat. Any size pkg.

Self-Service Deli All-Week Specials
Meat or Beef Franks Swift's Premium 1 lb pkg 89¢
Sausage Swift's Brown & Serve 8 oz pkg Frozen 89¢
Sizzlean Swift's 12 oz pkg Breakfast Strips $1.29
Sliced Bacon Swift's Premium 1 lb pkg $1.29
Oscar Mayer Bacon 1 lb pkg $1.49
Sliced Bologna Armour 1 lb pkg 99¢
Ham Steaks Stop & Shop Vacuum Pack $1.99
Weiners or Beef Franks Oscar Mayer 1 lb pkg $1.19
Franks or Knockwurst Hebrew National - 12 oz. pkg. $1.39 produce Everything good and fresh.

"First of the Season" Southern Fresh Peaches 49¢ lb.
New Crop Florida Potatoes "A" Size US #1 5 lb. bag 89¢
Florida Tomatoes Firm Strong 49¢ lb.
Romaine Lettuce 39¢ ea. Cucumbers 5 for $1

Green Giant Niblet Corn 4 12 oz cans $1
Vanity Fair Towels 125 ct 2 ply roll 49¢
Glad Trash Bags 20 ct pkg $1.89
Glad Garbage Bags Large Size 15 ct pkg. 89¢
Nestle-Souptime Soup Tomato 2.88 oz or Chicken Noodle 1.4 oz. 3 pkgs $1
B&M Baked Pea Beans 21 oz can 49¢
Ragu Cooking Sauce Italian 21 oz jar 79¢
Kelloggs Pop Tarts Reg. or Frosted Asst. Flavors 10½ oz pkg 49¢
Shasta-Diet Beverages Assorted Flavors 7 12 oz cans $1
Hawaiian Punch Assorted Flavors 46 oz can 49¢
Cranberry Juice Ocean Spray Cocktail 48 oz btl. 89¢
Skippy-40 oz. jar Peanut Butter $1.89 frozen Cool values on sale all week.

Snow Crop Orange Juice 12 oz can 59¢
Rich's Coffee Lightener Non Dairy 32 oz ctn 49¢
Rhodes Sweet Dough 2 loaves in a 26 oz Poly Bag 69¢
Kitchen Window Bread Dough 3 lb pkg 69¢
Green Giant Niblet Corn 2 10 oz pkgs 89¢
Howard Johnson Mac. & Cheese 19 oz pkg 79¢
Johns Pizza Slices Cheese or Pepperoni 16 oz or Sausage 18 oz pkg 99¢
Deluxe Cheese Ravioli Stop & Shop 16 oz pkg 89¢
Taste O'Sea Fish Cakes 3 8 oz pkgs $1
Stop & Shop Fish Sticks 27 oz pkg $1.39
Stop & Shop Strawberries 10 oz can 39¢
Hendries Dreamsicles 12 ct - 30 oz pkg 79¢ or Hendries Florida Juice Bars
½ Gallon Sherbet Stop & Shop Assorted Flavors ctn. 89¢

dairy Everything is good and fresh.
Half Gallon Tropicana Orange Juice 69¢ ctn.
Colombo Yogurt Assorted Flavors 3 8 oz cup 89¢
Hood Instant Whipped Cream 7 oz can 69¢
Blue Bonnet Spread 2 lb pkg $1.09

bakery Made with the purest ingredients.
Big Daisy Sliced White Bread 3 20 oz loaves 89¢
Stop & Shop Jewish Rye Bread 2 18 oz $1 or Jewish Pumpernickel Bread
English Muffins Stop & Shop Regular or Split 3 12 oz pkgs of 6 $1
Kitchen Cupboard Donuts 19 oz pkg of 12 89¢
Stop & Shop Lemon Pie 22 oz pkg 89¢
Walnut Coffee Cake Loaf Stop & Shop 20 oz pkg 89¢

health & beauty aids Why pay more?
Cepacol Mouthwash 32 oz. bottle 99¢
Band Aid Plastic Strips three quarter inch wide 2 60 ct pkgs 99¢ gourmet wood cooking utensils

This week's special 14" Spoon 10¢ ea
Incredibly low priced. Compare. See what these are sold for at gourmet and department stores!
With each $3 purchase

Do-it-Yourself Encyclopedia
The Practical Guide to Home Improvements, Decorating and Repairs
volume 2 99¢ ea.
Volume 1 still available - Only 49¢ ea.

Prices effective thru Sat., May 14. In fairness to all our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to three packages of any item except where otherwise noted. Items offered for sale not available in case lots or to other dealers or wholesalers. Copyright 1977 by Stop & Shop Supermarkets. All rights reserved.

STOP & SHOP in HADLEY-AMHERST Route 9 at the Hadley-Amherst Line. 8:00a.m.-10:00p.m., Monday - Saturday

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

TO SUBLET

A top-notch 2 bedroom apartment for summer lease in Brandywine. Furnished! AC, pool, bus route. Call for a deal – 549-0691.

3 bdrm. Apt., Pufflon. Call 549-6948.

Drastic reduction forced by buyers market! Two bedroom apartment – cheap! On bus route, swimming pool, air conditioning. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729.

4 bdrm. townhouse on bus rte., furnished, air cond., pool. June 1st to Aug. 31st. 256-0337.

Cheap, 4 bdrm. apt. on bus rt. All utl. included. Furnished, AC, pool. 253-9957.

QUIET AMH. CTR. 1 bdrm., AC, pkg, near bus, stores. $180 w-optn. 253-3516.

Little house in country, furnished, pine interior, 2 bedrooms, streams, 3 acres. Must see 1-628-3931 or 527-5420. $225 – month.

Summer Sublet. 2 bdrm. apt. Dates and rent negotiable. Call 256-0338.

Sublet – quiet, clean, sunny, 1 bedroom apt. Available June 1. Option to renew. On bus route, pool, laundry facilities. Utilities included. 253-5588 after 5.

With rent option, 3 rm. apt., furnished, bus route, laundry, all util. included. Colonial Vlg., excellent cond. $210 per. 253-7865

2 bdrm. apt., Squire Vill., Sund. A.C., pool, bus rte. Avail. June 1. Phone 665-4891.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. Brandywine apt. Bus rt., furn. Pets OK. Pool. 5-22 – 8-31. Rent negot. Call 549-1405.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. June 1 - Aug. 31. Opt. renew, pool, bus rte. Rent neg. 253-7798.

Breezy 2 bdrm. apt. in C.V. on bs rt., pool. 5-23 – 8-31. Rent vy neg. incl. util. 253-9401.

Summer Sublet. Townehouse apt., A.C., bus route, croquet set!! $55 – mo. 549-6033.

1-4 brooms in house, start 6-1 – 8-31. Pelham. 7 mi. from Amherst, across the st. from Quabbin. $65.00 a month. 253-2757.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt. A.C., pool, furn., on bus rt. Fall opt. 6-1 – 8-31. B.O 549-6919.

2 bdrm. apt., Colonial Vlg. Apts., on bus rte, prtly furn. upstairs. Jun - Aug. Opt. to renew. $165. neg. Call 5-7 p.m., 253-9559.

3 bdrm. twnhs. Jun - Aug., util. incl. Pool, air cond., cheap. 546-9671; 546-5670.

4 br. Rolling Green twnhse. Part furn. $250 – mo., June - Aug. Leave message. Days 5-1552; eves., 253-3755.

Spacious 2 bdrm. apt. at Colonial Village. Includes utilities, pool and option to renew. Available May 29. $150. Call Paul 546-6312.

With rent option, 3 rm. apt., furnished, bus route, laundry, all util. included. Colonial Vlg. Excel. cond. $210 per. 253-7865.

2 bdrm. twnhse., bus rt., A.C., pool. $190. Sq. Vlg. 665-4789.

1 lrge bdrm. S. Amherst. $65. June - Sept. Option to renew. 256-6602. Larry.

Sublet, 2 bdrm. apt. June 1 to Aug. 31. 106 Colonial, util. $185 – mo. 253-7760.

Puffton, 3 bdrm., furn. Mid-May - Aug. 549-1317.

1 bdrm. apt., walk to campus. June – Sept., renew opt. Call 253-7234.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt., w-furn., A.C., pool on B.RT. Opt. for Fall. 6-1 – 8-31. B.O. 549-6919.

Available 5-16. 1 bdrm. apt., w-w, a.c., pool. $165 – mo. Call 665-4358 or 665-2203. (Squire Vil.)

1 bdrm. Crestview Apt. June 1. Opt. to renew. Rent neg. On bus route. 549-6135.

So. East St., Amherst. 4 bedroom house. June 1. Bus route. $265 plus utilities. 256-0452.

Furnished, 1 bdrm., Squire Vlg. Jun - Aug. Pool, air cond., bus route. CATV. 665-3904.

Spacious townhouse apt. in N. Amherst to sublet for summer. Fall option, $185 – mo. Call Fritz or Roland at tel. 549 0921.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt., A.C., pool, bus rte. $210. Call 549 2718.

TO SUBLET

Two bedroom apt. at Cliffside in Sunderland, on bus route. Swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low rent. Call 665-4729 and keep trying.

2 br. Col. Vil. Jn 1 - Aug. 31. Option to renew. Garden plots avail., pool, bus rt., cool in summer. $220 inc. 253-2874, after 6.

Riverglade 2 bdrm. 6-1 – 8-31. Price neg. Call 256-0638.

4 bdrm. Rolling Green Townhse. June – Aug. cheap $280 a month. Call 546-7161.

Sublet – June 1 - Aug. 31. 3 bdrm. apt. in So. Amherst on bus route, pool, air cond., veg. garden, large yard, quiet atmos. $220 – mo. 253-5136 anytime.

Sublet – 2 bed. apt. Beaut. Squire Vlg., Sund. 7 min. from campus. 6-1 – 8-31 w-opt. for fall. Rent neg., A.C., pool, on bus rt! Call 665-3619.

Sublet – room ideal for couple or single. Opp. for Fall. $65 mo plus. Pets OK. Garden, off road, on UM bus. 323-5536.

2 bedrm. in 3 bedrm. Twnhse. Squire Vlg., Sunderland. Jun to Sep (w-opt to renew), bus rte., pool, A.C., 7 min. to UMass. 665-2303.

1 rm for male in 2 bdrm. apt. $70 incl. all util. Call 549-1816. Keep trying.

2 bdrm. apt., Brandywine, on bus rt. A.C., pool, exc. view, semi-furn. 6-1 – 8-31. $250 or best offer. 549-4766.

2 bdrm. Col. Vil. 1 bdrm. June, both July - Aug. Pool, bus, semi-furn. $220 – mo. incl. util. Rent negot. 256-0465.

3 bdrm. 2nd floor, semi-furn. After May 21. Just off campus. 24 Nutting Ave. 549-1862, util. inc.

Low rent. 3 bdr. twnhse, ½ m campus. Furn., priv. bkyd., 2 bus rt., residential. 549-4855.

Opt to renew. 2 bdrm. Cliffside apt. June-Aug. $200 – mo. Call 665-7188, 545-2820, or 545-0881.

$105 Free. 1 bedrm. apt. - Pool - 665-2886.

1 br. A.C. July and Aug. Dates flexible. Poss. Fall option. Presidential Apts., Amherst. 549-2812. Nice airy place.

$100 – 2 bdrm. twnhse. June - Aug. 256-6205.

2 rooms, modern house, Shutesbury. Wall to wall, dishwasher, etc. 7 mi. to campus. $70 – rm. 253-5366 eves.

2 brm. Brandywine. 6-1 – 8-31. Ful. furnished, pool, A.C. Call 549-1564.

Summer in the country. Sublet apartment in Sunderland. 6-1 to 8-31. Air conditioning, dishwasher and disposal, wall to wall carpeting. A good deal at $150 per month. Call 665-4255. Ask for Joe or Paul.

2 bdrm. apt., low rent, negotiable, utils. incl., bus rte., pool, tennis. Cliffside. 665-2847.

Free – 1 mo. rent, Jn. - Ag. Subl. Rol. Grn. Twnhse. 2 br. Opt. to renew. All util. incl. A.C., bus rt. 256-8120.

Spacious So. Deerfield apt. on bus route. Very unique so must be seen. Please call after 6:00 p.m. 665-7193.

Large apt. w-2 lg. bdrms. on N. Pleasant. $260 – mo. 253-5298.

3 big bdrms. apt., A.C., close to cmps., nice view, util. inc. $290. Dishwasher. 549-1387.

2 bdrm. semi-furn. apt. Bus rt., pool. 3-3684, Colonial Village.

3 DESPERATE FEMALES need you to sublet 2 bdrm. twnhse. in Rolling Green. Avail June 1 - Aug. 31. Air cond., on bus rte., pool. $220 – mo., or best offer. Call 546-9544 or 253-7537.

2 bdrm. apt. $190 – mo., incl. util. Good loc., pool. Call 253-2841.

Puffton – 1 lg. bdrm. to sublet. Pool, bus route, quiet. Rent neg. 549-1603.

Pres. Apt. Two bdrm., sunlight, util. incl., furnished. Best offer. 549-4455.

One bedroom apt. at Cliffside, on bus rt., A.C.; dishwasher, cable, pool. $120 – mo., util. incl. 665-4764. Rent negotiable.

Mill Hollow Apts. Next to Puffer's Pond, 2 bdrm., rent neg. incl. util. June - Aug., avail. Mid-May. 549-6109.

Manhattan sublet. Jul. 1 - Aug. 30. E80's. Lg. mod. studio, kit., furnished. $265 – mo. Call 212-472-9582.

1 bdrm. apt., Cliffside. All util. $127 a month on bus route. Call 665-3986.

1 bdrm. apt. on bus route to sublet w-option. $150 and negotiable. Call 256-8172.

TO SUBLET

Sunny 1 bdrm. apt., screened porch, quiet street, NHamp. Mid June to Mid Aug. $145 – mo. 586-0585, eves. No smokers.

Best offer takes it. 2 bdrm. sublet w-opt., furn. or not. Lots extra. 665-3637.

Great for plants. 2 bdrm. Lant. Ct. Air cond., utl inc., bus rt., some furn. op. to renew. $195. 665-4298.

2 bdrm. apt. Furn. Lantern Ct. Bus rt - $200. incl. A.C. and util. Avail. 20 May. Fall opt. 665-3931.

Cheap. By Puffers Pond. 2 bdrm., all util. incl. $180. Steve 367-2048.

2 bdrm., comp. furn. Coll. Vill. $175. Bus route, pool. 256-6042.

Sublet – Riverglade. 1 of 2 bdrms. June - Aug. $60 plus. Call Zen 253-3373 after 11.

3 bdr. twnhse. Roll. Green, util. incld. A.C., pool, on bus rt. Pr. negot. Jun - Aug. 546-9668, 546-9670.

Sublet – 1 bedroom in 3 bedroom apt. Puffton Vill. Rent neg. Ask for Dan. 549-3809.

2 singles. 1 double at Rolling Green. 100 yds. from bus, util., appl., prt. furn. $75 – mo. or best. 6-1 – 8-31. 256-0340.

Comfortable rooms to rent in house with large yard, rent negotiable. North Amherst. Anne, 549-0720.

Cheap sublet. $213 per month. 3 bedrooms on bus line. A.C. 256-6784.

Amh. Ctr. near DRAKE. 3 bdrm. apt., w-storage rm., lg. lvg. room and kitchen. $180 mo. or $60 mo. for 1 rm. CHEAP! Call 546-9217 or 546-5125.

Help! Make reasonable offer for nice one bedrm. Cliffside incl. util. 665-3986.

2 bedrm. Pres. Apts., util. incl. A.C., opt. to renew. Rent neg. Call 549-5898.

Quiet 3 bedroom apt. w-opt. to renew for Fall. Exc. view of mts. in So. Amherst. Reduced rent. Call 256-8250 anytime. A.C., dwasher, cable, inc. See to apprect.

Large single bedrooms, $75 month, cable TV, built-in bar, large house, 1 block from campus, large porch, 3 rooms available. Hurry. 546-6146; 546-6143. June - Aug.

2 bedroom apt. Rolling Green. Air cond., pool, W.W.. Call 256-0558.

1 lrge, 2 bedrm. house near Amherst Center. 253-5649.

2 bdrm. apt. in Col. Vill. Low rent, gd. cond., near pool. Call after 5. 253-3241.

Priv. bdrm. in mod. hse. in S. Amherst, 1 acre land, quiet res. nghborhd. $100 inc. util. Call 256-0343.

2 br. Dplx. Squire Vlg. Bus rt. Renew opt. Rent negot. 665-2860.

1 bdrm. in 3 bdrm. Puffton. 549-0611. Steve.

Lge. rm. S. Amherst house. $75. 253-3319.

3 bdrm. twnhse apt. near UMass, bus line, $200 mth or best offer. 549-1540.

Option to renew in Sept. $100 month incl. util. plus $100 dept. 6½ mi. from UMass. Lge. furn. rm. w-adjoin. full bth. Hse has 7 brms., 2 lrms., 2 kits., 4 bths, friendly atmosphere. 6 other people. Call Bob 253-7277 or 549-4850.

1 bdrm. in sunny No. Amh. apt. Pool, tennis, furn., food co-op. opt., rent neg. Call 549-3838.

2 br. apt. to sublet. $200 a month. 1 min. from Puffers Pond and Packie, 48 Mill Hollow on Summer St. Call 549-4506. Better yet come and see it.

Beautiful 2 bdrm. townhouse completely furnished. Includes air cond., pool, wall to wall and all utilities. Rolling Green Apts. $200. Call Paul 546-6312. June - August.

Sunny 3 bdrm. twnhse, full kitchen, A.C., 1½ bath, cable TV, bus rte. $250. 549-0436.

Sub. w-opt. June - Aug. 2 br. Cliffside Apt. overlkg. pool, util. incl. in rent. 665-4370, eves.

2 bedroom apt. on campus. All utilities. June 1- Aug. 30. 549-5147 nights.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. Jun - Aug. $110 mo. total. Pool, bus rt. 253-9488.

Own bdrm. A.C., 10 min. to UMass. Pres. Apts. 6-1 – 8-31. Renewable. $125 or best offer. 549-5532.

Cambridge June - Aug. $130 month, utilities incl. Space for 2. Ellen 538 2421.

SERVICES

Typing – expert work. 549-0813.

Dial-A-Decision. Call Paul 545-0575. Legal opinions over the phone. No waiting.

Men and trucks for hire. You bot it, we'll haul it. John, 549-6878; Gil, 253-3370.

Typing – Prompt reasonable, experienced in all forms of papers, theses, etc. Call 586-2490.

Graduating? Moving for the summer? Tree Toad Trucking will haul your all. Local or longer. 367-2096.

RIDERS WANTED

Riders wanted Fri. 13 and – or Fri. 20 to Philadelphia or Wash., D.C. One way or round trip. Leaving Fridays at 10 a.m., returning Mondays at 2 p.m. Call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

LOST

Lost. Calculator Texas SR51A, Monday, May 12. Reward. Call Bill 6-6155.

Lost – one wallet. If found please return to Mike Raymond. $25.00 rwd.

SR-50A calc. lost Wed. 5-4. Need badly for finals. Call Jim 256-8764. Reward!

Lost: T.I. SR50 calculators. Brooks House, Friday, 5-6. Reward. No questions asked. Rich 546-6347.

TRAVEL

Get away! – 3 American adventure tours, summer departures, small groups. American Camping Expeditions. Brochure call 549-1256.

ENTERTAINMENT

Cosmic Wimpout Games are on sale at The University Store and H. L. Chilos in Northampton. Play loose and have fun!

PERSONALS

Che Babee – It's been an unbelievable beautiful year. You're the best! Come Saturday morning. I Luv U. Pete.

Hey Dutz. Happy Birthday. N.Y.

The Celtics have lost their pride. Joe B.

To my honey and sweetheart. Love Ya.

Murph – It's been 4 long yrs. We've gained and lost a few but we are still the original 2. The Munchkin.

Steve Lenihan – Happy early birthday. You can scratch on our door anytime! Love Peanut Butter and Jelly.

Robyn, Thanks for the squeeze. G.

To Legal Beagle, Paul Y. Your summer job is ready. Your own 3rd floor office. And don't forget to wipe your nose off before you start. R. L. Woodbury.

it's not true that I am afraid of women: It's that I'm so short. If any woman can help me with my problem, call me at 545-0341. B. Harvey.

To Jay Martus. Your Polaroid stock split; dividends have arrived. Also Union Carbide has confirmed your job. Love, Dad.

Rots of Ruck to my friends. I should be commencing with! Peace and satisfaction from the Pumpkin Lady alias Scarlet.

Dear Sir Sarah, Sir Bear, Sir Frog Jr. Love you all and see you during the summer. Love Sir Rich and Sir Sugar and Sir Frog.

Hot Cross Buns – Waited at the Hatch but now I'm running out of time. It has to be tonight. Meet me at 10:30 at the bar at Poor Richards.

To all our friends who have made our four years the greatest. Thanks Barb, Diane and Wendy.

Hey former worker in 328 CHOB – What they don't know, won't hurt them – It's called Democracy – Love, PC.

ROOM WANTED

M stu seeks rm to rent for Fall. Pref. house in or nr Amherst. Call Richard nights 323-4362.

Fairly quiet fem. Sr. looking for room in apt. or house for Fall. 546-4879.

PERSONALS

Lizzy F - (Amazon woman) How does it feel to be 19? Love Little Pigmie, D.L.

My dearest prince - one only understands the things one tames. Happy 3rd. Love you always, Rosalita.

Luxury two bedroom apt. in Sunderland for summer sublet. On UMass bus route, swimming pool and tennis courts. All utilities included in low, low rent. Call 665-4729 anytime.

LJD, thanks for SUPERBEAR. I like him a lot: you're alright too. AJF.

$50 reward for return or info leading to recovery of grn. Peugeot U08, ser. no. 236676, stolen from Pierpont. No questions asked. I just want the bike. Barry 246 Pierpont. 546-5212.

BiBIM's triWF's invited to an Evening of Music with the Univ. Chorus and Women Choir – Wed., May 11, 8 p.m. in FAC Concert Hall – FREE. Discretion assured.

Duck: Thanx for being you. You're the berries. Love, Susan.

Hope to see you on candid camera. Look forward to meet you.

To: KC, TH, PB, MJ, KT, AM Mel, TC and others who are leaving 113 Campus Center too soon for me, Thank, you've taught a lot to me. Signed JQ.

Christina: Thanks for being a true friend. How about a date Sept. 1 – at the Pub? Love, Suzanne and Greeno.

To my Irish Imp Greeno: Thanks for the memories – you're the best! Love you always. The Italian Honey and sweetheart all your life, Suzanne.

Oceanfront cottage – Bthby Hbr., Me. 1 fm. roommate needed. Excellent summer for sure! Nancy 6-7713 or 6-7709. Anytime.

Mystery persons – Sorry about the no-show, working on the tan again. How about a last-day-of-classes beer? Bluewall. Happy Hour is in line. Meet us there today at 4:00. Janice X and Hot Cross Buns.

Fran, Jane, Joan, Ruth, Zeke, Mary, April and Linoa. The old gang is breaking up. We had some good times especially at the nunnery. Good luck to all of you as you leave here. I'll miss you all so make sure you keep in touch. Love, Barb.

Janice X. Bergamini – You didn't show that day in the Hatch. How about giving it one more try? Meet me tonight at the bar at Poor Richard's at 10. See you then.

Are you sick of the dorm life? But you don't want to move off campus. Sigma Delta Tau Sorority has the answer! We are accepting boarders for next semester. For more info., call Jane at 545-0527.

Nurse Debbie, You really made it! Remember the Melvillettes in the shower. Carol.

Ricko – I'm graduating but not leaving – Your JG the Big C.

To the 8th fl. JQA: Thanks a lot for your help and understanding. Only a beer-puddle-wader could appreciate it! Good luck y'all – yer Crutchin'Counse.

To JML – Coupon good for one night at C.C. Hotel. Valid to 5-21.

To Juicy – Good for one free dinner at the Y (or elsewhere).

To Burnout – Good for one oz. of gold. Pay bearer on demand.

ID the walks, the talks, the stories. It has all been so beautiful. Thanks.

Well Sheila, you did it! Congratulations and good luck. Love your roommate.

Helyn McPherson, Sandy Beder, Kath Blumenthal, Quantum Man: Congratulations! Love, Pia.

RIDE WANTED

Need ride. Chicago to Amherst or NYC on or about 18 June. 549-6033.

AUDIO

Quality components. Over 150 lines, reasonable prices. Call Peter, 665-2920.

Pioneer SX-535 20 watts per, BIC form. 4 spkrs., AR-XB with M91ED. $450. Ken 549-1452.

CALCULATORS

End of semester prices! SR 52, $179.95; SR-56, $77.77; SR-51, $49.95; SR 40 and Bus Anal. $29.95; Commodore 1800 Scientific, $34.95. HP 67, $375. And College Calculators services all machines sold for 1 full yr! Before you buy anywhere, call Bob or Linda at 549-1316!

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

MARIAH WILDERNESS SPORT
PHOTO CONTEST!
Send for FREE entry form and contest rules
$4500 worth of Nikon photo gear plus an adventure trip for contest winners!
Name
Address
City, State, and ZIP
Mail to MARIAH Magazine
Room 319
3401 W. Division St.
Chicago, IL 60651

Moving Sale
25% off all canvas bags, accessories & gift items - lots of Mother's day & graduation gift ideas!
Kaleidoscope Handprints
16 Main St. Amherst

安城中國飯店
AMHERST CHINESE FOOD
62 Main St., Amherst
Tel. 253-7835
EAT IN OR TAKE-OUT.
LUNCH SPECIALS 99¢ & up

EUROPE
less than 1/2 economy fare
Campus Travel Center
Campus Center, 3rd level
U. of Mass., 545-0500
60 day advance payment required

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

To place a classified ad, drop by the Collegian Office between 8:30 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., Monday through Friday. The deadline is 3:45 p.m. two days before your ad is to appear. Ask clerk for MDC Classified form.

Classifieds

The rates are: Daily - $.40 per line Weekly - $.35 per line Monthly - $.25 per line ADS CAN BE MAILED. SEE OUR SPEEDY CLASSIFIED AD FORM APPEARING IN EACH MONDAY'S COLLEGIAN.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

FOR SALE

Peugeot Men's 10 spd. A1 cond. B.O. 25 inch frm. 665-3025 a.m. or late p.m. Must see.

Golf clubs, Chi Chi Rodriguez signature, pro-registered and bag - 9 irons, 4 woods and putter. List $350 - used only 2 times - have lost interest and need cash. $175 or B.O. Call Steve 6-5420.

Gift idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap, 256-8732.

Furniture for sale. 256-0401.

Multi-wide tires, M-50, 14 inch. $50 or best offer. Bill 546-7060.

Calculators! End of semester prices! See classified ad under Calculators!

Pioneer car cassette tape deck with speakers. Total retail value $140. Will sell for $60 or B.O. Call 584-8324 or 549-0616.

Gift Idea: Have your portrait drawn. Call Dennis Delap 256-8732.

Gibson ES, 330TD guitar, mid '60's, perfect cond. $325 or B.O. Call Bob 6-9432.

9x12 bl shag rug, $40; toaster oven $8; rotating Schlitz lamp, $6; wall lamp $3; all exc. cond. 6-8991.

Kitchen sz. fridge. Neg. $75. 546-8207.

Genuine porcelain, china from Peking. Cups and saucers. Very nice, cheap. 253-9750.

Yamaha six-string folk guitar: like new, case included. $60 or best offer. Call 549-2781.

5 cu. ft. fridge, $80 or best offer. Call 546-8432.

Water bed, queen sz., w-frame complete, $150. Will neg. Janet 545-2627.

If you're subletting for summer, you'll need some furniture cheap. Mine's for sale. Chairs, couch, etc. Call 549-0506.

Minolta 101 f17, like new, $150. Accessories, very cheap with camera. 253-7844.

For Sale: Melody 12 string guitar, excellent condition, asking $200. EKO 6 string guitar, like new, asking $60. Call 323-4249.

Super Tag Sale. Everything must go. Sat. and Sun. No. 2 Cedarwood Apts., Rt. 9, Belch. More info. 323-5157.

'66 Key electric piano by Cordovox. Must sell, $650 new, asking $375. Let's deal. Steve 323-5157.

5 cu. ft. refrigerator. $75 or B. O. Call 6-6523.

Queen size water bed with frame, $125 or best offer. 549-4833.

Pair of yr. around tires H15, 4 mos. old. Dan 549-1867. $40 negotiable.

Philco 7 cu. ft. fridge and freeze. $35 or B. O. Call Mike 546-9677.

Apt. sz. refridge. Roomy. Must sell. $50 or B.O. Call Nancy 6-4051.

Full size refrig. $40. Call 543-9409.

One and one-half cu. ft. refrig. Excellent condition. $80 or best offer. Eves. 6-1216. Keep trying!

Couch for sale, good cond. $25. 256-6408.

Turntable BSR 510, $25. Call 546-9635.

Waterbed with heater, $100. Call Heather 665-4452.

Full-size refrigerator. G. E. Excellent condition. $40. Call Debbie 545-2303, rm. 315. Keep trying.

2.5 cu. ft. frig., $30. Call 546-9021.

Bureau, $7. Exc. cond. 549-0506.

Giant frig., will fit keg, $30 or best offer. 6-9079.

Ladies leather jacket, 9-10 and boots 7, shoes 7. Good price. 546-6769; 549-3681.

FOR SALE

Couch – pulls out to dbl. bed. $30 or B. O. Call 256-8421.

Volkswagen tires, exc. $12. each. 584-2846.

Furniture. Everything must go. 584-2846.

Acoustic Research turntable. Best offer. 253-5649.

Realistic cassette player-recorder, records direct from stereo. Excellent condition. Includes tapes. $50. Call Pat, 253-7950.

Calculator – T. I. SR-50A, perfect condition, 6 mo. warranty. $25. Call Bob 549-1316.

AUTO FOR SALE

65 Mustang std. runs good, needs work. B.O. call Mary, 549-6476.

Toyota MKII '74, 2 dr., 4 spd., AM – FM, lo mi., rust proof. Must sell. Evenings 6-4580.

1951 Plymouth, 4 dr., 38,000 original miles. Excellent condition. B. O. over $1200. 586-2213.

Saab 1967 station wagon. $400. Call John 545-0192.

1969 VW, runs great. 77,000 miles. Asking $550. Call 665-2159. Ask for Bob.

I have a beautiful Ford van for sale. Excellent interior, carpeted and paneled. Needs some mechanical work. $450.00. Call David at 253-3776.

1972 Pinto, 2000cc, automatic. Body good, runs well, good mileage, Spring sticker. Asking $850.00. Call Paul 256-0235.

'68 VW Bug, good body, tires, runs well. $500 or B.O. 5-2370 days; 549-5147 nt.

'68 VW, run. cond. Gd. tires. $350. Mike 546-5346.

1971 Toyota Mark II, 4 door, automatic, gd. cond. $550 or best offer. 369-4429.

1975 Toyota Celico GT., ex. condition. New Michelins and brakes. Best offer. 546-5297.

'65 Rambler, runs good, new starter, tires, radiator, $250. Call Jay, 546-5347.

1963 Chevy Impala, very dependable, 2nd owner. $175 or B. O. Call Steve 546-5065.

'71 Vega, 4 speed, good cond. Must sell. $700. Paul, 546-5494.

1964 Ply. Barracuda, gd. cond. 256-8607.

'66 Buick V6, auto., no rust, new stkr, brks. $275. 256-0673.

1968 Triumph Spitfire. B. O. Must sell. 549-6834.

'71 Vega, 4 speed, nds eng. wk. 549-4843.

'68 VW Van, good cond., rebuilt engine, excellent summer cruiser, asking $1000. Call Janice 665-4672.

1968 Firebird auto., 6 cyl., recent paint and exhaust sys. Vy. gd. cond. $495. 546-5814.

'74 Fiat wgn., stereo, snows. Best offer. 549-1347 evenings.

'72 Toyota Corolla, 1600, st. wagon, auto. trans. Great mileage. Great condition. $1100 or best offer. Call 6-9021.

MOTORCYCLE FOR SALE

1969 Jawa 175cc only 1400 miles. $275. 253-7844.

1975 Honda 550 - 4, 8,000 mi., exc. cond., great touring bike. 256-0665 after 5 p.m.

INSTRUCTION

Tennis lessons. All-American sports tennis instructor. Reasonable rates. Call 6-4567 morning or evenings.

HELP WANTED

Alan Goldberg Tennis Pro needs assistant pro for part time summer employment. Teaching exp. required. Call nites 253-3683.

Men from North Shore who want to play for a team in M-Head Softball League, call Dave 549-4885 eves.

Addresser wanted immediately! Work at home – no experience – excellent pay. Write American Service, 8350 Park Lane, Suite 269, Dallas, TX. 75231.

Caretakers for 4 bdroom house. N. Amherst. Garden, flowers, bus route, walk to Roosters, Mikes. After 6 p.m., 549-6702. Option Fall. Cheap!

Dishwashers wanted for next semester. For info call 549-1321 or 545-0070.

Be youth leader, Boy's Camp (49th yr.) Beautiful N.E. – Lenox, Ma. Historical and cultural area. Staff from all parts of U.S., overseas. Specialists for water sports, tennis, overnight camping, naturalist, ceramics, leather craft, golf, softball, baseball, basketball. Full details, inc. phone, to Camp Mah-Kee-Nac, 20 Allen Court, South Orange, N.J. 07079.

3 older students looking for sublet. 6-1 – 8-31. 2 bdr., furn. – semi-furn. prefer. $150 incl. utils. 586-5477. 6 p.m. on. John, Steve, Chris.

Fm. roommate to share large furn. apt. in Amh. On bus rt. Summer – Fall. $85. 546-7660.

Applications now being accepted for the following positions in the SGA. 1) assistants to SGA officers. 2) inventory. 3) secretary. 4) orientation and consulting. 5) course and teacher evaluation. Applications and job descriptions in Rm. 420 S.U. Deadline Thursday 4 p.m. A.A. Equal Opp. Emp.

2 bdroom apt. $225, plus many extras. 253-0374. Needs caretaker fast.

Six week special needs overnight camp program at local Boy Scout camp. Need two males - Project Director (over 21) $125 – wk. and counselor, $75 – wk. Resume to Mass Special Needs Camping Foundation, P. O. Box 865, Amherst, Mass. 01002.

WANTED

Young, professional couple seeks house to rent. Will sub lease, lease or take care of someone's home. Please call 549-0616 or 584-8324.

Car trouble? I want manual-shift, 4 or 6 cylinder. 546-7096.

Looking for house to rent year round in Amherst. June 1st. Please call 567-7779 or 1-800-332-9555 and ask for Paul.

Wanted – would like to buy a second hand refrigerator. 3-5 cu. ft. Call Maria 546-8072.

Pr. gd. 14" tires w-rims. 253-2980.

Bicycle, 3 speed, used, in good cond. Call Bobby 253-9040.

Used albums in good condition wanted. I'll buy whole collections. 323-4249.

Need a place down the Cape? There's one in Dennis with good times waiting for you. $400. Call 6-5096 or 6-5138.

5 cubic ft. refrig. Call Pam 6-6810.

Wanted: Refrigerator, 3-5 cubic feet. Call Maria 546-8072.

FOR RENT

Cape Cod – 3 bedroom ranch in secluded W. Barnstable, 10 minutes from Hyannis and Craigville beach area, June 1 - Sept. 7. $2,000 plus. Call Bill 256-0313.

Small 3 bedroom apartment, S. Amherst. Quiet, 1 yr. lease. Available Sept. 1. $225 includes electricity. Call 253-9354.

FOR RENT

I own a very private ski chalet with a breathtaking view of Echo Lake in Tyson, Vermont. Lake front privileges, canoe, fireplace, loft. Interested in renting it to a faculty member or responsible grad student. 203-875-6306 after 5 p.m.

University Women: Close to campus sorority is taking boarders. Great food. Call Liz or Dawn at 253-9215.

1 bdrm. in 3 rm. apt. $82 plus sec. dep., inc. utils. Handy to bus, laundry. Call Dave 586-5477. NHampt. 6-8 only.

Looking for summer residence? Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is offering rooms at $150 per single, and $200 per double or $100 ea.. Call 545-0070, 549-6999 or 549-1321.

1 lge. bdrm. in Sunderland hse on bus rte. Vegetable gdn. in bk. Call Debbi 665-2367.

3 housemates, 1 5-15 and 2 5-15 all year, 24 plus for great house on Bay Rd., S. Amherst. $90 plus. 253-7935.

1 or 2 room in 3 bedroom apart. Furnished, Puff. Vil. $60-mo. 549-5892.

1 bdrm. apt., Cliffside, on bus rt., tennis, pool, kitchen. Avail. May. $145 – mo., util. inc. Call 665-2886 after 5.

Available rooms in big old house on bus rt. in Sundr. Cheap and spacious. Call Susan 665-4367 nights. Leave message.

2 rm. apt., util., furn. May 23 – Aug. 31. Call 5-0189, 10-2. Ask - Mike.

Nice house, big garden, woods, bus line, summer or all year. Grads pref. 665-3938.

Seconds from campus, minutes from Amherst Ctr. We need roommates to fill 2 bedrooms in our house on Fearing St. $70 and $100 – mo. Call 6-9708 or 6-9694. For the Summer.

1 rm., lg. house, sumr. Br. $70 but will neg. 546-1138 or 6-1139.

Looking for summer residence? Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is offering rooms at $150 per single and $200 per double or $100 each. Call 545-0070, 549-6999 or 549-1321 for info.

Room available. June 1 on McClellan St. Call 256-6215.

Must Lease! 3 br. Riverglade, $140 month. Apt., pool, bar, air, full kitchen. Call 253-3690. Mark or Bruce.

1 sunny room in hse within walking dste to UM and town. Garden, rent neg. 584-8452.

2 br. dplx. Squire Vlg. Bus rt., sublet opt. Rent negot. 665-2860.

1 rm. in 4 bdrm. apt. on Phillips St. Very close to campus. 549-6646.

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female to share place at Cape. $225 for 6-1 – 8-30. Call Pam 6-6810.

House on busline. Want 1 or 2 people for lg. sunny rm. June 1 to Aug. 30. $100 for single, $125 double - utilities $13.50. Call 253-7124.

Housemates: Beautiful house in Amherst. 2 rooms available 6-1. $81.25 incl. heat. 256-8149.

Roommate wanted for Cliffside Apt. at $112.50 – mo. Call Janis or Sara 665-4864.

Fmle rmmate wanted to share bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. in Fall. Call 546-6797.

2 bedroom apt. 5-21 – 8-31, gdn plot, pets allowed. On bus route. Price neg. 256-8864.

2 rooms for rent in Shutesbury. $95 plus. 253-7608. Keep trying. Avail. immed.

2 bdrms. avail. in twnhs., pool, air cond., rent very nego. 256-8885.

Rm'mate wanted for S. Deerfield Apt. after 5-18. $85 – mo. with priv. bedrm. & bathrm. Call 665-4317.

$65 – mo. Third person wanted for two bdrm. apt., pool, tennis. Call 665-3937.

ROOMMATE WANTED

2 female roommates for 3 bedrm. house in Amherst. On bus route. Call 253-3953.

$60. Own lg. rm. in 3 bdrm. twnhse. Furn. or not, pool, bus. Puffton. 549-1033.

Own room, furn. hse., laundry, kitchen, wooded lot. So. Amh. Jun-Aug. Neg. 256-6224.

Put your head down. 2 comfortable bdrms. avail. for summer sessions! Quiet, condo living. A.C. 256-6992 eve.

Fourth roommate wanted to share 2 bedroom house in Hyannis with 3 males. Call Jay 5-3500.

2 rms. in frnshed Br. Mnr. Apt. Pool, tennis, bus rt.. $60 – month. 256-0677.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for lease. $125 – mo., utilities inc. Call 665-4235. Sunderland (female).

Frmmate needed for next Fall to share 3 bdr. Puffton apt. $95 plus utils., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun-loving, too. Call Carol 256-0325.

Looking for a place in Hyannis This summer? One roomate wanted. Call Jay 5-3500.

Fall on Fearing St. We need 2 bedrooms filled in our house for the Summer. $70 and $100 - mo. Call 546-9694 or 6-9708.

Own rm., 5 bdrm. house, Amhst. $80 plus. 253-5275.

Frmmate needed for nxt fall to share 3 bdrm. Puffton Apt. $95 plus utls., own rm. We are easy to get along with and fun loving too! Call Carol 256-0325.

1 bdrm. in 2 bed Brandywine apt. for 1 or 2 people. Cheap! 549-1375.

2 rms. in co-op hse. Rt. 9, Belch. 4 mi. to Amh., bus rte., no lease. $62. 256-0573.

Rmmate for 1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for summer months. Pool, tennis, air cond., buses. All util., rent negot. Call Dave 665-4210. Keep trying.

Available May 15. Nice room, good people. N. Amherst. Call 549-4712.

Large sunny bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. for 1 or 2 females. Pets OK, dishwasher, laundry fac. Summer with Fall option. 253-7076.

Room for rent. Hse. Amh. Bus. 256-6698.

Professional female seeks same to share 2 bedroom, mostly furnished apartment in Northampton. Nice location. $100 – mo plus. Beginning June or July 1st. References req'd. If not at home, leave message. 584-2508.

M – F's. Yarmouth. Lg. house near beach. Up. class. pref. Call 256-0309 - 665-3670.

Own bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt., bus rt., pool, rent neg. 256-8012.

3F for house appar. Amherst Center loc. Sum – Fall option. Rent negot. 253-9403.

1 or 2 female roommates. June - August. $50 mth. Call 549-2804. Ask for Joanne, Jean.

1 bdrm. in 2 bdrm. apt. From June 1 to Aug. 31. $90 – mo. plus utilities. Bus route. Call soon. 665-7019, after 5 p.m. Sunderland area.

2 bdrm. in 4 bdrm. apt. $55. Bus rt., pool, non-smokers. Call evenings 253-5206.

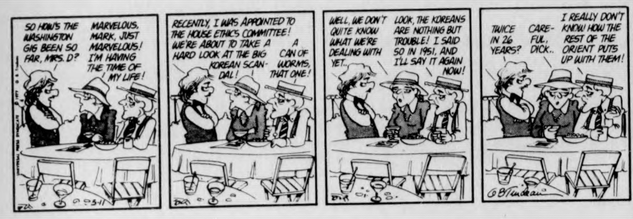
Looking for a good time this summer? We need a roommate for Townehouse Apts., North Amherst. A steal at $46 per month (approx. May 20 until August 31), plus utilities. Call Joe Q or Phil, 545-3500.

For house on Craigville Beach, near Hyannis. Call Steve 253-7976.

REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! REACH 25,000 READERS DAILY!!!! Little Ads Get BIG RESULTS!!!!

DOONESBURY by Garry Trudeau

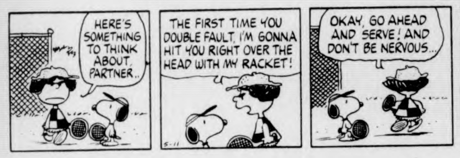
29 S. Pleasant St.
Call 256-6736
TERM PAPERS !
RESERVE EARLY
M-F 10-6, S 10-2



SO HOW'S THE WASHINGTON GIG BEEN SO FAR, MRS. D?
MARVELOUS, MARK, JUST MARVELOUS! I'M HAVING THE TIME OF MY LIFE!
RECENTLY, I WAS APPOINTED TO THE HOUSE ETHICS COMMITTEE! WE'RE ABOUT TO TAKE A HARD LOOK AT THE BIG KOREAN SCANDAL!
A CAN OF WORMS, THAT ONE!
WELL, WE DON'T QUITE KNOW WHAT WE'RE DEALING WITH YET...
LOOK, THE KOREANS ARE NOTHING BUT TROUBLE! I SAID SO IN 1951, AND I'LL SAY IT AGAIN NOW!
TWICE IN 26 YEARS?
CAREFUL, DICK..
I REALLY DON'T KNOW HOW THE REST OF THE ORIENT PUTS UP WITH THEM!
G.B.Trudeau

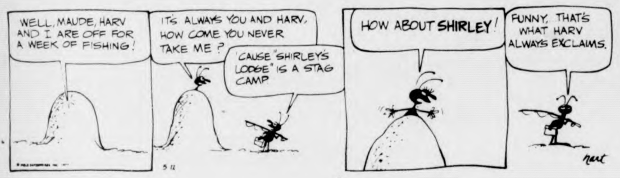
PEANUTS by Charles Schulz

Styles By Deborah
His & Hers
Design Haircuts
Tel. 549-5610



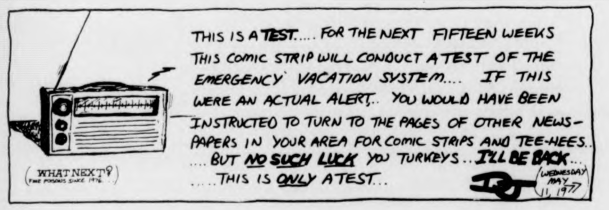
HERE'S SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT, PARTNER..
THE FIRST TIME YOU DOUBLE FAULT, I'M GONNA HIT YOU RIGHT OVER THE HEAD WITH MY RACKET!
OKAY, GO AHEAD AND SERVE! AND DON'T BE NERVOUS...
© 1977 United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
SCHULZ

B.C. by Johnny Hart



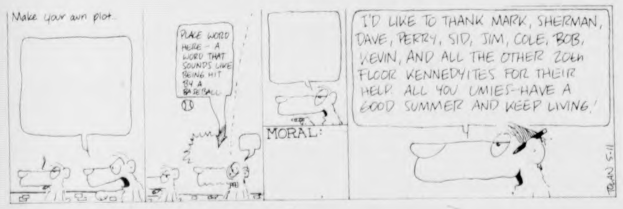
WELL, MAUDE, HARV AND I ARE OFF FOR A WEEK OF FISHING!
IT'S ALWAYS YOU AND HARV, HOW COME YOU NEVER TAKE ME ?
'CAUSE "SHIRLEY'S LODGE" IS A STAG CAMP
HOW ABOUT SHIRLEY!
FUNNY, THAT'S WHAT HARV ALWAYS EXCLAIMS.
hart

WHAT NEXT? by Dick Janssen



THIS IS A TEST..... FOR THE NEXT FIFTEEN WEEKS THIS COMIC STRIP WILL CONDUCT A TEST OF THE EMERGENCY VACATION SYSTEM.... IF THIS WERE AN ACTUAL ALERT.. YOU WOULD HAVE BEEN INSTRUCTED TO TURN TO THE PAGES OF OTHER NEWSPAPERS IN YOUR AREA FOR COMIC STRIPS AND TEE-HEES.. .... BUT NO SUCH LUCK YOU TURKEYS .. I'LL BE BACK... .....THIS IS ONLY A TEST...
(WHAT NEXT?)
WEDNESDAY MAY 11, 1977

THE SCENT OF MAN by Peter Tolan



Make your own plot.
PLACE WORD HERE - A WORD THAT SOUNDS LIKE BEING HIT BY A BASEBALL MORAL:
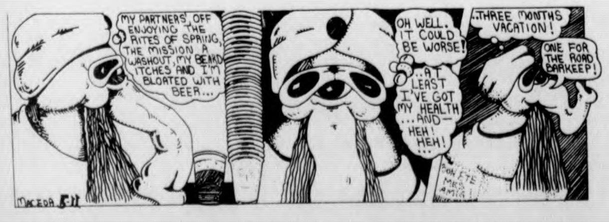
I'D LIKE TO THANK MARK, SHERMAN, DAVE, PERRY, SID, JIM, COLE, BOB, KEVIN, AND ALL THE OTHER 20th FLOOR KENNEDYITES FOR THEIR HELP. ALL YOU UMIES-HAVE A GOOD SUMMER AND KEEP LIVING!
TOLAN 5-11

U.MUTATIONS by Marty Maceda



MY PARTNERS' OFF ENJOYING THE RITES OF SPRING, THE MISSION A WASHOUT, MY BEARD ITCHES AND I'M BLOATED WITH BEER...
OH WELL. IT COULD BE WORSE!
..AT LEAST I'VE GOT MY HEALTH ...AND— HEH! HEH! ...
..THREE MONTHS VACATION!
ONE FOR THE ROAD BARKEEP!
BON ETE MES AMIS!
MACEDA 5-11

Local Television

7:00 3 22 32 40 NEWS
8 CONCENTRATION
24 THE MACNEIL-LEHRER REPORT
27 THE FBI "The Courier"
30 THE CROSS-WITS
38 THE ODD COUPLE
56 STAR TREK
57 AS MAN BEHAVES
7:30 3 $25,000 PYRAMID
8 BREAK THE BANK
22 THE BIG MONEY TV GAME
24 CONNECTICUT
32 FEATURE FILM "Yuma"
38 DICK VAN DYKE SHOW
30 MUTUAL OF OMAHA'S WILD KINGDOM
30 SUPERMAN "Treasure Of The Incas"
8:00 3 GOOD TIMES
8 40 MACNAMARA'S BAND
22 30 THE LIFE AND TIMES OF GRIZZLY ADAMS "The Storm"
24 57 NOVA "The Tongues Of Men"
27 MOVIE "The McConnell Story"
38 IRONSIDE "Side Pocket"
56 MOVIE "The Hospital"
8:30 3 CBS WEDNESDAY NIGHT MOVIES "The Cowboys"
9:00 8 40 BARETTA "Crazy Annie"
22 30 THE NORTON BIBICK HEAVYWEIGHT BOUT
24 57 GREAT PERFORMANCES "Hard Times"
32 FEATURE FILM "Passage To Marseille"
38 MOVIE "The Outsider"
10:00 8 40 CHARLIE'S ANGELS "Target: Angels"
24 CELEBRATING A CENTURY
27 NEWS
56 LOVE, AMERICAN STYLE
57 WHEN LADIES MEET: AMERICAN
10:30 24 BOOK BEAT
27 32 BIG MONEY

11:00 3 8 22 30 40 NEWS, WEATHER, SPORTS
27 MOVIE "Souls For Sale"
32 ALFRED HITCHCOCK PRESENTS "Back For Christmas"
38 THE HONEYMOONERS "A Matter Of Record"
56 ALL THAT GLITTERS
57 MARY HARTMAN, MARY HARTMAN
11:30 3 CBS LATE MOVIE "The Virginia Hill Story"
8 40 THE ROOKIES MYSTERY OF THE WEEK
22 30 32 THE JOHNNY CARSON SHOW
38 THE BOLD ONES "Inalienable Right To Die"
56 NIGHT GALLERY
57 CAPTIONED ABC EVENING NEWS
1:00 22 30 32 TOMORROW
1:30 3 NEWS, WEATHER
2:00 8 22 30 32 40 NEWS

Your Birthday by Stella Wilder

Wednesday, May 11 — Born today, you are a highly competitive person. You find your competition, however, not so much in others as in yourself. For this reason, you are an excellent worker in situations that isolate you from others. You do your best when racing against our own previous efforts rather than against another's present ones. You are, generally speaking, put off by the efforts of others to defeat you, for you cannot help taking personally the evidence of another's competitive spirit when it is directed at you. Not easily satisfied with the results of your efforts, you are often hailed by others as a success when labeled a failure by yourself.

You must not make the mistake of believing that because you work best alone you do not need other people. You thrive on personal friendships during your leisure hours. You are always willing to help others with their problems -- even though you do not welcome help for your own. You take great pleasure in social gatherings, bringing to them warmth, interest and enthusiasm -- and so long as you are required to compete seriously at such gatherings, you are completely happy and at ease.

***

Thursday, May 12

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — This is a good time to strengthen what appears to be a failing friendship. You can speak your mind today with relative impunity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Though you are eager to lift your plans from the drawing board into the real world, you may have to wait a while longer. Develop patience.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — You should do well to keep plans for your immediate future to yourself for the time being. Keep one in authority guessing.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Avoid keeping company with those who always seem to create confusion in your mind through the exercise of talents you fail to understand.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Play a hunch when you respond to another's offer. You may find that all is not as rosy as pictured; allow instinct its head, especially at evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Whether buying or selling, the Libra who manages to keep his head, yet listen to his heart, can make a profit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — If a new idea brings about new progress on the employment scene, make certain higher-ups know the idea came from you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — So long as plans made under other circumstances fit the situation as it now exists, all progresses smoothly today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — If you are trying to sell higher-ups on a new idea, approach the subject tactfully --and express yourself clearly. There is no room for timidity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — If you can transform an original idea into a feasible plan of action, you will gain much in the way of admiration and respect from coworkers.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Your adventuresome nature may cause you concern today. Take care not to go off on a tangent when the opportunity for new experience arises.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Though present labors may appear fruitless, there are rewards being formed for the future. Continue to give new projects your best.

Copyright, 1977, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Crossword

UNITED Feature Syndicate

ACROSS
1 Search uncertainly
6 Celebration
10 Accumulate money
14 Make more cheerful
15 It is so
16 Counterpart
17 Representative
18 Compass point
20 U.S. woman's group: Abbr.
21 Scrambled ----
23 Cream of the crop
24 Cranial bone cavity
26 Thick black liquid: 2 words
28 Marsh birds
30 Insect stage
31 United States symbol
32 No. 1: 2 words
36 Anglo-Saxon letter
37 Extracts ores
38 Become degenerate
39 Early
42 Opposite of "verso"
44 Subsequently
45 Iceland moss
46 Refrigerator section
49 Have a distinct flavor
50 Swiftness
51 Helpful hints
52 Holy one: Fr. abbr.
55 Smoothed sea waves: 2 words
58 Fur-bearing animal
60 Tributary of the Elbe
61 British Isle
62 Actress Sophia -----
63 Returns: Abbr.
64 E. Indian native servant
65 Remove

DOWN
1 Willing
2 ---- game: Fix it
3 Omission
4 Indite
5 Pact
6 Groups of laborers
7 Minor prophet
8 Gaelic sea god
9 Formic acid source
10 Of stars
11 Be ready for 12 Prospect
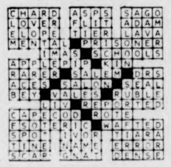
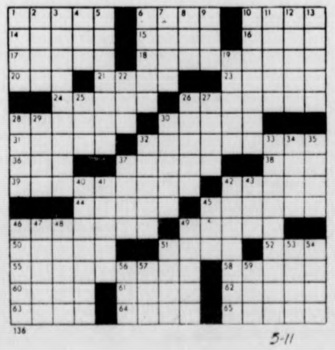
13 Door sign
19 Tug-of-war team yell
22 Man's nickname
25 Sick
26 Ship of the desert
27 Spheres
28 Appear to be so
29 Good-by: Informal
30 Of the moon
32 Forty -----: Gold seeker of old
33 Royal Canadians, for one
34 Importance
35 Shelley's alma mater
37 Parasitic arachnid
40 Loose overcoats
41 Made a recording
42 Pastry enclosed croquette
43 Outside: Prefix
45 Body part
46 Singing group
47 Grow
48 Land mass
49 Not durable
51 Taunt
53 Driving areas
54 Bird
56 U.S. pol. party
57 Mouths: Anat.
59 High hill

Tuesday's Puzzle Solved





Misc.

DID YOU KNOW

Collegian staffer Chris Bourne has served on the staff longer than anyone else currently at the paper. He first joined as freshman, in January of 1974, and has stayed ever since. Chris, a photographer, will return in the fall to complete his fourth full year as a Collegian staff member.

— — —

..CONTEST....CONTEST....

WHAT'S THE WORD??

Somewhere is today's Collegian is a word which means: Life is a joke. Treat it as such. Aloha.

FIND IT AND YOU COULD BE OUR $5.00 DAILY WINNER!

Contest Rules: Submit your entry to the Daily Collegian Business Office before 3:30 P.M., the day of the issue, indicating what the word is and where it appeared. A DAILY WINNER WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL CORRECT ENTRIES.

The winner's name will appear in the Daily Collegian the following day.

Yesterday's winner:
JON ROCHE

Yesterday's word
MARKET

..CONTEST....CONTEST..

TEACHER AND COURSE EVALUATION FORM

The Student Senate thinks it's about time students get to see evaluations of teachers and courses. We are asking your help in this. Spend the next few minutes and fill out the evaluation below. Put it in the boxes provided next to all Collegian distribution areas, or turn it in to the Student Senate office in room 420 Student Union Building.

These will be used to put together a Teacher and Course Evaluation booklet to be distributed free to all students. Give yourself and others a chance to know what's really going on in the classrooms at UMass.

PLEASE RATE YOUR TEACHERS AND COURSES ACCORDING TO THE FOLLOWING SCALE

1. strongly agree 3. disagree
2. agree 4. strongly disagree

- A. The instructor was tolerant of students differing opinions and ideas, and was cooperative in answering questions.
- B. The instructor is available to students and has a genuine interest in them.
- C. The instructor gives exams and papers that give a fair indication of mastery of the material.
- D. The amount of work and time spent in this course for the number of credits and expected grade received was fair.
- E. The seminar and/or labs were a useful aid and related to the lecture material.
- F. This course was useful and stimulating, and I would recommend it to a friend.

Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______
A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4
B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4
C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4
Comments________________

Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______
A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4
B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4
C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4
Comments________________

Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______
A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4
B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4
C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4
Comments________________

Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______
A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4
B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4
C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4
Comments________________

Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______
A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4
B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4
C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4
Comments________________

Dept.______ Course No.______ Teacher______
A. 1 2 3 4 D. 1 2 3 4
B. 1 2 3 4 E. 1 2 3 4
C. 1 2 3 4 F. 1 2 3 4
Comments________________

Any instructor who wishes to see their evaluation may do so by contacting Richard M. Baga at the Student Senate office. If you wish to supply us with the evaluations filled out in class by your students we will publish them for you.

★ 'Cardiac Kids'

CONT. FROM PAGE 22

eventually earned his law degree. Billy Rohr is now an attorney in Los Angeles.

Although Rohr never made it to the 1967 World Series with the Red Sox, the man that broke up his no-hitter did. The Sox acquired Ellie Howard near the end of the season and he retired from baseball in early 1968. Howard has returned to the Yankees as a coach.

Other members of the 1967 Red Sox who went into coaching are Galen Cisco, who was a pitching coach for the Kansas City Royals; Lee Stange, who was pitching coach for the Red Sox; and Jerry Adair, the Red Sox second baseman of yesteryear who was a coach with the Oakland A's.

Adair ended his playing career with the Kansas City Royals in 1970 and was hired by his old Boston manager, Dick Williams, when the latter was hired to run the Oakland team. When Williams left Oakland, Adair returned to his native Oklahoma and has not been involved with baseball. Now an employee of the Southwest Packaging Company in Tulsa, Adair states that he still communicates with ex-teammates; notably Mike Andrews, Boog Powell, and Catfish Hunter. Looking back on the '67 season, Adair considers the Impossible Dream year the highlight of his career. "I felt as a player that I had helped my teammates to a World Series," says Adair.

According to Bill Crowley, Public Relations Director for the Red Sox, Mike Ryan has also gone into coaching. The Sox traded Ryan to the Phillies after the 1967 season in the Ray Culp trade and he played there for six years before ending his career with the Pirates. He is now coaching in the Phillies farm system.

Crowley also points out that the two Latin American players on the '67 Sox, Jose Santiago and Jose Tartabull, have returned to their native lands. Santiago retired from the Red Sox in 1970 and is now a broadcaster in Puerto Rico. Tartabull was sold to Oakland in 1968 and he played there until his release after the 1970 season.

Gary Bell, according to Crowley, now works for a brewery in Arizona. Bell, who was 12-8 with the '67 Sox, was claimed by the Seattle Pilots in the 1969 expansion draft and ended his career with the Chicago White Sox.

The most recent member of the '67 Sox to get the axe was Rico Petrocelli. Petro became the regular Sox shortstop in 1965 and made a permanent move to third base in 1971. After 12 seasons with the Bosox, Rico was cut by manager Don Zimmer in favor of the younger Butch Hobson.

With Petrocelli gone, Carl Yastrzemski is the only player who has been with the Sox consistently since 1967. Yaz joined the Red Sox in 1961 as the heir to Ted Williams' left field position. As the senior statesman in the American League, he is now in his 17th season. He will be 38 in August.

COUNTRY COMFORT
FOURTH ANNIVERSARY
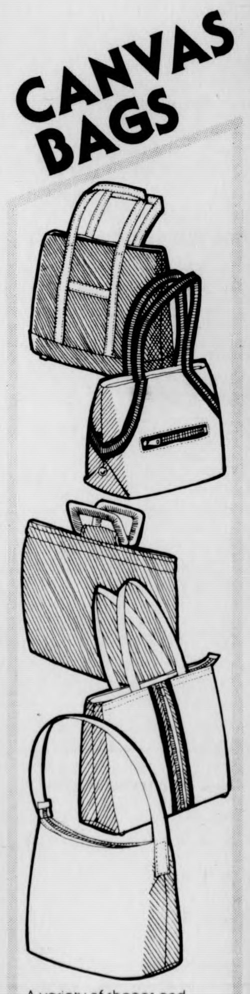
SALE!
10-50% OFF ALL
DRESSES, SKIRTS
BLOUSES, and TOPS
& MEN'S SHIRTS
20% OFF ALL BASKETS
4 DAYS ONLY!
Wed.-Sat. May 11-14
HOURS: MON.-SAT.: 10 to 5:30 THURSDAY: till 9 P.M.
153 MAIN ST. NORTHAMPTON



A variety of shapes and sizes. Zippers, snaps, outside pockets, inside pockets. Red, yellow, natural, cocoa, navy, rust, black. $5. to $13.
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office
Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

SAVE-ON-TIRES, Inc. ROUTE 9, HADLEY 3 Miles from Northampton 3 Miles From Amherst
New hours during inspection Mon. & Thurs. 9-8 p.m., Tues.-Wed. & Fri., 9-6 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
FIRESTONE-MICHELIN-LEE-GENERAL-ARMSTRONG
B.F. GOODRICH — PLUS OTHER MAJOR BRANDS
TIRES CASH 'N-CARRY Wholesale to the Public
If you need tires — before you buy elsewhere, see our prices that can't be beat!

For your convenience
Now thru inspection
We'll be open evenings 'til 8

4 PLY POLYESTER
MAJOR U.S. BRANDS, FIRST QUALITY
DELUXE CHAMPION, LEE, ETC.

SIZE	Sale Price
A78x13	15.75
B78x13 C78x14	$20.95
E78x14 F78x14	$22.50
G78x14 G78x15	$23.50
H78x14 H78x15	$25.50
L78x15	$28.95

WHITEWALLS ONLY 2.00 MORE
Plus F.E. Tax

40,000 MILE WEAR GUARANTEE
MICHELIN ZX
IMPORTED AND SPORTS CARS
BLACKWALL TUBELESS
STEEL RADIAL

Size	Reg. Price	Sale Price	F.E. Tax
155x12	45.53	34.15	1.39
145x13	41.69	28.95	1.23
155x13	46.60	31.95	1.48
165x13	51.77	35.95	1.61
175-70-13	58.75	44.06	1.72
185-70-13	65.01	48.76	1.95
165x14	56.97	42.73	1.70
175x14	59.82	44.86	2.01
185x14	62.37	46.78	2.24
155x15	54.59	40.94	1.66
165x15	60.45	45.34	1.82
175x15 Wht	82.04	61.53	2.18

DOUBLE STEEL BELTED RADIALS
First Quality
2-Steel-Plus 2-Polyester
• 78 SERIES • WHITEWALLS
Made By ARMSTRONG
BR 78 x13 $29.95 Each plus F.E.T.
DR 78x14 / ER 78x14 / FR 78x14 $36.95 each plus F.E.T.
GR 78x14 / GR 78x15 / HR 78x15 $39.95 each plus F.E.T.
LR 78x15 $45.00 each plus F.E.T.

MICHELIN X
FOR AMERICAN CARS
STEEL RADIAL

WHITEWALLS	REPLACES	Reg. Price	Sale Price	FET
165x13	A78x13	59.17	44.38	1.77
175x13	B78x13	62.66	46.99	1.99
175x14	C78x14	66.37	45.95	2.13
185x14	E78x14	71.17	49.25	2.30
195x14	F78x14	75.46	51.95	2.51
205x14	G78x14	81.67	56.95	2.66
215x14	H78x14	88.81	66.61	2.95
205x15	G78x15	86.40	59.95	2.84
215x15	H78x15	91.70	63.95	3.13
225x15	J78x15	95.56	66.25	3.29
230x15	L78x15	109.04	75.95	3.33

FOREIGN CAR RADIALS First Quality
165x13 / 165x14 / 165x15 ONE PRICE ANY SIZE $28.95 Plus F.E. Tax

FIBERGLASS BELTED
Made by MAJOR U.S. TIRE MFGR. SAME QUALITY AS NEW CAR EQUIPMENT
WHITEWALLS
A 78 x 13 $22.50 Plus 1.77 Tax
B78x13 / C78x13 / C78x14 25.95 Plus F.E.T.
E 78x14 / F78x14 / G78x14 / G78x15 28.95 Plus F.E.T
H78x14 / H78x15 / J78x15 / L78x15 32.95 Plus F.E.T
FIBERGLASS BELT FIBERGLASS BELT TWO BIAS PLIES OF POLYESTER CORD

MADE BY PIRELLI FIRST QUALITY
560x15 VW
18.95 ea. + F.E.T.

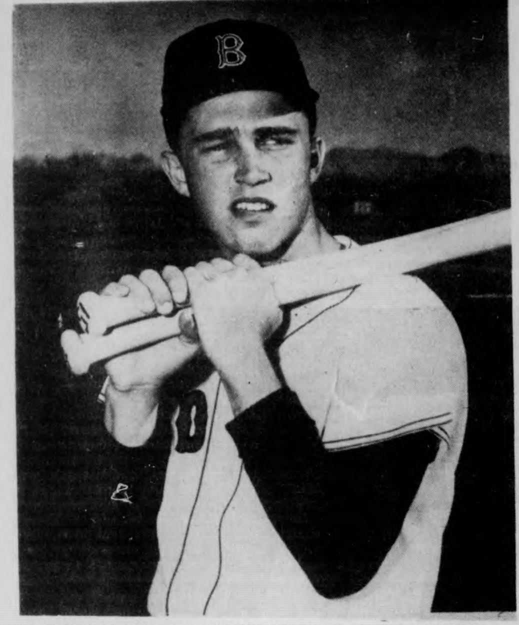
REGULAR RECAPS
YOUR CHOICE - ANY SIZE
14.95 ea. Plus F.E.T.
WHITEWALLS only 77¢ more.

WIDE TRACKS
HI PERFORMANCE -
DOUBLE GLASS BELTED
"SUPER PROWLER" -
RAISED WHITE LETTERS
Tested by "Car and Driver Magazine" As The Highest Scorer Of All The Non-Radials

SIZE	REG. PRICE	SALE PRICE	F.E. TAX	TIRE WIDTH
F60x14	51.19	38.95	2.82	8.25"
G60x14	53.41	39.95	3.07	8.25"
L60x14	60.14	42.95	3.56	10.25"
G60x15	54.30	39.95	3.08	8.25"
L60x15	62.06	45.95	3.70	10.25"
A70x13	40.88	28.95	1.96	6.00"
E70x14	44.06	32.95	2.47	6.75"
F70x14	46.24	34.95	2.61	7.00"
G70x14	47.70	35.95	2.78	7.25"
H70x14	51.33	39.95	3.04	7.25"
G70x15	48.77	36.95	2.84	7.25"
H70x15	51.95	39.95	3.08	7.50"

SAVE-ON-TIRES, INC.
ROUTE 9 HADLEY
Cash and Carry or BankAmericard Master Charge
586-2544
New hours during inspection Mon. & Thurs. 9-8 p.m., Tues.-Wed. & Fri., 9-6 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
1 MILE WEST ON THE SAME SIDE OF RTE. 9 FROM HADLEY DRIVE-IN THEATRE

AT
THE PUB
TONIGHT
MOLSON
GOLDEN ALE
50¢ 12 oz. Bottles
9-1
with
A SPECIAL GONG SHOW 9 till 10
and
JIM PLUNKET
MOLSON T-SHIRTS
MOLSON JACKETS
EATING & DRINKING
AMHERST



Dalton Jones was so jubilant one time when he hit a grand-slam run against the Detroit Tigers that he accidentally passed the baserunner ahead of him and was called out.

Where are they now?

You can't forget '67 Sox

By STEVE BUCKLEY
Collegian Staff

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a two-part series on the whereabouts of the 1967 Boston Red Sox. Today's segment deals with players now out of baseball.

Dalton Jones was only a utility infielder for the '67 Red Sox but his clutch hitting, most notably a late season game-winning home run against the Tigers, drew rave notices throughout the American League.

The Sox traded Jones to the Tigers after the 1969 season for infielder Tom Matchick. When Jones faced his old teammates for the first time, it was in the role of pinch hitter for the Tigers.

With the bases loaded, Jones belted a pitch into the upper deck of Tiger Stadium to put Detroit ahead. Typical Dalton Jones fashion... clutch hitting at its best. But as the jubilant Jones rounded third base, he passed Don Wert, the runner ahead of him. The umpire immediately called Jones out and allowed the three baserunners to score. Jones was thus credited with a 400-foot single and three RBI's.

The popular Dalton Jones ended his playing career with the Texas Rangers in 1972. He is now living in Baton Rouge, Louisiana and is employed by Exxon Corporation. Jones, incidentally, is on record as one of the greatest pinch hitters in baseball history. He is eighth on the all-time list in pinch hits and tenth in pinch appearances.

One of the Red Sox catchers in 1967 was Russ Gibson. A standout athlete at Durfee High School in Fall River, Gibson had suffered the drudgery of spending 10 years in the minors. After the 1969 season Gibson was sold to the San Francisco Giants, where he played until he retired in 1972. Gibson enjoyed the Bay Area enough to make his home in nearby Cupertino. Today, Gibson works in the San Francisco offices of Bank America as a vice-president.

When Gibson caught his first major league game in 1967, it was on a cold April day in Yankee Stadium.

His pitcher was appearing in his first major league game also. His name was Billy Rohr. In that game, Rohr came within one batter of becoming the first pitcher in baseball history to toss a no-hitter in his first major league start. With two outs in the Yankee ninth, veteran catcher Elston Howard lined a base hit to right to end Rohr's dream. The rookie retired the next batter on a fly ball.

Rohr never regained the magic from that first win and he ended the season in the minors. His last major league appearance was with the Indians in 1968, and he retired from baseball in 1972 while pitching in the Montreal Expos farm system. He returned to college and

TURN TO PAGE 20

UMass frisbee golf

By SAM HASSAN
Collegian Staff

Daryl Elliott and Dan Habeeb, two coordinators for the UMass Frisbee Club, designed an 18 hole, par 69, 1550 yard Frisbee golf course near the UMass Stadium last September. The bus stop shelter north of the stadium acts as a clubhouse and the beginning and end of the front and back nine.

The game itself is analgous to conventional, or as Eliott prefers, ball golf. In October, Eliott, Habeeb and Bud Equi laid out and printed a pamphlet that has a map of the course, rules of the game and a brief history and background on the game.

Elliott said the game has been around for about 20 years. "The Frisbee has been around for 29 years," he said.

Ed Headrick, a former executive vice-president and general manager of Whamo Manufacturing Corporation and founder of the International Frisbee Association (IFA) designed the first "pole hole" course or one that has a 25 inch basket on a five foot pole.

The UMass course uses objects natural to the present landscape as holes. "For example, we hole out on trees below the six foot line," Elliott said.

Elliott has pamphlets and would like to get people into the game by distributing them. "I've talked to people who weren't very interested in playing when they heard about it, but I've never met anyone who didn't enjoy it once they played the course."

Bowlers 11th in Nationals

The UMass women's bowling team placed 11th in the nation in competition held last Tuesday through Saturday in San Antonio, Texas.

Team captain Karen James bowled games of 205, 228, 210, and 210 to lead the UMass attack. Fran Griffin rolled 202 and 210 games.

San Jose State won the nationals, Wichita State placed second, while West Virginia came in third.

The women's bowling team will see James, Griffin, and Patty Melanson graduate this year. They will be sorely missed, since they were three of the finest bowlers in UMass history.

Summer

Work Study Positions:

Many opportunities throughout Mass. Some residential positions, some youthwork. Ask for Michael at 5-2646.

STUDENT JOBS
SWITZERLAND-AUSTRIA
FRANCE-GERMANY
Resorts - Hotels - Office
Restaurants - Hospitals
SEND 25¢ — APPLICATION
INFORMATION
TRANSWORLD OVERSEAS
STUDENT OVERSEAS SERVICES
10 TREMONT STREET
BOSTON, MA. — 617-723-7875
TRANS WORLD

UNIVERSITY PIZZA

WANTS TO THANK EVERYONE

FOR THEIR PATRONNAGE

HAVE A GOOD SUMMER

SEE YOU NEXT YEAR!

PAUL J LANDRY

LANDRY'S MARKET
MILLER BEER Good thru 5/17
5.99 case 12 Oz N.R. 1.69 6 pack
Cruise Wines fifth $2.99
Folonari May Wines bottle $1.99
CHUCK STEAK 69¢ lb
SLAB BACON 99¢ lb
Skinless HOT DOGS $1.29 lb
Round Ground Hamburg $1.29 lb
Sunday Special: 80 per cent lean 5 lb limit 69¢ lb

RSO Groups

```
The following is a list of RSO groups which have had no activity during the past two semesters.  Please see Lynne Smith in the Student Activities Office, 416 Student Union if your group is on this list and you wish to remain active.  All groups not heard from by May 20, 1977 will automatically be inactivated.

114 Grassroots Newspaper                  434 US China Friendship Association
150 Grad Business Assoc.                  436 Semper Fidelis Society
301 Summer Unionization Conf Activ        437 Senate Babysitting
308 Communications Disorders Club         438 SW Womens Center Benefit
310 Dames Club                            443 ACUI NEC Outdoor Activity
322 UMass Table Tennis Club               445 Motorcycle Coop
324 Young Socialist Alliance              449 Boxing Club
341 Kung Fu Club                          456 Cinema Club
345 Okinowan Karate Club                  462 Outdoors Special Events Comm.
350 Young Democrats                       472 Tennis Club
351 African Institute Martial Arts        473 Fencing Club
354 GSS Book Exchange                     480 Natalie Cole Concert
355 Armenian Club                         485 Gymnastics
360 Hard Times Conference                 486 Cancer Destruction Group
363 Harambe                               491 Symposium on Indian Struggles
390 Eckankar Intl Student Society         495 Chile Solidarity Committee
395 Horror Film Society                   496 Vita Outreach Program
397 Irish Cultural Society                612 Astrology Club
402 Mortar Board                          629 Bilingual Collegiate Program
403 Classics Society                      630 Design Students Group
404 Canterbury Club                       631 CCEBS
413 Food Usage and Action Group           646 Italian Club
415 Food Day Committee                    667 USCC
418 Law Science and Ethics                714 Society Collegiate Journalists
419 APO ABC Benefit Concert               870 Class of 1970
426 Amherst Stud Coalition Ag Racism      902 Agape Unltd of Baptist Students
431 Coal to Stop Senate Bill S-1          906 Lutheran Students Organization
                                          911 Chabad House Club
                                          914 Divine Light Club
```

UMass to host NE track championship

By DAVE RODMAN
Collegian Staff

The biggest outdoor collegiate track and field event in the Northeast this spring will happen this Saturday and Sunday when the 90th annual New England Championships are held at the Llewelyn Derby Track on the UMass campus.

The event was last held here in 1975, when the host team finished 3rd. Last year's NE meet was hosted by Boston College. Northeastern was crowned team champ, with UMass in 6th with 24 points.

According UMass coach Ken O'Brien, NU is "unquestionably" the favorite to repeat as titlists. NU doubled the 2nd place team's score in the indoor NE's "there should be little doubt they'll repeat as champs," said O'Brien.

"We had finalists in nearly every event last year," said O'Brien, "but they ended up finishing 4th, 5th, 6th, or a non-scoring 7th. We took more scoring places than anyone but NU, but a team like Brown, which only took a few places, was 2nd."

The reason for this is the scoring system, which will be the same this year. Points are scored 10 - 8 - 6 - 4 - 2 - 1 for 1st through 6th places. A few 1st's can go a long way in the team standings at 10 points a whack.

"This year we won't have as many finalists, but our potential for scoring will be greater," said O'Brien. "The biggest thing to remember is that we're not going to get any help from anyone, we've got to make our own way. If our kids are ready to run aggressively, we could take 2nd — if they run complacently, we'll be in trouble.

O'Brien stressed experience as a key factor in naming his strong events. Toney Pendleton and co-captain Ken Adamson will be in the long jump, along with Ron Williams and Rick Browne, who have been jumping well, but who aren't as experienced as the former two.

In other field events, O'Brien listed Bob Fitzgerald in the high jump, Bruce Parsons in the triple jump, and Ted Power in the pole vault as potential scorers.

The sprinters will concentrate on the 440 relay, with Mark Dale, Bill Conant, Jerry Herman, and Mike Delaney handling the baton. This group has run 43.1 seconds, which puts them in a select group along with BU, BC, NU, and Bowdoin; we have all run from 43, 0-43.5.

The 440 intermediate hurdles and middle distances have a mixture of veterans and new talent. Mark Healy and John Richards give the Minutemen a due "well ranked and experienced (O'Brien)." Joe Martens is the 2nd ranked quarter miler in NE, with the "ability to run under pressure (O'Brien)." Co-captain Jim Hunt and Jeff King are veteran and rookie, respectively, but both possess the common denominator — ability — that makes the 880 a potential scoring event. Francis O'Keefe and Steve MacDougall give added strength in their first NE's.

No UMass meet would be complete without the bundle of points taken in the distance runs. Mike Quinn and John McGrail are the top bets in the 3 and 6 mile, respectively. Both have achieved All-American status in cross country, and have shattered records in their events this spring.

Matt Wolff and Frank Carroll will also run the 3 mile with Bob Neil and Tom Wolff providing support in the 6. Freshman Bob Martin and senior Chris Farmer will run the mile. Steeplechaser Kevin McCusker is a sure bet to win a place in that event. "We've got the potential for a high scorer in several events," said assistant coach Arnie Morse, "with a good supporting cast. With a fine competitive effort, we could end up 2nd. NU is far and away the favorite, with UMass, BC, BU, UConn, Brown and Dartmouth battling for the other top positions."

Russ Smith

Scrambled Eggos

... One blueberry Eggo, two strips of bacon, a couple scrambled eggs, a 12 oz. glass of Munite Aide orange juice, then off to campus for another exciting day of classes ...

It occurred to me just yesterday while standing in the shower, by accident, still wearing my matching pajama top and bottoms; that the sports pages should become more varietical (full of variety). Stories should say something about all sports — no more 100 per cent baseball stories, slam dunk competition analysis, or photos of 'Peter Puck' and why he failed.

Touch all bases, as they say.

This is what this column is about: All the sports that are fit to write about, campus wide and nationwide. Maybe not fit to read, I'll never know.

... Golf. It shouldn't be put on either television or sports pages. It's not really a sport. You can't cheer it; it's boring, and not ethical to carry a beer around the greens either.

... Everyone is psyched about either the Red Sox and Yankees. Why bother? Both teams will choke and either the Orioles or the Indians will win the division.

... Did you know statistics show the average UMie drinks five times the amount of beer than Harvardites at a lacrosse game?

... As a story in yesterday's Collegian pointed out, some UMass teams didn't fare well this year. This may come as a surprise to some, but don't expect much more next year either. The hockey team, without its own rink will continue to play at the .500 level. Don't expect a rink to open up here before the summer of '82.

... The basketball team will lose to Rutgers and miss the NCAA's again. Don't worry, there's always the NIT.

... The football team will hit upon hard times, as there will only be 50 athletic scholarships. The team will win four games (lose to New Hampshire for the third straight year) and then the stadium will sit there and rot for another season. The athletic department will continue to dump money into a program that they think, someday, will become another Ohio State.

... Women's sports on campus will fare all right. But after New Year's, coverage in the Collegian will drop as the sports department gets a male sports editor again.

... Who cares about next season's baseball team? UMass shouldn't fund an all-white team anyways? (Is it true you have to be conceited to make the team?)

... Boyden showers have been sectioned off so females can take showers down there too. I agree with Title IX, but I don't understand why the brick wall. We're all adults, we can take it.

... Why do people watch sports on T.V.? It only affects your life when you lose a bet. Think of all the studying you could get done if T.V. wasn't around.

... Sports are the second most talked about topic. No clues as to what's number one.

.... Ray Rickets' hoop class ended with the championship game on Monday with team three upsetting team four, 30-28 ... It is not true the two teams will make up next year's j.v. squad ...

... Can the Patriots win their division with the easy schedule they have coming up? Will the Vikings drop another Super Bowl?

There IS a difference!!!
Our 39th Year
NEW PREPARE FOR
MCAT• DAT• LSAT• SAT
GRE • GMAT • OCAT • VAT
Our broad range of programs provides an umbrella of testing know-how that enables us to offer the best preparation available, no matter which course is taken. Over 38 years of experience and success. Small classes. Voluminous home study materials. Courses that are constantly updated. Permanent centers, open days, evenings and weekends all year. Complete tape facilities for review of class lessons and for use of supplementary materials. Makeups for missed lessons at our centers.
In Boston & Amherst. Enrolling now-Early Bird classes for July LSAT & Summer course for Fall MCAT. And in September local LSAT class starts for Oct. exam! Call or write:
25 HUNTINGTON AVENUE
BOSTON, MASS. 02116
617-261-5150
Outside NY State Only CALL Toll Free 800-221-9840
Centers in Major U.S. Cities and Lugano, Switzerland
Stanley H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER
TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938

Avoid the Fall Rush!
Buy Fall Textbooks in August.
During the month of August-
for your shopping shopping convenience the
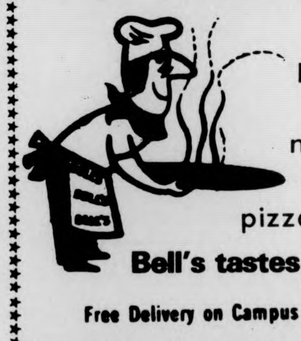
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
will be set up for fall and open
MONDAY—FRIDAY 9-4
Stop in ! We'll be glad to see you!



Bell's Pizza House
Bell's Pizza.
A Taste
not matched by any pizza anywhere.
Bell's tastes tremendous
Free Delivery on Campus Sun.-Thurs.
256-8811 253-9051 65 Univ. Drive

Mike's
Westview
Andy May and the
Texas Tabby
Crabb Band
Every Friday and Saturday night for the month of May
NO Admission Cover
Just Good Country Music

CHEQUERS
Wednesday is Mich Nite
Happy Hour never stops!
4—closing
Cheese and Crackers early hot dogs and sauerkraut late
COME AND ENJOY!

SPRING AND SUMMER
TRANSPORTATION
SPECIAL
1977
KAWASAKI
KZ400S
ONLY $995. delivered
NOW
ACCEPTING ORDERS
ON 1977 1000LTD'S
VALLEY
MOTOR
SPORTS
348 KING ST.
NORTHAMPTON
584 7303
MTWF 9 6 TH 9 9
SAT 10 4
EXPERT SERVICE, USED BIKES CIMATTI MOPEDS

Sports

Batsmen face Amherst with playoff spot at stake

By FRAN SYPEK
Collegian Staff

The UMass baseball team will be facing another must win situation this afternoon when it faces cross-town rival Amherst College in a game at Amherst beginning at 3 p.m.

The Minutemen are faced with the unenviable task of having to win today's game and sweep Maine in Sunday's doubleheader at Lorden Field, if they hope to improve their 18-16 record and qualify for the NCAA Division I Northeast Regional Baseball Tournament.

Coach Dick Bergquist will send his ace pitchers, Jeff Reardon and Tom Nigro to the mound against the Lord Jeffs, with Doug Welenc a possibility for relief work.

"We have to win today," Bergquist said. "It seems to work better when I use both Nigro and Reardon," he added. "Reardon will go five innings, Nigor three and Welenc either one or two."

Nigro is the fifth rated pitcher in New England with a 5-3 record and an ERA of 2.35 and has been the Minutemen's most consistent pitcher the last two years. Reardon, a senior, is ranked ninth in New England with a 3-3 mark and an ERA of 2.93.

The Minutemen, ranked sixth in New England, are only given an outside shot at making the tournament. UConn is first in the ECAC District 1 standings, followed by Maine (20-8), Boston College (12-9), Fairfield (16-11), and Holy Cross (18-14). So far this season, the Minutemen have split a doubleheader with UConn, beat Holy Cross and have lost to BC and Fairfield.

"Last year only three teams (UConn, Maine and UMass) qualified for the tournament," said Bergquist. "This year it's confusing because either two, three, or four teams will make it. It all depends on what the committee decides."

Bergquist, a member of the committee, unfortunately will have no say in the final decision if it boils down to UMass or another team qualifying.

UConn is the host team for the tourney May 26-29 in Middletown, Conn., with East Coast Conference champion Temple taking its 26-7 record into it.

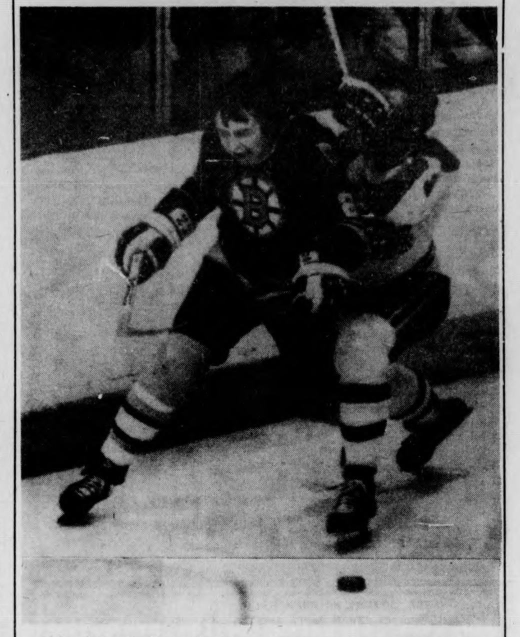
"We have an outside shot at making it," Bergquist said. "The committee may favor us because we have one of the toughest schedules in New England and the fact we did beat Miami (number five in the country) and tourney bound Southern Illinois during our southern trip.

Amherst College will send its ace pitcher, Bill Swiacki to the mound this afternoon. Swiacki, who also plays football and basketball, has averaged between 12-15 strikeouts per game this season.

"They're out to get us," warned Bergquist. "They've got a respectable baseball program (13-6 in Division III) and a strong baseball tradition."

KNUCKLEBALLS: Leadoff man Ed Skribiski, whose .349 average leads the Minutemen, is within five hits of equaling the UMass record ofof 50 hits in a season. "Ed's hit very well this year," said Bergquist. He's done a good job of getting on base and has 12 stolen bases." The Minutemen third sacker is the 10th leading hitter in NE...

Bruins lose, 3-0



Montreal's Bob Gainey strips Bruins' defenseman Brad Park of the puck in last night's action of game two of the Stanley Cup playoff. Left-winger Steve Shutt broke loose to score a goal and set up two others last night, giving the Canadiens a 3-0 triumph over the Bruins and a 2-0 lead in the National Hockey League's final playoff series. Shutt provided the offense which backed Ken Dryden's shutout to give the Canadiens a two-game lead.

Nick Kotsopoulos

Time to change athletic philosophy

With respect to college athletics:

"If athletics can return to being the educating aspect of any major university as it is supposed to be rather than the money-making bureaucracy that just uses people to its advantage and then discards them after their use, then the future of athletics will be brighter than anyone of us could ever hope it would be." — Dick Gregory

In a sports administration seminar class last semester, UMass athletic director Frank McInerney said that the main purpose of the athletic program at this school is purely for educational needs.

He said that UMass was not really that concerned with building national championship caliber teams because under such a system, the number of participants would be greatly limited. He also pointed out that it was important to get as many people to participate in the athletic program as possible, so that they could benefit from the experience.

In theory, McInerney's policy sounds quite ideal because he is seeking the largest possible number of participants in the athletic program. His theory is also very appealing, because let's face it, UMass is in no way a national contender in sports like football and basketball, so why even attempt to waste so much money trying to build both of those teams into national powers?

His theory indeed sounds ideal, however it unfortunately only works under the proper conditions, and that is a big, fat athletic budget.

However, with the school in financial straits because of the lack of insight on the part of the Massachusetts State Legislature, the UMass athletic program isn't exactly in its "Days of Wine and Roses."

And because the athletic department is a little short on money, McInerney's theory of "mass participation" has lost a little of its credibility.

Because of a shortage of funds, the athletic department was recently forced to drop the junior varsity hockey team from the athletic program. Now, that may not seem like much, but it could be the beginning of a rolling snowball that could drastically change the philosophy of the UMass athletic department.

If there is a continuation of dropping junior varsity programs, that will cut in half the number of people able to participate in athletics, and if that happens, only a really small percentage of the student population will benefit from participation in the athletic program.

If it is true that the athletic program is run for the purposes of an educational experience, then why not drop all the varsity teams from the program and open every team on campus up to any individual who wishes to participate?

After all, why should only a small percentage of the students on this campus benefit from the athletic program. If only 1,500 students at the most play on varsity teams, what educational experience do the other 20,000 students get?

I hardly call sitting in Alumni Stadium watching UMass lose another football game an educational experience and I hardly think that watching a UMass basketball game in the Cage is very educational either.

Sure, we have a very decent intramural program, but the equipment we are given and the number of games we play doesn't make the program very worthwhile.

The time has come to do away with all athletic scholarships. And it is also time to do away with all varsity athletic programs. If sports is supposed to be educational, let's open it up to more people so that the rest of us can take part in some of this educational experience.

Have an enjoyable summer vacation!

McGrail sets perfect example

By MIKE BERGER
Collegian Staff

You have probably seen John McGrail walking around campus and not realized it. You might have seen him in the dining commons or been in an English class with him and not realized it was him.

His 5'9, 135 lbs. frame might not indicate that of a superior athlete but on the other hand, looks are deceiving. Like Horatio Alger's "Rags to Riches" such is the case with John McGrail.

The senior from Stoughton did not even make his varsity high school cross country team. He wasn't recruited at all by UMass, but just showed up as a walk-on freshman the first day of practice.

In four years, McGrail has run in four national collegiate cross country championships, culminating in "All-American" status his junior year. He holds four distance records, most recent and notable being his 10,000 meter time of 28:47. He accomplished this in the Penn Relays two weekends ago in which he missed the Olympic qualifying time by seven seconds.

McGrail also holds the freshman six mile record (29:11), the six mile (27:52) and formerly holds the 5,000 meter record which was broken just recently by sophomore Mike Quinn.

"John has done as much with running as anyone I have ever seen. With nothing but enthusiasm, and hard work; John came into the track program and built himself up to the level he is at today. What ever John does, whether it's in the classroom, or on the track, he does well," said UMass coach Ken O'Brien.

"McGrail doesn't turn it on and off like some runners I have seen. He goes out there every race and gives it his maximum effort. He's not a "rah, rah" type leader but exemplifies the right way things should be done," O'Brien added.

McGrail started running his senior year in high school because he was looking for an activity and because his brother seemed to enjoy running. He ran subvarsity during the fall season but improved so much during the winter term that he won the Hockomock League two mile at 9:59.

By the end of his senior year, he finished 5th in the Class B two mile State championships with none other than present teammates Frank Carroll and Mike Quinn finishing behind him.

John McGrail

"When I came up here as a freshman and saw runners like Randy Thomas and Bill Gillen, I feel very hesitant about going out for the team. I talked to Coach O'Brien and I decided just to try it out. It was a tentative type thing," said McGrail.

McGrail's times in four years show great strides of improvement. In the two mile, he ran 9:10 his freshman year, 8:54-sophomore, 9:01-junior and has reached nine minutes flat this year.

On the five mile Franklin Park course, McGrail reached his best time of 23:54 during his sophomore year and also as a senior. As a freshman he ran 24:45 and 24:02 his junior year. He has never won a Yankee Conference cross country championship but was runnerup his junior year and placed third last fall.

With a present 3.72 cum, McGrail, an English major will attend Boston College Law school in the fall. He has plans of joining the Greater Boston Track Club but not right away.

"I'll probably run by myself to keep myself in shape but I don't want to commit myself right away because I want to get settled in law school first," said McGrail.

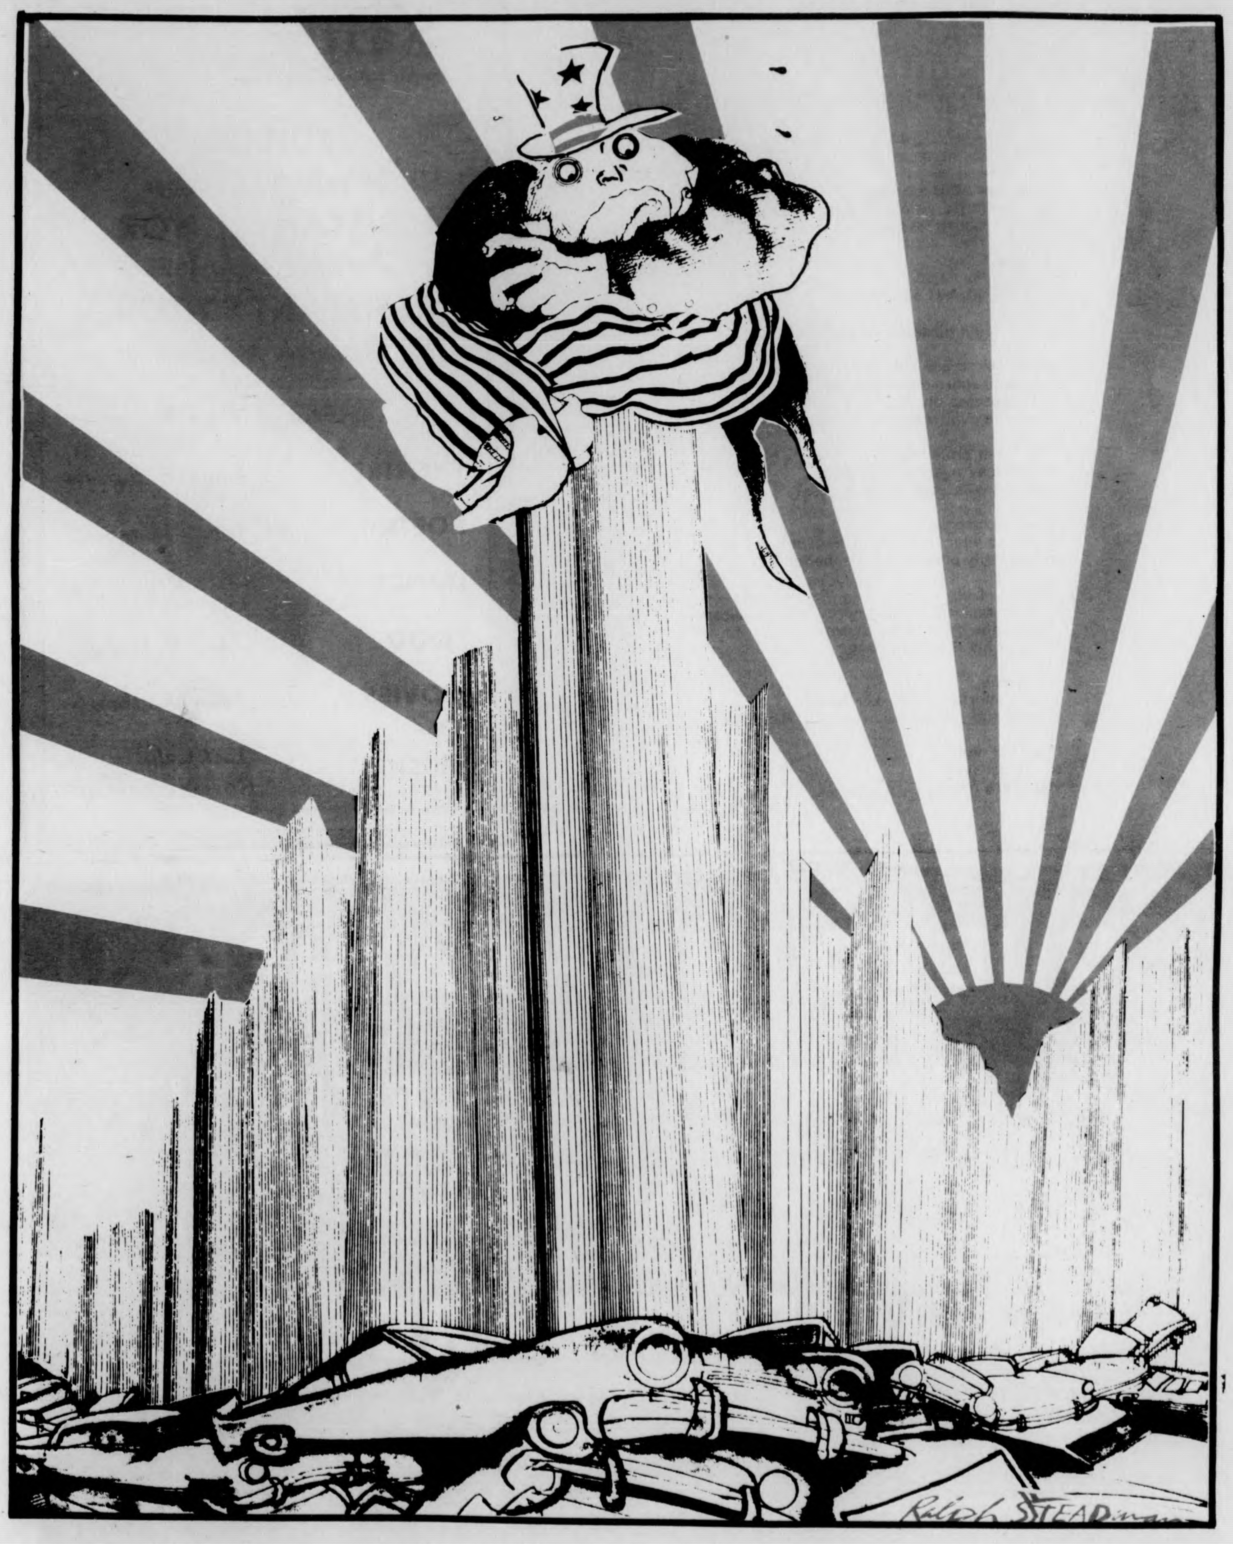
If there was an event in which McGrail would want to train for the Olympics, it would be the marathon. "I don't think I have enough speed to train for any event but the marathon — it's more my kind of race," he said.

"Running distance," according to McGrail, "gives the participant self satisfaction, discipline, and working to attain a goal.

"A lot of times it's great when you are frustrated by classes to get away from it all and just run. It's a great outlet and in the fall and the spring, the scenery is sometimes unbelievable," said McGrail.

"Maybe the best thing I can say about McGrail is the amount of respect his fellow teammates have for him as a track performer and as a leader. He is an example of how determination and hard work can produce success," O'Brien said.

The Sun Also Sets



Below The Salt

weekly fine arts magazine

Volume V Issue 15

Supplement to the Collegian 5-11-77

May 11, 1977

Poetry

Parallel Fear

Why examine anything so closely
if the price becomes ugliness;

Eyes that woodenly dare to impregnate visionary sacred meaning are only sullen trespassers.

Human scraps strewn effortlessly
on sidewalk wet and glassy—

Why I could bloody trample you!

Mayan terrorists still lurk you know suburban-aphro-disiac-cosmic consciousness divorce para-medieval medicine to kill

Why I am protected from decay nuance art-official supplied with your fawning pose?

Glass in moonlight
enhances your impromptu treasures accidentally-planned for the better.

Aspects of birds
landing accidently-also improve the landscape—mature the child til he ceases to know his life-love-weapon

Old friend
Your Victorian mind-color bleeds without the subterranean wisdom-Baudelaire

Over the night sky is decayed
you scare more

Rich Pioli

Below The Salt
weekly fine arts magazine
Volume V
Issue 15

EDITOR
Mark A. Leccese
ASSISTANT EDITOR
Debbie Schafer
ASSISTANT EDITOR
E. Patrick McQuaid

THE SALT MINDS:

THEATRE	James F. Sawyer
POETRY	John Zieman
DANCE	Leila Bruno Ann Murphy
FOOD	Alice E. Horner
MOVIES	John Matthew
MUSIC	Jack Cahill Ross Nerenberg

DUE TO THE WEATHER
UNIVERSITY FOOD SERVICES'
11th ANNUAL
ALL-CAMPUS BARBEQUE
WILL BE HELD WED. MAY 11th
4:30-7:00P.M. SOUTHWEST PLAYING FIELDS
UNIVERSITY MEAL TICKET
OR $2.75 ADMISSION
FEATURING
SPERM WHALE

This Time It's For Real!

By David Santos
Photos By Debbie Schafer

The general concensus about this little affair seems to be overall satisfaction. And why shouldn't it be? I mean, when was the last time UMASS had a decent Spring Concert? Here i am, standing on the verge of being a graduated UMIE and the only Spring Concert fit to attend was during my Senior Year. Such is life.

But after a lot of heartache, riff-raff and associated silliness, UMASS finally got something. And in the face of incredible odds, they pulled it off. But this concert could have been more than just satisfying — it could have been great. Why it wasn't lies in the approach and structure of the Spring Concert. The two headliners — Southside Johnny & The Asbury Jukes and Procol Harum — got screwed time-wise and exposure-wise. This was especially true of Procol Harum; their set was reduced to a pitiful forty minutes.

A lot of people will be quick to blame the UMASS police, who threatened to shut down the concert on account of darkness. Such is not the case — without stadium lights, continuation of the concert would have presented some huge hassles not only for the police, but to the concert workers. We are indeed fortunate that it was allowed to continue as long as it did.

Again, the idea of having six bands playing at one gig and expecting a student-run stage crew to set everything up on time is antiquated. Expecting 15-20,000 people to sit for seven hours in the hot sun, consuming beer and food is tantament to treason. By the time Procol took the stage, there was only about 10-13,000 left.

Of course this could've been avoided altogether. If the size of the show was reduced to three groups — delays via equipment changes and darkness could have not presented problems as they did. Imagine if this concert consisted of Southside, Procol and Pousette-Dart? Do 15,000 people have to sit through tepid, foolish sets by the likes of Melanie and Richie Havens? Does a band like Conjunto Libre have to be forced to play to a crowd that wanted to be consciously ignorant of their music?

This, hopefully, is constructive criticism, I, in no way, want to downgrade the Concert Workers. Their job was a thankless one and performed splendidly considering the amount of equipment used, controlling 15,000 humans, beverages and food. Other than the haggling about the "No Lights" issue, everything ran as expected. The following are some observations of the music:

Conjunto Libre — Saturday's first tragedy, Conjunto Libre is supposedly a hot club set in New York city. Their use of exotic rhythms and musical flow were interesting, compelling things. But not at 11:00 in the morning. For the most part, Conjunto's set was easy and laid-back. This, mind you, is not their fault. It is only a reflection of indifference and ignorance by the audience (who probably would have been more contented to listen to a tape of an old Grateful Dead album).

Melanie — Sperting a full, five piece band including a synthesizer player — Golly Jesus, Melanie with a synthesizer! — Melanie strode on stage for a lackluster, uneven hour and half set. I had higher expectations since her latest lp. Photograph, was an interesting, if not successful, comeback effort. But this would not be the case here as she slouched ever so gracefully. If this is her way of breaking from the past, forget it. At least she didn't play "Ring The Livin' Bell."

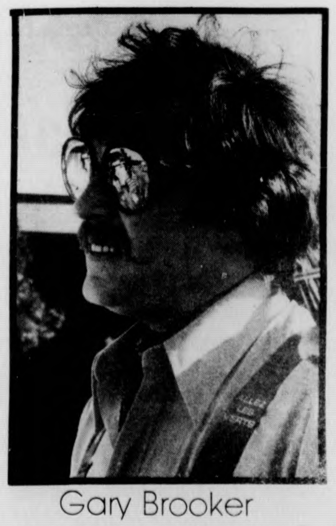
Richie Havens — Strike Two of the day came with Richie Havens — who continues his pathetic downward slide. Havens is not only a wasted artist, but a wasted individual. The man is in bad physical shape — though he hid it from the crowd well. Losing umpteen points with the press for playing a Doobie Brothers song, Richie finally did something of importance with a

(con't on pg 12)

Back stage at the Spring Concert

Southside Johnny

Ronnie Spector



Gary Brooker

FICTION

Basic Training

By David Freid

Jack Walker felt guilty that his work in the pet shop wasn't more difficult. There were only infrequently enough customers to keep him busy, to challenge him, to maintain a sort of tension. His courses as a pre-vet major were challenging, but he felt he was not being fulfilled without courses in the humanities and in higher thought. A more enterprising pre-vet might have been making a term project out of the experience — perhaps spending a semester in a dog cage and writing his thesis from the experiment. He did not feel qualified to write about the camraderie between collies or the social dynamics among imprisoned puppies. He felt lazy; he felt that part of himself was unoccupied.

Jack Walker moved among his peers with a vague discontent, as if he didn't belong — or as if only he belonged. He felt that another in his position would not be as sensitive to the things that were causing his dissatisfaction. They inspected mutilated animals in lab without the slightest introspection. They cooped up their cats in dorm cubicles. They bought puppies, because they were "cute". Jack did not expect that they would go so far as to reject the puppies when they grew older. That they would cast aside their pets when the virtues of youth were lost was beyond even the average insensibility.

Outside the shop an old pickup truck stirred up dust as it bucked and halted. It was a cool, windy day. Everything was straining too hard. The blinding sun could not be distinguished from the haze. A man with a pony tail in farmer's dungarees ambled, slightly hunched, toward the pet shop entrance. Following him hesitantly was a biggish German shepherd. After the expected creak and slap of the screen door he confronted Jack. He was the only customer in the shop.

"Hey, man," the customer laughed, "I've got a problem." Jack raised his eyebrows, taking for granted what was said, awaiting novel information.

"Listen, I hate to cause any trouble," the customer said, his hands pressed in his pockets.

"What exactly are you looking for?" Jack asked him.

"I'm not looking for anything. Listen, are you authorized to refund money?" Jack felt his face fall, though his expression didn't change noticeably.

"It depends what for." The German shepherd sat obediently at noone's command. It hung its tongue out and sort of idled. "Give me a hint and I'll see what I can do."

The customer hesitated. "Well, he's not what I wanted."

"He's what you bought," Jack snapped more harshly than he had intended. He noticed that the customer was younger than it had seemed at first glance. "What do you mean he's not what you wanted?"

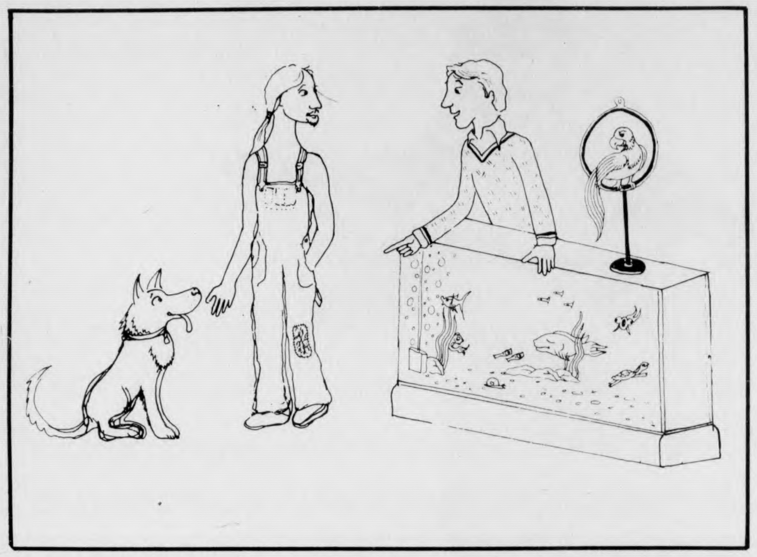
"No, you don't understand. He's not what I wanted. I bought a puppy — a little puppy, man." The dog withdrew its tongue, adjusted its ears, then hung out its tongue again. "I expected a puppy, something to crawl around and lick my face and run around my feet."

"That kind of dog would have to be out of its mind," Jack thought.

"The guy told me I was getting a puppy. I took his word that there would be no problem with that. This (he stuck an accusing finger at the dog's head) is not a puppy."

Jack's thoughts stuck together; he couldn't decide for a moment how to respond. "What would you do if your parents abandoned you after you were no longer cute?" Jack immediately regretted using this tactic. It occurred to him that that might actually have been the case. "I don't know whether I can give you the refund. I mean, are you sure you're willing to give up the dog?"

The customer laughed nervously, explained that that was the idea. Something dropped at the back of the shop. Bernie was cleaning cages. Bernie would be casual with the customer, Jack thought, to try to get the customer to act reasonably.



"How old is the dog?" Jack asked.

"He's about one. We just celebrated his birthday in my apartment. He threw up the pumpkin bread we made in his honor." Some honor, Jack thought. He couldn't refund the money without Bernie. He hated to bother Bernie, who was doing all the dirty work. This was the first customer in over twenty-five minutes.

"Will you be able to return my money?" the customer asked. Jack tried to be good-natured like Bernie.

"That depends. I have to know a few things first. Like why the dog got big. You didn't feed him or anything, I hope? Cause the next thing you know the dog's out of control — it grows. Let's face it, feeding him is a calculated risk."

"Hey, listen, there's no need to get cute about it. I can go complain to the Better Business Bureau or whoever the cat in charge is. I'll go right to your boss."

"Hold it, I'm sorry. I'm sorry." Jack smiled at the thought of Bernie getting angry. He'd never seen Bernie that way. But he was surprised at his own brashness.

"Cause I get treated like this enough by the cats I gotta deal with," the customer continued.

"You're right, I'm sorry. Calm. You're right." The customer is silent. "You calm?" The customer is calm. "All right. You may not like it, but there's some establishment administrative red tape bureaucratic hassles I've got to put you through. Now." Jack could not stop himself. Always an eager worker, liked by his bosses, he felt he was beyond firing. "A dog, which was bought as a puppy, sits before us. Let us call this dog "X". Now, "X" is not longer a puppy. Have you ever had another "X" before?"

"Hey, what is this — are you starting again? I'm not going to put up with this."

"Man-".

"I'm fed up with this."

"Man-"

"Confounded-"

"Man. Man-" Silence. "I've got to know," Jack said in a hushed voice, "so we can avoid this in the future. A man goes out with a puppy, we want him to have a puppy when he comes back. Would you be willing to turn yur canine in for a puppy? I mean, if the right one came along?"

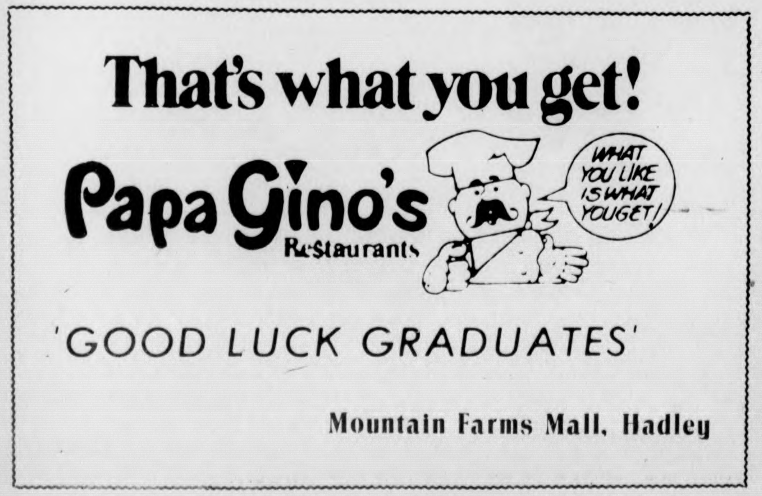
"I don't know. Can I see what you've got?"

"Oh, absolutely, absolutely." Jack slipped from behind the counter. "Please follow me." The cages were only several feet from the counter. "Now this is something I think you'd be interested in. It's our 'Ponce de Leon' dog. It's a remarkable beast. It says "cocker spaniel", but the sign's wrong."

"A 'Ponce de Leon' dog? No such animal." The customer smirked at the last phrase. Jack felt better that the customer was laughing, too.

"Oh, but there is such a thing. The dog never grows up. It's not that the dog never gets old; it's just that this is one of the most immature species you'll ever run across. You want a puppy, huh? Why? Is it turds? Because if turds are your concern, we've got a line of cleaner — burning pets. It's

(con't on pg. 16)



That's what you get!

Papa Gino's Restaurants

'GOOD LUCK GRADUATES'

Mountain Farms Mall, Hadley

WHAT YOU LIKE IS WHAT YOU GET!

THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN

NOW OPEN 'TIL MIDNITE

IN THE CARRIAGE SHOPS

Don't You Think The Joker Laughs At You?

By Mark Leccese

At one time or another, a great deal of us have found this campus very funny, or, if you prefer, absurd. But it seems that the only times we read someone else laughing at us and our University is in a handful of Collegian comic strips. Why don't we, a campus that produces the largest college daily newspaper in New England, several alternative papers, a radio station, two literary annuals, a weekly fine arts magazine and many other publications, have a humor magazine?

In the late 1910s and early 1920s, the campus had the Aggie Squib. And, from 1954 to the early seventies, UMass students published the fascinating and ill-fated Yahoo.

The Yahoo earned the description "ill-fated" in 1966, when it finally became too outrageous for the times it was published in. In fact, much of the Yahoo would be considered outrageous today. It was, to use a word one doesn't hear very much these days, dirty. As the magazine reached its death, it was becoming more and more, er, raunchy. It contained a lot of dirty jokes and some cartoons that one generally sees in cartoon collections called something like "From Sex to Sixty".

But what was to be Yahoo's final outrage had little to do with its dirty jokes, occasionally funny dirty cartoons or each issue's "Yahoo Queen" center pages (more on that later). In the end, they said it was sacreligious.

In their Fall, 1965 issue, the Yahoo ran a cartoon that poked a little fun at religious ceremony. The cartoon was a four panel series in which a priest (a priest whose denomination could be Catholic or Episcopalian or another religion pointed out editor Al Oickle in a 1965 Greenfield Recorder article on the Yahoo controversy) moved a chalice about, and, finally, withdrew a rabbit and said "Shazam!"

At that time the Archbishop of Springfield, the Most Reverend Christopher J. Weldon, was an ex officio member of the UMass board of trustees, and he was very displeased.

The trustees complained, and not just to the Yahoo or the Student Senate, who funded the magazine. The Massachusett State Senate began their own investigation of the Yahoo, and Gov. John Volpe ordered a complete investigation of all UMass student publications.

The State Senate voted 34-3 to investigate the Yahoo, and the May 13, 1966 Collegian reported the reaction of now Senate President Kevin Harrington like this:

"However, Harrington appeared unsatisfied. Throwing the magazine down he exclaimed. 'This is not enough — I want some answers and hard answers today!'

"Continuing, he stated, 'This magazine is too far out for me.'

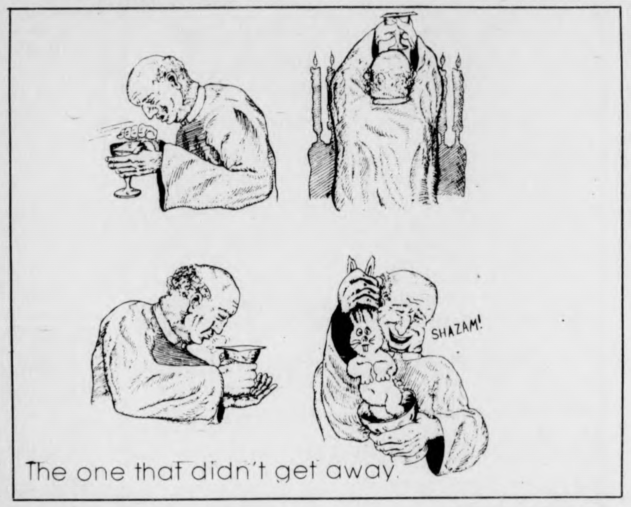
" 'There are going to be some hard times for UMass in the days ahead and I predict that some heads will roll if I don't get an explanation,' he said." The Yahoo responded by titling their next issue the "Special Heads Will Roll Issue".

Throughout this investigative fracas, Yahoo editor Robert Jones had refused to name the person who had drawn the unsigned cartoon.

Stories of the course of the Yahoo investigations were carried in newspapers from the Collegian to the New York Times. When the creator of the offending cartoon finally came forward and took credit for the joke, the Boston Record American, a now defunct Boston tabloid, ran a huge headline on their front page as their top story that read "Needham Youth Bared as Yahoo Cartoonist". The accompanying story, an Associated Press wire story, read like this:

"AMHERST (AP) — A 19-year-old University of Massachusetts sophomore, John F. Canney of Needham, issued a statement last night in which he identified himself as the creator of the cartoon in a college magazine which stirred up criticism in the Massachusetts legislature."

At the end of the story, the AP reported that "Canney said that he had shown the cartoon, before its publication, to 'at least 100 persons, Catholics, Episcopalians, Methodists and members of other faiths, and not one found it objectionable — and not one failed to laugh.' "



The one that didn't get away.

The UMass chaplains, to their credit, supported the Yahoo publicly all through the investigations. The 1966 convention of the Knights of Columbus voted to condemn the magazine.

The Student Senate finally bowed to pressure, and before anyone higher than them could order the magazine to cease publication, stopped funding the Yahoo. "So," says Jim, RSO officer, "it died a natural death."

Efforts were made to keep publishing the nagazine, and the Yahoo continued to appear sporadically until its very last issue of November, 1973. The Yahoo never recovered from the blow dealt to it because of its offensive cartoon, and never was as good as it was in their early sixties heyday.

At its best, the Yahoo was topical, campus-oriented, and very funny. Satire on the war in Viet Nam, Lyndon Johnson, and the various deans and Presidents of UMass packed the magazine. Each issue began with a column about campus life called "Mass Hysteria". Jokes about stupidly drinking frat men, the horrible food at the dining commons, the bureaucratic hassles, the curfew (in 1966 there was

Cont on page 7

HUMBOR (You don't pronounce the 'B')

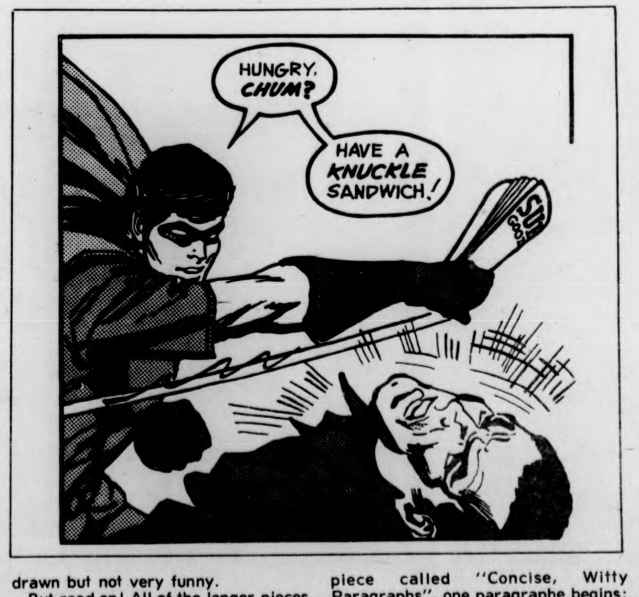
SUBTLE (you don't pronounce the "b") GOOD HUMOR
Published at Hampshire College
Issue No. 2 — April 1977
50 cents

By Mark Leccese

The basis of all humor is surprise, the ancient Greeks believed, and I was certainly surprised when the latest issue of a new local satire magazine, Subtle Good Humor, appeared in my mailbox. Their first issue, a glossy and rather National Lampoonish effort, was well in the past, and I had written them off as yet another magazine that fails after its first try.

The new issue is printed, in two colors, on a quality stock of paper. As a tribute to the subtle good humor of the editors, the letter that accompanied my copy began "Oh, look! Our new issue is just out! Hot off the presses. We hope you are thrilled with our efforts."

At first thumb-through, the magazine is, well, alright. It is fairly attractive, but the things one first reads are not all that impressive. The letters to the editor are too much like National Lampoon letters, right down to the "we are not assholes" joke. "Ask Amy Carter" is more Amy Carter jokes, and the comic, "Magacomix", is very well drawn but not very funny.



HUNGRY, CHUM?
HAVE A KNUCKLE SANDWICH!

But read on! All of the longer pieces are clever, and like the name says, many are in subtle good humor. In a piece called "Concise, Witty Paragraphs", one paragraphe begins: "We touch, but we do not feel. We look, but we do not see. We hear, but we do not listen. We eat, but we do not taste. We smell, but we do not bathe."

The "Interview with Cyrus Vance", by Oriana Fallaci and Scott Haas was excellent, a very witty mockery of the new Secretary of State and politicians like Vance in general. When asked why he continues the Secretary of State job, Vance tells his interviewers, "Well, my family is proud of my work as Secretary of State. The pay is good. You meet interesting people."

The titles of the various pieces in this issue give an indication of more cool satire: "How to Raise a Tot", "United Nations Tour '77", "Raid on Westover" and the very topical "Sexism: Beat with Two Backs or Breathe Through Your Nose". The latter lets us know that "Sexism is here, but often it hides. Saying 'Yoo-hoo, sexism!' won't help."

Subtle Good Humor is clever, witty, cute, subtle, and, of course, very funny. It is a top notch satirical effort. Hampshire student get it for free because they already paid for it (or something like that) but it is only 50 cents for the rest of us. If you don't have a friend who is a Hampshire student, you can get your copy at Faces of Earth, Augie's, Hastings, Broadside, Lizotte's, the Pleasant St. Theatre or The Quill.

SummerSession '77 SummerSession SummerSession SummerSession '77

We've got a slice of the fruit of knowledge for you this summer.

HOLYOKE COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Classes Begin on June 13
Registration - June 7, 8 & 9
Low Tuition - $22. per credit

MORNING & EVENING COURSES
AIR CONDITIONED

For a summer bulletin with complete information contact:
Division of Continuing Education
303 Homestead Ave., Holyoke, Ma 538-7000 Ext. 244

The Copper Lantern WEDNESDAY

¼ lb. Hamburg Special $1.95

A deluxe hamburger with tomato, lettuce & mayonnaise with french fries, cole slaw & pickle.

When you buy one — the second one is FREE!!!

Also 64 oz. Pitcher's of Miller $1.95

GOOD LUCK SENIORS!

EVERYBODY ELSE HAVE A GOOD SUMMER & SEE YOU NEXT YEAR!

1 Pray St. 549-5403 Amherst Carriage Shops

Poor Richard's

Wednesday

50¢ for most drinks All Night

Thursday: White Lightning Nite
All Gin, Rum, Vodka & Tequila 85¢

Appearing

May 11 POUSETTE DART BAND
May 12 FRENCH COOKING
May 13 MITCH CHAKOUR
May 14 JAMES COTTON with MITCH CHAKOUR ***
May 15-17  WIDESPREAD DEPRESSION
May 18 JONATHAN EDWARDS
May 19-22 CLEAN LIVING

at

The rusty nail Inn

Rte. 47, Sunderland 665-4937

Four Seasons
Package Store
Discount Liquers
RUSSELL ST. HADLEY
at the Mt. Farms Mall

Budweiser
12 oz. N.R. Bottles
$5.69
Case

Seagram's V.O.
Canadian Whiskey
$5.79
Fifth

Gilbey's Gin
$8.99
$1.75 Liter

Yago Sant' Gria
$1.49
Fifth

Wednesday 5/11/77 to Tuesday 5/17/77.
We reserve the right to limit quantities.

Little Feat Roam The Country

LITTLE FEAT
Live at the Academy of Music, May 5
Time Loves A Hero (Warner Brothers)

Little Feat is in the midst of a hectic tour to promote their long-awaited album, Time Loves A Hero. The road show stopped in Northampton last week, where the Academy of Music hosted this band of volatile and imaginative musicians. It is an understatement to say that the crowds attending both shows were blown away by the Feat's energetic outpourings. I attended the second show and witnessed this fact personally. The crowd's appetite for this band's music was seemingly insatiable.

Live at the Academy Of Music

In concert, the group showcased four tunes from the new album, but they really built the show around Feat standards from Sailin' Shoes, Dixie Chicken, and Feats Don't Fail Me Now. Noticeable was the fact that they only played two songs from the successful Last Record Album. But their version of "Day or Night" was superb, with action and expansion around the theme of the song dominated by Bill Payne's keyboard explorations and the lead and rhythm guitar forays between Lowell George and Paul Barrere.

Another manifestation of the growing creative energy of the group was their rendition of "Day At The Dog Races" from the new album. "Dog Races" is an instrumental built on a fast riff begun on Payne's various keyboards and built upon by Barrere and Ken Gradney's driving bass. The song is also driven by the incredible double-time drumming of Richie Hayward, who really excites the band with his half-crazed glances and mutterings. Lowell George sits out "Dog Races," but even without him, there is so much going on there. This is one of the better songs on Time Loves A Hero, but the album version sorely misses the feel and presence of the live one.

As for the album, it shows the Feat moving in different directions. Paul Barrere's first recorded acoustic song, "Missin' You," appears here. It's an excellent, mellow song with smooth harmonies. But on the whole, this album is brewed in funk more than any previous Little Feat record. Songs like "Old Folks Boogie," "Rocket in My Pocket," and "Red Streamliner" are good examples. But of these three songs with a funky backbeat, all show a different side of the Feat. "Old Folks Boogie" sounds the most like the good old Feats, along the lines of "Walkin' All Night." "Rocket...," the only purely Lowell George effort on the album, is a rather rude metaphorical attempt to say what he really means, but the music moves well. "Red Streamliner," on the negative side, just ain't Little Feat. Though it was written by Payne, the vocals are augmented by a couple of Doobie Brothers, and it could pass for a Doobie Brothers song from start to finish.

It is significant that Lowell George is hard to find on this album. He's considered to be the leader of the group (if there are such things), he's provided some of the best material, and he produced the last three albums. On Time Loves A Hero, he relinquishes the producer's role to Ted Templeman and he sings but three songs. His slide guitar is almost non-existent. Templeman's production, with his use of the Tower of Power horns, is inferior to Lowell's out-front style. The drums are recorded too softly in most places, and in general the album doesn't breathe like the last two albums do.

Time Loves A Hero is not the best Little Feat album. It appears to be a turning point where Lowell steps back to allow more room for the rest of the band to expand its creativity. Judging by their superlative performance in Northampton, that is exactly what is happening, yet Lowell George continues to be the spark and cocaine-crazed center of attention.

—Mark Harris Levitan

Yahoo

Cont from page 5

still a student curfew), and the dean of women (there was one of those, too) abounded.

One early sixties issue was a satire of Mad Magazine, called Mud, and featured satire of the campus as well as of Mad; one of the major articles was called "The UMass Primer", written in the style of those endless Mad Magazine primers. Another issue satirized Playboy, very big and very outrageous in the sixties, and was called Preyboy, featuring a suave and tuxedoed Bugs Bunny on the cover. There was even a UMass yearbook parody.

The Yahoo designed most of their ads, except for the major national advertisers (and there were, surprisingly, many of these: Winston cigarettes and Triumph automobiles are two) who helped pay for this glossy, occasionally four-color magazine; a picture of a movie ghoul with his eyeballs hanging out was an ad for a local optitrician. A picture of a man in a filthy room shooting heroin into his arm read, "Anything you want...at the Drake."

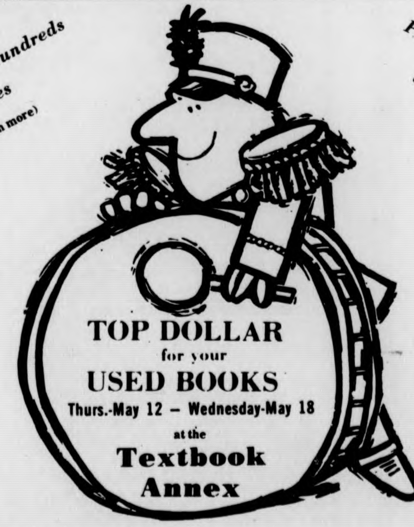
As incredible as it is to us today, each issued featured a "Yahoo Queen", some beautiful UMass student who posed for a two page center fold photo, clothed in a skirt or tights, and several other well done photos by a photographer named Rick Jacobs, who could very well be working for Playboy today. In fact, the whole presentation of each issue's "Yahoo Queen" was very Playboyish. The UMass (!) model wore a lot of make-up, dressed very sexy, struck sexy poses, and even had pouting, heavily lipsticked lips.

Each model's short, semi-biographical paragraph read just like a Playboy description. For instance: "Now, as school comes to a close, what better things are left to be thought about than this issue's Yahoo Queen, Miss Nancy Lupo. Nancy is a sophomore English major from Reading, Mass., and lives in Brooks House, third window from the left."

Copies of the old, vintage Yahoos are hard to come by, and the only place that has a collection is the University Library's Archives. They also have a collection of articles about the cartoon controversy. Go up and laugh with and at the old Yahoo staff and their magazines. And, hey, with a little money from the Student Senate and a few of the right people, maybe we could even start it up again...

Send in your Below-The Salt survey!

see page 18. Quickly!



Half Price For Hundreds of Titles (some even more)

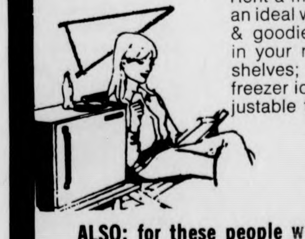
Prices will never be better!

TOP DOLLAR for your USED BOOKS
Thurs.-May 12 – Wednesday-May 18
at the
Textbook Annex

Fall orders are coming in and WE NEED USED BOOKS. Paying 50% for titles we need. Quantities we buy at ½ price are limited according to our needs.

COME EARLY FOR THE BEST PRICES — MONDAY-FRIDAY 9-4

Another Service Of .... THE UNIVERSITY STORE



THINGS TO RENT FOR EVERY EVENT
TAYLOR RENTAL Center

KEEP COOL WHILE YOU CRAM!

Rent a mini-refrigerator — an ideal way to keep drinks & goodies on ice — right in your room! 2 spacious shelves; 2 bottle racks; 2 freezer ice cube trays. Adjustable thermostat.

Student Price:

$22.00 / semester

ALSO: for these people who want their security deposits back in full.

STEAM CARPET CLEANER

The hot water extraction system is the most efficient carpet cleaning method yet. A hot shampoo spray dislodges dirt. At the same time a vacuum lifts out embedded soil and nearly all the moisture. Shrinking and matting are eliminated. Carpets dry quickly.

TAYLOR RENTAL Center

299 Russell Rd., Hadley
Tel. 586-4250

IT IS WITH REGRET
WE NOTE THE PASSING OF
GAIL GRASSO AND ROSEMARY POLLANO.
W.C.H. PRENTICE JR.
A. ANDERSON NICHOLS

CAMP TRAILS • KELTY • JAN SPORT • ALPINE DESIGNS • SIGG • WOOLRICH • PETER STORM • OPTIMUS • EUREKA • NORTH FACE • COLEMAN • PALCO • MIRRO • STAG • WHITE STAG • JASQUE •

The Joy Of Camping

Begins with the right equipment from
Don Gleason's

DON GLEASON'S SUPPLY offers one of the largest selections of QUALITY CAMPING AND BACKPACKING EQUIPMENT available in New England. You'll find everything you need to make your camping more enjoyable, all under one roof, including a large display of set up tents (over 33) for your inspection. Visit us now. Located just off I-91 in the center of Northampton, Mass.
Open daily except Sundays 9AM to 5:30PM;
Thursday and Friday nites till 9PM;
Saturday 9 til 5PM

HIKING and BACKPACKING EQUIPMENT

FREE
96 Page Catalog with Copy of Ad.
CAMPERS SUPPLY* INC.
Pearl Street, Northampton, Mass. Exit 18 I-91
Pearl St. is one block south of N'ton Cornor.
Just off Rte. 5.

SPRING CLEARANCE
SALE CONTINUES
Savings are busting out all over!

(N) - New (U) - Used (D) Demonstrator

	list	NOW
Scott T526 (D)	250	190
Scott A416 Amp (D)	199	140
Scott A436 Amp (D)	299	220
Sharp RT 1155 Cass. (D)	279	200
Hitachi PS-48 Ttbl. (D)	249	200
Hitachi PS-10 Ttbl. (D)	129	100
Hitachi D 2330 Cass. (D)	180	120
Philips 212 Ttbl. (D)	169	150
Philips GA 427 Ttbl. (D)	129	80
Philips GA 406 Ttbl. (N)	200	155
Dual 1219 Ttbl. (U)		70
Sony 1100 Ttbl. (N)	100	80
Sansui 551 Re. (N)	259	210
Sansui 331 Rec. (N)	199	160
Sansui 221 Rec. (N)	169	150
Rotel 102 Rec. (D)	170	135
Rotel 202 Mk II Rec. (D)	230	165
Nikko 7075 Rec. (D)	400	300
Nikko 3035 Rec. (N)	250	160
Nikko 2025 Rec. (N)	200	130
Teac A-170S Cass. (n)	279	180
Onkyo 7055 Amp (D)	250	150
Planar 2100 Rec. (D)	500	350
Planar 2040 Rec. (D)	279	170
Spectro Acoustics 217 Preamp (D)	250	175
Thorens 165 Ttbl. (N)		105
Small Advent Spkrs. (D)		150 pr.

All turntables complete with Base, Dust Cover and Cartridge. Full manufacturer's Warranty on all New and Demo equipment.

master charge
your BANKAMERICARD welcome

the Soundroom
186 Main St., Northampton
584-4478 mon-fri 10-6; sat 10-5
44 Elliot St., Brattleboro, Vt.
mon-fri 9:30-5:30; sat 9:30-4:30

CHARTER FLIGHTS TO EUROPE AND CALIFORNIA
•London •Zurich •Rome
•Paris •Poland •Spain
•Amsterdam •Hungary •Geneva
•Frankfurt •Ireland •Hamburg
•Vienna •Greece •Brussels
LOW FARES NO MEMBERSHIP REQUIRED
For Further Information Contact:
CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
Campus Center 3rd level
Univ. of Mass. 545-0500

BRANDYWINE AT AMHERST
MOVING OFF CAMPUS???
● STARTING AT $240 GAS UTILITIES INCLUDED
● RENTAL OFFICE OPEN WEEKDAYS 9-5 WEEKENDS 10-5
● ON UMASS BUS RT. EVERY 10 MIN.
50 MEADOW ST.
N. AMHERST
549-0600

Fashionable Imported Clothing for Women
SAVE 30% to 70%
Dresses
Pants
Skirts
Blouses
SPECIAL PURCHASE
Slightly Irregular Women's Clothing at Ridiculously Low Prices
Faces of Earth
Next to Amherst Post Office. Open 9:30-5:30 Mon.-Sat.

ARTS FEST

By E. Patrick McQuaid

Photos by Debbie Schafer

Philosophy in action — that may be one way of labelling last weekend's New England Artist Festival and Showcase, a truly cooperative effort sponsored by the Arts Extension Service of Continuing Education at UMass, the Valley Advocate newspaper, countless individuals, local business, community organizations, and over 250 artists, craftspeople, and performers.

"It was the best product for the lowest price on the East coast," said Bob Lynch, AES organizor Monday evening. Lynch spent the day-after at the Tri-County Fairgrounds in Northampton, the site of the fair, helping with the cleanup details amidst the erratic weather that swept the area.

"The kind of crowd sensitivity," he said, "was remarkable. Clean, orderly, and happy is how the director of the fairgrounds, John Murphy, described it to me. It was nothing at all like the mess leftover by the Tri-County Fair or any of the other things that happen there."

Lynch and his staff estimate that about 15,000 people attended the two-day festivities which featured 33 different professional performing groups from the area and as far away as Vermont, Connecticut, New Hampshire, and Boston.

"There was a good variety," he reported, "and lots of activity. Several of the performers tell us that they've already made a number of future bookings thanks to the Showcase. We only wish that the craftspeople could have done as well financially; there's certainly room for improvement there."

The Arts Extension Service is already starting to make some plans for next year's Showcase-Festival. "We'd like more cooperation from the Five Colleges," said Lynch. "I don't see why the Five College bus couldn't have stopped at the gates and alter their schedule a little for that day, but it never occurred to us to ask them. We would have hit the various student senates but they had already indicated that there was no money by that time. We did, however, speak to the Spring Concert Committee about helping us out financially. That would be for a reduced student admission and perhaps for transportation to and from campus and the fairgrounds, but nothing came of it. Afterall," he continued, "students are involved in putting it on."

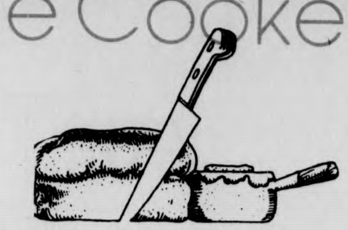
The only UMass performing group to appear at the Festival this year was the Jazz Ensemble who came thanks to the support of Dr. Fred Tillis of the Provost's Office. Tillis was also responsible for sending over the University Faculty Print Portfolio which took a prominent place under the Showcase roof.

According to Lynch a complete videotape of the festival was made by Debbie Dorsey, (the Artist-in-Residence in South Hadley library) and David Skillicorn of the UMass Student Video Project. Both were contracted by the AES to make the tapes for future reference. "How to Produce a Festival" and "Highlights" of this year's events will be the finished product of their work.

"Everybody ate heartily so the food people made out the best," said Lynch. "On the whole it was tremendous as far as the feeling and interest generated by both the artists and the audience. Our only major crisis was that we couldn't launch the hot air baloon; too windy."

The Arts Extension Service did not profit from the Festival to any length. "All the ticket money will go to cover the back salaries of four people for the past three months...and I might add that they are low paid and overworked. It's extremely doubtful if we'll make any real profit. We try to keep the prices low, anyway. In no way do we want to discourage people from attending the Arts Festival because of money."

Home Grown / Home Cooked



FRUIT AND BERRIES FOR THE HOME GARDEN
BY Lewis Hill
Alfred A. Knopf
258 pgs. $10.00

By Dee Greaze

Quick on the heels of the back to the land movement, a series of books of "how to and why to" have reached the common book store; some are very knowledgable while others are less than adequate.

Selling books is big business and the publishers seemed to have raided the universities and large farms for authors, and most of the results have been dismal. Now from Northern Vermont we have author Lewis Hill who suffers from none of the maladies so common among authors writing about gardens and orchards.

Author Hill has reached that fine point of being able to explain to the reader why you should do such and such, and offers some beautiful reasons for using chemicals in your garden and orchard — the folks from "Whole Life is Wonderful" may disagree, but orchards are like everything else in this world; results count, and Lewis Hill has had a great results. Hill explains the basic reasons for chemicals with your orchard while giving examples both pro and con regarding chemicals. His knowledge of apples would make John Chapman (aka Johnny Appleseed) blush.

Every year I receive around fifty pamphlets from the U.S Dept. of Agriculture explaining new developments and hints for your garden and orchard. In his one book Hill puts the government to shame.

Hill has a working and understanding from experience, and he clearly explains 'how to outwit Jack Frost,' 'soil requirements and how to improve soil,' 'all you need to know about pollination,' 'how to prune, how to preserve, and store," as well as 'Spraying — fruit by fruit: how, when and why, chemical organic' and more.

Lewis Hill may be the next American hero. With Fruits and Berries For the Home Garden he lets you know all, whether you only have a small city plot or a large spread.

He not only offers you all he has in his brilliant past, he lists an ample reference section with over forty-five nurseries in this country; lists of magazines that specialize in up to date fruit growing tips, addresses of agricultural extension offices where you can get local help, plus recipes for everything from your orchard.

Author Hill has it very much together and this book is a great place to start if you're just getting into your own orchard or garden, and it reach levels where those with experience with the above mentioned can learn a lot. I sure did.

Reviewer Dee Greaze has his own organic garden and 16 tree orchard.

THE BAKERY LANE SOUP BOWL COOKBOOK
By Marge Mitchell & Joan Sedgewick
Random House $5.95

By Debbie Schafer

If the Soup Kitchen restaurant in Northampton ever published a cookbook it would probably be just like the Bakery Lane Soup Bowl Cookbook. In fact, the Bakery Lane Soup Bowl, of Middlebury, Vermont, is "a small restaurant...famous for its superb soups, salads, pate, quiche, souffles, desserts...

Although we have not had the chance to visit Middlebury we can guess (and probably rightly, too) that Bakery Lane itself is a lot like Soup Kitchen with a list of goodies that includes Zucchini Cream Soup, Dill Bread, Mocha Macaroon Pie and the like.

And now there is this little cookbook that tells us how to make all these things, and more. Just in time for the warm weather (and the fresh vegetable season) it is a pleseant surprise to learn that Chilled Herb and Tomato Soup is very easy to make.

Bakery Lane Soup Bowl Cookbook covers a wide range of edibles including quite a few ethnic and exotic dishes (I've never heard of Dacquoise, have you?). There are five different Bean Soup recipes in Bakery Lane and three ways to make Cheesecake. A recipe for Lebanese Salad lists eighteen different ingredients (lentils, dill pickles and anchovies in the same dish). Though not entirely a vegetarian cookbook, Bakery Lane contains many meatless recipes, and the soup recipes especially rely on vegetable ingredients. Here then, is a chance to sample some new dishes and to support the local small farm vegetable stands this summer.

The editors at Random House have wisely packaged this collection of recipes in a large format, easy to read fashion; there is usually only one recipe per page, printed in big type, so there's no problem if the cookbook is lying on the counter but you are trying to read it while standing at the stove. The "old-fashioned" woodcut engravings throughout the book are appealing, too.

If you've ever left the Soup Kitchen wishing that you knew how to make some of those delicious things in your own kitchen, then here's the book for you.

FINALS WEEK SPECIALS
CAN'T CONCENTRATE?
FREE DELIVERY

THUR MAY 12
1 FREE SMALL PIZZA with any one ingredient w purchase of 2 LARGE PIZZAS

FRI MAY 13
TWO FREE SODAS with ANY LARGE PIZZA

SAT MAY 14
ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE with any LARGE COMBO PIZZA

SUN MAY 15
FREE QUART OF SODA

MON MAY 16
FREE SMALL PIZZA OR SMALL SUB with purchase of 2 LARGE PIZZAS

TUE MAY 17
ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE with any LARGE COMBO PIZZA

WED MAY 18
TWO FREE SODAS with ANY LARGE PIZZA

103
N. Pleasant

HUNGRY-U
256-0474
FINALS WEEK SPECIALS
DELIVERIES ONLY! 256-0473

THURS., MAY 12
1 FREE SMALL PIZZA WITH ANY ONE INGREDIENT W/PURCHASE OF 2 LARGE PIZZAS

FRI., MAY 13
TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA

SAT., MAY 14
ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE WITH ANY LARGE COMBO PIZZA

SUN., MAY 15
TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA

MON., MAY 16
FREE SMALL PIZZA OR SMALL SUB WITH PURCHASE OF 2 LARGE PIZZAS

TUE., MAY 17
ONE FREE SODA & ONE FREE CHEESE CAKE WITH ANY LARGE COMBO PIZZA

WED., MAY 18
TWO FREE SODAS WITH ANY LARGE PIZZA

GHOST TOWN SALE

Every May a student/faculty exodus begins, reducing the population in Amherst by at least 50%! So we must adjust our inventory proportionately to the remaining 18-41 age bracket (the group that buys the most stereo component systems).

Beginning Tuesday and ending Saturday at 5 p.m., we'll offer our entire inventory at drastically reduced prices. Everything is first come, first serve with no rainchecks. Because of publishing deadline all items subject to prior sale. Some quantities limited and we're not responsible for typos.

RECEIVERS

Marantz Model	Sugg. List	SALE
2325	$900	$587
2275	649	468
2250	500	331
2225	369.95	249
JVC
JR-S100	220	171
JR-S200	289	212
JR-S300	429	340
JR-S600	750	500
Sony
STR 3800	299	239
STR 4800	400	329
STR 5800	500	422
STR 6800	600	497
STR 7065	549	299 (demo)
Pioneer
SX 700T	279	67 (used)
SX1000	389	165 (used-mint)
Misc. New
Sherwood 7010A	189	128
Sansui 221	179	125
ERC 1050	149	80

PRE-AMPS 'n' TUNERS

BGW 500D	$995	780
Marantz 510M	999	749
Sony TA 8650v fet	1300	970
Marantz 1060	249	149
Sony TV 3650	300	260
Marantz 1150D (full Dolby)	499	430
Crown IC150	349	184
Marantz 3800 (full Dolby)	599	459
Sony 1066	199	108
Crown D150-used	500	347
Sony ST 295 (Dolby-FM)	220	184
Sony ST 5950 (Dolby-FM)	470	380

TURNTABLES
All prices includes base, cover and either M9IED or Grado F3 + unless indicated.

Philips GA 212	254	149
BIC 960	213	137
BIC 940	199	117
Philips GA 427	155	79
Philips GA 406*	285	157
Sony TT 3300*	315	228
JVC JLA15	180	110
Garrard 440M	128	69
Garrard Zero 100C-used	300	115

* Empire 4000D/1  MA 2002E Pickering v15/ATE

LOUDSPEAKERS We offer in store warranty on all speaker systems sold by us...nothing shipped away.

	sugg. list/pr.	SALE
Epicure 20	$575	$290
Micro-Acoustics Frm-3 (The Bose 301 look-a-likes)	248	160
EPI 100V	200	145 w/full warranty
Frazier Monte Carlo	249	139
Burhoe Model: A	400	280
Marantz HD 55	260	180
Acoustic 10	240	100
Marantz 46	120	80 pr.
EPI 70	140	120 pr
Marantz 46	120	80 pr
Burhoe Blue	500	350
J Electro Voice Interface: A	500	240 (demo)
ADS 500	300	228
Burhoe White	300	225
Burhoe Green	220	175

TAPE, CARTRIDGES, RECORD CARE, MISC.

Cassettes

Maxell UDXL 1 & 2 C90	2.59 ea. (limited supply)
TDK SA C() the best available	3.29 ea.
TDK Audua C90	2.69 ea.
Maxell AVC90 - all purpose cassette	1.38
Maxell AVC 60 - all purpose cassette	99¢

Reel to Reel

TDK Audua L1800	5.79
Maxell UD35-90	5.81
Maxell UD35-180 3,600 ft.	11.74
TDK EC-20S-30S (Answer machine tapes)	3.29
Shure Microphones from $18. to $165.	30% off list

Cartridges

	List
Empire 4000D/1 Shibata/Tip	85.	28.70 ea.
Shure M91ED	54.95	13.95 ea.
Pickering S31	49.95	16.50 ea.
Grado F3+	50.	18.00
Shure M70 EJ	29.9i5	10.00
Grado FCR+	20.	9.00
Shure V15 Type III DU*	75.	21. (limited stock)
Micro Acoustics 2002E	115.	64.50
All stylus for ceramic pckups list to 20.95		2.99
Discwasher Record Cleaner		10.95
Sound Guard Record Preservation Kit		4.95

TELEVISON & VIDEO PRODUCTS

Sony-JVC-DuPont-Advent including Trinitron TV's and Betamax 15% over dealer cost.

THE FINE PRINT

Terms: Cash, Check, Bank Americard 20% downpayment on all lay-aways. Free delivery on all systems dealers will be shot on sight and their money not accepted. All of our visual warranties are in full effect. Additional 3% discount if you buy an entire system. If David says "Can I help you?" - you'll get another $5 off your system.

Open 'til 9, Sat. 'til 5

We service everything we sell

AMHERST AUDIO

in our own service department

586-2552

259 Triangle St., Amherst

549-2610

Concert

(con't from pg. 3)

spirited finale, "Freedom". Sadly, he just ended up being a self-parody.

Pousette-Dart Band — The Pousette-Dart Band has changed very little since I first saw them with Yes two summers ago. They are basically a happy-time, superficial band whose music is frankly dismissable as old Eagles albums. Obviously, they pattern themselves after the Eagles-Ronstadt-Browne palbum, and it's working, judging from their commercial success. Pousette-Dart played a good set and everyone seemed to enjoy them. I, however, grew uneasy and found it more interesting to talk to Procol's Gary Brooker.

Procol Harum — This was the day's first ray of sunshine for me. Long forgotten and long-lost Procol Harum returned to provide an entertaining set of music. Their set consisted of "Bringing Home the Bacon", "Simple Sister", "The Devil Came To Kansa", three new songs off of Something Magic, and the classic "A Whiter Shade of Pale."

But pity poor Procol — their set was cut short to forty minutes because of darkness. All the more disturbing was that Procol was hot and tight. Guitarist Mick Grabham was shooting off nasty guitar leads and soles. Mentor Gary Brooker was in fine vocal shape and his piano work had all the poise and grandeur the name Procel Harum has been associated with. Capping it all off was the new addition of Peter Solley on keyboards, who has since added considerable depth and texture to the live show. Plus B.J. Wilson is still a magnificent drummer.

Salt got to talk with Gary Brooker just before Procol's set and he had some interesting things to say about Procol's future, which is "uncertain". Obviously Procol's downward slide is finally getting to the band. And being in limbo between record companies doesn't help either. Interestingly enough, Gary likes Little Feat and is good friends with Leo Kottke. Procol will also be back for a summer tour, too. Pray for their survival – I think it only a matter of time before the greatness of "live" Procol and studio Procol come together.

Southside Johnny & The Asbury Jukes — The day's headliners, Southside Johnny & The Asbury Jukes provided the concert's musical event. Their synthesis of rhythm and blues and rock hits right on target. As Creem Magazine said, "this is not imitation, they just plunge into it." Southside & The Jukes really did plunge into it. Their set was well rounded, culling equal amounts of material from both albums.

Southside could do no wrong. Even the cool breeze did nothing to affect their performance. If fact they peaked several times — highlights included "This Time It's For Real," Sam Cooke's "Having A Party" and "Stagger Lee." As they did last time they were here, they brought out the marvelous Ronnie Spector, who performed a small set of her hits and her now single, "Goodbye To Hollywood."

Southside's set featured "I Don't Wanna Go Home," title track from their first album. For their final encore, everyone was in a state of eupheria; trading vocals with Ronnie, Southside capped off a brilliant performance that saw him jumping into the audience and the band crashing towards a crazed ending. The sooner they're back, the better.

Spirit Haus
PACKAGE STORE
253-5384
Open Nites 'Till 11 p.m.
We Specialize in Quality Wines
Come in and browse through the largest selection of wine in town. We welcome your questions on wine selection and cheerfully give advice
THANKS FOR YOUR BUSINESS
IMPORTED BEER
TOBY ALE $2.99 SIX
O'VIENNA BEER $2.39 SIX
O'KEEFE ALE $2.39 SIX
STEFFL BEER $3.39 SIX

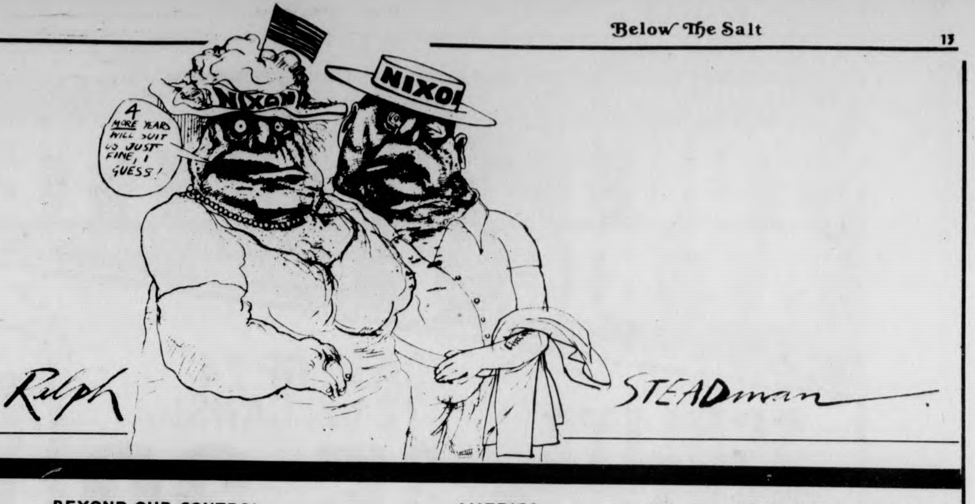
SCHLITZ 6.49 CASE CANS	BUD 6.49 NR BOTTLES	SCHAFFER 5.59 CASE CANS
TUBORG 5.89 CASE CANS	FALSTAFF 5.25 CASE CAN	GOOD LUCK GRADUATES

SODA 4.39# case Pepsi, Cott, Ginger Club & Tonic
338 College St (Rt 9)
Next to Poor Richards

We've lowered our Kodak film prices for spring!!
FOR EXAMPLE:
FX.PX. OR TX
135-20 99¢
FX.PX OR TX
135-36 $1.38
C135-20 $1.40
KR 135
20 exposure $1.86
36 exposure $2.67
PLUS MANY MORE
tripod CAMERA SHOPS
98 N. Pleasant St. Amherst

GOOD LUCK SENIORS!
Ronald J. Nathan Agency
747 Main St., Amherst
256-8351
FIDELITY UNION LIFE
CollegeMaster

Salaried Positions Available at the
MASSACHUSETTS DAILY VOLUME CVI, ISSUE 136 THURSDAY, MAY 5, 1977
weather It will be so rainy that the mice will be hunchback.
Collegian
Student Newspaper of the University of Massachusetts Amherst, MA 01003 (413) 545-3500
NEXT SEMESTER
PRODUCTION/NEWS
ISSUE EDITORS -- Responsible for layout and headline pages. Layout experience helpful, but not necessary. (3-5 positions)
WIRE LAYOUT -- Responsible for laying out and writing headlines for wire pages (New England, national, and ternational news from wire services). Layout experience preferred. (5 positions)
DAY LAYOUT -- To lay out What's Happening, Notices, etc. writing for the news pages once a week. Layout experience a necessity. (5 positions)
PASTE-UP PERSONS -- To paste up Collegian pages at the printer. Experience an absolute necessity. (3-5 positions)
ASSISTANT NEWS EDITOR -- two positions open -- assigns and edits news stories.
EDITORIAL LAYOUT -- two positions. Responsible for laying out the editorial pages two nights a week.
PROOFREADERS -- To proof Collegian copy for typing errors at printer. No experience necessary. (5 positions)
BUSINESS
FINANCE MANAGER -- Responsible for collection of Collegian accounts receivable.
CIRCULATION MANAGER -- Responsible for Collegian daily distribution ® subscribtions.
CLERICAL -- 3 work-study student clerk positions - for general office work.
PLEASE SEE BOB HIGGINS MANAGING EDITOR OR PLEASE SEE TONY ARMELIN BUSINESS MANAGER
ALL MUST BE AVAILABLE TO BEGIN SATURDAY AUGUST 26, 1977 FOR TRAINING & ORIENTATION
CALL 545-3500



4 MORE YEARS WILL SUIT US JUST FINE, I GUESS!
NIXON
NIXON
Ralph STEADman

AMERICA

BEYOND CONTROL

By Debbie Schafer and E. Patrick McQuaid

BEYOND OUR CONTROL
America in the Mid Seventies
By Tom Englehardt
Photographs by Peter Whitney
Riverrun Press
189 pgs. $4.95

AMERICA
By Ralph Steadman
Random House —
Rolling Stone
$6.95 paper

"...counting the cars on the New Jersey turnpike, they've all come to look for America."
—Paul Simon

+++

We live in the age of the anti-hero, and the Great American Dream has instead become the Great American Nightmare.

There was, during the late 1960's, a wave of optimism and hope among "the Love Generation"; with it came a wave of optimistic literature. But now most people have tossed aside their copies of The Greening of America, and the starry-eyed optimists have been replaced by forecasters of doom. It seems that the people who swore "we can change the world" have disappeared or have simply given up.

With this change in attitude comes a new literature, a literature of despair, and instead of The Greening of America we begin to see the opposite extreme in books such as Beyond Our Control.

Beyond Our Control is a very disturbing book. There is at times a very fine line between having a genuine awareness of social ills and simply wallowing in self-pity. Author Tom Englehardt steps back and forth over this line so many times in Beyond Our Control that the reader is bound to react with mixed emotions.

Englehardt is sent to "tap the mood of the nation" (p.1) by means of a cross country auto trip and Beyond Our Control is the journal of that trip, a depressing one indeed. The author, it seems, is annoyed with life and sets out to find others who feel the same.

It is no surprise to us that Englehardt and photographer-companion Peter Whitney find "a population of disoriented nomads" (p. 1) on the road they travel. They certainly look in all of the right places: a laundromat, a skid row hotel, Yellowstone Park, a funeral home and a carnival freak show (just to name a few).

The choice of subjects seems more a result of Englehardt's inner turmoil than an attempt to honestly "tap the mood of the nation": "I'm floating along unsure of my connection with the people we're interviewing and the places we're passing through; yet I've begun to feel that this trip's bringing my feelings closer to the surface." (p. 52). Beyond Our Control is full of introspective musings like that, and as a whole it says more about the author than it says about the nation.

The writing is a curious mixture that at times reads like cheap fiction and at other times like a "man in the street" interview, with an occassional bit of real insight thrown in. There are moments of (unintentional, I'm sure) comic relief — "We each lean on a coffin and begin to talk" — that leave the reader wondering what Englehardt will say next. The "interviews" become repetitive and boring with the author and his subjects taking turns hopping onto their soapboxes.

Throughout the book, the people being interviewed consistently lack depth. It seems as though they are not real people but merely cliche-spewing recordings that Englehardt uses to prove his point; his point being to show "...the increasing corporate control not just of people on the job, but on their vacations, in their leisure hours."

Perhaps we are increasingly becoming the victims of "corporate control", but Englehardt's presentation does little to convince us of this. Instead, we are simply left feeling sorrier for the author than for ourselves. His manipulation of his subject is evident, and his interviews serve only to provide actual quotations to back up his obviously pre-fabricated conclusions.

The photographs by Peter Whitney are perhaps more interesting than the text which they serve to illustrate. With a style akin to Bill Owens (Suburbia) Whitney adds much to the book with his portraits. My only complaint with the photos is that there were not enough of them.

Though it has many faults, Beyond Our Control is not a book to be dismissed and Tom Englehardt does have a few pointed observations about the way we live. Read the book closely. If nothing else, Beyond Our Control is sure to be a lively topic of conversation among those who have read it, regardless of their political or social persuasion.

The book and the cross country trip are perhaps summed up best by the author who labels the experience his "...own Last Tango across the country."

> "He undoubtedly will be on the Enemy List of everyone who keeps an Enemy List."
>
> —M.C. Kostek

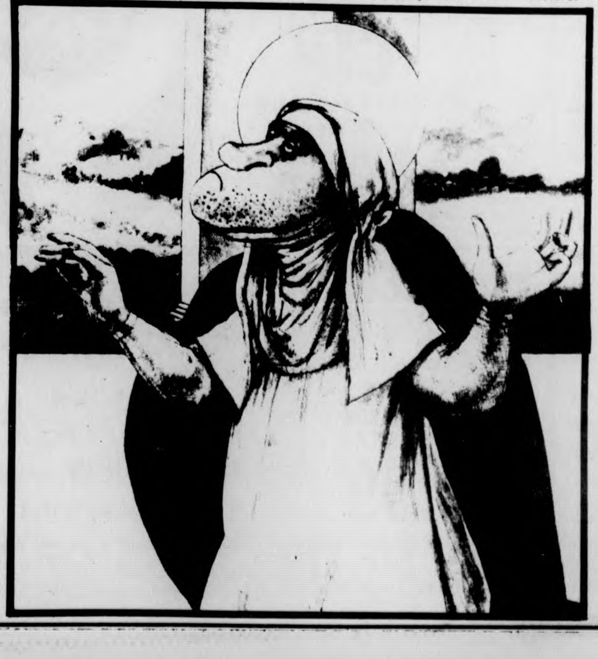
+++



Ruthlessly real—that's Ralph Steadman. For those of you who may have accompanied Dr. Hunter S. Thompson on his savage journey into the heartland of America several years ago in Rolling Stone, Steadman's illustrated chronicles are well known material.

The 41-year-old Englishman has visited the United States only four times in his life — the 1969 Kentucky Derby, the 1970's America's Cup Race in Newport, the 1972 Democratic Convention, and the 1973 Watergate hearings. With each visit Steadman recorded these events in his particular and peculiar form of illustration: straight, clean lines, circles, and other geometric patterns topped off with outrageous splotches and ink blots spat from his pen and seemingly uncontrollable imagination.

Steadman is the future of political cartooning. His keen eye and ability to dig at the finer details puts him in a class of journalism by himself. During the Miami Convention of 1972 he and Hunter Thompson were the only in their fields to chronicle the destructive evil, the coniving backroom, backstabbing and cut throat politicing that went on before the American public and behine-the-scenes. The culmination of this period is perhaps Steadman's Nixon-Godzilla caricature; the Nixonbeast clutching a young American soldier in one claw and a manuscript reading "Peace in our time with honour."

Hunter Thompson first met Ralph Steadman in 1969 at the Kentucky Derby. Thompson needed an artist "with a really peculiar sense of humor, because this is going to be a very twisted story. It'll require somebody with a serious kink in his brain."

Thompson recalls in the introduction to America, "Ralph was a day late; he checked into the wrong room, at the wrong hotel...this was his first visit to this country, by the way, the Kentucky Derby. He's had four basic reasons for coming to this country, which might explain something about the nature of the drawings in this book...That's a pretty heavy series of shocks, I think, for an artist in his late twenties who never wanted to work over here in the first place."

America was first released in 1974 as a hardback at $19.95 and is now in oversized paperback, complete for $6.95. It is not necessarily a pessimistic view of our times, it is simply a hard hitting, ruthlessly realistic chronicle of America's 60's, 70's, and maybe even 80's. Grabbing at fragments from the declining years of the 60's Steadman records in his short introduction to the section of the Miami Convention: "We shall overcome. Broken hoping faces. A melting pot of humanity without a foundation. Hope — not a hope in hell — The sadness and defeat of the great American Dream is written all over the middle-American plastic smile."

Ralph Steadman, a poet in his own right, "Gardening" editor for Rolling Stone, illustrator, analyst, historian, and prophet. Steadman's work is alive and living in the pages of our dailies; though that's not quite where you'll find them, just the raw material that is the stuff of his pen-and-inks. Unlike the exhausted Englehardt and Whitney of Beyond Our Control, who petered out after their odyssey, Steadman is ready to make the trip again and well-armed with as poison a pen as ever blotted its way from sea to shining sea.

FOR QUALITY WINES, BEER AND LIQUORS...
YOU'LL DO BETTER AT BIG 'Y'
COMPARE!! WHY PAY MORE ELSEWHERE?

SCHLITZ BEER
CASE OF 24 12 oz. CANS!
WHY PAY $7.50
$5.39

CALVERT EXTRA WHISKEY
BLENDED 80 Proof HALF GALLON
Why pay $12.85?
9.59

Schlossgarten LEIBFRAU-MILCH
Why Pay 2.39?
$1.59 Fifth

KAHLUA COFFEE LIQUEUR
53 proof FIFTH
Why pay $9.45?
6.99

SEAGRAM V.O.
BLENDED 86.8 Proof
CANADIAN WHISKEY
Why pay $7.77?
FIFTH
5.99

80 proof...quart...by GALLO
E & J BRANDY
Why Pay $6.99?
4.99

MATTINGLY & MOORE BOURBON
80 Proof HALF GALLON
Why pay $12.15?
8.99

SEAGRAM Extra Dry GIN
HALF GALLON 80 Proof
Why pay $12.19?
8.88

d'amour's BIG

SMIRNOFF VODKA
80 Proof HALF GALLON
Why pay $13.49?
10.29

McGREGOR SCOTCH
80 Proof HALF GALLON
Why Pay $10.59?
8.59

WINES & LIQUORS AT LOW PRICES!
3 convenient locations ... all next to BIG 'Y'
• HAMP PLAZA KING STREET ROUTE 5 NORTHAMPTON
• FAIRVIEW ROUTE 33 MEMORIAL DRIVE BIG Y's SHOPPING CENTER
• BRECKWOOD WILBRAHAM ROAD SPRINGFIELD

"BEST WISHES TO THE CLASS OF 77"

DREAMRISE
BY Omdra 6
267 pages

By Thomas Crowley

I am, by nature, a practical man. Even though I enjoy reading Science Fiction (quite a bit of it), I am still a practical man.

So I have a problem visualizing what will happen in the far future. I don't mean the reasonable future — a hundred years or so — but the end of time where the sun is about to extinguish and humankind has been around for four billion years. I have trouble there. So does Omdra 6 in his novel, Dreamrise.

That's why his main society, the Milotians, are mirrors of Victorian Britain or America. I am a little sceptical of a group of humans picking that particular era and culture to freeze its society in. It helps get his point across, that society must be flexible, but bothers the reader to some extent.

An era dominated by strict etiquette, band concerts, and a very staid society is not one, I suppose, many people would choose as their own.

True, Omdra 6 does it with a purpose, but he doesn't have to do it with a vengeance. The main character, Dulcey Tompkins, narrates the tale through her eyes, and after a while I began to dislike very much some of the things she said. According to her, the best thing in life is to marry, cook, have babies, and embroider. He's setting the reader up, but he goes a little too far.

Because of this he nearly loses the reader. His style gets in the way. He pays far too great attention to little, unnecessary details. Dulcey also narrates about the society too much; the action should have brought out details of the society.

The plot structure also hinders the beginning of the novel. Dulcey began with a discussion of the Anddonons, the other culture on the planet, which does not really have an intimate part of book.

Omdra 6 also confused me by talking about Anddonons, the other society who chose progress over stagnation. I got the feeling the novel would turn into one of those classic technology-vs.-non-technology," somewhat like Ray Bradbury. He gave off little clues like he was going to, but he changed his theme, it seemed, and chose to discuss how a society can avoid its problems and ultimately destroy itself by internal pressure.

There is no real conflict, so the beginning is rather boring.

Now with all this against it, you'll probably wonder who could finish the book?

Easy, the book got better. Once the conflict entered the novel, the destruction of the Milotian society, the pace improved.

The destructive force, inherent in the society and personified by Axtra, (the villain) begins slowly to tear apart itself and that's where it gets interesting. Destruction and bad news are always more interesting than sugar and light, which the novel started out with. Just read the newspaper or Dante's Inferno.

Omdra 6 finally got a clear idea of where he was going and the plot improved.

Omdra 6 also de-mystified what ideas and themes he was trying to bring out. The ideas got interesting.

The society began to tear itself up because it couldn't handle the pressure of knowing of its impending doom. It avoided the truth about its future.

The society, which had four billion years to handle. It, could not cope with death. It hid itself in images of the past.

Overall, it's an adequate first attempt. The ideas were good, when Omdra 6 got around to them. The author just has to become more concise in his writing and plan out his novels more carefully. Otherwise, if he doesn't improve in the future, the adequate first attmept will become a boring rerun.

(The author could not get his novel printed through a publisher, so he printed it himself.)

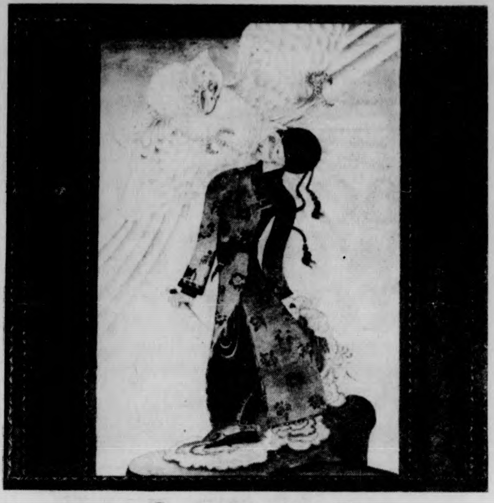
HOW REAL IS REAL?
By Paul Watzlawick
Vintage Books
256 pgs. $2.95

By Michael P. Doran

This book, as the author puts it, is "an anecdotal introduction to communications theory." The format used reminds one of a Neil Simon comedy. First there is the set up for the joke, then comes the joke, and then back to another set up. As with such a play, the humor in the book dictates the content, making for a not so successful book on communications theory. Even when this format works for his subject you don't learn a hell of a lot about the subject that any literate person hasn't picked up for himself or read in another place.

An example of the problems with the book comes in the first chapter on confusion. First the writer tells us that confusion has its benefits. Then the author gives us the example (anecdote?) of people laughing at you when you walk into a room. Then he proceeds to spell out for us that the lesson to be learned from such an encounter is that you are made to be curious about your surroundings when something about them confuses you, and this is good. The problem is that every cliche-sodden professor that ever lived has said, at least once, that curiosity is beneficial. These problems are evident in the rest of the book. I think the trouble is that Watzlawick tried to sandwich trite anecdotes with some serious conclusions.

The title of the book suggests a question that the author merely touches on (God knows he didn't have much room with all the other questions he touches on). In effect he tells us that we are in no better position to judge reality than the fish in the River Liffey. This may be true but it is also a subject in itself. I think the author sums up this sorry attempt himself in his forward where he states that the book is "meant to demonstrate something, to translate it into more familiar language, but not necessarily to prove something."



BOOKS

THE UNKNOWN PAINTINGS OF KAY NIELSEN
Peacock Press — Bantam Book
96 pgs....$7.95 Edited by David Larkin

By Debbie Schafer

Kay Nielsen (1886 — 1957) was a Danish artist who became known to many through his illustrations for children's books, and whose works have appeared many times in posters and calendars. Now, twenty years after his death, Bantam books has published twenty major unknown works by Nielsen in a large format paperbacks edition entitled The Unknown Paintings of Kay Nielsen.

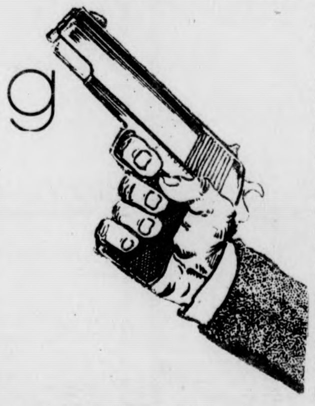
These twenty paintings were completed by Nielsen between 1918 — 1922 for a Danish translation of A Thousand and One Nights which was never published. The original art was first exhibited at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art in the late 1940's. For safekeeping, the art was turned over by Nielsen's widow to Hildegarde and Frederick Monhoff, who later brought it to the attention of Peacock Press-Bantam.

Also included in this volume of never-before-published works are twenty full color plates showing detail from the original paintings complete with their black and white decorative borders, plus the original introductory chapter headings.

Nielsen, who studied art in Paris, was influenced by the works of Aubrey Beardsley and to an extent by Japanese woodcut landscapers. His style, however, it uniquely his own. The full color reproductions in Unknown Paintings are exquisite and worth your attention, especially if you are interested in the current trend of fantasy in literature and illustration.

Peacock — Bantam has previously published a volume entitled Kay Nielsen, which contains some of the better known Nielsen illustrations also in full color. Both books are available through the University Store.

Pumping Pulp



By E. Patrick McQuaid

Auberlae Arbersharber sat quietly at his oak desk drawing on a home rolled cigarette. He never bought packaged brands; that's how the last man who occupied this office had met his fate. He blew a ring of grey smoke into the air. It was quickly dispersed by the overhead fan.

The phone on his desk rang twice. He took another drag and checked his .38. It rang once again. He snuffed out the butt and crowned his sweating brow with a Panama hat as the office door slammed behind him.

"Where's the rest of it?" grunted Archibald Beest as he flipped a cigarette off his finger tips across his desk and into a dripping sink in the corner of an office that he shared with twenty-six other editors.

"Well, I..." I stammered. He began mumbling and patting the outside of his jacket pockets, pulled open his desk drawer and finally sang out: "Brogi! Brogi! Get in her ya stinkin' bastid!"

The door swept open and a loosened-tie, rolled white sleeved, and clean-shaven, young copy editor answered "Yes, chief?"

"No butts!" snapped Beest. "Ya know how I get when I don't have my butts! Don't show ya mug in this office till ya come back with some...and a black coffee!"

"Right away, chief!"

A moment later I could see him through the office window crossing the busy street below. Brakes screeching, horns honking, he forced his way through the traffic and disappeared under a drug store awning. Meanwhile Beest was thumbing through the rest of my manuscripts.

"Tell me somethin' kid...where'd you get my name?"

I cleared my throat: "Wr...Wri... Writer's Market 1977."

"I'm listed in that?" He gazed out the window and exhaled slowly, "Cheeze...hows 'bout that." He snapped himself back from his daydreaming and said, "Well, that's a point in your favor at least...but why'd ya stop there?"

He read the puzzled expression on my face and answered, "Here, kid," then reached down into the bottom drawer of his desk and waved a purple book in my direction. "Thumb through this why don'tcha." I accepted the volume entitled Mystery Writer's Handbook and opened the inside flap.

"Same people put it out, what're they called, Writer's Digest I think. Yeah...best $8.95 you'll ever invest, kid. Now if you'd had that ya wouldn't have passed in a lead like this one," he crumpled the first page to my novel and shot it into an overflowing barrel. It rolled off onto the floor. "Ya wouldn't pester me with these unbelieveable characters," page two took the same route. "Or this choppy prose," the third page managed to settle on top of the pile. "You'd know all the right questions to ask me..."

Brogi returned with his coffee and cigarettes. He lit one, too a single, long drag and deposited it into the untouched steaming black coffee. "Reading your stuff has given me an ulcer, kid. Ya think I need this java to finish me off?"

He shook his head. "You young punks think you know it all, don'tcha...you don't know...you think you can write pulp? Do ya? Ha! You don't know what real pulp is. Real good pulp!"

He sent Brogi out for another black coffee while he rummaged through his bottom drawer again. Mumbling, then finally slapping down a large paperback on his desk. Eight Dime Novels it read atop an old Nick Carter illustration.

"That's real pullllp!" he said, eyes bulging. I thought he would give himself a stroke. He tapped the cover with his finger, pointed like a pistol, and drilled into me: "Deadwood Dick...(tap-tap) Old King Brady...(tap) Nick Carter...PULP!" he screamed. "PULP!" His taps had become loud bangs.

He was glaring at me so I turned to the window and noticed Brogi looking up at the office shading his eyes.

"PULLLLLP! (BANG!)" He sat back in his swivel chair. "Gone are the days," he sighed.

"Well," I said turning to him. "I, ah, I thank you for your advice...your time, sir." I nodded to him a few times and began to write down the two titles. "Mystery Writer's Handbook, by the Mystery Writers of America, Writer's Digest, $8.95...Eight Dime Novels, edited by E.F. Bleiler, Dover Books, $3.50". I glanced up from my writing. He was dead.

I crumpled up the list I had just made and shot it into the barrel where the remains of my manuscript lay scattered. I slipped the two books into my briefcase; he wouldn't be needing them any longer. I took his cigarettes too. I passed Brogi in the hall; that was the first time I ever drank it black.

TELL YOUR BOSS WHERE TO GO....

SUBWAY

Famous Giant Foot-Long Sandwiches

GOOD LUCK ON EXAMS

....for lunch

OPEN in front of THE PUB

33 E. Pleasant St. 549-5160

OPEN LATE 7 DAYS A WEEK

To Those Whom I have not yet met,

If you are looking for a unique gift, I can help you. Bring me your fantasies and I will design a piece to your individual taste. Be picky! There are hundreds of gems to choose from. A Jasper collection so graphic you will not believe it is a natural stone. Wedding rings wrought to fit your individual finger. Our aim is to satisfy your needs, be it a single diamond stud or a crescendo of three different sizes for your left ear.

We are reasonably priced, though you will find seemingly extravagant individuality in our collection of crafts, including ceramics, blown glass and other media.

Hoping to see you soon,
Denis

custom design wedding rings unique gifts for someone special

silverscape designs

jewelry crafts | goldsmithing repairs

264 no. pleasant st. amherst 253 3324

Three Hot Ones

By Bill Parent

This past weekend, the International Folkdancing Society presented three plays by Terence MacNally; Next, Sweet Eros, and Noon.

The performances by the local actors, under the direction of Wayne Tiffany, proved to be quality interpretation of contemporary one-act drama.

The first play, Next, deals with an army induction physical during the sixties. Joan Lockhart as the Army doctor is convincing as an icy bitch, whose job is to inspect and probe the physical and mental qualities of neurotic draftee, Marion Cheever. At first, Cheever, not the most stable personality, is intent on flunking the physical, but after he succeeds, he is left feeling, (one thinks for the umpteenth time in his life) that he was been rejected again.

The second play, Sweet Eros, is the weakest of the three. The entire play consists of a monologue by Joe Keegan, who plays a young man who has abducted a woman and intends to keep her as a friend and mistress. The monologue deals with the man's rationalization of his act and, in fact, his life. Keenen lacks the animation needed to make the character of the man come to life, and without that animation the audience is left with a series of philosophical one liners leading nowhere.

The last play, Noon, is by far, the finest of the three. The entire company takes part and leaves the audience believing that the previous two plays were merely warm-up exercises for Noon.

The play concerns five urban sexual neurotics who answer an underground newspaper ad for a noon sexual rendezvous but find that the placer of the ad, a non person named Dale, merely wanted to gather a really strange group with varying prurient interests.

Donald Ziff, a local high school student steals the show as a flaming queer off to blow his lunchhour (Ahem) on a person named Dale.

He is joined by a young, sensitive English major convincingly played by Keenan from Columbia seeking to lose his virginity and discuss Proust with a woman named Dale. As Kerry almost succeeds in seducing the young poet, (who has passed out on coke), Allegra, a frustrated wife of a Flushing lawyer (played by Jane Stueberg) comes looking for a young stud named Dale. Then the tour de force occurs when Joan Lockhart and Brian Eagen, playing a suburban couple into S and M, come to beat on the missing Dale. Eagen is very fine as the closet SS officers.

Throughout Noon, the lines come quick, the blocking is superb and the result is quality comedy.

To the cast, a mysterious group of locals — Encore.

Basic Training

(con't from pg. 4)

part of a government-sponsored program similar to emissions control."

"What in HELL do you think you're doing?" Bernie stood directly behind Jack. His face was unnaturally white. Jack pivoted, unable to rid himself of his grin on such short notice.

"This customer," Johnny began but stopped as he saw the customer's face. The customer turned his face away so Jack wouldn't see the laughter he suppressed. The joke had gone too far. "He doesn't want his dog," Jack said miserably.

"Oh, is he going to buy another one?"

"No. At least not unless he can get something for that one." The German shepherd sat on its posterior, arching its neck so it could scratch with its hind legs. It might have been saying, "Don't look at me, man."

"You were going to give him credit on his dog?" Bernie shouted without raising his voice.

"No, I wasn't." Jack couldn't help it. He began to laugh hystericaly. Bernie, seeing that there were no customers unattended and realizing this customer had not been mistreated, turned and waved at the air behind him. He wondered at their sense of propriety.

CUSTOM CLASSICS quality, hand crafted sandals made to order.

tops & straps guaranteed for life

The Leather & Tack People

J. Delano Leathersmith & Co

11E. Pleasant Amherst 549-6049 next to Lafayette

THURSDAY
The Full Length
Uncut
WIZARD OF OZ
THURS., MAY 12, 1977
CCA 7, 9, 11 $1.00

MOUNTAIN FARMS 4
584-9153 MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL
ROUTE 9—HADLEY, MASS

"MADDER, FUNNIER, MORE INSPIRED THAN ANYTHING BEING DONE IN MOVIES TODAY."
—Jay Cocks, TIME MAGAZINE

YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN

1 PG Wed. 6:00,8:15
Twi-liter 5:30-6:00

3 WINNER OF ACADEMY AWARDS!

His whole life was a million-to-one shot.

ROCKY

2 PG Wed. 5:45, 8:00
Twi-liter 5:15-5:45

Carney's back and Tomlin's got him!

The Late Show

FINAL WEEK!

3 PG Wed. 6:00,8:15
Twi-liter 5:30-6:00

4 WINNER OF ACADEMY AWARDS!

Prepare yourself for a perfectly outrageous motion picture.

MGM presents NETWORK

FAYE DUNAWAY WILLIAM HOLDEN PETER FINCH ROBERT DUVALL

4 R Wed. 5:45,8:00
Twi-liter 5:15-5:45

REDUCED ADULT & STUDENT PRICES FOR TWI LITE SHOW TICKETS... LIMITED TO SEATING feel free!

Join us for lively learning this summer with the Credit-Free Workshop program—two sessions are lined up, the first beginning May 24. Send for our complete catalog: Credit-Free Workshop Catalog, P. O. Box 835, Amherst MA 01002, or call us at (413) 545-3410.

If academic credit is not a concern, this is the place for you—feel free!

summer credit-free workshops:

Patchwork, Cartoon Art, Crewel, Creative Stitchery, Needlepoint and Blackwork, Drawing in Color, Fine Arts for Children, Gravestone Rubbings, Intermediate Weaving, Matting/Mounting Fine Art Work, Pottery, Print Collecting/Appreciation, Puppetry, Studio Painting, Oriental Rugmaking, Wood/Linoleum Block Printing, Woodworking/Design/Construction of Furniture, Assertiveness Training for Men and Women, Bookkeeping/Accounting Systems for Small Business, Developing Consulting Skills, Personal Financial Management/Accounting, Running for Public Office, Ballet—Beginning and Intermediate, Dance Exercise, Jazz Dance, Modern Dance—Beginning and Intermediate, Tap Dancing—Beginning and Intermediate, Acupuncture Massage, Macrobiotic/Natural Food Cooking, Oriental Palm/Face Reading, Methane Gas From Waste, Living with Shortages in the Connecticut Valley, Colonial Restoration/Interior Decorating, Design/Build Your Own Home, Designing Your Own Solar Greenhouse, Home Buyers' Workshop, Real Estate, Large and Small Animal Management for the Self-Sufficient Farm/Homestead, Fiddle Workshop, Folk Guitar Finger Style, Jazz/Improvisational Violin, Jazz/Rock Guitar, Sign Language/Finger Style, American Sign Language—Advanced, Literary Analysis of Eastern/Western Religious Texts, Creative Poetry Workshop, Grassroots Publishing, Logic of Poetry, Buddhist Insight Meditation, Creative Movement, Dreams/Dream Interpretation, Eurhythmics, Guide to Better Health Care, Living with Your Teenager, Managing Yourself Creatively, Self Defeat/Self Realization, Basic News/Public Affairs Photography, Basic Photography, 35mm Camera Workshop, LSAT Workshop, Porch Index of Communicative Abilities, Hatha Yoga, Kundalini Yoga, Staff Survival in Alternative Agencies, Hot Air Ballooning, Local Flora, Tropical Plant Families and Their Culture, Special Education—Para-professional Training, and Elderhostel Workshops.

ce
DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS/AMHERST

FRIDAY
Walt Disney's
Peter Pan
in animation
FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1977
CCA 7, 8:30, 10, 11:30
$1.00

OUR WISH FOR THE CLASS OF 1977.

May the road
rise up to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the sun shine warm
upon your face,
And the rain fall soft
upon your fields,
And until we meet again,
May God hold you
in the palm of His hand.

an old Irish verse

The Paper Clip Ltd.

25 S. Pleasant St., Amherst
"at the lights," downtown
256-8598

Schedule for Refrigerator Pickup

Look for Red or White Van

THURSDAY, MAY 12

Creative Conveniences

9-11 a.m.	"The Bowl" at Orchard Hill
11-12 noon	VAN METER front entrance
12:30-1:30 p.m.	CASHIN service entrance
1:30-2:15 p.m.	McNAMARA service entrance
2:15-3:30 p.m.	BROWN service entrance
3:30-4:00	JOHNSON service entrance
4:00-4:15	LEWIS service entrance
4:30-5:00	MARY LYON service entrance
5:00-5:30	KNOWLTON service entrance
5:30-5:45	HAMLIN
5:45-6:00	LEACH
6:00-6:15	DWIGHT
6:30-7:00	between BAKER and CHADBOURNE
7:00-7:30	between BROOKS and BRETT
7:30-8:00	WHEELER
8:00-8:30	GORMAN

FRIDAY, MAY 13

9-11 a.m.	between JQA and John Adams
11-12 a.m.	Prince
1-2:30 p.m.	between JFK and Coolidge
2:30-3:00 p.m.	Washington
3:00-3:30	Mackimmie
3:30-4:15	Crampton
4:15-5:00	Cance

Those who are unable to be present at those times are asked to call 253-5384.

A $2.50 fine for unclean refrigerator.

Farewell To All, See Y'all Next Fall

Well it's that time again when we round everything up for that last swing. So without any further adieu, here's my last swing.

As far as your summer listening is concerned, there are a few items that are absolutely necessary additions to your collections. So here's the scoop on a few already released things, some new releases and a few things to look out for.

To begin with, since Teddy Pendergrass left Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes, they no longer deserve that special place in your heart. Mr. Pendergrass is on his own now and his "debut" LP is the joint.

Also look out for Sharon Page (the talented female voice in the Blue Notes' hit — "You Know How To Make Me Feel So Good") as she's soon going to take her own solo shot.

A couple of classics — Arthur Prysock's LP "All my Life" and the Trammps' new-old LP "Disco Champs". Prysock's lp includes his classic — "When Love Is New" while "Disco Champs" is a combination of previously released sides and a few that were never commercially released. Included here are their monster "Where Do We Go From Here" and the old - but - never - released "Promise Me" which features Jimmy Ellis (vocalist) in one of his finer moments. Also along the classic line is Lou Rawl's LP — "Unmistakably Lou". This LP features Rawls' classic "Mr. Easy" style.

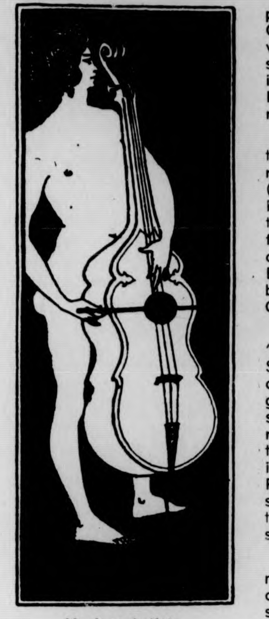
Along the Baddass Street Funk line, Slave seems to be the fore-runner as far as LPs go, but Cameo, with their single, "Rigor Mortis" has got to be the meanest funk out there. For you sophisticated funky folks, put the T Connection, Dexter Wansel and the Players' Association LPs all onto your "must list".

Before closing, let me congratulate Shalamar on their Motown medley "Uptown Festival". Also in the Motown remake dept. is the very strong rendition of "My Cherie Amour" done by the "Soul Train Gang". Congratulations on these two are also due to Simon Soussan, the mixer-consultant on the sides.

Kind of early to say so, but the joint for this summer could be the new BT Express LP "Function at the Junction" or the upcoming "Parliament Live" album. The Parliament LP should be exciting to say the least. These picks could be cancelled out by an Earth, Wind and Fire release (the summer is their creative season) or by an LP from Garnett Mimms & The Truckin' Company whose current single "What It Is" is tearing both the dance floors and R&B radio. All I'll say is that they are to be watched for.

Well that's it, have a good summer doin' whatever you do and I'll see y'all in September. Until then, don't be a fool and keep cool, and above all enjoy yourself.

—Mario A. Barros
aka "Dr. Love"



Various Artists
Phil Spector's Greatest Hits
(Warners)

Greatest Hits albums are often an easy shuck on the public, for all a company does is repackage material off of a band's previous albums and rake in the loot as the adoring public picks them up. It isn't often that a Greatest Hits package makes any real impression beyond an 'In Concert' radio replay of hits. This one does. As a nostalgia package, Phil Spector's Greatest Hits makes all the vinyl available on 'not sold in stores' TV ads junk. This is an in-depth treatment of one of Rock's central figures as revealed by his artists.

The period that the songs on this amazing album cover ranges from September, 1958 (the Teddy Bears doing "To Know Him is To Love Him," a title Spector copped from his father's tombstone) to those classics by the Righteous Brothers, and "Black Pearl" by Sonny James and the Checkmates (March, 1969).

The famous, the legendary 'Wall of Sound' technique that Spector developed defined a decade of Rock music's growth. Bridging the considerable gap between the rough R&B of the Fifties and the growing pains that evolved into 'the English Invasion,' Phil Spector developed various singing groups, studio technique, and the art of the hit single.

Liner notes, inside album notes, and individual song comments give a full perspective of what Phil was doing. Listening, I tingle with the kind of inebriation one gets when drinking the heady wine of sweet memories. Beyond being music that made milestones, I am nodding and saying "I remember."

The only question I might ask here is why an album like this was so long in coming. Thank you, Warners, thank you Phil Spector and your artists-interpreters: The Ronettes, the Crystals, Gene Pitney, Ike & Tina Turner, the Righteous Bros., and countless others.

— Craig Roche

BACKMAN-TURNER OVERDRIVE
Freeways
(Mercury)

Unlike most critics, I never was one to look down upon BTO for their unoriginal style; plain and simple rock and roll is meant to be just that and nothing more. With imitation being the sincerest form of flattery, I always felt that the quartet knew what they were capable of and carried it off well enough. But judging from the latest release, Freeways, BTO has just about reached the end of the line. Randy Bachman and company have seemingly run out of cheap (but acceptable) imitations which, in the past, ran the gamut from The Who to Lou Reed. This album has nothing on it to boast about as the band doesn't even come close to laying down any of the real hard drivin' rock ripoffs which had become their trademark. Thusly, Freeways seems to be without any aim; it is totally devoid of direction.

There are a few acceptable rockers such as the title track, "Shotgun Rider," and "My Wheels Won't Turn," but for the most part this disc offers conclusive proof that BTO is a group which has outlived its usefulness. Most of the songs are overly repetitive and drag on too long, as if their sole purpose is simply to fill two sides of plastic and nothing more.

—Ross Nerenberg

We at Below The Salt would greatly appreciate your comments and criticisms. Please fill out this brief survey and drop it in the campus mail.

How much of the magazine did you read on the average?

All of it____Most of it____Very little of it____Only what interested me____

What area of Below The Salt did you find most appealing?
(ie: Theatre, Art, Poetry, Film, Fiction, Dance, Music, Records, Books, Food and Dining Out)

What would you like to see more of in Below The Salt? Less of?

Did you like the 'looks' of the magazine this semester?
What in particular?

Did you like the overall quality of writing?

BELOW THE SALT ROOM 113 CAMPUS CENTER CAMPUS MAIL

Clip and fold Clip and fold Clip and fold

Lyrical Music For The Lazy Summertime

BARRY MILES & CO.
Sky Train
(RCA)

Barry Miles is really into jazz. Since he was a child he's been playing with the finest jazz musicians. Barry creates his own unique brand of "fusion music" by interposing his arsenal of keyboards with the standard jazz rock ensemble, as well as a large brass section. The result is a nice blend of simple melodies and complex interwoven textures. This music is not typical Mahavishnu type fusion, but instead an original style developed by Miles as far back as 1964.

Sky Train is at times even more exciting than Magic Theatre, the 1975 London release recorded by Barry Miles' Silverlight. Terry Silverlight, Miles' drummer, as well as younger brother, is the only holdover from that album. Anthony Jackson, Vic Juris, and Eric Kloss are added on bass, guitar, and alto sax in that order. The band is always tight, especially on the twenty minute "Cityscape" which was written originally in 1973 for a PBS TV broadcast.

This piece, which was conducted by Phil Woods, presents an incredible mixture of styles making the form undefinable. The title track, "Relay", and "Big A" also display the musical prowess of Miles and Co. Miles plays both acoustic piano and electronic keyboards with exceptional ability. If you're not familiar with this artist, it might pay off to investigate.

—Tom Aversa

THE SWEET
Off the Record
(Capitol)

Back in '73-'74 there were many British artists who were big stars in their native country but couldn't catch on in America, because they rocked too hard for Top 30 but didn't conform to so-called "progressive" radio's narrow-minded standards. Slade, Sparks, Suzi Quatro, Roxy Music, Mott the Hoople, David Bowie, Sweet, Gary Glitter — remember glitter rock? These artists have all fared differently: Roxy and Mott achieved minor breakthroughs but then broke up, Slade and Sparks are still trying but their inspiration seems to have dried up, and God knows what has happened to Suzi Q and Gary. Only Bowie got to the top over here, and he has stayed there by continually putting his music through ch-ch-changes.

As for the Sweet, they finally achieved hits on both the AM and FM dials in '75 with "Ballroom Blitz", "Fox on the Run" and the album Desolation Boulevard. But that album was a comilation of their best tracks from the last couple of years. They then severed their ties with their writer-producers Chinn and Chapman and began to go downhill. Their next single, "Action", although possibly their best record ever, inexplicably stiffed, so there was little demand for the LP it came from, Give Us a Wink. And that album and the tour that went along with it showed that they need Chinn and Chapman. Off the Record continues their descent into a competent but faceless heavy metal band, with strong influences from Deep Purple and on Queen. And their one deviation from the formula, "Funk It Up", is into another genre that has also reached a dead end.

When Sweet achieved their breakthrough over here, rock and roll fans cheered, both for the group and for the airwaves, thinking it a major victory. Well now, anyone stuck in a car in 1977 can hear just how little ground we've gained with the radio. And little did we know that the Sweet were on the verge of obsolesence. In a Sex Pistols and Television world, they are an anachronism. Stay tuned to find out if they have the versatility to pull a Bowie.

— Perry Adler

METALLIC KO
Iggy and the Stooges
(Skydog)

"I'd like to introduce a song that was co-written by my mother. It's called "I Got My Cock In My Pocket." One, two, fuck you pricks..."I got my cock in my pocket and I'm breezin' down the old highway."

Metallic KO answers the musical question, "Can an album with one entirely unlistenable side still be one of the greatest rock 'n roll albums ever? The answer is yes, if the other side is so good that it makes you want to kill.

Side one, which includes "Raw Power," "Gimme Danger," and "Hold On," would be great-----if we could hear the damn thing. The versions of the formerly mentioned two cuts are little better than on Raw Power, and "Head On" is not a great enough song to warrant trying to pull it out of the muck under which it is buried. The side, therefore, is not worth the damage it could do to your ears. Go, instead, immediately to side two.

Opens with "Rich Bitch." Might very well be Iggy's greatest song. Might be, except that the next number, "Cock In My Pocket," is even better. I cannot think of a tune that exemplifies, speaks for, and carries out the definition of rock 'n roll better than this one. It should be preserved in a tune capsule somewhere. To top it all off is "Louie, Louie," and the best version yet of that chestnut. Besides the music, you also get some fascinating and highly revealing stage patter from The World's Forgotten Boy. We can now see where some of the legends came from.

One slight problem with this album: it is, for all intent and purposes, unavailable. Search for it and destroy. (A+)

—Philip Milstein

WE GAVE YOU
10 GOOD REASONS
TO ATTEND SUMMER SESSION.

1. With a wide variety of courses offered this summer, chances are you can pick up those last few credits and graduate early!
2. If you're short credits for any reason, summer can put you back on schedule for graduation!
3. Summer Session at UMass/Amherst offers high-quality education at the lowest possible cost!
4. You can complete your prerequisites and enjoy summer at the same time!
5. Take that difficult course this summer and give it the time it deserves, or fulfill core requirements!
6. Basic courses for many majors are offered, so you can get into a new major this fall!
7. Smaller classes in summer guarantee more individual attention—a great reason for attending!
8. Turn the lack of a summer job into good background for future employment—education puts you on tc
9. Various sports activities and the beautiful Amherst area make Summer Session attractive!
10. Plenty of events are planned specifically for your Summer Session social scene, highlighted by the second annual Toward Tomorrow Fair and the traditional appearance of the Preservation Hall Jazz Band!

WE'VE GOT IT ALL! Two different six-week sessions are coming your way, the first to begin May 24 and the second, July 11. Catalogs are still available in many locations around campus. More information on the wide variety of courses lined up for Summer Session '77 can be had by stopping by the Summer Session Office in 239 Whitmore, or by calling 545-0584!

Summer Session '77
University of Massachusetts/Amherst

Minimal Subliminal Listings

Wed 11

Film: Beyond the Valley of the Dolls, Russ Meyer's X-rated madness, at Hampshire's Main Lecture Hall, 7, 9 p.m. $1

Film: The timeless Singin' In The Rain. Gamble Aud., Mt. Holyoke, 75 cents, 8 p.m.

Theatre: Last night of The Executioner's Tragedy, a world premiere, at the Curtain Theater in the Fine Arts Center. Call 545-3511

Concert: University Chorus. 8 p.m. Concert Hall, FAC. Free.

Student Production: Journey: A Mythical Musical, written and produced by UMass BDIC students. Thru Sunday night, each show at 8 p.m. Call 545-0736 for information.

Film Event: Andy Warhol superstar Holly Woodlawn will make personal appearances, today and tomorrow, at 7 p.m., at the Pleasant St. Theater, 27 Pleasant St., Northampton. Two films starring Woodlawn will be featured, Andy Warhol's Trash, and Peter Dallas' Broken Goddess. A special admission of $3 will be charged for this fascinating event, and since the theater only seats 142, the management advises patrons to come early.

Thur 12

Film: Wizard of Oz, CCA, $1, 7, 9, 11 p.m.

Film: Hearts and Minds, SUB, $1, 7, 9, 11 p.m.

Fri 13

Film: Where's Poppa?, the Carl Reiner classic, at Hampshire, Main Lecture Hall, 7, 8:40, 10:15. $1

Film: Peter Pan, CCA, $1, 7, 8:30, 10:00, 11:30

Film: Mrs. Miniver, Gamble Aud., Mt. Holyoke, 7:30, 75 cents

Film: The Graduate, Merrill Center, Amherst College, 8 and 10 p.m. Same times and place, thru Sunday

Musical Revue: The City Studio Theatre in Northampton presents the grand-opening of the Concertorium, featuring Jason Harvey, who will perform at 10:30 thru Sunday, and at 8:00 on Monday. Tickets are $2 and can be purchased around town.

Sat 14

Film: The Mark of Zorro, silent flick starring Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. Gamble Aud., Mt. Holyoke, 7:30, 75 cents.

Sun 15

Film: Malcolm X, Penny Cultural Center, Octagon, Amherst College. 3 p.m.

See
You
There

What will you be wearing under your cap and gown?

Final Daze Approaching

While wandering to home one day, by the library I did chance,
Wishing to learn the truth in life I stopped to take a glance;
Among the many folks inside, I note the work was callous,
Could the answer be above, in the symbol of a phallus?

While pondering this racy deal I wandered to the main, (floor) to judget for myself what ideas could be passing through each brain;
To my surprise the ideas centered rarely in the class,
and more on eyes, or chest, or hair, or movement of the ass.
It seems to me defeatist to be wrestling with a text, and all the while just knowing that your mind is oversexed.
The American male is crazy, to himself you know he's lied,
if he ever thinks he'll get work done with a girl on either side.

So why not throw out all the books, remove the desks and chairs,
and pipe in dancing music just for anyone who cares;
Create a friendly atmosphere for those who'd like a try,
and maybe put a smile upon that phallus in the sky.

At last I judge that if a girl is thinking like the rabbits, and all the guys are fantacizing "Deep Throat" in their habits,
And if the homework only gives a lifted head the drabs,
Then give them what they need the most — a good case of the crabs.

—written by some obscene old lecher (DPS)